Home from the University of Alberta are Miss Maxine Leitch and Robin Stuart. Sandy Hogan was also home but has left for Gleichen where he is employed for the summer with an oil company. It was reported that Miss Leitch will spend the summer in Jasper.

Mrs. Ken Scoggins and Mrs. Art Barr, Barr, here and there and everywhere

In lonely field, or crowded town
God sees a flower, when He looks down.

One such I knew and had the pleasure

To thank my God for knowing
The beauty of her quiet life
Was like a rose in blowing,
So fair and sweet, so all complete
And all unconscious, as a flower,
That light and fragrance were her power.

A vow to keep her life alive
In deeds of pure affection,
So that her life shall find in them
A daily resurrection
A prayer that they may wear
Some touch of that supernal light
With which she blossoms in God's sight."

RED SHIELD DRIVE OPENS MAY 12th

COMMITTEE ORGANIZED FOR ANNUAL APPEAL

The local Salvation Army Red Shield committee met last Monday evening in George's Lower deck to discuss plans for the forthcoming annual appeal which commences in Vermilion on Monday, May 12th.

The retiring chairman, Mr. W. J. Cash thanked the workers for their support in previous years, and Lieut. R. Chapman expressed appreciation for the services ably rendered by Mr. Cash during the past and introduced the new chairman, Mr. E. M. MacFarland. Mr. MacDonald spoke of his personal knowledge of the work of The Salvation Army, whilst overseas, and expressed enthusiastically his hopes for the successful completion of this year's campaign. Mr. A. M. Watt, local treasurer, urged the workers to remember their collections as should under as possible.

In his remarks, Lieut. Chapman referred to a will filed recently in New York which read: "I give and bequeath to the Salvation Army for a bowl of soup (when wet wet and warm), A piece of bread, a clothesline, and tea and bread for breakfast, in 1887, when badly needed, the sum of $5000." As an organization today, stated Lieut. Chapman, the Salvation Army is better equipped than it was in 1887 to give spiritual and material help when badly needed. In its 70th anniversary year of operations in Canada, he felt assured that the public would respond to its appeal as never before.

During the year 1951, the Social Service departments assisted 6,000 families, 20,000 persons in family welfare, prison gate, police court, social problem and case work services.

Extensive work is also fulfilled in Vermilion and district in caring for indigent transients, needy individuals and families, and the Corps Officer acts as Child Welfare Officer, and Probation Officer. This in addition to the Evangelistic endeavor of the Army. Lieut. Chapman also spoke of a new Home for Grace hospital and Girls' home which will shortly be erected in Calgary and which will care for unmarried mothers from all parts of the province.

Campaign quota for Vermilion and district is set at $1350, with the town of Vermilion expecting to raise $800. Campaign headquarters are at the local Co-op store, and in Zik Paint. Campaign chairman is Mr. W. Kent, secretary of the Canadian Legion When the canvasser calls, give, and give generously and help the Army to put this year's appeal well over the top. There will be no house-to-house canvass, but in connection with the Appeal a tag day will be held in Vermilion on Saturday, May 31st.

Death of Pioneer

Fred Atkinson Wilson, well known old timer of the Cummings district, passed away at the Vermilion hospital on Saturday May 3rd at the age of 71 years. Funeral services were held at the Anglican church on Wednesday, May 7th and interment was made at the church cemetery. The Rev. Canon W. W. Touse officiated. The obituary will appear in next week's issue of the Standard.

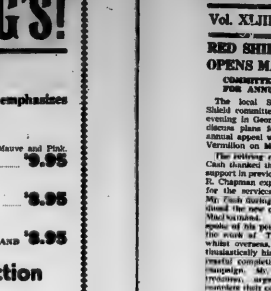
Vermilion Lady Wins $2,000



This Vermilion lady, Mrs. Ester Johnson, has a very good reason for her happy smile in the above picture. She is just being presented with a cheque for $2000 for winning first prize in the Dominion-wide Jewel "Name the Color" contest. Handing her the grand prize is Mr. Fred Meredith of Edmonton, representative of Bulfin who sponsored the contest. On the left of the picture is Mr. Albert West of Craig Bros. from which store Mrs. Johnson purchased the Jewel Shortening which entitled her to enter the competition.

Trying contests is a hobby of Mrs. Johnson's as she has won quite a few of them but this is the first one that has paid off in a big way. She has also won smaller cash prizes, one of these just a month or so ago, in the winning entry became the exclusive property of the company. Mrs. Johnson could not divulge how she won the prize as the Standard. It was stipulated however that the name had to be on the label of the recipe that was applied on the entry form.

Vermilion Red Cross Drive Exceeds Quota Of $2,300.00

TOTAL $2,648.00 COLLECTED

The 1952 drive for the Canadian Red Cross officially ended on Wednesday, April 30th.

Last minute contributions brought the total in the Vermilion area to the sum of $2,648.00. The quota for Vermilion is $2300, so this amount has been exceeded by a substantial margin.

The result is in keeping with the record established during the war years and maintained since that time. Much of this success is due to Mr. W. J. Cash who has developed a very efficient system which made the area conscious of an annual effort. The Vermilion Branch wishes to thank all those who have made contributions and particularly those who donated their services as canvassers. Lists of donors will be published from time to time as space is available through the courtesy of the Vermilion Standard.

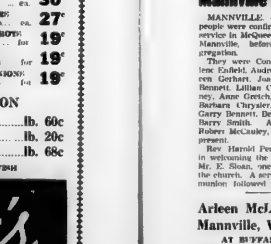
To Replace Battle River Bridge



With the Battle River Bridge being replaced on the old Wainwright-Vermilion road and was built back in 1908. No trouble has been experienced with it previous to this spring when the pilings simply gave way and let the box steel span shown above, slip sideways into the river. On one occasion it is said the unit, bridge by which it was possible to cross the Battle between Hardisty and the Saskatchewan border during high spring waters a few years ago.

Town-Wide Clean-Up Desirable In Business, Residential Sections

As previously announced in these columns, the Vermilion Board of Trade working in conjunction with the local Town Council are again promoting a cleanup campaign for the town of Vermilion. All citizens, both in the residential and business sections are reminded that all refuse to be hauled away must be piled in the lanes on the morning of May 14th as it is hoped to complete the clean up on that one day. Every one is asked to help haul the refuse and in that way speed up the job. The trucks are provided by courtesy of the Town Council and it behooves each and every one of us to take an interest in this campaign and clean up and beautify our town.

As tourists passing through usually just see the business section, all places of business are especially asked to clean up around their premises paying particular attention to the vacant lots adjoining that are used by them. If said lots are cleaned up and arranged in proper order it will make a much more favorable impression will be left with visitors.

W. M. S. Visit Ashurndale Society

Eighteen members of Women's Missionary Society of the United church motored to the home of Mrs. John Eyben on Thursday afternoon May 1st where they were guests of the Ashurndale Affiliated Society.

Mrs. Cleland was in charge of the opening worship service. The business part of the meeting was under the capable leadership of Mrs. Lloyd Everett, President, and Mrs. George Eyben, secretary, was highly constructive. This society, though few in number is carrying on a splendid work. Their theme for the afternoon was the "Non-Canadians", a play based on "The Orientals in Canada" taken from Dr. M. C. Macdonald's book "From Asia to Northern Lights" enacted by Mrs. Alex Stone and Mrs. Henry Eyben Jr., was very well done and most enlightening.

By special request Mrs. Melvin Hill sang "The Ninety and Nine" in her beautifully sung and was much appreciated.

Mrs. Hill was guest speaker for the afternoon. She spoke on the new United Church Training school to be erected in Toronto. She gave a very clear interpretation of the work of the school and the need for trained leadership. The campaign is being conducted primarily by the women of the church, but the appeal is to the whole church. Deep regret was expressed at the inability due to illness of the president, Mrs. William Barr, to attend the meeting but her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

At the close a very lovely lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants

Seeding General -- Weather Perfect

Perfect weather which has prevailed for the past two months continues and as a result all harvesting of last year's crop has been completed. Not only that, but seeding of wheat is general with a considerable acreage already in crop. It is estimated that 10% of the wheat is sown.

Weather continues warm with high for the week of 64 on both May 1st and 7th. Cooler than usual was the night of May 7th with a low of 21, 24 on May 8th, 30 on the 3rd and 31 on the 5th. No moisture has fallen in this immediate area.

What appeared to the Standard as the first flower in full bloom was an isolated poppy at the four mile. The flower garden was being given watchful care by Bill Wiebe and he pointed out that several other of the colorful blooms would shortly be forthcoming.

Jack Baddock Gets Perfect Crib Hand

Jack Baddock is at it again—trying to be one of the few to get two perfect crib hands in one lifetime. Jack achieved his first 29 count late Saturday night. He had just returned Bill Dyck and then took on Roy Middleton, a visitor from Lloydminster. The two had a close game and with Roy dealing Jack needed a solitary point to go out, with his opponent only 4 behind him. Jack picked up his cards, his eyes gleamed and when he had discarded he held the five of clubs, spades and hearts and the Jack of Diamonds. Everything was all set but no—it just couldn't happen — He cut, Roy flipped over the top card, and yes, you guessed it, it was the five of diamonds. Jack whooped, threw down the hand, ran to the phone and rang the news editor. No one answered. Baddock looked at his watch ,it was 20 minutes to 1, and the 'newsy' after doing the usual 15-hour beat, was sound asleep and apparently not listening for phone calls. Meanwhile Roy was shouting, "Come on back, I might peg out."

Jack held a 28 hand once, but that faded into insignificance compared with achieving the ultimate.

Vermilion District Once Favorite Haunt Of Blackfeet Tribe

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY J. G. McGREGOR

One of the largest dinner meetings ever held by the Canadian Club listened to a vivid description of Indian life in this Vermilion district before white settlement crept in. The area was largely occupied by the Blackfeet tribe who lived in large bands and depended mainly on the buffalo for food and clothing.

The speaker was J. G. McGregor of Edmonton, author of "Blankets and Beads", and president of the Historical Society of Alberta. Mr. McGregor told of the favorite camp sites, the old trails followed, the habits of the Blackfoot Indian, then of the gradual encroachment of the white settlers and the effect on the original inhabitants of the country.

The speaker was specially well qualified to deal with his topic as he has carried out much research on the early history of this section of the province with particular reference to Indian life. He is now writing a story of the Peace River country which will shortly be published.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. G. F. Stephens, president of the Vermilion Canadian club, who acted as chairman.

Clandonald News

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goddard are having extensive alterations done to their house in town and will have much more room than formerly when all is completed. Work is in charge of Mac. Leslie.

Mike Slaskavik is back in town following an absence of about 12 months. During most of this time he made his home in Vegreville. Mike hopes to locate here permanently and is planning to build a house in town eventually. Mrs. Slaskavik is still in Vegreville where the children are attending school until the end of this term.

Apparently the report that Tom Williamson, had gone to Kamloops was a little premature as he visited in this district not long ago.

Congratulations and best wishes for the future to Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Bytewich whose marriage took place in Edmonton recently. The bride, the former Mrs. Mary Ubery is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Monaghan. Mrs. Frank Chupka, sister of the bridegroom made the trip to the city for the wedding as did the parents of the bride.

Mrs. Hugh Hagen is feeling much better now following a visit of about two weeks to Elk Point where she was a patient in hospital.

Beth Cathcart, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. K. Cathcart is at present a patient in the Vermilion hospital suffering the effects of the rather serious type of flu which has been prevalent in the country this spring. Latest word of Tommy Stockwell is that he is out of the sun and with proper care will be completely cured in a few months' time. He expects to be here for a visit shortly.

James Martin and Sons are the owners of a new light truck, a product of the Ford Co., while Bob Mikaelis has a new W4 tractor.

Although not such a large gathering as usual a very interesting F.U.A. meeting was held in the old log school on Friday, April 25. One of the visiting speakers, Mr. John Anderson, gave a very interesting talk on affairs pertaining to the farmers welfare. John was employed at a mine in Ontario during the winter and made some very interesting comparisons as regards wages and living conditions as they affect the mining class. His opinion was that we farmers have a long way to go yet before we advance to the state that organized labor has reached. Other guest speakers were Mr. Lee Green and Mr. J. McGill on the Greenlawn local. Mr. Green spoke for some time on the completion of the highway from the west while Mr. McGill, president of the Greenlawn local, spoke along general lines.

During the course of the meeting some time was spent discussing plans for the forthcoming picnic at the Oddfellows' grounds north of Dewberry. This will be held on Friday June 13th, Farmers' Day. It is hoped to make this a real old-fashioned community get-together. More will be heard later as plans are worked out. However we do know that it is a school holiday and are hoping that all of the rural communities and towns for miles around will be well represented.

On April 24th the Stream-town Players made their return appearance with the play "Cheerio My Dearie". Although the hall was not packed quite a good-sized audience was on hand and the play was thoroughly enjoyed. Following the performance the players were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chupka where a dainty lunch was served. Everyone is looking forward to another visit from the same players next year should they decide to stage another play. The performance here was the 13th and last for the year and they were well pleased with the results of their efforts.

Sympathy is extended to Henry Schneider who was recently bereaved by the death of his brother, Lawrence of the Provost district, who died at a comparatively early age.

Harvest, seed-time, root-picking, grain cleaning and even getting out fire wood are all the order of the day around this locality just now. Many farmers seem to be much behind with their work what with poor seed germination, bins full of grain and many other problems to pester them. However the season is much ahead of last year.

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

Word Sang Songs

O Canada and God Save the Queen are two of the worst sung songs I can think of. I wish all of you could hear the Passchendale Girls' club sing them — they have the right idea of putting a little pep and feeling into the words. Most people sing songs much too slowly. I think it's something your own club could probably improve on.

Scholarships

Yes, there are many scholarships available to boys and girls to the schools of agriculture. I'll list them for you:

Surplus Wheat Board Monies Trust Scholarships — 4 scholarships value 3 at $75 each are available to assist any young person to enter the 1st year in Agriculture or Home Economics. First year or Two-In One students are eligible. These scholarships are based on financial need too.

United Grain Growers Scholarships—3 scholarships valued at $75 each to assist any boy or girl residing on a farm to enter the schools in the First year or Two-in-One courses.

Canadian Legion Scholarships — The Alberta Command of the Canadian Legion has granted three scholarships valued at $100 each to assist the son or daughter of a veteran to enter the First year or Two-in-One course in Agriculture or Home Economics. One scholarship is available at each school.

Henry Wise Wood Memorial Scholarships — The Alberta Wheat Pool has established 4 scholarships to assist boys and girls in club projects sponsored by the Pool to enter a school of agriculture and Home Economics. They are $75 scholarships, available one for a boy and a girl at each school.

How to Apply

Now, how can you apply for a scholarship? Well, send here for proper information form, fill it in and return it. I do hope that any of you who have any desire at all to win a scholarship will enter in. Very often, you know, the scholarships are not applied for and so are not awarded simply because you haven't applied. It's quite thrilling too, to win a prize or scholarship. Let me hear from you, boys and girls.

Bargain in a Garden

If I, O Lord, divide the roots,
And add to my store of seeds,
With multiplify, O Lord, the shoots
If I subtract the weeds?

Another way to have a bargain in your garden is to plant the right variety of fruit or vegetable. If you want most of your vegetables for freezing, then send in for the "Vegetable Varieties Suitable for Freezing" list; and if you'd like to know about the varieties that are best for the type of soil in this district send in for the Alberta Horticultural Guide. They're both free, you know, and this will be about your last chance to make use of them.

Shoes for Children

Shoes for children from 2 to 5 years are similar for boys and girls. The soles should be stiffer than the baby shoes but still flexible, the uppers pliable, if inside line straight, the heels low or built in under the sole and the shoes about three-quarters of an inch longer than the foot.

More about children's shoes next week.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

TRAP ROBBER

Og-hin-she, the Indian, Outwitted Two Trap Robbers

By KERRY WOOD

...ought Devil Beast has been here!"

Og-hin-she the Stoney studied the trap-set, black eyes brooding on the havoc. Carefully hidden traps had been dug up, each one mockingly exposed and the bait taken. To make matters worse, the animal for which the Indian had so laboriously set the traps had come this way the night before and stopped only a dozen yards from the ruined set. Had the traps been undisturbed, Og-hin-she might now be putting a priceless pelt in his knapsack.

Instead, the still wolverine had spoiled the set. Only a cunning wolverine would have dared to stalk onto a set and nosed out the chains, pulling each trap from its place of concealment. And bait once defiled by a wolverine was spurned by every creature in the woods.

Og-hin-she gathered the traps and dropped them in his bag. The setting was ruined; he would have to try some other spot. On he trotted, his snowshoes clicking faintly as he followed the winding trap-line.

"The beast has followed my trail!"

That meant the next set would also be ruined. There he had built a tiny log pen with a small opening in the roof. "A marten set, with a dead squirrel for bait inside."

When he came in sight of this set, the Indian's face became grim. Because he had caught a marten, and marten skins were worth sixty dollars each. But the wolverine had come along and smashed the Stoney's log pen to get to the prize, and scattered bits of marten fur told the rest of the story. The vicious-jawed Devil Beast had torn the tender fur-bearer to shreds.

All along the trap-line the story was the same. The wolverine ruined every set. And whenever an animal had been caught, the trap-robber had ripped it apart to foil the trapper's aim. By the end of the day, Og-hin-she's rage made him swear vengeance.

The crafty Stoney worked out a wolverine set that was apparently too simple to succeed. A log-walled pen with a generous chunk of bait inside, with an opening at either end to fit the enclosure. A dozen feet back from the pen, he placed a large trap, a yard from this, still in line away from the pen, another. And a third trap a few feet farther back.

There was cunning in his plan. Og-hin-she knew the way of the wily wolverine. The robber always stalked straight up to a pen-set, expecting to find the traps close to the bait. The two openings that were traplessness would baffle the animal. Nor was there a trap inside the pen near the bait, and this would also puzzle the beast. Because the wolverine always seeks out the bait, expecting the traps before it tampers with bait.

So when it could find no traps around the pen Og-hin-she had built, the beast would become cautious. As a result, it would back away and circle to get at the bait. Taking around anything suspicious is characteristic of all animals, the wolverine being no exception. And when the Devil Beast circled the baited pen, Og-hin-she hoped that the rubber, eyes on the pussling pen, would place an unsuspecting paw in one of the waiting traps.

The Indian built the set on the last of his three trap-lines that radiated from his central cabin. The wolverine had already visited two of his routes, forcing him to fit the traps. Time enough to set them out again when he had caught the marauder, for he knew that the widely wandering wolverine would shortly discover his remaining trap-line.

So he placed the simple set on this line, near the middle of the circular trap-line started and ended at his cabin. The animal would follow the trap-line whichever point it approached in join the loop, and Og-hin-she reasoned that if it discovered and wrecked several ordinary sets before coming to the robber-set at the end of the loop, perhaps the Devil Beast would not be so cautious then. Day after day he tended this solitary line, patiently waiting for the marauder to find it.

Then came the morning when he saw robber tracks again. Not wolverine marks this time, but man-prints. The tracks were in-toed like the Indian's own prints, but he seemed to believe that the thief was a full-blooded member of his own proud tribe. The long-striding half-breed skulking along honest trappers' trails and robbing their sets of fur. This thief had sneaked along Og-hin-she's lines in other years, and the Stoney's eyes gleamed when he recognized the hated tracks. They were only a day old this time, and a dog's start was not too great a lead. Og-hin-she pumped a cartridge into the breech of his rifle and snapped on the safety before racing on.

Five sets the man had robbed before reaching the beginning of the trail. Og-hin-she smiled grimly, reading the snow story. Here the wolverine he had been expecting had finally found the trap-line, and here the human thief had stood, studying the Devil Beast's trail and probably cursing it because it would spoil his looting. For once, Og-hin-she was glad to see the evil wolverine's tracks.

Both robbers kept to the trap-trail, the wolverine in plunder and the other thief hoping the beast would leave the plundering to him. But the animal wrecked set after set, stealing the bait and spoiling fur. And one day behind the trails left by the two trap-robbers Og-hin-she the Stoney swung along at a swift pace with his rifle ready for use.

The next set was the robber set—the end of the loop where he had placed the log pen and three traps to catch the wolverine. The Indian speeded, eager to see the result of his planning. And he was eager, too, to follow the man-thief's trail should he leave the trap-line when it curved back towards Og-hin-she's cabin. The Indian was ready to follow, wherever the thief might go.

But the trail ended abruptly at the last set. Even as he had hoped, the wolverine had been baffled by the trapless pen and withdrew to circle the set. The first trap had caught the Devil Beast. Then the second trap-robber had come along, and the thief had cut a club and advanced to kill the cornered wolverine. Stepping close with his stick raised, the half-breed blundered into one of the two unsprung and hidden traps Og-hin-she had set. The sudden snap of steel on his moccasined foot had undoubtedly hurt; he had jumped with the pain and surprise of it. And that jump had been his undoing, for the man had stumbled and fallen to the snow. He had chanced to fall close to the trapped wolverine, and in one savage leap the cornered beast had reached the breed's brown throat and used its vicious teeth to kill.

Og-hin-she stared a moment at the dead man, then raised his rifle and shot the other trap-rubber, the snarling wolverine.

"A good robber-set," muttered the Stoney, smiling grimly.

Canadian Sappers Erect Huge Bridge On Alaska Highway

DONJEK VALLEY.—Canadian soldiers will soon complete a vital part of the Alcan highway less than 300 miles from the Arctic Circle. During the winter they worked in temperatures that at times hit 40 and 50 degrees below zero.

The project is the $2,500,000 Donjek bridge with eight spans and an ever-all length of 1,800 feet of steel and concrete construction. The men are members of No. 1 road maintenance Company, Royal Canadian Engineers commanded by Major Roe Black of Fredericton.

Started as a training program for the Canadian sappers who are permanently engaged in road maintenance on the Alaska highway, the bridge received top priority last year when floods destroyed five smaller crossings and caused 60 washouts on a 30-mile stretch of road.

It was in 1949 that the engineers began work on the piers for the bridge, but there was little concentrated effort at speed. The plan then was to have the sappers construct the bridge over a period of five years.

There was no priority for either men or materials and the company, being a mobile unit, was unable to spend much time on the project, their services being required for maintenance elsewhere

In November, 1950, Maj. Black arrived at the Donjek and the following summer's floods resulted in the bridge getting priority with orders to complete it without further delay.

When completed, the Donjek bridge, largest bridge-building project undertaken by an army force, will replace seven wooden trestles which each year have been threatened by floodwaters. The bridge also will cut out a section of the highway dotted with treacherous curves and poor grades.

Before approaches to the bridge could be opened, the engineers, using very little explosive, had to cut through permafrost and remove obstacles which tested the strength of high-powered bulldozers and scrapers. In many instances steam had to be fed underground to soften the surface before a cut could be made in the ground.

Some 1,200 tons of steel and hundreds of tons of concrete are being used.

The bridge will be opened about June 15 as a permanent part of the Alaska highway near mile 1130.

"Nothing has been easy up here in the frozen north, but many of my men would stay another year if they were required," says Maj. Black. "Many of course are looking forward to a tour of duty in a more southerly clime

Young Sask. Men Goes For Hairdressing

(By Margaret Aitken In Toronto Telegram)

In Toronto a new hairdressing salon opened recently on Church St. —one of those mirrored, pastel-shaded luxury places we women patronize in search of youth and beauty.

The personality behind this new salon is not what you might expect —not one of those accented artists from Paris but a young man from the Canadian prairies. His name is Hugh Patrick and his native heath Yorkton, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Patrick is one of a large family (four boys, three girls) . . .

"What you would call an academic family," he explains. "My father was a lawyer and then a judge. My brothers and sisters all went to university. One brother is now studying for his Ph.D. In fact, in my family, a university education was a must."

Hugh also went to university, first in the west and then to McMaster. But he always wanted to be a hairdresser and shortly before the war he went to New York for a course.

"My family didn't think much of the idea but I decided, as that was what I wanted to do, I should at least take the course while still young and see if I really did like it."

He took the course and he did like it.

Mr. Patrick got a job in one of Toronto's better known beauty salons and then came the war . . .

"I didn't do any hairdressing for nearly five years while I slogged through Italy, France, Holland . . ."

After the war he went back to his previous job, saved his money and now—his own salon. A fine success story.

Do You Know That . . .

Vegreville School Division Board Holds Meeting

DISAGREE WITH TEACHERS ON SALARY ADJUSTMENTS

At the last meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Vegreville School Division the Board met with the Salary Negotiating Committee of the Local A.T.A. Board members present were Chairman S. Hinton and Trustees T. Henderson, A. T. Mandruk, W. G. Forsyth, L. S. Cole and M. T. Tyas. The Teachers' committee was Messrs. Olesenberg, Chwnik Fedoruk and Krawetz.

At a previous meeting with the Teacher committee they had made the board made what it felt could be a maximum offer: an increase of $200 on all teacher salaries in this division, the other schedule clauses in regard to credits, increments and supervision allowances to remain the same as in the present schedule. With this increase the salary of a beginning teacher would be $1,700 per year and the maximum in the division would be about $4400. The added cost in the school year would be about $15,000.

The Teacher committee refused the offer, stating that it did not compare with some of the new schedules adopted elsewhere and that it was not enough to meet their wishes in the matter of an increase.

During the course of the Board meeting the board dealt with matters of minutes, correspondence and reports. Building reports showed that Minburn school was nearly completed and that plans for the new Manville elementary school had been approved and operations were beginning.

After discussion of possible further consolidations, it was agreed that lack of adequate roads and road facilities might limit new bus routes to one (Victory school).

Authority was given for the purchase of a supply of vitamin capsules for next term and for five new typewriters to replace worn-out machines now in service.

The resignation of Mrs. Mary Austin was accepted as teacher in Birch Hill school, to be effective as soon as another teacher could be secured to fill the vacancy.

The report of Supt. Mr. F. B. Facey gave figures on the enrollments in town and village schools. Heavy enrollments in Mannville and Vegreville may make it necessary for additional staff appointments. Appointments of vice-principals at Innisfree and Vegreville high will be required.

The board reviewed the list of unused school properties that were still owned by the division. A selected list was given to the secretary with instructions to request the permission of the Minister of Education to dispose of these by public sale. Payment of mineral tax was authorized for school land. The chairman and secretary were appointed to attend the school division short course June 3-5 at Banff. Trustee Henderson was named as an alternate.

The board adjourned to meet again on Thursday, May 22.

A STATEMENT
By Mr. Henry Ford II

"In normal times Ford Motor Company would carry such a suit to a final conclusion in the courts. Times are not normal times. Under the circumstances we were glad to get rid of the litigation to avoid the expense, harassment, and further interference with our tractor business involved in additional years in the courts.

"The settlement in no way interferes with Ford Motor Company's continuing to offer to the farmer the lowest priced tractor with hydraulic control and the present method of attaching and operating implements."

Production of FORD TRACTOR to Continue without Interruption

We are happy to be able to tell you that the lawsuit brought more than four years ago against Ford Motor Company, Detroit, Mich., and Dearborn Motors Corporation, Birmingham, Mich., by Harry Ferguson and Harry Ferguson, Inc. has been settled by agreement of the parties.

There are three points connected with this settlement which, as a present or possible future owner of a Ford Tractor, we want to make clear to you. Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, these are the FACTS.

3 POINTS OF INTEREST
To Our Present and Future Customers

1 Ford Motor Company will continue production of the present Ford Tractor without interruption, and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to market them nationally as in the past. In Canada, Ford Tractors and Dearborn Farm Equipment are marketed by Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, through its 750 Ford-Monarch Dealers.) By the end of 1952, Ford Motor Company has agreed to make two simple changes, and only two changes, in the means of operation and control of a pump used in the hydraulic system in the Ford Tractor. After these simple changes have been made, there is nothing in the settlement of the suit to prevent Ford Motor Company from continuing the manufacture of the present Ford Tractor for as long as it may choose.

2 Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to supply, through its distributors and dealers, all repair parts for all past, present and future Ford Tractors.

3 Ford Tractors will continue to offer all the advantages of the present system of hydraulic control, the present method of attaching and operating implements, and all other featured responsible for their wide popularity. Dearborn Motors will continue to offer its same complete line of implements.

"It Happened On The Farm"

The following essay was written by Miss Susan Wolters of the Gadston school and was awarded first prize in Grade 5 and 6 division of the Provincial Farm Safety Essay contest. Mrs. Cobaldenstan teaches the Gadston school. Details of the contest appear on the front page of this issue of the Standard.

IT HAPPENED ON THE FARM

One morning as Uncle Earl was going to get up, he saw a glow on the window. Thinking it was his children playing with the flashlight he took no more notice of it. Suddenly, he heard his wife (Aunt Betty) shouting.

"Earl, Burl, oh Earl, the barn is on fire."

Scrambling out of bed with his pyjamas on, he grabbed for his rubbers which were close at hand. Hurriedly jerking them on, he rushed outside. The glare of the flames silhouetted against the early morning, sky presented a terrifying spectacle.

In the meantime, Aunt Betty was speeding on the phone to each neighbor in turn saying,

"Our barn is on fire, please come at once."

Soon the yard was full of neighbors anxious to help. They threw away on the sheds that were near by, but it was too late to save anything out of the barn. Aunt Betty was in tears and Uncle Earl horsed his hand in sorrow. They had lost their three cows and also a number of pigs that were housed for warmth.

"Have you any idea how the fire started?", said Mr. Carmen a neighbor.

"Yes", said my uncle, "I'm afraid I was rather careless and now I have learned the hard way. I accepted one of my sows to have litter ones soon, so I left my electric lights on in the barn all night and I also left the windscreen on. Frost melted on the roof and caused the wires to become wet. I guess it caused a short circuit. Oh dear, I wish I had been more careful!"

The hens and the stock could not be replaced but kind friends gave my uncle money a cow, a pig and a calf.

Even up until today, Aunt Betty doesn't like to sleep in the room where she first saw the glare of the fire. It makes her think of the tragedy and she feels very unhappy. As for Uncle Earl, I think he has learned a lesson.

IT HAPPENED ON THE FARM

At first glance farming would seem to be a safe occupation, compared with most industries. Records show, unfortunately, that the accident rate on farms is very high, far higher than necessary. Many of these accidents are due to carelessness, but lack on a continuing safety program on the individual farm is a contributing factor.

Take the case of Jim Jones for example. Last Saturday, Jim went out to a granary in the middle of his field and prepared to load his truck box full of grain, by means of an auger. He had just finished loading and was preparing to put the auger back up on the truck, while the loader was still in motion. He put his hand on the shaft and prepared to shove it into position. The shaft caught hold of the thumb or one of his big, heavy mitts. As the shaft turned around, Jim's whole body was whirled around and around with it. Jim thought fast and realizing it he wanted to stop, he would have to risk losing his thumb or perhaps even his whole hand. He braced his feet against the truck. A second later, a tearing sound could be heard, as his thumb, with about a foot of tendons was yanked loose from his hand by the impact. He managed to shut off the auger and swing it into place. He drove two miles to his nearest neighbor, who immediately rushed him to the hospital.

Jim has been in the hospital for over a month now, but even after he is released, he will have lost much valuable harvesting time, and also the use of a much needed organ—his thumb.

There are certain measures and precautions which should have been followed in order to prevent this accident and many others of the same kind. All loose, heavy, or bulky clothing should be left off, or at least tucked in under the kind of clothing. It must always be buttoned so no loose ends will get caught in revolving shafts, belts, or wheels.

Follow all the directions on implements that's what they're there for. The directions always give the best and simplest ways to avoid accidents to the operator and machine. When the machine needs adjustments or any kind, whether large or small, always shut the motor off before tackling the job. All chains, belts, shafts and fast moving parts should be covered or have suitable guards around them to protect the operator. Always be sure guards are replaced after making repairs to the machine.

It is always wise to remember "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure", when tackling a job which might mean lost time, loss of an organ of the body, or maybe even your life.

"I put away my hard-earned money"

This young bank depositor recently wrote to his bank manager:

"I made a goal of $1,000 for this year. It is two years since I opened the account with two dollars. I owe thanks to you that I put away my hard-earned money where it will benefit me . . . I do not wish to touch it for the time being."

Building up a bank account means work and sacrifice. But Canadians know the value of having savings handy in time of opportunity or need: they maintain 7½ million savings accounts in the chartered banks—almost twice as many as ten years ago. At the same time bank staffs have almost doubled. That, and higher wages, have increased bank payrolls almost three times.

More people use the banks, more people work for the banks than ever before.

Safety On The Highway

WITH THE COMING OF SPRING there will be an increase in the number of cars on highways throughout Canada, and regrettably, there will be many motor accidents before the end of the season. In spite of road signs, traffic regulations, highway police patrols and other precautionary measures there are a large number of accidents every year, many of them involving loss of life. Incompetent drivers, faulty cars and failure to regard traffic regulations and speed limits cause many of these accidents. Sometimes, circumstances beyond the control of the drivers cause mishaps on the road, but unfortunately a large percentage of the accidents each year are caused by some form of negligence

Called Public Enemy No. 1

Recently the Bureau of Highway Safety of the State of Pennsylvania published a booklet entitled "Speed, Public Enemy No. 1". While figures and conditions given in that booklet would not necessarily correspond to those in any part of Canada, there are generalities in the facts presented which would apply anywhere. A survey of the death rate from highway accidents in the United States in 1950 showed that the average rate was 7.5 deaths per 100 million miles of travel. In states where there was no maximum speed limit, but where motorists were bound only to drive with "reasonable care" the average number of fatalities was from 5.1 to 11.5 per cent higher than the national average

* * *

Speed Related To Death Rate

In states where the speed limit was 50 miles per hour, the death rate was 20 per cent lower than the average, while in states where the limit was 45 miles per hour the rate was 41.3 per cent below the average. In Massachusetts, where the limit is 40 miles an hour, the death rate was 69.3 per cent, less than the national average. These figures show that there is a definite relationship between the speed limit and the number of fatal highway accidents. The booklet further points out that when cars are travelling at very high rates of speed the chance of escaping collision with other cars or objects on the road is much less than when they are going at a moderate speed. Road conditions, the number of cars on the highways, and various other factors influence the number of accidents and care must be taken to apply every factor where, but the facts gathered by the Pennsylvania State Highway Safety Bureau do point to the danger of driving at high speeds, and motorists would do well to bear these facts in mind wherever they may be driving

B.C. Fruit Growers Use Shotguns To Fertilize Trees

PENTICTON, B.C.—As far as fruit farmers are concerned, the birds and bees are abundant in the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia's Okanagan valley now fertilize their trees by shotgun. It's not as silly as it sounds. From about 10 feet, the marksmen fires a shell containing only one-fiftieth of an ounce of pollen from a standard 12 gauge shotgun. The pollen then settles on the blossoms and fertilizes them.

Lawrence Bartlett, distributor for the pollen in B.C., said about five tonnes as much pollen is being used this year as last. It follows relaxation of regulations which formerly made it difficult to get the pollen because of the disease known as fire blight. The pollen is gathered mostly in California and Oregon.

One orchardist with 150 acres here will discharge 600 shells at cherries, delicious and winesap apples, D'Anjou and Bartlett pears and Italic prunes. Some apricots and plums will be pollinated artificially this year.

Other methods of pollination, such as use of a brush, blower epplicator, and a little stick with a game bag are much slower.

Besides the gain in efficiency and speed with the shotgun method, many orchardists say they will have their "hunter's eye" when the hunting season rolls around.

SPEEDY METHOD

VANCOUVER — Mass vaccination of poultry flocks against Pullorum disease will be available here shortly, replacing the tedious bird-by-bird procedure. Dr. J. C. Bunker, provincial pathologist, said the fowl could be "sprayed" with the vaccine at the rate of 10,000 per hour

JACK MINER'S SON MEETS QUEEN JULIANA— When Queen Juliana and Prince Bernard of the Netherlands visited Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Miner, old-time oil man of the Jack Miner, Kingsville, Ontario, Naturalist family, were among a group of five from Canada to be invited to meet the Royal Couple. Photo shows Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Miner as they greet the smiling Royal couple with the traditional words after which they attended the Bicentennial Ball in the Book Cadillac Hotel, Detroit. Where Queen Juliana lived in Ottawa during the last war, she became interested in the conservation work of the late Jack Miner and in paying tribute to the late naturalist, she said, "Our world now and for all time."

Queen Juliana Says Canadians Have Earned Worldwide Trust

(By The Canadian Press)

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands praised Canadians for their hospitality and sense of responsibility and said they have earned the respect and trust of people around the world.

"There will be much difficulty for your people and ours," she said, to build together in mutual respect, for a better world."

The Queen, making an informal stay visit in this capital that was her home during the Second World War, spoke to Canadians over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC.

The broadcast followed a busy round of ceremonial visits.

Most of the speech was delivered in English. Other parts were in Dutch, a special message to Dutch immigrants who have made their home in Canada, and in French, in praise of the spirit of French-speaking Canadians.

The text follows:

"Friends in Canada,

"I am happy to be in your country again and to extend to you the greetings of the people of The Netherlands.

"Personally I am happy, too. How memories can be really once moved and how can this thing, called time, suddenly yield to remembrance, as though there have been no years in between!

"Moreover, so much of what time brushes aside remains alive and up to date. And this certainly is the case as regards the kind of alliance we had in the years of the war.

"Many of you were as much at home in my country, as I felt in yours.

"I think the cause of this really is that both Canadians and Dutchmen know how to sacrifice to breath and honor for the common good.

"Your warm hospitality has left such an indelible mark upon me, that, whenever I look back on it, I see a picture of the future which is of great benefit for us all. What I see in that future that distress is possible no much better in union, than apart, in nonsense.

"Moreover, I marvel when thinking that God has ordained it thus for mankind that, in sharing each other's burdens, a strong unity can be built up as a fighting force, which opens new points of view for possibilities in every direction. In His creation the human viewpoints are always dependent on Him!

"There is enough to find in your nation and people to base this belief on—such as your hospitableness for those who immigrate, an all-round hospitality which will link many things which still need linking.

"When I say a few words to my countrymen here, I would like to say this:

(Queen Juliana then spoke in Dutch).

"Wherever long you may be living here, the people around you will continue to see Holland in you and will continue to judge it by you. I always rejoice when I hear that you are doing well and that you are successfully building your future, that you are doing this in harmony and friendship with your new surroundings.

"The odd friction and disappointment may be unavoidable, but they will remain the exceptions to the rule. Let this be and remain the key.

"All the points to a coming fate, matchless and unequalled in history. (Queen Juliana spoke again in English).

"You, Canadians, are from instinction choosing to set out your course in concern with the well-being of humanity in general. So it is small wonder, that you are respected and trusted all the world over, because you follow the dictates of your great sense of responsibility for others.

"There will not be much difficulty for your people and ours, to build together in mutual respect, for a better world.

(Queen Juliana concluded in French with the following):

"You other Canadiens, you are choosing by inclination a way of life which takes an interest in the well-being of humanity. It is not surprising, therefore, that you are respected everywhere in the world and that everybody is counting on you. You obey a profound sense of responsibility for your neighbor."

There will be no difficulty at all for your people and ours to build up together a mutual respect, a new and better world."

2 tablespoons (about) strained cream

1 teaspoon vanilla

Prince Albert Logical Location For Pulp Mill

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—A provincial government source said an expansion and development program for Prince Albert, resulting from the tentatively proposed construction of a pulpwood mill here, might include construction of an additional suburban town.

C. R. Christie, forester with the resources department, said foresters of the district believe Prince Albert is the most logical location for establishment of a pulpwood mill in Saskatchewan.

Possible site for the mill would be in the city's east end. A new town could spring up around it, for every man employed at the mill about four would be needed in the field, resulting in increased home building.

Mr. Christie said the timber resources of Saskatchewan are such that if the proposed project would support several pulpwood mills. Prince Albert was the logical site for the first mill because it is centrally located in the province's forest areas and as an important transportation hub.

VICTORIA, B.C. — Horse-drawn Tallyhos will again be seen on the streets of this city next year. Licences have been issued for eight of the colorful vehicles to be used during the tourist season.

SOUR CREAM BUNS

Sold ½ c. milk, ½ c. granulated sugar, 1 tsp. salt, and 1 c. butter or margarine; cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile, measure into a large bowl 1 c. lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle over it 1 envelope Fleischmann's Yeast & mix thoroughly. Let stand 10 minutes. THEN stir well.

Sieve 1 c. cold unsifted pastry and mix in 2 unbeaten egg yolks and 1 c. thick sour cream; stir into yeast mixture and stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Stir in 3½ c. once-sifted bread flour; beat until smooth. Work in 3 c. (about) once-sifted bread flour to make a soft dough; grease top. Cover and set in a warm place, free from draught.

Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough, grease top, cover and again let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough and turn out on lightly-floured board; roll out ½" thickness in oblong.

Spread with 2 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted, and sprinkle with 1 c. granulated sugar; roll up like a jelly roll, beginning with the long side. Cut into 2" slices, place, well apart, on greased cookie sheets. Using a floured thimble, make a deep depression in the centre of each bun. Brush rounds of dough with mixture of 1 slightly-beaten egg white and 1 tbsp. water; sprinkle generously with granulated sugar. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven, 425°, about 15 minutes. Yield — 3 dozen large buns.

Islay District Locals

With seeding in full swing there is plenty to do. Weather has been splendid and everyone is either getting ready or preparing to start. Everything is quite advanced, trees are leafed out and shrubs heavy with buds. Let's hope that no heavy frost will come at this time.

Helen Coombe, now of Red Deer, came home for a few days visit. She still likes to drive the car and incidents several errands while at home, also helped to clean up the yard and plant some garden. She spent a short time in Edmonton with her father and family, also called on her Aunt Esther and Uncle Jim and family. She says the season is in advance in this district and really polyed being here for a time. She returned to Red Deer Sunday morning by bus.

Our weather: If it's to be a rainy season this year as wild fowl are building nests in yard ice and natives say it's a sure sign, then is hoping there will be sufficient moisture everywhere.

As I was on a neighbor tells me Mayvs. Gould has finished seeding his wheat. That's a good start Mayv.

Helen says that Uncle Jim's birthday cake lasted very good Sivvie. I hope she will have the pleasure of sampling next year's birthday cake.

Well, we are all looking forward to a good summer and hoping for returns from our labors. Let us remember that all good things come from the Lord, and His promise is that while the earth remains that before they call I will answer and while they are yet speaking, I will hear."

DR. HANLAN ADDRESSES ANGLICAN MEN'S CLUB

During all this time the body is attempting to compensate for structural imbalances. As a result the musculature becomes weakened on the high side permitting a slipping down ward of that side of the sacrum in an attempt to level the sacral base, which, after all, is the foundation of the spine. This in turn results first in more nerve interference and secondly in the 3rd curvature existing in reverse. So finally we have the lumbar vertebrae leaning to ward the high side of the pelvis, instead of toward the low side as at the beginning.

It has been found repeatedly that in the parts of the spine where the nerve interference is greatest, is where the changes occur directly in the spine occurs. Here the space between the vertebrae is increased on the outside of the curve and decreased on the inside. The intervertebral discs become wedge shaped, and later on also the bodies of the vertebrae.

Only a few instances have been mentioned showing the result of poor body mechanics on the spinal nerves and the structures they supply, but since these curves are in evidence from the head to the sacrum, it is easily seen how all irregularities of the spine will affected. A few more common conditions which could be included are shoulder and arm troubles, neuritis, headaches (migraine and otherwise) eye conditions, and in fact trouble in any part of the body may have its first in more nerve interference and seventy in the 3rd curvature existing in reverse. WILDMERE WINKS

Spring work is going along very well in our district. Tractors are humming early and late. A good rain would do very well soon as it is getting very dry on top. In fact the new crop is coming up like darkies they are so black with dust. One man we noticed on our way to town the only white man we showed on him was the cigarette in his mouth — yes he was a white man. How about it Jack?

Mr. and Mrs. Galloway Sr. of the Union district were callers at the Yellington home last week and a nice chat with this fine couple was enjoyed.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Mrs. Fred Wilson and family of the Cummings district on the loss of a loving husband and father on Saturday May 3rd. Fred, as he was so well known, has been a real pioneer besides the hardship, of pioneer days sickness dogged the family, making homesteading days much harder. Through it all however, both he and Mrs. Wilson were able to smile above their troubles. Mr. Wilson built many chimneys on homes throughout the country as he was a brick layer by trade. A warm welcome was always given when people called on them and his passing will leave a place hard to fill. His ever pleasant smile and cheery word will be greatly missed. His book of life has closed. God saw that the load was too heavy so gently said "Come home".

Our district was treated to a surprise last week when a word came that Victor Howard was married. Victor has been away from the Wildmere, got his schooling at the little school. These last few years he has been living in Edmonton with his parents and worked on the railroad where he has progressed from a fireman to an engineer. Now he was thinking of getting married he was quite a surprise here. Just the same Victor we join in wishing you and your wife a long and happy married life. Bring the Mrs. to Wildmere sometime!

Tea hostess for Mr. and Mrs. R. Martin and Doreen and Mr. and Mrs. F. Gibson and family were supper guests at the C. Cruikers' home. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith and family called at the same home

Robert Bewsman who works for Harry Sweeney was a visitor at the J. Wilson home on Sunday 27th.

Mrs. L. Fadden and baby son Robert William, came home on Saturday while Mrs. H. Friesen of Belleview with her baby daughter Isabelle Ann came home Monday 21st noon.

The writer had nice chats on Monday, April 21st, at the home of the Leadership Training group held a tea to raise funds. The Xmas Vesper service took place on the Sunday evening before Christmas.

C.G.I.T. shares were sold as a means of raising money during Youth Week in February. And that week-end a husband of girls went to the Youth Conference in Edmonton accompanied by some of the leaders. The Leadership Training group held a service Wednesday evening, the World Day of Prayer, in February.

The Spring tea was arranged by the Department fall four groups for April 26th.

A baby-sitting service during church parades each Sunday morning is still being carried on under the guidance of Anne Stewart. The girls also made tea cloths for use that are held in the church hall, and raised enough money to help with the furnishing of the new part of the church when the renovations are completed.

The very full program of activities, as well as some social events, was under the able leadership of Mrs. J. R. Roxburgh as the Department leader and also leader of the Senior group; of Mrs. C. McKay, leader of the Leadership Training group; Mrs. E. M. Stewart of the Junior group and Miss Lois Allen of the Intermediate group.

Both the girls and their parents join in heartfelt gratitude to these leaders who have given so freely and so generously of their time and talents during the 1951-52 season.

Also there were many ladies who have helped the girls in their work this year. Mrs. Russell Carroll, Mrs. Reg Ireland, Mrs. Stan Wallenberger, Mrs. T. Davis, Mrs. T. Peck, Mrs. Nancy Bradley, Mrs. A. Johannsen, Lieut. Chapman, Mrs. L. Robinson, Mrs. A. H. Sweet and Mrs. W. Barr.

Any activities or projects that were of an extensive nature were undertaken by all the C.G.I.T. groups working together as a department. The girls have one meeting a month as a Departmental session with all the groups having their devotional and business period together. The Department, under the leadership of Mrs. Roxburgh had the executive as follows:

President — Betty Bentley; Vice-President — Donna Slack; Secretary—Rhea Ireland; Press Correspondent — Kathryn Barr, and a representative of each of the local groups.

Leadership Group

The older girls of about 16 or 17 years of age were formed into a special group called the Leadership Training group. These girls took two books of a four-book course of study in church leadership, under the tutelage of Mrs. McKay. At the conclusion of each study book, examinations, set and marked by examining authorities in the East, were written. The executive of this group consisted of Betty Kilbokwhite — President; Joan Maxwell Secretary; Noreen Dougan - Treasurer and the representative to the Department, Shirley Sutherland.

Seniors

The Senior group with Mrs. Roxburgh as their leader, elected Betty Dawson as President; Viola Maggs—Vice-President; Irva Sweet —Secretary; Jean Kibblewhite — Treasurer and Peggy Stephens as representative to the Department.

Intermediates

Miss Lois Allen is in charge of the Intermediate group and their officers are: President—Kay Simonsen; Secretary—Lois McLaren; Treasurer—Marjorie Maxwell and representative to the Department is Deanna Logan.

Junior Group

The Junior group had as their leader Mrs. E. M. Stewart assisted by an executive of: President Donna Cooper; Vice-President Marjorie Waldenberger; Secretary —Ruth Beatty; Treasurer—Eleanor Adam. Irene Adam is representative to the Department.

Cheslermold People Farewell Departing Citizens

HONORED MR. AND MRS. GORDON CHALMERS

Wednesday evening April 23rd will be an occasion long remembered by many residents of the district when upwards of 75 persons gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of the Moreton district to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. George Chalmers, esteemed residents who plan to leave shortly. Seldom has the writer been at an affair of this nature when everyone seemed so determined to make the evening such a pleasant one.

Following an evening of impromptu entertainment, dancing and just visiting, a tasty lunch was served, and then all gathered in the large front room when the address of the night This was the presentation of a matched set of luggage to Mrs. Chalmers and a leather club bag to Mr. Chalmers. Mr. Hugh Hagen acted in his usual capable manner as master of ceremonies for this part of the evening's program. Following the presentations Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers both made suitable replies. The whole party then formed a circle and sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne". The party then broke up after Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers had received many wishes for their future happiness in their new surroundings.

Just at present they have no definite plans except an extended motor trip which will take them as far as Prince George, not Prince Rupert as previously stated.

On Friday April 25th the Chalmers held their clearing off sale. Prices on the whole were about as expected and as usual at sale some things went well up to their value while others moved more slowly. Quite a large crowd was in attendance, the weather being particularly favorable. Mr. Chalmers expressed himself as fairly well satisfied with the sale as a whole.

Pleasant Valley

The Valley is lovely, the blossoms will soon be out, a real touch of spring mouth skies of blue.

Congratulations this week to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gillies on the birth of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillies are still away at Edmonton visiting with son Bill and Les.

Mrs. Van den Dokker spent Friday afternoon with yours truly. The topic was flowers and gardens, of course.

The men are very busy, such a lovely spring — ideal weather for seeding too.

Rena Monaghan is home for the summer. Did we hear Ethel Dodd Gilles is going to Calgary for the summer?

May is such a glorious time of the year, with crocuses, robins, meadow larks, spring is certainly here to stay.

LARGEST SPORTS PROGRAM IN THE WEST

Vermilion's Annual Sports May 24

Vermilion will hold its annual sports day on Saturday May 24th, the first holiday of the summer season. As far as is known this is the only sports program in the west to run seven distinct ball tournaments at the same time and last year no less than 46 ball teams competed in the various events.

It has always been the policy of Vermilion to provide something for everyone, both from spectators' and a competitive point of view. Hence classes for junior baseball and softball, mostly organized schools, where, are given a prominent place on Vermilion's sports program.

The seven ball tournaments include the senior hardball with a first prize of $200 and a second of $100; country baseball, $40 and $25; junior baseball, 20 years and under, $60 and $30; ladies' open softball, $60 and $30; high school girls' softball $15 and $10; girls 15 and under, $10 and $5; boys softball, $10 and $5.

Track and Field

In addition to the baseball and softball attractions over $100 is being offered for field and track events. There are ten jumps and dashes for girls and women: 11 for boys and 7 open events.

Children 12 and Under Free

Another big factor which makes this a regular family holiday is that children 12 years and under are admitted free. Adults 75c, students 25c and cars free.

A dance at night completes the program with shows running at the Columbia theatre 7:00 p.m. on.

Accommodation for holding sports on a large scale here is practically perfect as with the combined grounds of the V.A.A.A. and the Fair Association, Vermilion has a fine park of 27 acres, all grassed and levelled. Bleacher seats are provided free.

The sports are held by the Vermilion Amateur Athletic Association and President Stan Manyluk and his committee invite everyone to visit the big Vermilion Sports, Saturday, May 24th. 45-4

Mother & Daughter Banquet Final Item

United Church C.G.I.T. Has A Busy Year

The C.G.I.T. Mother and Daughter banquet, held Wednesday, May 7th, was the last formal item in a very eventful and successful year for the girls of the United church in Vermilion. On this occasion the four C.G.I.T. groups entertained their mothers and those Vermilion ladies who had helped with their program throughout the year.

The theme of the banquet was 'camping' and the decorations were carried out with that motif. At this time of the year camping is of special interest to the girls, quite a number of whom are planning to attend one or other of the many C.G.I.T. camps held in the province.

Betty Bentley acted as toastmistress, and she welcomed all and called the blessing. After an enjoyable dinner Shirley Sutherland led the girls, their mothers and their guests in a rousing sing-song. This was followed by the toasts given by Eleanor Adam, Deanna Logan, and Keitha Dawson; replied to by Mrs. Logan, Rev. Mr. McKay and Miss Lois Allen.

Others participating in the banquet program were Mrs. Stewart's group with a choral number, Margaret Goodwin a piano solo and Dolores Bradford a Hula-Hula dance.

Lieut. Chapman of the Salvation Army gave an interesting and inspiring message as guest speaker, telling the girls and their guests that it is well to make the best use of their time, to do their utmost to live each day as they should.

Conduct Evening Service

Preceding the banquet date, the girls took charge of an evening church service, Sunday, May 4th. Joan Maxwell was in charge with Noreen Dougan and Betty Bentley giving the sermon. Irva Sweet read the scripture lesson and Linda Long gave the prayer. The Junior choir was in attendance and representatives of the Junior group ushered and led in the candlelighting service.

Many Special Projects

Besides their regular weekly meetings, with one a month a department meeting, the girls carried out many special projects. In October the C.G.I.T. collected the clothing for Korean relief, and obtained 17 boxes of suitable clothes. The girls were grateful for the response and the help in packing the garments, given by other organizations of the church.

When the W.A. held their fall bazaar in November the C.G.I.T. helped with the serving and had a sale of candy and figurines.

December saw the missionary projects start, and at that time the Leadership Training group held a tea to raise funds. The Xmas Vesper service took place one Sunday evening before Christmas.

C.G.I.T. shares were sold as a means of raising money during Youth Week in February. And that week-end a husband of girls went to the Youth Conference in Edmonton accompanied by some of the leaders. The Leadership Training group held a service Wednesday evening, the World Day of Prayer, in February.

The Spring tea was arranged by the Department fall four groups for April 26th.

A baby-sitting service during church parades each Sunday morning is still being carried on under the guidance of Anne Stewart. The

These are the Lender Shows of Canada and will play on the V.A.A.A. grounds in conjunction with the May 24th sports, and under the auspices of the Vermilion Amateur Athletic association.

A menagerie in connection features snakes, those interesting little creatures, monkeys, and other animals. 45-4c

Derwent Farmers Plan Rural Electrification

DERWENT.—A group of farmers in the areas between Derwent and the Angle Lake U.F.A. hall have formed a cooperative association to be known as the Derwent Rural Electrification Association Ltd., for the purpose of carrying commercial electric power to their farms to be supplied by the Canadian Utilities Ltd.

The Co-op. is headed by Max Borowsky as president with Harry Leaf Sr., Harry Lychak, Pete Nester, Stephen Lychak, and Albert Willmer as directors. Frank Podhotny was appointed secretary-treasurer.

Signatures at the time of incorporation stood at 17, but more are expected.

The estimated cost of construction at $1000 per farm is based on one mile of line per subscriber, which includes complete installation of the line to the desired location in each farmyard, a transformer with metering and switching equipment and a share of the main supply sub-station.

Construction is expected to start this fall.

Sudden Death Of Al Moore

James Allen Moore, a resident of Vermilion for the past six years, passed away suddenly late Sunday afternoon or early evening while asleep in his room. He was 49 years of age and a veteran of the last war.

The remains were sent to the family home at Innisfail where funeral services were held Thursday.

Health Unit Staff Engaged; Operation By June 15 Likely

Dr. Norman Baxter, Director of Health Units for the Provincial government paid a visit to the local offices of the Unit on Saturday last and met with S. C. Heckbert, Chairman and H. J. Payne, Secretary of the Unit for the purpose of discussing completion of organization.

The matter of staff has for months been receiving attention and definite offers of employment have now been made to Dr. Ellen Smith, a well qualified physician who is almost immediately emigrating to Canada from England and whose application as Director of the Minburn-Vermilion Health unit has been accepted to Mrs. Knight, Senior Nurse, also due to arrive from England about June 10th.

Mr. A. Bolton of Calgary has been engaged as Sanitary Engineer and the Misses Graves and Ross, Alberta trained nurses will fill the positions as staff nurses for the Unit. All of these potential members of the staff have been fully qualified in public health work and it is expected that their services will have a marked benefit on the health of the people in the area served by this important organization.

Considerable difficulty and delay has been experienced in securing staff but it is hoped that these difficulties, having now been surmounted, will but serve to speed the work of bringing the Health Unit services to residents of the rural area and the towns contributing to the Unit. Cars and other equipment have already been purchased by the Board and work should begin immediately on arrival of the personnel. Miss Sophie Pawliuk, who has had considerable experience in the work of public health has for some time been directing the work of the local office. Miss Pawliuk occupies the position of stenographer-technician and has already demonstrated an unusual ability in organization

Members of the board, in addition to the two previously mentioned, are Messrs. Stone the vice-chairman, and McGuigan, representing the M.D. of Vermilion River and Messrs. Johnson and Johnston, who represent the M.D. of Minburn. The villages of Kitscoty, Minburn and Innisfree constitute the other Unit members.

The Vermilion constituency is presently represented by Mr. W. C. Cornish Social Credit, and it is generally expected that he will again be the choice of the convention.

A. Aalborg Is S. C. Candidate Alexandra

Anders O. Aalborg, M.L.A. for the constituency of Athabasca, will again carry the Social Credit banner into the next provincial election campaign. Mr. Aalborg was the unanimous choice of the Social Credit nominating convention held at Kinosty last Tuesday evening. Mr. Aalborg was elected in 1948 and now contests the seat for a second term as representative.

The regular meeting of the W.I. will be held at the home of Mrs. Perrier on Monday May 19th at 8:00 p.m.

Board of Trade Presses For Improvement In Highway

DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS BETWEEN "BUSY CREEK AND INNISFREE

At the regular weekly meeting of the Board of Trade held Wednesday it was decided to ask the Department of Highways to take immediate steps to put gravelled high way No. 16 between the end of the blacktop 11 miles west of Vermilion, and Innisfree in what might be called passable condition. Over the road report every day of the Alberta Motor Association. The statement is made, "road from Vegreville to Mannville is very rough". The board members who have recently made the trip west consider even this statement a very conservative one. They feel that the road will have to be conditioned by heavy equipment as it is so far gone for ordinary road maintainers to have any effect on it.

The Board has also been informed through the local member Mr. W. R. Cornish that it is the intention of the Dept. of Highways to condition and hard surface from Stony Creek to Vegreville this year, thus completing the last link between the border and Edmonton

Advocates Wide Use Of Vermilion's New Library

Viking, Alberta, May 11, 1952.

The Editor, Vermilion Standard, Vermilion, Alberta.

Dear Sir,

The splendid gesture of a public spirited person has made possible the construction of a library building in Vermilion. This building should be taken as a challenge by the people of the two municipalities near Vermilion and of Vermilion itself.

A building is not a library until it is well stocked with books. A library is not working until the books are circulating. The problem is to get a good supply of books and start them circulating.

Support from M.D.'s and Town

While donations should not be discouraged they should not be relied upon as the sole source of books. Every effort should be made to establish the principle of public support through public taxation. The municipalities of Vermilion River and Minburn and the Town of Vermilion should all provide yearly grants for the purchase of books. Otherwise this library will become just another of the numerous small libraries which have ceased to function in Alberta. Since they have been neglected by the taxpayers they have lost the steady infusion of new books which any library must have to keep abreast of the times. Soon readers lost interest and the time came when only the faithful volunteer librarian came to pass his few hours among the book cases.

This should not happen in Vermilion. Public support should be given to establish the nucleus of the library and to add to this nucleus each year.

Fine Taxation for Regional Library

There are other sources which should not be neglected for the auxiliary help they can give. This building could easily become the location for one of the regional libraries bein, established in the province. The Cultural Activities Branch, Department of Economic Affairs should be contacted for information about this.

Service Clubs Can Help

Service clubs could give valuable assistance by donating subscriptions to magazines which could be kept in the library to be read during open hours.

Open in Evening

Consideration should be given to the idea of keeping the library open for a couple of hours every evening rather than for one afternoon. There are young people who work in business places who would like to read something which the common news stand does not offer and the evening is their only opportunity to do so.

No doubt there is a committee at work on the matter of organizing the library. I hope these few suggestions may be of some value to that committee and to the public.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the opportunity to express these thoughts in print. I am,

Sincerely,
Allen Monaghan.

Things are looking up in the country — That's the report on the area where the 1952 Cancer Campaign is now centered, headquarters in Edmonton.

At last report 115 country points had been organized for local campaigns. 11 of these points were added during the past week end.

With the country drive just starting, northern Alberta leads the three provincial districts with $24,000, half of its objective. Of this, $3900 has come in already from the country.

Fine Weather Still

The steady fine weather continues. High for the week was 77 on Sunday while last Thursday and Friday nights were the low points with 24 and 25. Some farmers are showing up a little on their seeding, waiting for rain.

For the second time in three years the Marcus Dow award has been awarded to the Western Greyhound Bus lines. It is awarded to the company showing the greatest improvement in safety record over the preceding year. This means that the Greyhound drivers have demonstrated through their actual performances on the highway that they were the best on the North American continent. Receiving the trophy on behalf of Greyhound was Mr. Norman Williams, of Edmonton, District Superintendent. Norm is a Vermilion boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Williams. He started with the company as a driver and has worked his way right to the top executive position of the company in the west.

Kinsmen Lose

A team of ball tossers picked from the Kinsmen club played the V. H.S. hard ballers on Wednesday night and lost to the students. Asked for a reason for coming out on the low end of the score, Ben (Doc) King's reply was "too many young crocks on our team".

Thoughtless Act Results In Injury

The thoughtless act of throwing beer bottles into the river at the bathing pool resulted in a serious and painful injury to 15-year-old Bob Arbeson this week. Bob jumped feet first off the diving board at the pool and one of his feet struck a broken bottle. The foot was cut so severely that Bob was kept in hospital for two days and will not be able to walk on the member for two weeks.

Despite the years of education and instruction regarding the danger of glass around the swimming pool some characters seem to lack enough sense to realize the harm and injury that they can cause by thoughtlessly throwing a bottle into the water, or leaving broken glass around where large numbers of children and young people gather and play.

$1000.00 Damage At Iron Works by Fire

A flash fire which swept along the walls and ceiling of the Vermilion Iron Works on Monday caused some $1000 worth of damage to building, wiring and equipment. Prompt response by the fire brigade kept the damage at a minimum. The fire could well be called a 'flash' blaze as it flared like lightning before the amazed eyes of the plant workers.

The fire brigade has been called out about every other day during this dry spring season, mostly to grass and garbage fires.

A wedding of wide interest to Vermilion and district people was solemnized in Edmonton on Wednesday of last week when Miss Venetia Fallow, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Fallow and the late Hon. W. A. New Scholarships Offered Manville High School Students

MANNVILLE. — Until this year, the only recognition or scholarship open to students of the Manville school has been the Governor-General's medal and the accompanying awards, for which students of Gr. 9 have had to compete with all other pupils of the same class throughout the Vegreville S.D.

Deploring the lack of incentive presented to his students by such a situation, Principal Selmer Olesenberg put a request through which various local organizations were approached and persuaded to sponsor scholarships.

Six other awards are now offered, making the complete list as follows:

Grade IX—a prize of $20 awarded to the Gr. IX pupil in the Mannville-Minburn area receiving the highest grading on the June Departmental examinations. Prize awarded by the Mannville-Minburn sub-local of the Alberta Teachers' Assoc.

Grade X—A prize award of $10 to the Grade X pupil in the Mannville school receiving the highest grading on the year's work. Prize donated by the Mannville and District Board of Trade.

Grade XI—A prize of $15 awarded to the Grade XI pupil in the Mannville school receiving the highest grading on the year's work. Prize donated by the Mannville and District Board of Trade.

Grade XII—An award of $20 to the Grade XII student receiving the highest average on any six Departmental examinations written in June 1952. Awarded by the various branches of the Women's Institute, Mannville district.

Grade XII—An award of $25 to the Grade XII student receiving highest average on any four Departmental examinations written in June 1952, for the Vegreville School Division. Awarded by Vegreville Local, Alberta Teachers' Assoc.

Grade IX — The pupil in the Vegreville Division receiving the highest standing in Grade IX Departmental examinations will as usual be awarded the Governor-General's medal and certain awards accompanying it.

Honor Pins — Awarded to all pupils from Grades IX to XII inclusive who receive honors standing according to grading assigned by the respective teachers. Pins awarded by Mannville and District Home and School Assoc.

Mrs. Fred Haines had her mother, o. Saltsaa district visit her last Thursday.

Miss Hilda Kufeldt of Mannville who has been helping Mrs. C. Cruthers this past two weeks returned to her home on Saturday evening.

A bunch of the Wildmere ball players were busy on Sunday building a new ball diamond on the Cruthers' farm.

A student to Auburndale United church field is expected this week. Wildmere is not sure that church will be held in this field this year owing to such poor attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallington and Peggy Gravelle spent a very pleasant Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor and family north of Vermilion. They all had a chat with brother Laurence, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have a nice comfortable home and our visit was very welcome. Say Barbara and Linda how are the wee lamb and pig?

Mrs. W. Steele and daughters Sylvia and Margaret of Basswood district spent Mother's Day with Mrs. Steele's mother Mrs. Mullen north of Vermilion.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks of Triangle spent Saturday evening at the Fadden home. Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Powell, former Triangle teacher but now of Smoky Lake, a caller at the Fadden home. He later attended the Triangle ball game. Mr. and Mrs. L. Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. J Wallington, Bobby and Kenny were Sunday evening callers at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ford of Vermilion have been visiting at daughter Mrs. Frank Gibson of Basswood for a couple of weeks.

Congrats to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith of Vermilion on the birth of a daughter on Sunday May 11th. A nice Mother's Day gift.

The writer thought it was Xmas again on Mother's Day when her little family displayed their gifts. It's so nice to be thought of that way.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Cruthers and Hilda Kufeldt attended the show on Wednesday evening, the occasion being Mrs. Cruthers' birthday.

Miss Violet Webb of Islay spent Wednesday at the Garnett home in Blackfoot.

The writer and family had a nice chat with Mr. and Mrs. A. Rendell at their old home in Triangle. Mrs. Rendell is recovering from her recent illness. They plan to leave in the near future to visit at the West Coast and probably make their future home in B.C. Mr. George Haines was a visitor to the same home that evening too. Mr. and Mrs. Costin were busy getting straightened up after just finishing threshing that day.

Mrs. Wilson spent Sunday at Mannville with her mother Mrs. Finlay. The family were celebrating Mrs. Finlay's 80th birthday which was on Friday, May 9th. Mrs. Finlay's daughter from Fort Saskatchewan also attended the gathering. We had a nice chat with Mrs. Finlay Sr. and Mrs. Fluker on Saturday in Vermilion.

Miss Irene Wrzlecki of Triangle is working at the Vermilion hospital and her sister Leona is working for Mrs. Chas. Sharpe.

J. Barnhart who has lived for many years in Wildmere, has sold his farm to J. Wilson and will leave this week to reside in Vermilion.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. George Martin on the loss of her mother in Wales a few weeks ago. Mrs. Martin had hoped her mother would live to see her son home but God ruled it otherwise.

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

Canadian Assoc. of Consumers

This is a National Organization created and sponsored by Canada's leading women's organizations in 1947 to represent the Canadian consumer (that's you and me too.) C. A.C. is voluntary, non-sectarian and non-political. C.A.C. tells consumers what they should know for their protection and for wise buying; tells the government what kind of laws consumers want for their protection, and tells the manufacturer what the consumer finds wrong with his product so that better articles can be manufactured.

The C.A.C. is one group that I think every Canadian home-maker should belong to. You can be a member and receive the bulletins by sending 30 cents to "Canadian Association of Consumers, 1245 Wellington St., Ottawa 3, Ont.

A Tip on Sewing

To sew on narrow rick rack or braid that catches in the pressure foot, cover the braid with a strip of waxed paper. This holds it in place and you can stitch right down the centre. The paper tears away easily.

Children's Shoes

Parents should check the shoes of a child's feet every 3 months at least, to make sure there is a quarter of an inch, at least, from the toe to the front of the shoe. Since children's feet grow so rapidly, many mothers find it practical and economical to buy shoes of medium quality, as the shoes might be worn out before they are too small.

When you're buying youngsters shoes remember:

1. There should be ¼ to ⅝ of an inch from the tip of the longest toe to the end of the shoe when the child is standing.

2. The shoe should be wide enough across the vamp so that a slight wrinkle of leather can be picked up with your thumb and forefinger.

3. The shoe should be wide at the base of the heel to provide a good foundation for walking.

4. The heel should fit snugly around the top to grip the foot well.

5. The arch should follow the natural arch of the foot.

6. The shoes should permit the child to stand with natural balance, that is, feet parallel, toes straight forward, weight distributed properly.

Cubed Coffee Cream

Cubed coffee cream solidified by gelatin and packaged like bouillon cubes, is on its way. It's for soups and other hot drinks too.

A Straw Needle

A straw needle is actually used most by milliners who sew straw, but you could make very good use of a straw needle for basting. It is a longer needle than a "sharp" needle, but still has a small eye. The needle package should be marked "straw."

Elizabeth Recipes

Is the name of a pamphlet you may have for writing in, and it has recipes for puddings, sauces, conserves and so on. Your reader will be ready soon so write if you would like a pamphlet.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Ignorance Is Bliss

By MICHAEL HERVEY :: Lecturing To Bored and Willing Audiences in Vermilion

"DON'T look at me like that, Warden. Yes, I know I said I wouldn't come back again, and I really meant to go straight this time. But it's no fault of my own that I'm here . . .

"Yes, I know they all tell you the same tale, but I mean it. It isn't my fault. After all, what sort of a life is it for a man of my age . . . ? How old? Now I'm not sure. Either fifty-nine or sixty. Rotten time of life for a man to go to prison, and for three years — three years. Warden. Heaviest stretch I've ever had. The judge seemed pretty indignant. According to him, I'm an absolute disgrace. He said I didn't know the meaning of the word gratitude. Different from what they said in the other courts. They'd believed me when I told them I'd taken to a life of crime because I couldn't read or write. That had meant a short stretch, until the last time. Then they instructed the prison authorities to complete my education. I'd to spend my six months learning to read and write. The judge reminded me of all this when he gave me the three years. Said I'd no excuse now, and if prison than I'd treated their confidence in me.

"I realize now that there's a lot in them old sayings—especially in that one that says that ignorance is bliss. Naturally, he thought I was trying to be clever and no judge can stand for that, and so I told him, 'I didn't ask to be taught to read and write. And if anybody is to blame for me breaking the law this time, it's the prison authorities themselves, for educating me when I didn't want any more learning than the little that I had.'

"You're right there, Warden. That 'outburst did me more harm than good. But it all boiled up inside me and I couldn't help myself. I'd managed pretty well till I was right past middle age. There'd been an occasional stretch now and then, but that was only what I expected. I didn't do much damage, I just stole enough to keep body and soul together, and sometimes just a little over. I wasn't educated enough to be ambitious.

"Oh, yes, Warden, you have to be educated to be ambitious. Before learning to read and write I'd be hardly any damage, as I just took you. A few trinkets here, a few bits of silver there. I'm not saying it's right, and I never claimed that it was. It was just that there wasn't much else that I could do, not being educated, you see . . .

"Maybe you're right, Warden. Maybe I am making excuses. Perhaps I did take the line of least resistance but I didn't mind paying the penalty. Prison life isn't all that bad, especially when you haven't been accustomed to anything very much better.

"Yes, maybe I am being sorry for myself, Warden. But I'm the only one who is sorry, and, anyway, it's the privilege of the old. It was only when I learned how to read and write that I began to feel dissatisfied with my lot. It was then I realized that the world was full of loads of good things which had completely passed me by. They'd been beyond my reach, because of my—ar—meagre income.

"The more I read the more determined I became to enjoy some of the pleasures and experiences that I'd missed. And I realized also that I was in a hurry. My time was running short, and if I was to beat the years, I knew I would have to work fast.

"True, Warden, I worked too fast, and that's where I made my mistake this time. Still, I couldn't wait for that last spell to end. There was so much for which I longed, so much to do and see, so much to enjoy, and I was in this place wasting the last few years that were left to me. Of course, you didn't understand. I didn't expect you to.

"You punished me, Warden, for making a nuisance of myself. I didn't blame you. Just as, Warden, learning to read and write makes a vast difference. Though I'm not sure I can agree with you that it's an improvement every time. That's a matter of opinion. In one thing, I was fairly content before I received the blessing of an education. No, I wasn't happy, but I had that blessing which some poets claim is worth everything else—deep ignorance of those things which made me discontented the moment I learned that they were in existence. And ignorance had other advantages. I could always count on a fairly light sentence every time I was caught. Six months used to be the maximum. Here was I, a fairly old man who couldn't read a word or write one either—they couldn't help feeling sorry for me. I lacked the light by which to follow the straight and narrow. And they made the biggest mistake of their lives when they decided that I should have that light. I saw things I'd never seen before. And, what's more, I decided to have them.

"That's why they weren't sorry for me this time. Three years they gave me—

"I'm sorry, Warden, I thought I had told you I'm in for forgery this time. Ironic, isn't it?"

Brahman Bull Attracting Man, Livestock

BRANDON, Man. — Interest of cattlemen of the province is now centering on the farm of F. Y. Turner and Son of Neepawa, where an 11-month-old Brahman bull is now growing accustomed to the Canadian climate.

Imported from the Glen Paver Ranch in Jasper, Texas, the bull is named Blanco Manso and it is the son of Baby Grande Manso, grand champion of the 1949 Corsican show.

The Turners imported the bull at a cost of more than $1,000, exclusive of shipping charges. Having come straight from the Paver Ranch, it was wild on arrival, but is now quiet and tractable.

The bull is steel gray in color, darkening over the shoulders and with a black muzzle and switch. He has the long pendulous ears, the heavy dewlap and the hump which are characteristic of the breed. The hump is said to make delicious pot roast.

The Brahman breed is looked upon as the answer to many problems in the cattle industry. They have helped eliminate cancer eye, pink eye, ticks, most of the fly and worm problems, and a dense concentration of sweat glands in the dewlap acts as a natural air conditioning and cooling feature which enables the animals to maintain body temperature under a wide variety of climatic conditions.

A native of India, the Brahman is the oldest of all breeds of cattle and it is estimated that more than half of all cattle in the world possess Brahman blood. They cross freely and were first imported to, North America about 40 years ago with a view to improving breeds here.

Only first crosses will be used on the Turner farm, as second crosses are considered to be unreliable.

Mr. Turner reports that the 725-pound animal eats much like a horse, taking small mouthfuls of feed. He is now on a ration of hay three times daily plus twice daily feedings of one-half gallon of a 50-50 mixture of oat and barley chop.

The Turners have 43 head of Shorthorn and Hereford cattle on their farm.

POULTRY PRICES CONTINUE TO DROP

WINNIPEG . . . J. P. McLean, executive secretary of the Manitoba federation of agriculture and co-operation, said prices received by Manitoba poultry producers have fallen off by as much as 25 per cent.

Mr McLean said the drop in prices was caused by competition from lower beef and pork prices, combined with heavy inventories and loss of export markets.

Northern Trading Stores In Saskatchewan Have Wide Range

Managers Say Skin Demand Is For Staples But Trinkets Are Popular

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—When a Saskatchewan trading store operator says he can sell anything he isn't stretching a point. The six stores in northern Saskatchewan sell practically everything in general merchandise.

These midget department stores can outfit a housewife as well as a trapper or fisherman. The needs of northerners, limited but highly specialized, run from canoes, rifles, gill fishing nets and gasoline for outboard motors to foodstuffs building materials and cook stoves.

Store managers say the main demand is for such staples as lard, flour, sugar, milk, tea tobacco, matches, gasoline, baby bottles and carriages and clothing.

Novelty trinkets are popular, especially with Indian and Metis children, but their sale is tactfully discouraged as it is believed money spent in this way could be put to better use.

The government trading operates at slightly more than cost. Sales totalled $248,000 last year.

Saskatchewan Government Trading, a division of the crown-owned Saskatchewan Marketing Services Corporation, grew out of the increasing services rendered by the provincial government to trappers and fishermen under its northern conservation program.

This program called for the economic handling of fish and fur resources. Marketing of fish and furs was undertaken by government agency to prevent their rapid depletion, put them on a perpetual yield basis and bring the greatest possible returns to the producers. In doing this, the government found it was also necessary to make available foodstuffs and other supplies to the people of the north.

Trading stores were operated by the government at Lac La Ronge and Wollaston Lake in 1945. Three years later Saskatchewan Marketing Services was incorporated and since then stores were established at Deschambault, Snake Lake, Stanley and Cumberland House.

Typical is the Cumberland House store and its manager's residence, which cost about $15,000. Electricity for lighting is generated by the store's own power plant.

The store manager has to be a jack of all trades. All the stores have two-way radio sets and the manager has to be an expert radio man. A knowledge of fur trading also is required. Once a year the store manager and its nearest fellow Albert for a get-together, to lay plans for coming year with head office personnel.

Typical manager is Ed Broome of Snake Lake, bearded father of a boy and girl. His wife is a registered district nurse with a full-time schedule of her own. A young school teacher who boards with the Broomes, and an elderly trapper, are the only other white residents in the small basin and bring the greatest possible settlement.

ALLANDALE DISTRICT NEWS

It has been some time since the country has been so beautiful as early in the spring, perhaps due to the few very warm days in April. The trees in their bright green color and the early spring flowers all go to make the scenery very lovely.

Most of us wouldn't appreciate the terrific dust storm on April 30th, especially in housecleaning time. Dust from Ralph Strome's summerfallow was blowing over their buildings and Campbell Lake in a huge dark cloud.

The power line is coming along quickly. Poles are up in this district. It seems it will be ready before some of the homes. We are grateful to Mrs. Roe Mead for taking care of the construction workers, and I'm sure the men appreciate this kindness very much.

If anyone hears an odd noise in the air and can't find the object it's a jet airplane. It's far ahead of the sound and does it ever go. It was seen here last Saturday and Tuesday. If our guess is correct it's Mach 1!

Mr. Wm Armstrong has a new 41 Massey Harris tractor, and we noticed Johnny O'Fee going by with a Ferdson an' tiller.

Our deepest sympathy to Mr. McPhee and family on the loss of a dear wife and mother. The late Mrs. McPhee will be sadly missed, not only in the home but in the district. She was a faithful church worker for years in the North Vermilion church. God saw the road was getting rough and the hills were hard to climb, so He closed your weary eyelids and whispered "Peace be thine".

The well driller at Johnny Nelson's must be near the 500-foot mark we wonder what's going to happen, or is it?

It was good to be able to attend Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers' farewell party at the Martin house. This couple will be greatly missed in the district especially at Clandon and where they were real live wire working workers, always ready to help when needed. Our very best to you wherever you may be. We forward the details of the party for the Clandonald correspondent.

Send up down in the country—one can't help admire the scenery at this time of year. Noticed along the way a new house coming along nicely at the Christman farm, then the new red truck standing in the Johnson yard. We spent a few minutes at the Young's home. Mrs. Young had just returned home after an enjoyable three weeks' holiday with her mother, relatives and friends at Medicine Hat. Then onto Dewberry and enjoyed a lovely dinner and visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Axley and daughter Emma in their lovely new home. Ben has just returned from Yellowknife where he has been employed for some time. It is very interesting to hear of that part of the country. He saw Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Thronson and family (Jen), they are happily settled and like the north very much. Yellowknife has all the conveniences of a city. Mr. and Mrs. R. Bowman called in the afternoon and they are both well and happy and busy busy.

Just got word of Caroline Strang being in a serious car accident. Sorry we have no further details.

The F.I.A. meeting last Monday was poorly attended. Had some discussion on the government to come tax. A larger attendance is hoped for at the next meeting.

The oil drillers on Ralph Strome's east quarter have completed their well and have moved. It was there about two weeks and in the evening the lights on the derrick could be seen for some distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson called last Tuesday afternoon. Oscar was to the city last week for an examination on his foot. The doctor thinks it advisable to have further treatments. He leaves on the 8th for a few days in the University hospital.

Closing thought: Fortitude is the quality which most of us can discover in times of real stress, but which we are apt to forget in normal but slightly trying times.

One of the great mysteries, writes Napier Moore in The Financial Post, is how a garden, carefully tidied up in the late fall and covered with a blanket of snow for months, when spring comes can disgorge such an outstanding amount of litter.

Success of Cancer Drive Depends On Country

The success of the Canadian Cancer Society's fund campaign in northern Alberta is now up to the country. That's the word from the crusade headquarters in Edmonton. With campaigns at most country points just getting underway, the fund has reached over $30,000, almost halfway to the minimum objective of $60,000.

If district canvassers can do as well as they did a year ago, success is assured. Due to the late start, the cancer society has extended its campaign through to the end of May. Early returns from a few points have been encouraging, but some points are not yet organized. Where no campaign is organized, people interested in fighting cancer are asked to send their donations to Crusade Headquarters, 11326 Jasper Ave., Edmonton.

In this district they can be sent to Mr. Keith Chalmers.

At least $65,000 are required to maintain the society's year-round campaign of education and research, aimed at stamping out cancer.

More Production at Less Cost With Modern Equipment

Never before has a man been able to do so much work on a farm so quickly and easily. New methods and modern mechanization have increased farm efficiency giving more production per worker at less cost.

Up-to-date equipment solves the farm labor shortage. Mechanized farming is the modern, low-cost, high output, more profitable way to farm.

For more than one hundred years Canadian Farmers have found in Massey-Harris machines the kind of equipment that saves time, saves labor, and enables full advantage to be taken of favorable conditions.

NEWS from ISLAY

(Held over from last week)

Mrs. W. Lavdelis was in Edmonton last week attending the graduation of her daughter, Mildred, who graduated as a nurse from the General hospital in Edmonton.

The W.A. of Knox United church met at the home of Mrs. Bothwell May 1st. It was a fine meeting and a considerable amount of business was transacted. Miss Anderson gave a synopsis of a few chapters of our study book "From Lakes to Northern Lights". There were 19 present, some of these being visitors whom it was a pleasure to see. Mrs. Sylvia Gould, Mrs. Frank Gould, Mrs. John Maire, Mrs. Doreen Gould, Mrs. Lila Waterfield and we are glad to have back again Mrs. Will Nolte who has spent the winter in Vermilion, but who is now on the farm for the summer.

The W. A. had a quilt made this spring and the meeting decided to give it to the Red Cross. Some blocks have been made towards another quilt which it is hoped will be completed this summer.

The next W.A. meeting will be a Missionary one to be held at Mrs. David Martin's the first Thursday in June. Part or our missionary packet, consisting of bed sheets, has been sent on it goes to Angola.

We had a very nice and appreciative letter from the German patient's wife to whom a parcel goes each month as they live in Russian occupied Germany. She thanks the folks in this Islay-Kitscoty parish. One thing she says—Their daughter age 15, who had T.B. is able to have one cup of milk a day, from the parcels. This is the extent of milk available. Coffee they never have but ours, and the pastor has one cup before he goes to church service on a Sunday morning. Chocolate they never get but a box went in a parcel, they had one each night before going to bed as a special treat. Our turn for a parcel comes again in August.

Neighborly Act: Attention Neighborly News

A neighborly act was carried out at Bill Waterfield's farm one day this week when Bill Hanna, Harry, Art, Joe Waterfield, Ulva McFadden, Jack Knowles, Emmerson Tennant, Lyal Annett, Alex Lidston and Merle McKerricken, with their tractor outfits, cultivated the land, making ready for seeding, which will be done by Harry and Art Waterfield. Bill Waterfield has been confined to house since last August with rheumatism. It is just now that he is able to be about on crutches and has been out in the car on very warm days. Kenny Gunn takes care of the milk cow with Grandpa being around a bit too.

Trucks are going again from the gravel pile out west — it is said blacktop is being spread on the highway.

We finally heard from Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Red Deer—they are fine. They have made a new acquaintance, Mr. and Mrs. Hen ley of Red Deer. Mrs. Henley is a sister of Mrs. Dave Buchanan who is living in town now, on what was the Waterfield lot. Dave manages to get out logging limits off the trees. Between them they are getting the lot back into looking

More Fertile Soil

WHEN THERE is DISCUSSION regarding ways to increase world food supplies, the need of preventing erosion and of increasing productivity of the soil is always emphasized. In almost all agricultural countries, measures have been taken to maintain the fertility of the soil by means of proper cultivation, the use of fertilizers, irrigation, and other methods known to modern agriculturists. However, there remain great tracts of land which would be suitable for the growing of crops but become of lack of moisture or the poor quality of the soil, are idle and unproductive.

* * *

Science Has A New Discovery

Agricultural scientists are continuously working on problems related to the soil and recently there was news of a new discovery which may someday be widely used to improve the quality of land used for the growing of grain and other food crops. Research, which started under the auspices of the Agricultural Research Council of Great Britain during the war, and was later carried on by a United States chemical company, has resulted in the discovery of a substance known as "Krilium," which has been proven to be a powerful soil conditioner and tool to promote the growth of plants. Some poor soil, treated with Krilium, produced as much as ten to twenty times as many vegetables and root crops as it formerly had.

* * * * *

May Benefit Soil Greatly

It has not yet been produced at a price suitable for general use, but it is expected that in the future Krilium or some similar material may be used not only to increase the productivity of the soil but to reclaim land now known as "dust bowl" wastes. Scientists state that the new substance is a soil conditioner and not a plant food. There is now general recognition of the contributions made by science to the improvement of agriculture and this recent discovery in the field of soil rehabilitation may have far-reaching benefits both for farmers and consumers.

Early Seeding May Prevent Damage By New Rust Threat

WINNIPEG. — This year's early seeding season may be a break for western farmers.

If the seed germinates and the grain fields get enough spring moisture to put them well on the way, they will likely head off the damage from the new rust Race 15B is most to which some of the known wheat varieties are resistant.

Agronomists have been warning all winter that early seeding is one of the best preventives for escaping 15B. The weather breaks have permitted it and by end of April wheat seeding in the south half of the province will be completed. In other parts of the province it is well under way, generally three weeks to a month earlier than last year.

As for the possibility the new rust may strike this year, the crop experts do not know. It has occurred the last two years and losses in crops have suffered considerable damage. Thus far it has only attacked late maturing fields. Normally it is expected again in 1952 but the hope is the damage will be negligible.

The province's first April seeding

Tiny Baby In Alberta Makes Medical History

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. — Baby Gary Anderson does not know it yet but he made medical history here.

Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Anderson of nearby Irvine, was born three months prematurely at the Medicine Hat General Hospital. He weighed only two pounds at birth. Very few of these babies survive.

He was the tiniest bit of humanity ever brought into this world alive at the hospital. "Just like a kitten" was how one nurse described the infant when he was born.

Gary spent 11 weeks in an incubator before his parents were allowed to take him home. He weighed six pounds, one ounce when he left the hospital.

His parents give credit for his survival to Dr. W. C. Campbell and Mrs. C. Rose McKay, supervisor of the maternity unit.

Conservation By Prairie Farmers Is Urged

Forests of Future Are Those of Every Crop Can Bear, Says Official

REGINA.—There are millions of acres of land in western Canada which will become Arizona if the exploitation of agriculture practised in this country is continued.

This opinion was expressed here by J. T. Kyle of the Saskatchewan agriculture department's conservation and development branch.

Mr. Kyle said conservation in agriculture has come to the fore in Saskatchewan in the last six or seven years probably more strongly than in any other western province.

"We had 10 years of very tough times during the 'dirty thirties' and some of the things we neglected then have resulted in a great need for conservation," he said.

The forces of nature, wind and water are potentially one of the greatest sources of power. If they get the upper hand, however, they can carry away the crop-producing soil.

Methods used today in controlling wind and water erosion are summer-fallowing so that the trash cover remains on top of the soil, contour farming, grassing of waterways and strip cropping.

Mr. Kyle said that in 1941 in western Canada there were 4,000,000 acres of abandoned land which formerly had produced crops. If that land had been in production since 1941 it would have produced more than 61,000,000 bushels of wheat.

To depict the top inch of soil on one acre of land of all plant nutrients, 430 bushels of wheat would have to be produced. Taking the average wheat yield of about 15 bushels an acre in Saskatchewan, that would be the production of 21 crop years.

The city will again carry out a rat control campaign at the city dump as in 1950 and 1951.

Conversation Barriers Surmounted By Signs

PENTICTON, B.C. — The art of conversation branched seemingly insurmountable barriers here when two deaf mutes rented a room from a blind hotelkeeper without the help of "outsiders".

Mr and Mrs. J. Cirpicia, deaf mutes from Hamilton, Ont., sought to rent a room from R. W. Goldridge, proprietor of the Empress hotel, at a time when Mr Goldridge's sighted wife was out.

Sign language or a pencilled note were out, of course, but ingenuity won through.

Mr Goldridge first held up his white cane to show the deaf mutes he was blind.

Then he wrote a message on a slip of paper, asking if they wanted a room, and suggesting that if their answer was "yes" they shake his hand twice, if "no" just once.

The answer was "yes", and by the same method Mr. Goldridge learned what type of room his guests wanted.

Chatsworth Chatter

Since it is some time ago we contributed the last column of Chatsworth some of the news items may be rather old—but, we hope, no, stale!

With ideal weather the threshing of last year's crop has been completed, and enough moisture has been caused by mice, and by shelling due to the very dry condition of the grain, there is certainly no need to worry as to the hanging quality. Most of the grain that was threshed last fall was damp and farmers had the worry of heating grain to contend with through out the late fall and the spring month.

Spring seeding is well underway, with quite a percentage of wheat already seeded, and on some farms, through the ground. Let's hope we don't experience any frosts this spring to set back early crops.

The high wind of April 30th left a number of telephone poles blown down with resultant cut-off communication.

Surveyors have been working throughout the district on the October rural electrification association's proposed power line, and those interested hope to see power turned on before winter. Menfolk have been crowding in the cutting of brush on the route with their spring seeding and threshing — it is really a busy time.

A grass fire at Leo Kinshinsky's caused some excitement last week, and might have been quite serious as it was burning straight for the farm buildings. Lots was saved in the time but the quick assistance of neighbors who came at a telephone call from Mrs. Kinshinsky soon had the blaze under control.

DEER LAKE DOINGS

Seeding and gardening is going full speed ahead around here.

We had a pleasant surprise on the 5th when Mr. and Mrs. James McGee and family of Edmonton paid us a visit. They drove down from Edmonton in their 1950 Meteor car. They spent the week end visiting old friends of this district also in Clandonald and Ethelwyn. Mr and Mrs. McGee left this district and moved to Edmonton fifteen years ago. They report they are getting along up there.

We spent a pleasant evening in do you remember.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Kinsbella and Philip drove from Lloydminster one day last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Kinsbella's parents Mr. and Mrs. Philbin.

We are very sorry to hear that Mrs. George Gilbert is a patient in the Vermilion hospital having undergone a serious operation. We hope and pray that she will have a speedy recovery.

Several 'fishers' went to Whitney Lake on Sunday to try their luck. They report 'no luck, the fish were not biting'. Better luck next time.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Meyerson of Ethelwyn spent Sunday with Margaret's parents.

Prior to 1946, ice cream was not classed as a food in spite of the fact that it contained 20% or more of cream and milk solids. It was called a "frozen compound". After considerable research it was proved to the authorities at Ottawa that three and a half ounces of ice cream could qualify as a good dietary source of riboflavin and other nutrition essentials. Since that time ice cream has been recognized as a food.

An old friend in the person of Don Montgomery sends along his renewal from Wiarton, Ont., and wants to be remembered to all old friends here. He and his wife were very pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rouse and Mr. Bill Stewart visit them earlier this year and they enjoyed a very hearty invitation to anyone in Vermilion and district to call on them if anywhere near Wiarton.

Thos. Botswell of Islay is an Edmonton visitor this week.

Dewberry News

Very favorable spring weather is enabling farmers to get a great deal of seeding done. Water holes are fast drying up and seeding is a week ahead of last year.

Jack Grant has taken his two big tractors up to Cold Lake where he has them at work on the new air port for the R.C.A.F.

Much Grain in Storage

Dewberry elevators and district granaries are still storing upwards of a quarter million bushels of grain. Farmers are going to face a serious problem of disposing of this year's crop unless cars are made available. Saskatchewan points had the same trouble last year and farmers were unable to make full deliveries. It looks as if Alberta farmers had better get those extra bins built. If you are interested in doing something about the situation, attend your next F.U.A. meeting.

Don't forget the Farmers' holiday on June 13th. Dewberry, Clandonald, Marwayne, Riverton and Greenlawn F.U.A. are arranging for a joint picnic on the Old Timers' grounds north of Dewberry.

Tou late girls -- another of our young bachelors is going out of circulation on June 9th. Wedding Dermill already has the machinery in motion and has purchased the Jim Smith home. Mr. Dermill's girl, Miss Anne Rivett of Dewberry, collect star sort ball pitcher.

Due [illegible] has [illegible] several or [illegible] citizens including Mrs. E. Jones, Mrs. J. Braitwaite and Mr. J. Bell.

Just in case you missed one of the writer [illegible] good cigar from Harold McKnight, [illegible] Congratulations to Harold and Bernice on the birth of a daughter at the Islay hospital

Waiting patiently are two mother ducks. They [illegible] the ditch on the C.P.R. right-of-way no more than 9 feet from the main track. They sit quietly there as the trains whistle by. What patience!

Dewberry school now has a much better garbage at [illegible] screens have been applied. A party was held recently for Jack Allen's students. The next big activity will be the end of the track meet near the end of the month.

The local fishermen have their gear out. They claim fish are starting to bite really well already.

Ethelwyn Notes

Nine members and 4 guests attended the W.A. meeting held on May 1st at Mrs. Gower's home. Mrs. Daley very kindly invited the ladies how to make organdie roses. Plans were made to clean and paint the living quarters at the church.

Mr. Jackson student minister from Hamilton, Ont., arrived last Sunday to take charge of the North Vermilion Mission field. Mr. Jackson's old servic ? hours will be the same as last year. 10 a.m. one Sunday and 7:30 p.m. the next. May 18th services will be at 10 a.m.

Caroline Injured in Car Accident

The writer is sorry to report that Caroline Gilbert has been injured in a car accident at White Court. There have been many conflicting rumors regarding Caroline's injuries. Mrs. Strang visited her daughter in hospital three days after the accident and reports Caroline is quite comfortable. Caroline was riding in a car driven by Mr. Ed Hunter when it was struck by a light type truck. By a strange quirk of fate Caroline's mother happened to be closely wrecked but the driver was unhurt. The five passengers in the car were all thrown through the driver's window. The driver was taken to the Edmonton hospital, to an Edmonton hospital, Caroline suffered from shock, bruises and cuts. Her left collar bone and collar bones were broken, one torn loose from the sheath and one pivis is broken. Due to her broken collar bone the doctor had not yet made definite plans concerning her. We do not think that there were any internal injuries or back injuries. Caroline will be in the Edmonton hospital at Mayerthorpe for some weeks yet. We are sure she would appreciate a shower of letters from her friends. Two other passengers in the car were also injured and the 5th received only minor injuries.

Mrs. Hunter suffered a painful accident last week when his team took fright at a truck and turned the wagon over throwing out the barrels of gas were thrown out and Mrs. Hunterhas a leg was caught under the wagon box.

Friends are reminded of the annual meeting of the Ethelwyn Mission which will be held at the Salvation Army hall June 1st at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McGee and family of Edmonton called on several old friends in the district on Sunday.

end visit to the Van Wageningen home. He is graduating from the University next week end and the writer and husband are going for the convocation exercises.

Project Financed Without Difficulty

Power Turned On In Campbell Lake Area

During this week power will be turned on in the Campbell Lake Rural Electrification area. This will climax the efforts of a group of farmers which began July 26th, 1951. At that time a meeting was held and a company formed taking in a rather large area, having 58 members. Plans were to build the lines last fall but poor harvesting conditions led to the collapse of this organization.

Last January it was decided to try again with a smaller group and to originate at Clandonald. A meeting was held Jan. 21st, 1952 and the following board of directors were elected:

President George Convey
Vice-Pres. - Michael Simonet
Sec-Treas. - George Mead
Directors — Ralph Strume and Roe Sinclair

On Feb. 12th it was found possible to include several more shareholders from the Allendale district. As a result the complete list of shareholders is:

Jas. Smith, Sidney Cusack, Francis Monaghan, Ralph Strume, Harold McKnight, Alex. Forsyth, Milton Parnell, Ralph Strume, Clarence Mead, George Convey, G. Thorndson, Alex. Forsyth, Milton Parnell, Ralph Strume, Clarence Mead, McPhee Bros., J. Nelson, W. Armstrong, W. Cruse, Simonet Bros., O. Cannon, Herb McPhee, W. Wilson, J. S. Cruse. The Allendale school will be served as well.

Financed Without Difficulty

It is worthy that considerably more than the amount required to qualify for Government assistance was raised without difficulty. Banking was done at the Vermilion Treasury Branch through Mr. Lehody.

30 Miles of Line — Voltage 13,800

There are about 30 miles of line in the area electrified, all single steel wire Voltage is 13,800. Construction has been carried out by the Sunrise Construction Co. to whom much credit is due. Work was started on April 24th. Building time was set for 6 weeks and the contract was turned on in less than four weeks. While weather was always good, they were hampered a couple of times by shortage of poles and transformers. There are eight men in the crew, all but two of whom have been local men working as a unit for about a year. Judging was provided for the crew, by Mrs. R. Mead for the entire period of construction.

Canadian Utilities Power

Power will be purchased from Canadian Utilities. Newly electrified area is generated at the Vermilion plant of Canadian Utilities.

Death of George McIntosh

George McIntosh passed away at the Vermilion hospital on Tuesday, May 20th in his 74 year of years. He leaves to mourn his passing his loving wife, two daughters, Mrs. John Hines and Mrs. Harold Wilson, both of Vermilion: two sons, Lowell of Vermilion and Dewood in Detroit, America. Two sisters and a brother reside in the U.S.A. Eight grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren.

Funeral services are being held this Thursday, May 22nd at 2:15 o'clock, at the Alliance Mission, with interment at the Vermilion cemetery. The Rev. Eric Berg officiating.

Home & School Meet Tuesday, May 27th

MRS. R. TOBY, SPEAKER

The May meeting of the Vermilion Home and School will be held on Tuesday evening, May 27th, in the public school. Meeting to begin sharply at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. R. Toby of Wainwright, Regional Vice-President for the North Central area of Alberta will address the gathering on Tuesday evening. All will be remembered that Mrs. Toby was in attendance and gave an enthusiastic talk at our organization meeting two years ago. It would be gratifying to see as large a crowd at this meeting.

Lunch will be served.

Stirring Chronicle Of Northern Alberta

Vermilion's 'Grandma Jones' Featured In Eastern Story

In an issue of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, a few months ago appeared under the caption "Grandma Jones" one of the most stirring chronicles of faith and endurance of pioneering days in the wilds of British Columbia. Grandma Jones is none other than Mrs. Christina Jones, wife of Ali Jones both of whom lived for many years in Vermilion. Mrs. Jones, who recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Ali Jones both of whom lived for many years in Vermilion. Mrs. Jones, who recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Ali Jones both of whom lived for many years in Vermilion, was 27 years old when she left Ontario with her husband and baby son to go to Edmonton, Alberta. Grandma Jones was born in Ontario, and after World War I, both parents and one brother broke to her and live in the open. They settled on a homestead on the Pabole River in the great Peace River country and 300 miles from railroad. Here for three years Ali and Gordon had established a trapline which reaches further north every 100 miles of territory. To reach the beginning of the trapline meant a journey through wild and desolate country of 300 miles from Fort Vermilion and 300 miles from the Hudson Bay post at Fort Vermilion. Accompanying Mrs Jones on this hazardous journey was her daughter-in-law and her little son Gordon Chapman, two years old. To add to their difficulties a severe winter was on the way. Supplies moved across rickety pole flooring, a musk-rat had to be crossed and beaten out out of knurled woods. Their handicaps were increased when they put on the river. What with canoes loaded to the water-line, swift flowing currents and rapids it was one perilous moment after another. One time one canoe was upset and provisions went floating down with the current until recovered on the bank some miles further down. Most of the travelling had to be done in the dark. They started out in September and it was well into October before they reached the head cabin 200 miles north western Canada's wilderness' mail.

From the nearest human being. Her description of the cabin is: "Just a log cabin with sod roof and a presentable Tarpaulin over the was the mattress for the beds. Black flies nearly drove them mad. Millions of them. Sweetened only were their trials at this time by the kind life-saving powers of beauty to Grandma. The latter part of October started out again for the trapline in single file, each carrying a load. They came to a lake they had to get over on rubber ice which bent and cracked but did not break. They reached Owl Creek in 36 hours and hailed at a cabin much in need of cleaning, but Grandma set to work and soon tidy and habitable as was possible. Water was brackish, full of water bugs, but as they got used to it not drunk. Grandma made lye out of barks and softened the water making it more palatable.

Grandma Jones then started to prepare for Christmas with what little she had and had accomplished in unknown to the men folks. On Christmas day she had a tree for the baby. All covered with gaily paper stars, boxes filled with bags of candies made from bear grease, baskets with handkerchiefs and socks for the men. She had cookies, sweets and special kinds of cake, pudding steaming in a lard pail, raisins, dried fruits, nuts and pulls. chocolate fudge fatty with walnuts all of which left everything hidden in preparation of celebrating Christmas. hundreds of miles away from where all these things could be had for the asking. It seemed to her "God was in our midst for one and all were very happy and there was enough left over to make merry another day." And that by a resourceful woman who moved with friends afterwards in Vermilion for a few years but who knew nothing about her pioneering in

Truck Driver Killed On Highway 16 Wednesday Morning

KENNETH KAY LOSES LIFE WHEN OIL TANKER TURNS

Kenneth Kay, a young North Battleford man, 20 years of age, lost his life Wednesday morning about 8:30 o'clock when the big oil tanker he was driving careened off the blacktop seven miles east of Vermilion and turned over in the ditch. The driver was pinned underneath the cab and was thought to have been instantly killed by the impact, crush and fractured skull. No other vehicles were involved in the crash.

The young man was employed by the oil tanker for the Wilkins Co. and was on the run from Edmonton to North Battleford. It is thought that Mr. Kay must have dozed at the wheel as the accident occurred on a straight stretch of road. He was traveling alone.

Toad Flax Control Area Established

PUBLIC MEETING AT MANNVILLE ON MAY 27th

The Municipal District of Minburn set up a Toad Flax Special area for the control of this pernicious weed which is infesting the farm land over the district. The area involved is one township in extent and is situated mostly just north of the town of Mannville.

The plan as authorized by the council is to make sodium chlorate available to farmers at one-third of the regular price. The balance of the cost is assumed equally by the municipality and the government.

When sodium chlorate is applied to the land at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet it becomes sterile for 3 years. This kills all vegetation including the Toad Flax.

The amount of chemical is limited to 2 drums per section. Reduced price for each quarter section. Applications of chlorate per quarter section are being received and will be accepted until [illegible] Applications will be received by [illegible] Quarrie, Secy. 79 Ladies' Tea, open. 81. HELPING— WITH HEART AND HAND—

The throne chosen by the Salvation Army for its annual Red Shield Appeal is an appropriate one. "Helping — with heart and hand" has always been, it seems to us, the watchword of the Salvation Army.

The work of this internationally-known organization is of both heart and hand. Salvationists are known for the way they put their hearts into what they do. That is why professionalism has not yet crept into the ranks of the Salvation Army, why its endeavors are marred by simplicity and sincerity which are always qualities of the heart.

But the Army helps with its hand as well as its heart. Once without the other is not much good. In actuality, Salvationists are constantly "lending a hand" to their less-fortunate fellows. It is a hand that sometimes is described as being "floor-scrubbed with help, shining in the dark basements of life and the back-yards of despair."

This current local Red Shield appeal is the raising of $4,200 is its objective. Let us see to it that we, too, help with heart and hand, with our dollars, so that the Army's necessary and worthwhile work may continue.

Seeding Near End In Vermilion District

A perfect spring season which opened early and during which the weather has never once broken has resulted in considerable progress with spring work on the farms in this area. Wheat seeding is 85% completed, oats 80% and barley 50%. A good general rain is now needed but copious local showers fell Monday night, the first rain of the year.

Wheat is already up three inches and growing rapidly.

All unfinished harvesting from last fall has been cleaned up with the grain all grading very dry. Wild fruit trees blossomed early and are a picture, with Blues just coming into their own, apparently quite undamaged by frost.

THE WEATHER

Warmest day during the week was Monday with 76 while there was frost one night only, 29 on the 19th. .27 inches of rain fell Tuesday.

Stagette Notes

If you are under the impression that time drags, the winter is long, etc., you had better join the Stagette club. Here we are at the end of another active term and it doesn't seem any time since we sent those "new kids" through town in their long underwear and straw hats (initiation night), or spent a whole night exclaiming, "Conventions — Here? What? How?" and it turned out wonderful, proving the expression "Today is the tomorrow we worried about yesterday — and all is well".

It wasn't just our efforts that made this 51-52 term bigger and better. We couldn't have gone far without the ever-helping hand of the public. It was that hand that made it possible to further the work of the Club beyond last year's bounds, and it was appreciated!

Last week we held our annual banquet and Cotton Ball and were very pleased to have a perfect attendance. Every girl on roll call was present. Maybe Lil missed her bus on purpose. Oh, Bob Carmichael was also present. If any of us were allergic to cameras we go over it when he came in. He did all right by us too—the pictures are good (but, (that should be worth a quarter, Eh?). I feel quite justified in saying our dance went over the top again, both socially and financially, so our bank account will give us a start when we reorganize this fall.

We wish to express our thanks to the Standard staff for our corner of the paper each week. They weren't always short of material when they put us in there either. Why, we even hit the front page a few or two! Did you notice? It was fun writing the Club notes and when I got stuck somebody pulled me out, though I didn't always use what they said (ahem!). I heard some favorable comments—thanks. I heard some hair-raising comments . . . censored by Ye Ed.)

We enjoy banquets so much that the Social committee say we'll have to have one more. This will be a very informal banquet — held on the river bank somewhere. Right! Weiner roast. Dot A. and Elva will tell us more later. Where can we get a good boy on the weiners?

Speaking of good boy—Good Bye and have fun this summer. From what I hear if you follow the example of Dorothy McC and Sophie you can't miss. (Hmmm! Dot is secretary of the Club.)

Chatsworth Chatter

Wheat seeding is practically completed, with a small percentage of coarse grains also in the ground. And now the farmers are beginning to wonder if the heat and dry weather which have been so welcome through the harvesting of last year's crops, and the seeding of this crop, are to continue. Some moisture will be needed, although there still seems to be plenty of subsoil moisture.

On Friday the Fidelity schoolchildren were visitors to Chatsworth, for a friendly game of softball. As yet we haven't heard what the score was.

Mrs. Harry Good received a telephone call from her brother, Charlie Robson last Monday evening, with the happy news of the birth of a son to he and Mrs. Robson on May 12th at Whitehorse. The call came through very clearly.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Moss of Edmonton were visitors to the Cummings home on Saturday and Sunday, May 10 and 11.

Also a visitor at the same home Sunday was Mrs. Nora Ramaglia of Isley.

Mrs. Archie Good of Innisfail, was a visitor to Vermilion and district last week, from Sunday 11th until Thursday 15th. Mrs. Good was here to attend the funeral service of her uncle, Mr. T. Torrance of Isley. On Wednesday afternoon she and Mrs. W. Roebuck, both ex-teachers of Chatsworth reminisced remembrances in this locality.

The May meeting of the Chatsworth Country club was held at the home of Mrs. East on the 16th with 20 members and visitors present. It was moved and carried to donate the sum of $5 to the Arthritis fund. The blankets from old woollen rags were received and will soon be plenty of school distributed. The Social contest — 'How many buttons in a quart sealer?' was supplied by Mrs. Patterson, and won by the nearest guesser. The nickel draw was won by Mrs. Patterson. The next meeting is to be held at Mrs. Burns' on Friday June 27th, note the change of day, members and visitors. This is to be a special meeting as Miss Bernice Reed, District Home Economist, is to visit us with a talk and demonstration on 'Pre-session Finishing Touches in Sewing' — this should be interesting and instructive. The lunch committee consists of Mrs. East, Mrs. R. Good, Mrs. Joe Farkash, and Mrs. Matt Farkash. The social is being dispensed with for this meeting. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

We wonder—who caught a cold last week — wandering around the yard in bare feet? And at night too!

Home & School Assoc. Meet At Paradise Valley

The Paradise Valley Home and School association had as their guest speaker on Wednesday evening Mr. A. Asldridge of Guidance in the Department of Education, Edmonton, Alberta. He was also accompanied by Mr. S. D. Simonson, the supervisor of Vermilion School Division.

Mr. Asldridge and Mr. Simonson attended an institute meeting of the A.T.A. for the Paradise Valley subunit in the afternoon. 14 teachers gathered and an educational discussion of guidance in elementary grades was led by Mr. Asldridge. Mr. Simonson outlined plans for school closing and changes in the courses for next term.

The monthly meeting of Home and School was attended by about forty interested parents and teachers. Mr. A. Aldridge dealt with the problem of guidance from the home viewpoint, as well as the school. He stressed the need for greater understanding of the child's needs for sympathy and understanding during the difficult adjustment period, and the need for making the child feel that he has a definite place in the home, the school and the community.

After the program had concluded with a short business session, lunch was served and a very profitable and enjoyable evening was concluded.

REPORT to the PEOPLE

By A. G. Aalberg, Member for Alexandra.

The nominating convention of the Social Credit Association of Alexandra was held in the Legion hall in Kitscoty on the evening of Thursday, May 8th. This meeting was very well attended by representatives and visitors from all parts of the constituency. Delegates were present from the majority of polling subdivisions in the riding.

This convention opened by observing, one minute of silence in tribute to the memory of the late Harry Batty of Kitscoty, Wm. Wilkinson of Castle, L. B. Woodruff of Borradaile and Chas. Friedland of Kokanee who had all attended nominating conventions in years past and who had all played a leading role in the work of Social Credit organization during their lifetimes.

The convention also elected three officers to head the constituency executive, Merlin Moncrief of McLaughlin as president; Percy Howe of Rivercourse as vice-president and Jim Smith of Kitscoty as the Secretary-Treasurer. Other members of the executive will consist of one representative from each of the Social Credit groups organized within the constituency. Jim Smith was also requested by the convention to act as returning officer for the next provincial general election.

Delegates to the convention nominated myself as their Social Credit candidate for the forthcoming election. I considered it a great honor and privilege to accept this nomination for the second time. I am deeply grateful to the convention for the support and confidence which it saw fit to place in me.

At this time I want to express in the Standard my deep appreciation, and my sincere and heartfelt thanks for the good will, co-operation and encouragement which has been extended to me by the people of Alexandra during the four years that I have now served as your representative in the legislative assembly of the province. I fully realize that no one is indispensable, that the world can get on very well without any one of us, and that there are many, many others in Alexandra who would have been quite capable of serving you faithfully and well during this particular time. But you accorded me that privilege when you first elected me as your member in 1948, and I feel deeply honored that I am now authorized to seek your support as a Social Credit candidate once again at the next election. If I am re-elected, I shall strive with renewed energy to serve your interests in any way that I can.

A brief report as to how I have conducted myself as your member, and how I have tried to fulfill the duties and to discharge the responsibilities which you placed in my care in 1948 should now be made here in order that you may consider whether or not I am worthy to continue as your servant in the legislature.

In the first place I have remained loyal to the Social Credit administration in this province. When you elected me on the Social Credit "ticket" in 1948, I felt it was my first duty to work in the fullest possible extent that time and circumstances would allow for the promotion of Social Credit principles and policies in this province and elsewhere and to support by my vote in the legislature the Social Credit government whenever the leadership of Premier Ernest C. Manning. Because our Social Credit government is the best provincial government in Canada and has been a very pleasant and inspiring duty, and therefore, very easy to perform. Right across this great land of ours from coast to coast, the Social Credit government of Alberta has gained an unparalleled reputation for good honest administration. It has been a great satisfaction to associate myself with this Government, and to play a part, however small in carrying out its program for the welfare and advancement of the people of this province.

In the second place I have tried by means of public meetings and regular reports in the local weeklies to keep you informed on provincial affairs. At this point I would like to thank the editors of the Lloydminster Times and the Vermilion Standard for their generous contribution of free space in their newspapers as a public service in order that these regular reports might appear. I have also arranged on several occasions to have ministers of the government speak to you at public meetings in order to discuss with you the policies of their respective departments, and in order that they might become acquainted first hand with the problems and needs of the people of Alexandra.

In the third place I have tried to keep in contact with the various local governments within the constituency, that is, the Council of M.D. Vermilion River, the Board of Trustees of the Vermilion S.D., the Town Council of Lloydminster, the Village Council of Kitscoty, the School Trustees of Lloydminster and the Board of the Municipal hospitals in the area, in order that we might work all together for the welfare and benefit of the citizens of this part of the province. I wish to thank all members of these local governing bodies for their courtesy and generous assistance in dealing with our mutual problems. It has been a pleasure to work with them.

In the fourth place I have tried to devote all the time I can to dealing with various and numerous problems that have been brought to my attention by groups and individuals throughout the constituency. This phase of the work has probably occupied more of my time and attention than any other. As your elected member I have had a voice on the floor of the assembly and in government caucus meetings. I have thereby expressed what I believed to be your wishes in the formulation of government policies. But once these policies have been put into effect, it has been my further responsibility to see to it that the people I represent receive the greatest possible benefit from the application of these policies. In carrying out this phase of the work I have had no regard for the political affiliations of the groups and individuals concerned. Once elected I have tried to in the best interests of all citizens of the riding no matter what their political ties may have been during the election campaign. I do not misunderstand me on this point. All Social Crediters in Alexandra, myself included, will put up the best fight we know how to put up to hold this seat for Social Credit.

But when the election is over, the candidate must, in all fairness, represent all the people. In this connection I have tried to bear in mind at all times that I represent the whole constituency and not just any section or part of it, or any one, or two occupational groups in it. I have tried to be fair and square with the principle that I represent all the people all the time.

Should this approach to the duty and responsibility of representing you in the legislature meet with your approval, and should you then see fit to return me as your member for another term in the legislature, I shall continue with increased effort to work along the line; briefly set forth above.

With election dates already set for the C. and Saskatchewan, you may be wondering what the date of the next general election in Alberta is. A general election must be held in Alberta by August, 1953. But it may be called, for next month, or this summer or this fall. No decision has yet been announced by the Government Election is expected to be conducted in accordance with the terms of the Alberta Election Act which provides that the election or polling day must be set not earlier than 34 days nor later than 44 days following the Writ of Election dispensing the present Government and legislature.

The countryside is a lovely sight with the wild blossoms looking their best right now. There will be lots of wild fruit if only the frost stays away.

Mrs. Gillies arrived home from Edmonton on Monday returning again on Thursday to remain until the 21st of May when Phil will bring both back once more. Mr. Gillies is feeling much better.

The service at the church on Sunday was fairly well attended.

Threshing and harvesting is now completed with the crops of Mr. McClellan and Mr. Gillies safely in the granaries. Here is hopin' that it will be many a season before the frosts cut all winter again.

Did we hear that Bill Gillies missed the train? Just remember Billy boy that the tide nor train wait for no man . . . so be a little faster next time.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

The Careless Cow

By Katherine Howard : : : Cupid Uses Cushion

AS THE big gray truck rounded the curve of the highway, Slim Harris, with a practiced expertise, slammed on the brakes and brought the truck to a sudden stop. A big cow blithely pranced into the clearing missing the truck's headlights by an inch, and at the same instant a girl in a blue dress came running down the lane and out onto the highway.

Slim reached into his pocket for his small camera. She made a pretty picture, with her yellow hair flying, and he was a camera fiend. But as she came close to the truck, he saw that her face was flushed and indignant, and her blue eyes were sparkling angrily.

"What do you think you are doing?" she stormed. "You truck drivers think the highway belongs to you. Always in such a hurry . . ."

Slim leaned out of the cab. "Say," he dawled. "Why don't you teach that animal of yours that all trucks pack an awful wallop. You'd better look after your cow in future." He started the engine.

"She's not my cow, that's the worst of it," said the girl. She looked up at Slim with eloquent blue eyes, "She belongs to my brother. He's just taken his wife to the hospital, and I've got to milk that beastly animal."

Slim's eyes twinkled. Lend on. I'll bring old bossy to the barn and milk her for you."

"Oh, would you?" The blue eyes beamed with relief. "It's awfully good of you. Come, Julie."

Slim and the girl followed, Slim feeling a glow of virtuous satisfaction, which could have been caused either by his Boy Scout act or by the close proximity of the pretty girl. But his reasonable mood was suddenly demolished as a husky fellow in blue shirt and overalls came around the corner of the house.

"Hey," what's going on?" he said truculently. "What're you doing with that cow?"

"Going to milk her, I believe," mildly answered Slim, nevertheless his gray eyes glinted.

"Slim, me, you're nuts. I came over to milk Julie, Anna, and I intend to. You'd better get back of your truck. You're off schedule."

The fellow glared at Slim who constantly remembering how pretty she was, how cute and attractive, he bought a big box of chocolate candy as his truck on its way north again approached the gray, weather-beaten farmhouse. Slim felt his heart thumping. There was a flutter of bliss by the house.

Suddenly, "Well, if that isn't Julie again," said Slim. The black and white cow daubed to the lane and to the highway. She stood staring, then, from the north, roared a great mogul, travelling much too fast, Slim figured.

The coupe hit the cow, veered sharply, slid to the ditch, across the road, and shot forward on its way, spattering gravel.

Julie lay at the edge of the road, and Slim got down from the truck.

"Well, you really did it this time, didn't you?" A cool voice rumbled him and he turned. There stood Anna, contempt in her blue eyes, "I told you this would happen," she said.

"Too jump to conclusions, don't you?" said Slim, a sympathy of the community goes to Mr Wm. Mayes on the death of an older brother, Charlie. He passed on at Minneapolis on May 11th. Charlie was one of the old homesteaders in this district, having homesteaded the quarter

"Two arms scraped on the gravel as a green coupe came to a stop beside them. The character who had insulted old milking Julie before got out of the car. "Guess you got her this time," he sneered. "Well, so long and mummy for her we won't kick too much with us, Anna."

"I'm not paying for her," said Slim bluntly, "and I'd advise you to admit that you hit the cow."

Who, me?" bluntered the fellow. his little eyes turning stony "What're you talking about?"

"This," said Slim, taking the little camera out of his pocket, "I was just snapping a picture of bossy. shall we say for sentimental reasons, when what should come into the picture but a green coupe, and the camera never lies, brother."

And as he drove Anna back to the farm, with poor Julie in the back of the truck, Slim idly speculated on what curious instruments Cupid uses to perform his naughty tricks.

Prairies Wage Mechanized War On Coyotes

The coming of summer ended one of the greatest hunts ever waged, in Canada, against the coyote. Hundreds of the livestock killers have been wiped out this past winter by Canadian farmers who look forward to relief from the vicious marauders for the first time in six years. Above, a coyote is about to be shot as it tries to escape from one of the merciless circles of horsemen and sleighs which surrounded it. Below, the coyotes hang have been scarce of financial consequence to farmers. Smaller than the wolf and more cowardly, they are skilful at killing in numbers and hunting in packs at night. During the winter, when game birds, hares, chipmunks and mice are scarce, coyotes raid farmyards. Previously, each rancher in the area would have slowly, on foot, bagging one or two at a time. Now with the best snowmobile the coyote doesn't stand a chance against such mechanized warfare, as seen above.—Central Press Canadian

SOLDIER FROM ALBERTA IS FIRST CANADIAN TO TAKE JAPANESE BRIDE

Believed to be the first Canadian soldier to marry a Japanese girl, Pte. Earl MacMillan of Medicine Hat, Alta., will head for home shortly on leave from Canadian Postal Corps in Japan as soon as his bride is given a "clean bill of health" by medical authorities. The 21-year-old soldier, who was the first recruit in the Calgary district to join the Korean brigade in 1950, met his wife-to-be working in a souvenir shop in Kure where he went to shop for gifts to send home. Within three weeks he married her, winning her hand against the opposition of one Australian and the I.A. soldiers.

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

Warped Aluminum Pans

You can fix the warped bottom of a sheet aluminum pan. If the pan bulges outward, place it bottom up on a table with the handle extending over the edge. Then lay a flat piece of wood over the bottom and pound down with a hammer until the bottom is flat. If the bulge is inward, you'll have to put a thick block of wood inside the pan and hit it with a hammer until the bottom's flat. Bulging pan bottoms are caused by too much heat or by sudden changes in temperature.

To All Clubs

If any of your clubs are interested in having Mr. Folk, from the Vermilion schools of agriculture, show you "How to be Your Own Handyman" — things like fixing a clothesline, a roller blind, etc. — for one afternoon; or if your club would like Mr. Folk for a three day clinic on refinishing and modernizing furniture, then write to me within the next week and I'll see about having Mr. Folk in this district sometime during the summer.

Jane Wirsig Article

Jane Wirsig wrote a short article about letting your children share evening nights, and because I think this is so good for your children, here is most of the article:

"When we invite friends for dinner we keep our boys up so they can share the fun. If we should happen to be out they would resent company and miss the chance to learn how to greet adults with poise.

Generally our children behave well unless I forget some rules about asking guests, children and a company meal. First, the guests must be good friends who like children. And the dinner has to be simple so that I can prepare it in advance. If I'm worried about one that's too fancy to handle easily, I'm lost. I shop at the youngsters and forget their routines. Then they get devilish and act worse.

An early supper for the boys with ice cream for dessert puts them in a cheerful mood. If my husband gets home in time he reads to them while I dress.

We give each child something to do as soon as each guest arrives. Our two older boys forget to be self-conscious if they're taking coats upstairs or putting ash trays around. We give our toddler a favorite toy to help him feel at ease.

I try to get the boys to bed before they're tired. Once upstairs, I compliment them on something nice they did for the guests. That reassures them. A short story then is enough before they settle down to sleep.

As I hug them goodnight, it's good to hear them say: "I like company,' and 'our friends are nice, aren't they, Mommie. It's fun having company."

I like the idea of letting the children do something to help when your guests come. It does get them used to older people.

You should never boil meat with a lid on it. You 'can' make the meat poisonous. I know, you always do leave the lid on and you haven't been poisoned yet. Well, I'm not trying to scare you but just to tell you that you should take the lid off hot meat and cool it as quickly as you can. Then put the lid on and store the meat.

About 25 years ago in California a man left a spoon in a glass of lemonade on a window sill overnight. In the morning it was frozen. He dipped the glass in warm water and the lemonade came out in one piece with the spoon frozen in like a handle. That was the beginning of creamsickles and popsickles.

"... saved me days, perhaps weeks, of work"

After returning from his first trip to the West, a business man wrote his bank:

"I arrived having no idea where to start in to make the connections I required. The thought occurred to me that perhaps the bank, which has been very helpful to me on numerous occasions, would give me some guidance. Mr. W. proved to be of tremendous help. He introduced me to the people I should have met and saved me days, perhaps weeks, of work."

Every chartered bank works this way. Whether you walk into your neighborhood branch or one a thousand miles away, you will find the same full range of banking service—and the same readiness to help.

More Research Work Needed

Many keen thinkers today are alarmed about the growing lack of sufficient food for the ever-expanding populations of the world .Different students of the question propose different remedies. (Some of these will be examined in future articles. Dr. Josue de Castro, chairmen of the Executive Council of the F.A.O. United Nations, believes that much more food could be produced if the same amount of research into biological problems that affect agriculture were made as is being done with industrial research. Dr. de Castro tells us that one British Chemical firm alone, the Imperial Chemical Industries, employs more scientists and technicians to work out new advances in chemistry than the total number of research scientists engaged in agricultural biology in the whole of the British Empire. Dr. de Castro suggests- that if more and better paid scientists were available to agriculture we could look forward to the same astonishing new advances and inventions in crop and food production as are being made in the physical, chemical and electrical sciences. All this, if attained, would help materially to raise the level of living of the two-thirds of the people in th world who now suffer from sheer hunger and from severe malnutrition. So the cause of peace would be furthered.

Better Schooling

A REPORT WHICH HAS BEEN of interest to many Canadians was published recently under the title "Better Schooling for Canadian Youth". The report was the result of a study made over a period of four years by a committee made up of one representative each of a number of associations in the fields of agriculture, commerce education, industry, labour and the home. The undertaking was financed by a number of national associations, individual firms and labour organizations and its object was to find "what constitutes a suitable secondary school education for students who go directly to employment from school." The work was inspired by the late Dr Fletcher Peacock president of the Canadian Education Association in 1944 when he told the Canadian Manufacturer's Association that if funds were provided the Educational Association would help to find out "what was wrong with education."

Slow To Meet Rural Needs

The resulting report gave some interesting facts concerning secondary education in Canada and made recommendations based on the findings of the committee. One part of the report dealt with the needs of secondary schools in rural areas. It said "Agriculture is a major industry in Canada but the schools have been slow to develop courses for rural pupils. It would seem very desirable in rural areas are frequently small, and offer only a limited course, and also that there is the greatest discussion among many people that agriculture is an unskilled occupation for which no special training is needed beyond that which the farm boy receives at home. On the contrary, those who made a study of this matter arrived at the conclusion that agriculture is a business for which technical education as well as a good general education is needed

Says Studies Should Go On

The report recommends that secondary schools in rural areas should emphasize skills needed on the farm and should also give instruction in agricultural economics, conservation, marketing farm organization, consumer problems, farm management and other related subjects. It also suggested that attention should be given to making farm life more attractive by the needs of rural electrification, recreation, modernization of farm homes and hundred other problems. The problem of rural education was not one of many discussed in the report, which concluded with recommendations that continuous research should be carried on with the object of improving secondary education in Canada to meet the needs of the country in these changing times.

1951 Was Good Year For Farmers

OTTAWA Farmers in 1951 had their second best productive year in history.

The bureau of statistics reported that the physical volume of agricultural production, based on 1935-39 equalling 100, was estimated at 157 1 last year The figure compared with 139.5 for 1950 and the record high of 164.2 set in 1942.

Bumper grain crops on the prairies, together with increased production of livestock, tobacco, vegetables, poultry and eggs, were responsible for the high production index. The increase more than offset declines in the output of dairy products, potatoes, sugar beets, fruits, and maple products.

The winner is Charles H. Montjoy, Juneau.

More than 130,000 Alaskans submitted guesses at $1 each on the time of the ice breaking. Expenses cut the pot down to $102,000.

However, Uncle Sam will be the real winner as Montjoy will have to pay approximately $40,000 in taxes out of the payoff.

Marriage Advice Keeps Workers Happy On Job

COVENTRY England — As the machines start up each morning in a factory here a friendly voice addresses the workers over the loudspeaker system. It doesn't pay bills when things go wrong. It gives them marriage advice.

The scheme, was started on the principle that "you can't be happy at the factory if you are not happy at home."

Harry Weston, manager of the factory and also Coventry's mayor, claims the talks are a great success. So much so in fact, that he is arranging others.

Funny and Otherwise

While attending a night club with a favourite escort, a girl went into the cloakroom to repair her face and met several friends she hadn't seen for a long time. They started gossiping and time went on . . . and on.

Presently an attendant handed her a note. It was from the obviously weary escort, and read: "Can't understand why you haven't written."

"How much does your hair weigh now, Auntie?"

"Goodness me, Agnes, whatever are you talking about?"

"Well, Mummy says it gets a bit lighter every time you go and see the hairdresser."

His mother-in-law had written to say that she was coming to live with them. An hotchet-head, she approached the house, she new a large crowd. Pushing her way to the front, she blushed in consternation at the dead body of a midnight burglar done—at the hoop of bricks, the charred furniture.

And she also gasped, her face livid. "I didn't think he'd go as far as that."

• • •

"Hey George, how do you like married life?"

"Like it like a bird, boss."

"Like a bird, George?"

"Yes boss. I have to fly for my life."

• • •

"So you and your neighbor are not on speaking terms?"

"No. He sent me a can of oil to use on my lawn-mower when I started to cut the grass at six in the morning."

"And what did you do?"

"Sent it back and told him to use it on his wife when she started singing at eleven at night."

"I've just been congratulating Colonel Blimp," said a guest at a luncheon. "He's been appointed governor of a prison."

"Really?" asked his portly neighbour. "Now, for a job like that does one need influence, or does one start as a convict and rise from the ranks?"

• • •

The boss returned from lunch in a happy mood and called in the whole staff to listen to a couple of jokes he had picked up. With the exception of one girl, everybody laughed uproariously.

What's the matter?" grumbled the boss. "Haven't you got a sense of humor?"

"I don't have to laugh," said the girl. "I'm leaving on Friday."

Forestry Association Conducts Successful Poster Competition

Total of 947 Posters Were Submitted by School Pupils of Three Prairie Provinces—Alberta Girl Wins the Grand Prize

In connection with Forest Conservation Week, a poster competition was held, open to all school pupils in the Western Provinces, with Provincial prizes, and a Grand Prize for the best poster submitted

This contest closed with a total of 947 posters submitted from the three provinces; Alberta, 383; Manitoba, 219; Saskatchewan, 345. As not all more than three, and in most cases only one poster was handed from each a school, over 700 schools, or school classes, took an active part in this project. Based on a class of twenty-five students, work on these posters by rural and school pupils, to over 17,000 students. Returns were received from all over the West, from both City and Rural schools, and the large entries coming from small forest and farm communities.

As the main objective of the contest was to interest the young people in conservation, and increase their knowledge in the importance of our forest resources, this undertaking met with considerable success. It served to increase the effectiveness of the Association's work amongst the young people, providing publicity material in forest centres. Each year "conservation classes" are attended annually by over 100,000 pupils.

Hay-Fever-Free Vacation Available in All Provinces

OTTAWA.—Hay fever sufferers seeking a fever-free vacation can find suitable spots in every province In Canada, the Canadian government travel bureau said. British Columbia and the Rocky Mountain area of Alberta are virtually free of ragweed pollen—the chief cause of hay fever—the report said. Saskatchewan, except for the extreme south, also was given a clean bill.

Ragweed is more common in Manitoba than other prairie provinces, but Riding Mountain National park and the northern parts of the province should be quite safe for those attempting to escape from the pollen.

In Ontario, ragweed sufferers there are an estimated 2,000,000 in the United States and 300,000 in Canada—are advised to go north of a line from Parry Sound to Pembroke

Canada Boosts Wheat Exports

OTTAWA. — Canada boosted her wheat exports to 108,502,000 bushels in the first eight months of the current crop year, a 67 per cent. gain over the 101,400,000 bushels in the same period a year ago, the bureau of statistics reported.

The big gain in exports, with about one-third of the total going to British, was spurred partly by shrinking world supplies at a time when Canada's own stocks were bountiful.

Recipe

RICE NUT LOAF

A rural alternate is also a welcome addition to any housemaker's recipe file, especially when it is a low cost recipe. Rice and nut loaf has a meat-like flavour, is easy to prepare, is good served either hot or cold and is inexpensive to make. These points all add up to make it a recipe worth keeping on hand for those days when the budget is pinching a bit strained or you want to serve a cold meat plate and need something to extend the meat a bit further.

Here is a menu built around the Rice Nut Loaf

Hot Rice Nut Loaf
Canned Corn — Baked Potatoes
Pickles or Canned Green Peas
Chili Sauce or Catsup
Baked Apple topped with meringue
Custard Sauce — Beverage

Rice Nut Loaf

2 cups cooked rice
1 cup fine dry bread or unsalted cracker crumbs
½ to 1 cup ground walnuts
2 eggs
1 tablespoons butter melted
1 teaspoon celery seed
½ to ¾ teaspoon savory
½ to 1 teaspoon sage (optional) salt and pepper to taste.

Mix all the ingredients together thoroughly and pack into a small loaf pan or into one end of a larger pan. Loaf should be at least 3 inches deep. Brush with additional melted butter and bake in moderately hot oven 375 deg. F. 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Yields 6-8 servings. Serve hot with chili sauce, catsup, hot tomato sauce or homemade pickle relish.

Note: ½ to ¾ teaspoon poultry seasoning may be used in place of savoury and sage.

CHASE DIET

Before repainting, walls that have previously been painted with an oil paint should be washed thoroughly with a detergent to remove all grease and dirt. This is particularly true of a kitchen where cooking deposits a film of grease which—if not removed—will interfere with the drying and adhesion of new paint.

Cypress Park To Get Electric Power

REGINA. — The electrification of Cypress Hills and the building of a new golf course clubhouse at Kenosee are two of the major projects in the works program planned for the seven provincial parks this year, the bureau of publications reports.

The power line will be built from Maple Creek south to the park. It is estimated that 16 to 20 farmers will be served as well along the 25-mile route. The project is expected to be completed by the beginning of the tourist season.

Other improvements planned for the parks include the larger parking space and cabin improvements at Kenosee, four new two-room cabins at Greenwater lake, and construction of 16 miles of new fireguard, and improvement of 30 miles of four fairways on the golf course at Fairy lake.

Landscaping and painting will be done in all the parks.

NEWS from ISLAY

On Monday May 12th Mr. Albert Beck was taken in to hospital and immediately operated on for appendicitis. At time of writing reports are favorable.

Mrs. Martin Sr. after two weeks in hospital is home again —better this time she says.

We saw Mrs. Herpestad in Vermilion Saturday. She looks well, and also saw Mrs. Fern Shattuck who said she was leaving on Saturday night for the farm.

In Islay Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Scot Oram; also noticed Mrs. Biddy Maire and Mrs. Don McInnes dinning at Hampton problems. Miss Beaie Anderson has far more tomato plants than she needs.

Mrs. Doris McFadyen says the rugs and blankets she and Beaie Anderson got for their cotton rugs are very lovely.

Miss Katherine Carey is teaching at Myrtle Hill school but intends to return to University in the autumn. Miss Marie Carey has finished her business course and is home for a while before accepting a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Ouellett have gone from Islay and Mr. and Mrs. Schaeffer have moved into their house which was once the Jack Bristow home. Mr. John Carman has bought the house previously occupied by the Schaeffers.

Harry Young and Pit Kay are feverishly working to complete Harry's residence on the back of his store. Harry having sold his house to Mr Mercer must vacate by the 24th. Wedding bells are about to ring in the room — a rumor has it.

Plans are going ahead for a Strawberry social in the hall some time in June, date to be set.

Tuesday night and it's raining. It will moisten the seeds in the fields that increase yields — also tends that to lack yard lies, brecia flies. So keep up the yard!

The concert service conducted on Sunday in Knox church, Islay, by Kitscoty Sunday school choir and leaders, Mrs. Reg Smith and Miss Betty Gray was most interesting. The choir rendered several sacred songs and Mrs. Gray was a duet. Miss Gray sent a very interesting story for the Juniors in the congregation and Mr. Smith gave the address, taking Scripture "In my Father's House there are many mansions" John 14". The address was highlighted by some excellent stories, some instances were personal experiences, stressing what we do here is the material for a mansion and her illustration, namely — two men, one wealthy and the other not so, who had spent considerable time in welfare of his friends and neighbors, died. Upon entering heaven, St. Peter gave the wealthy man a wee shack to dwell in and the other man quite an elaborate one The rich man complained, whereupon St Peter said, "I did the best I could with the material sent." We hope the Junior choir and their leaders come again.

We hear that Reg Kay has scarlet fever, we hope you are soon out again, Reg.

SUMMERFALLOW EARLY

Crops are made mainly by rainfall. Summerfallow stores up rainfall. The earlier the summerfallow is done—preferably immediately after seeding—the more moisture is stored in the soil, hence the better the crop will be in 1953. Farmers, therefore, are well advised to summerfallow early

SEARLE GRAIN COMPANY, LTD.

Greenlawn Grapevine

The Grapevine has been a mite neglected these last weeks. However, we'll likely get back to the regular routine when the week's all done this spring. Seeding and gardening is going right along in the district, though it's more than a little dry and dusty. There have not been quite so many social doings but by all the plans, there should be lots of activity for the summer months.

Silver Wedding

The largest gathering during the last few weeks was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ryan, who are celebrating their silver wedding. The hall was filled to capacity by folks from Greenlawn and surrounding districts, from Dewberry, Marwayne, Chauvenal and Lloydminster, who joined in the congratulations and well wishes. A tea service, a three tiered wedding cake were among the gifts to the couple who are long-time residents of the district.

A very enjoyable program had been arranged. Harlan Green, who is well known in Western music circles, gave a saxaphone and flute solos during the evening. He was accompanied by Leona Mathison on the piano. There was a selection by a girls' chorus and solos by Mrs. Cyril Grant and Mrs. Donald Mathison. Lois Maxwell sang one of the humorous numbers she does so well. As both the Ryans are from the Emerald Isle, the theme of the evening was definitely Irish, with Cyril Grant acting as M.C. Several films were shown and a wonderful lunch was served. All of the family were present with the exception of Joe Jr. who has a responsible job in the oil fields, and Kitty, who was in hospital following an auto accident in Edmonton.

Film Forum Appreciated

Speaking of films, we should mention that we've had several swell social evenings with 'the show' as central feature. Since the last Grapevine, a projector has come to the district, an innovation introduced by Norm Mathison. The films are from the Film Library of the Dept. of Extension at Edmonton, and include a good selection of short subjects, spiced with a few comedies for the kids. Dancing to the recorder over the loudspeaker, and lunch round out these evenings. They were started for the amusement of the young people of the district, but the older generation seem to enjoy 'em too!

F. U. A. Activities

The F.U.A. recently held their monthly meeting. There has been a great deal of interest shown by members of the local in the 'services offered by the U.F.A. Coop Ltd. of Calgary and discussion of the matter took up a portion of the meeting. The next meeting to be held on June 10th should be of importance to members, as delegates will be chosen to go to the district convention at Wainwright. There will also be a film shown.

Other F.U.A. news concerns the big 'Farmers' Day' picnic now being planned. We hear that Greenlawn, Riverton, Dewberry, Marwayne and Clandonald Locals will join to make the annual holiday one to be remembered. Details as to the place, etc. will likely be announced in the near future.

Big things with the F.U.A. Jr. group right now in the election of a Stampede Queen for the Calgary Stampede. Helen Smith of Bittern Lake has been nominated as the Juniors' candidate. At their next meeting it is likely that delegates will be appointed to attend Farm Young People's week.

Woodcraft Club Fish

The Goodwill club held a recent meeting at Mrs. Jessie Curtis'. A cleaning bee was organized to freshen up the hall and new curtains purchased. The raffle of blankets was postponed as all the tickets were not turned in. It will likely be at the next meeting, on June 19th.

All for this time folks. Hope we all get stuck in the mud—and soon!

Still Need For Recruits In Canada's Army

There is still a continuing need for a steady flow of good recruits to maintain expanded corps and units of the Canadian Army, both at home and overseas, said Capt. Bob Jardine, Western Command Recruiting officer on a period visit to Vermilion this week.

Capt. Jardine said the general response to special recruiting drives, particularly in the rural areas of Alberta, had been excellent. However, we pointed out that the Army now has, more than 45,000 active force soldiers and that a large monthly intake is required to maintain this level and provide for rotation of troops abroad.

During the spring of this year the Army will be bringing home several thousand troops who have served one year in Korea. Similar rotation for troops now in Europe will take place next fall. To provide replacements for these men and ensure that no soldier is separated from his family for more than one year overseas the Army is seeking a regular flow of young men interested in a military career with the chance to serve in Europe or the Far East.

Vacancies still exist in most all corps and trades of the Army. The greatest current need is for men in the infantry where they may join such famous Alberta units as the P.P.C.L.I. or Loyal Edmonton Regiment. Applicant should enquire at the local Army Information centre, Vermilion, for complete details.

Sickness is being suffered by many families in our district The ailment is severe headaches, high fever and sore backs. School attendance has been severely hit. Those sick have been the Druthers family Mrs Wilson, Peggy and Kenny Graham and Jim Walling-ton.

On Mother's Day Mr. and Mrs. J Burke of Basaroad attended church in Vermilion and saw their granddaughter Beverly Ann West, man baptized. After this the four generations Mrs. J. Isley, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Westman and Beverly Ann had their pictures taken.

It's been one grand roar of trucks rushing by on Cy. Wallington is having the new road Mr. Watt built, gravelled. After this week the road to town will be gravelled from George Wilson's corner to town. Quite a change to a few years ago when it was really a trial to get over some of this same road.

The writer recently had a nice letter from Mrs. Smith in Scotland She and Mrs. Miller are really en joying themselves sightseeing Bus travel is much cheaper over there than in Canada. Mrs Smith has visited her old home in the north of Scotland, it being 50 years since she left that part of Scotland until she saw Burt again. She said to tell Mr. Wee Clark as of Triangle that he had gone through his old home town. Many new homes have been erected but there are still many stone houses. Anyone want-ing to write Mrs Smith can write to this address In care of Mrs. Bain 153 Wellesley Rd. Buckhaven Fifes ure. Scotland

Congratulations to Susan Wol ters of Gunton on winning first prize with her essay, also to Lorene Medli of Vermilion.

Anglican Men's Club Fete Wives

As the final gesture in the year's program, the Anglican Men's club entertained their wives at the meeting held on Monday evening at the parish hall. Besides serving a regular supper the men even pre pared a short program which was highly enjoyed.

The dinner itself was arrahged, prepared and served exclusively by the men. Such was the extent of its success that the ladies present, themselves quite famous for cater-ing at banquets, suggested that from now on the Anglican men undertake the catering. The men had their very best bevy of chefs on the job for this special occa-sion, comprised of W. P. Pilkie, Bill Pilkie, Ed MacDermand, Lorne Porkett and Tom Watts.

Items on the program included vocal numbers by a quartet, Fred Stewart, Tom Watts, Bill Fooks and Canon Teape; and two vocal numbers by Dick Clemens who accompanied himself with his gui-tar. The ladies of the Happy Hour group then presented a one-act comedy of 20 minutes' duration. This was real comedy, well reacted and greatly enjoyed by the audi-ence.

Jack Kneale, vice-president of the Men's club, made presentations to the departing Canon and Mrs. Teape. That to Mrs. Teape was a beautiful cup and saucer while the one to the Canon took on a humour-ous tint.

Don't forget the picnic at Pleas-ant Valley church following the service on Sunday. Lunch is to consist of sandwiches and cake. This will take the form of a fare-well party for Canon and Mrs. Teape.

May 24th Celebration Rated Best Ever

May 24th could well be described as Vermilion's greatest sports day. The early season this year gave work on the land near completion, organization of summer sports well started, a perfect day, along with the widest range of activities offered at any sports day in the West, combined to shatter all at-tendance records.

The seven ball tournaments, run off on seven separate diamonds at-tracted their quota of entries to a total of 45 teams - and where else would you see 45 ball teams in action in one day! Every game from morn-ing until evening had its followers. It was a somewhat wonderful scene and would have been well worth a picture from the air. It is not very often that you see a per-fectly level sports area of 50 acres, seven ball tourneys, athletic events and something for every age group, male or female, in action at one time.

Big Receipts

The gate receipts in round num-bers amounted to $1400, with all children under 12 years free, the dance netted $451, midway $1320 net, booths $300 net. Expenses will amount to $1100.

Irma Wins Senior Ball

Irma was the winner of the big prize of the day, taking first of $200 in the town's senior baseball. Second went to Chauvin. Five teams en-tered with Derwent defeating Ver-milion in the extra series, Chauvin eliminated Lloydminster, Irma put out Derwent, and in the final Irma won from Chauvin.

Junior Ball Attracts — Edmonton Wins

The Junior baseball class of 20 years and under drew the largest number of entries with 11 teams all the way from Edmonton to Maid-stone, Sask. Practically every game was close and hard-fought with the Edmonton Kingsway Legion emerg-ing the winner, second went to Wainwright. Semi-finalists were Maidstone and Provost. Other teams playing were Vegreville, In-nisfree, Mannville, Marwayne, Ir-ma and Vilna. The large number of competitors and the sparkling brand of ball dished up by these juniors indicates that baseball is well on its way back in Alberta.

Clandonald Wins Country Ball

Another well contested event was the country baseball tourney. Nine teams entered with Clandonald first, Streamstown second, Scots-toun and Paradise Valley were the other, semi-finalists. Remaining entries were Basaroad, Triangle, Tolland, Buffalo Coulee, Auburn-dale.

Ladies' Open Softball

Dewberry took the final in an ex-citing games from Vegreville. Ver-million was the only other team. Once the biggest tourney of the day, indications are that the ladies are not going to let this sport go the same scale as a few years ago when as many as 16 teams have competed in the event.

High School girls' softball—1. Ir-ma; 2. Mannville. Seven teams en-tered.

Girls' Softball, 15 years and un-der— 1. Wainwright; 2. Vermilion High. 4 entries.

Boys' Softball, 15 and under — 1, Vermilion Public school; 2. Wain-wright. 6 teams entered.

The midway on the grounds, the kiddies' rides particularly, seemed to fill a need for the little young-sters, and added to the general holi-day spirit of the day.

WINNERS OF TRACK & FIELD GIRLS

6 and 7 years, 25 yards—1, June Craig; 2, Ruth Stewart.

8 and 9 years, 25 yds — 1, Shirley Reece; 2, Elaine Sweet.

10 and 11 years, 50 yds.— 1, Lyla Porter; 2, Lorraine LeRossignol.

12 and 13 years, 75 yds.—1, Patsy Mullen; 2, Kay Simonsen.

14 and 15 years, 100 yds.—1, Pat-sy Mullen; 2, Alice Seuffert.

NICE CAR STOLEN AND WRECKED

FROM WEBB'S GARAGE

A nice looking 1949 Meteor tudor was stolen from Webb's used car lot sometime late Saturday night 26th when parked in a line with other used units that evening and the next heard of it was a police report call Sunday morning stating that such a car was badly damaged on highway 41 in the vicinity of the Autumn Leaf store. The car is a sorry looking mess. The ac-dustors of the car were apparently two soldiers about to get back to their camp at Wainwright. They were in too much of a hurry and this proved their undoing. One of the soldiers is in hospital, not seri-ously injured, while the other es-caped unharmed. The car had been started by taking out the ignition switch and pressing the wires. There was no license on it.

Local W.M.S. Holds Interesting May Meeting

The May meeting of the United Church W.M.S. took place in the church hall, Thursday evening May 8th commencing at 8:00.

The first part of the meeting was devoted to the affiliation of the Ex-plorer girls with the Women's Mis-sionary Society. The ladies of the W.M.S. were hostesses to the girls and their mothers. An impressive candle-light ceremony was con-ducted by the leader Mrs. M. Hill and her assistants Mrs. A. H. Bovet and Mrs. Lyle Robinson. 16 girls received badges and gifts. The girls in a brief ceremony dedi-cated a money gift to the W.M.S. This goes into the Presbyterial treasury to help them in sending the gospel of Jesus Christ to boys and girls of Canada and of other lands.

Old-Timer of the District

Neil McGee Loses Life in Road Accident

Neil McGee aged 76 years, was instantly killed about 11:00 o'clock last Friday night May 23rd when he was struck by a car on the high-way about 1 mile west of town. The car was driven by Sgt. Jules Lebouiller of Wainwright camp. In the car with him at the time were two companions Sgt. Ernest Parker and Sgt. Frank Baker. They were travelling west being on their way to Edmonton.

Mr. McGee was either walking along or crossing the highway just west of the entrance to the V.S.A. grounds when he was hit by the car. He was thrown into the ditch on the north side of the highway.

The car driver did not see Mr. McGee at all. He was meeting on-coming traffic, three cars, and had dimmed his lights. He had a m-mentary impression of a shadow immediately in front of his car a most simultaneous with an impact. The car was brought to a stop and a first search did not reveal any-thing along the edge of the high-way. Sgt. Lebouiller and Parker returned to town and reported to the R.C.M.P. and while they were gone Sgt Baker discovered the apparently lifeless body of McGee in the far side of the three-foot ditch. From the nature of his in juries death was thought to have been instantaneous.

The three soldiers had come from Wainwright, leaving there at ap-proximately 20 minutes to ten p.m. They had not entered Vermilion, turning west to Edmonton at the intersection on the south side at 5 minutes to 11. They had pro-ceeded only a mile when the fatal accident occurred. Lebouiller stated that he was travelling between 35 and 40 miles per hour at the time of the accident. His two compan-ions were dozing at the time and had little first hand knowledge of hitting anything on the road.

Coroner Dr. A. C. Bradford held an inquest on Wednesday afternoon with the finding that the death was accidental. There was no sugges-tion of blame in the case.

Mr. McGee was a Rhodale old-timer of the district. He farmed first in the Holyrood district east of Islay, then moved to the Kokanee district where he lived for many years. Retiring from farming he moved into Vermilion a few years ago and had for some time shared living quarters with Mr. Alex Barr

He is survived by two sons and two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Gannon in Vermilion and Mrs Teresa Taylor

Master Farm Family Award

Nominations should be made now for the Master Farm Family award for 1952, says Extension Service Dept. of Agriculture. June 1st has been set by the Department as the closing date and nominations should be lost in taking the necessary steps. All that is necessary is for friends or farmers to decide that one of their neighbors should be nominated. See the District Agriculturist who will provide fu.l information and a nomination form Boards of Trade, Service Clubs and similar organ izations might interest themselves in promoting nominations

Any farmer is eligible who is a Canadian citizen, has farmed for twenty years, and has increased his present financial status by farming rather than from some other business.

"GREEN ACRES"

Treat Early with 2, 4-D

Many tests and trials with 2,4D prove that early applications kill the weeds better and do less dam age to the crop. The experts say everybody to treat oats before the crop is 6 inches in height. Do not treat oats when the plants are be tween 6 and 12 inches high.

Trees are Free

Now is the time to plan that windbreak Poplar, maple ash, elm and willow trees are given out free of cost Applications should be made now. For delivery in 1953 the land must be summer fallowed as this year for planting next spring Trees are also given out for plant ing along road allowances for check snow drifting onto the highway.

Early Summerfallow

We must always remember that rainfall is the limiting factor for crop production in the area Sum merfallow land conserves moisture so why wait until the weeds have sucked all the spring moisture out of the land before starting to sum merfallow. It is the early worked summerfallows that give the biggest crops.

Watch for Plant Lice

No one can raise lovely delphin-iums unless the plant lice are killed. Most delphiniums are already in bloom so get the sprayer out and use black leaf 40. After the flowers have curled it is best to pick them off at the spray will not likely get under the curled leaves. Watch for plant lice on poplars, caragana, roses and most flowers. Spray as soon as first seen.

Marrows, Squash, Cukes

Marrows, squash and cucumbers are easy to grow. They do best on a dry sunny soil but they like plenty of water from the hose or by the pail. Seeds of cucurbits should be sown before June 5. Use seeds of early varieties only.

The Bull Policy

The Provincial Dept. of Agricul-ture buys bulls on orders placed with District Agriculturists. The discount in price is 10% in Min-born M.D and 15% in M.D. of Ver-million River. You can buy your own bull if you wish but do not take him home until he has been inspected and approved by the bull buyer.

CANCER CRUSADE OVER $50,000.00

VERMILION HELD UP AS FINE EXAMPLE BY THE PROVINCIAL SOCIETY

The Cancer Crusade fund in north-central Alberta has gone above $50,000 as the country cam-paign hits its peak. 130 country points are joining the 1952 cam-paign for $65,000. Points that are down from last year, are down only a few dollars, while points that are up are well up.

The crusade this year has added many new territories, one of these being Lacombe. The W.I. is con-ducting the canvass there and has already brought in $523, almost 1% of the total objective.

In all but one district, the Cancer Crusade is conducted by a variety of service clubs and institutions. The one exception is Vermilion, where Vermilion's own branch of the cancer society is doing it. The Vermilion cancer unit became a full-fledged branch of the Cancer Society this spring, with full power to wage its own educational and welfare campaign against cancer, through its medical advisory board and its educational and welfare committees.

The Vermilion branch began in a small way several years ago with a group of people interested in con-batting cancer. With time and ex-perience, the group achieved inde-pendent status, the first in north-central Alberta outside Edmonton.

Any groups in the large towns which would like to start a Ver-million did, are invited to write the Cancer Society's executive secre-tary, Grace Alberts, M. R. Talbot, 231-5th Ave East, Calgary.

June Survey

Stocktaking of Canada's livestock and crop acreage will be under way within the next few days when farmers across the country again cooperate with provincial and dominion statistical offices in obtaining facts and figures for the annual June survey.

Questionnaires are now being distributed so that every farmer may have an opportunity to help in providing the information required. All individual schedules are kept strictly confidential, but the final analyses and estimates provide an essential part of agricultural statistics in Canada.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics urges all farmers to help in this survey by completing and returning the forms promptly.

Prospective students must be at least 16 years of age to be eligible to attend a school of agriculture and home economics. There are no academic requirements for the students who enroll in the regular two-year course, but it is desirable that they have a Gr. 8 standing. Students who have completed 10 high school credits may enroll in the two-in-one course. The latter course is of one year's duration.

Applications for entry should be made at an early date to the principal of the school

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Vermilion Standard

Dear Sir

The Red Cross 1952 appeal has already reached more than 50 per cent of its objective — a decided increase over the same period last year and we have every hope of reaching our goal by the end of the year.

You will have had a great deal to do with getting this happy ending and I want to express gratitude of the Society for your ever generous co-operation and assistance to us.

Without the support of the work ly press, not only at campaign time but the year 'round, it would be impossible for Red Cross to carry on its work, and this fact is recognized by Central Council, the highest governing body, which this year again passed a unanimous resolution thanking the weekly press for its "valued support of our Society."

Once again I have the pleasure of saying "Thanks!"

Yours very sincerely,

H. H. Rimmer, Chairman
National Publicity Committee

The $70,000,000 superliner United States will be the most fully air-conditioned ship of its size afloat. A mammoth network of 60 air conditioning systems honeycomb the 51,500-ton 990-foot liner to feed conditioned air into the 1100 staterooms, the crew's quarters and the public spaces, report Minneapolis-Honeywell experts who engineered the job.

The new booklet ticket replaces the long and unwieldy strip of coupons draped around her neck, the long form having been in use over the past years for travel on two or more rail lines. The new ticket is compact; is easily read and refunds on unused portions are speeded because the ticket contains all pertinent information as to routing and fare paid.

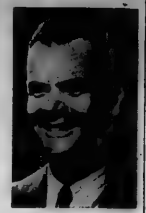
REPORT to the PEOPLE



BY ROBERT FAIR, M.P. BATTLE RIVER

Agricultural Prices Support Board

During the 1944 session of parliament legislation was passed to set up the Agricultural Prices Support Act, the purpose of which was to guard against the prices of agricultural products reaching disastrously low levels at the conclusion of Great War 2. The Government apparently felt it had full responsibility for providing this legislation because during the war they had set ceiling prices on practically all of the farmers' produce and as a result of this, farmers lost hundreds of millions of dollars.

To Guard Against Low Levels

To guard against products of the farm reaching extremely low levels, the legislation mentioned above provides for a revolving fund of 500 million dollars to be administered by a Board of three members known as the Agricultural Prices Support Board. Up to the present time, 8 years after the legislation was passed, only about 10 million of this money has been used and I have complained on many occasions that the legislation was not being used to the full extent to support the prices of various agricultural products and that even though floor prices were posted by the Board, these were not lived up to by the purchasers of the products concerned. Take for instance, the price of pork has recently been stabilized at $25 per hundred basis Toronto and Montreal and we have evidence that in the province of Quebec the price paid by packers was down as low as 19c per pound and similar instances have been reported in other provinces although the discrepancy was not as great as that reported in the province of Quebec.

The Minister of Agriculture and his parliamentary assistant have on many occasions denied that the price is effective only as far as the packer is concerned and tried to lead us to believe that the producer is getting the full benefit but this statement has been openly contradicted recently when the Minister said your hog many instances have been paying the full floor prices and in many instances that had been reported to the Board. Arrangements have been made whereby the packers have paid the difference between their payment on delivery by the producer and the announced floor price.

Butter

In the case of butter there is a floor price of 58c per pound plus a carrying charge of 2c per pound and this again is only granted to the people who pack the butter and have the right to turn it over to the Government at the price quoted above at the end of the butter year. It has not been necessary for the Government to take over any butter up to the present time, but here again the producer is at the mercy of the purchaser of his product.

Eggs

In the case of eggs there is a floor price provided of 38c per dozen for Grade A Large at the end of the egg year but many instances have been reported where storekeepers and dealers have been buying eggs for as low as 10c per dozen.

Beef

Price of beef is also stabilized at 25c per pound for good steers at Toronto and Montreal but in many instances of payment of prices much below the price set, the producer was compelled to take prices rather than to which he was entitled.

Flour Prices

On the 12th and 13th of this month the question of flour prices was discussed and all members on all parties and the discussion in my opinion was very helpful. Information was produced in effect that although the minister of agriculture promised the Canadian Federation of Agriculture held at Ninette, Manitoba, in 1945, the basis for price support would be on the price level that existed during the years 1941, 1942 and 1943, you now find that with the exception of beef, the price of the commodities under the Act are down on an average during the period quoted.

Wheat

Although wheat does not come under the prices support legislation it is interesting to note from the information given by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that wheat on the basis of the three years mentioned and the rise in the cost of things the farmer has to buy at the present time, should be $2.35 per bushel. The price under the International Wheat Agreement is set as a maximum of $1.80 per bushel basis U.S. funds. During the time that the Canadian dollar was a 10% discount, that gave us the advantage of $1.98 per bushel but now that we the American dollar is at a discount of 1½ to 2%, farmers are receiving approximately $1.71 per bushel for wheat, and if the American dollar should depreciate further, Canadian farmers will be penalized by receiving low wheat prices.

In the case of dressed hogs B-1 grade, the price should now be $28.75 per cwt., this of course is above the present support price. On good steers the price is 25c per cwt. at Toronto and Montreal with a lesser price at western points on account of freight charges. According to the 1944 price level it should now be $22.46 per hundred, so this is less than that which the farmer has an advantage.

With regard to eggs, Grade A Large should be selling at 73c per dozen but the support price is only 38c plus carrying charges of 4c per dozen. These prices will give you some idea of the actual prices being paid and the prices promised by the minister of agriculture to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Many people, including the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, are protesting against the Government making provision for floor prices on farm products, but if farmers wanted it they could very easily restrict production as the manufacturers do and in this way cause a scarcity of goods which would cause the price to immediately skyrocket to the detriment of the Canadian consumer; as a whole. The farmers of Canada are well aware that the world needs more and more food to help feed starving millions now and that the growth of Communism, and farmers now, as in the past, are willing to do everything possible at small profits for themselves, to provide the food, that is so badly needed. An increase in the floor price and a reduction in taxation and the tariff on many items would be some encouragement for the farmers to go further in providing much needed food but the Government has a responsibility in providing markets which are lost to the farmers today.

The minister of agriculture, in speaking to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at Montreal a few months ago, stated that he would not ask the farmers to produce greater quantities of food because there was no sure market for same and Mr. Hanman, President of the Federation, said in effect that the farmers would be crazy to produce further without an assured market.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

I Cover The Police Courts

By SAMUEL CAMPBELL

Some People Just Don't Like Their Names In Newspapers.

WHEN I opened the door of my room and flipped on the light switch, I got a glimpse of the fat man sitting in a chair. He must have had a silencer on the gun because I only saw two bright flashes. And then I sank to my knees. Somewhere in the back of my mind I was fondly wishing I had stuck to short story writing and kept my nose out of this screwy business. I cover the police courts. Yeah! Right now I'm covering six feet of this hospital bed.

It all began when the journalism bug bit me. I thought I could write. So I went to the city editor of the newspaper and asked for a job. He assigned me to the police beat. I've been on it three years. And brother, if you're seriously thinking about writing as a career . . . but that's all beside the point. The character you want to know about is the fat man and why he used me for target practice.

On the morning of the day I was shot, I was sent to cover a narcotics story. For a while it was just routine stuff. Officers of the morality squad had caught the accused, a Japo-Canadian named Surika, hiding $50,000 worth of opium in the rafters of his garage. But the trial didn't go on. The fat man, Arthur Poole, acting on behalf of Surika, asked for an adjournment of one week. He said he wanted time to get Surika a proper counsel and an interpreter. The court granted the adjournment and freed Surika on $5,000 bail . . . which the fat man paid. Then they both left together.

Well, there was nothing unusual about that. It happens every day in the courts. So I wrote the story up and went on with the next job. By noon hour I had quite forgotten the fat man and Surika until I was going down the city hall steps to lunch.

Suddenly the fat man came out of an alcove where he had been waiting for at least two hours, threw away his cigarette, coughed nervously and lumbered over to meet me. I saw he had something in his hand . . . money, I presumed. That was the usual approach. They say what respectable citizens they are and what a disgrace it would be to have their names appearing in a newspaper story—especially a court case. Well, that's exactly what Mr. Poole did, and I brushed him off the same as the rest.

In the late afternoon, things were pretty slack. I got thinking again about the fat man and the Jap. There might be a human interest angle somewhere in this set-up, so I looked up Surika's address and started out.

He lived in a poor section of the suburbs in a wartime house. His history showed that he drank heavily and that his wife had left him about a year ago. No mention was made of the fat man or how he got tied up with him.

When I got there, it was raining slightly and getting dark fast. Just as I alighted from the rear door of the bus, I could have sworn I saw Poole getting on the front door. The collar of his trench coat was turned up and he was carrying a parcel . . . something wrapped up in newspapers. The bus pulled away quickly and I didn't get much of a look.

I went up to Surika's front door and rang the bell. No answer. "He must be around somewhere!" I thought to myself, "if Poole just left a few minutes ago." I went around to the side door. No luck there. Then I happened to glance down the yard towards the garage. There was no light on, but one door was slightly ajar. When I drew closer, I heard a car engine idling quietly.

"Surika! Surika!" I called out twice, but there was no answer. When I went in, I found out why. Surika was slumped over the steering wheel . . . dead! All the doors and windows were closed up tight. It looked like another of those carbon monoxide "accidents". And it might have passed for one if I hadn't seen the fat man leaving in such a hurry.

I broke a window in Surika's kitchen and got inside to a phone. I told the police where I was, what had happened, and who I had seen boarding a bus. Then I phoned in my story to the paper and went home.

I think this is where you came in. Remember the two flashes and the silencer on the gun? I flopped to the floor like a sheet of lead. The first slug went past me, the second grazed my left temple and knocked me out cold. But the fat man didn't get away. For even while I was on my way home on the bus, Homicide had secured a lead on him. They tailed him to my apartment and came in just behind me. He tried to shoot it out, but came out second best.

Just before he died, he signed a confession stating that he was the chief of the dope ring. Surika was only a small-time agent. That afternoon he had went to the Jap and asked for more opium. When Surika refused and threatened to expose him, the fat man knocked him out, propped him up in his car, closed the windows and left the motor running. Why he came to my place and took his wrath out on me, I'll never know. I guess some people just don't like having their names printed in the newspapers.

Discoveries Near Flin Flon May Shed Light On History

FLIN FLON, Man.—Two discoveries made near here may shed additional light on the early history of northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The first find was made last fall when Frank Ottawey, natural resources field officer here until a few weeks ago, uncovered an old camp site on the shore of Beaver lake, southwest of Flin Flon.

The second discovery was made recently when 69-year-old Errol Ford dug an ancient rifle barrel from the shore of Athapapuskow lake, southwest of here.

The location of the camp site on Beaver lake has not been revealed by the Saskatchewan government authorities in order that the area may be fully investigated before being disturbed by the general public. It is believed to be on the east shore of the lake within easy reach of No. 2S highway.

According to reports square mounds show where cabins were located and in the corner of the mounds are heaps of rocks that once formed fireplaces. Near the locations are several depressions in the ground that indicate canoes were buried underground to save them from the winter's frost.

Although nothing definite can be obtained, it is reported five cabin sites have been located.

Further exploration is expected to be carried out this summer.

Levelling the ground on the front of a summer camp lot at Biondo's beach recently, Mr. Ford suddenly struck something solid with his shovel. Digging away six inches of earth he lifted out a rusted rifle barrel.

The barrel was 40½ inches long, very rusty and bell. It appeared to be a flintlock gun described as those in use about the middle of the 19th century and is believed to have been made before 1850.

The gun appears to have been discharged by igniting powder by use of flint. A small hole about a half inch from the breach was used to place the powder behind the bullet and this was ignited when the hammer struck a piece of flint.

KNOBBY FRUIT LOAVES

Soak 1½ c. milk, ½ c. granulated sugar, 2 tsps. salt and ½ c. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile, measure into a large bowl ½ c. lukewarm water, 3 tsps. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 3 envelopes Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, 15 min. at 80°F.

Add lukewarm milk mixture and stir in 2 well-beaten eggs, ½ c. maraschino cherry syrup and 1 tsp. almond extract. Stir in 4 c. sifted bread flour; beat until smooth. Work in 2 c. seedless raisins, 1 c. currants, ½ c. chopped candied peels, 1c. sliced maraschino cherries and 1 c. broken walnuts. Work in 2½ c. (about) once-sifted bread flour. Knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl and grease top of dough. Cover and set in a warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough, turn out on lightly-floured board and divide into 4 equal portions. cut each portion into 20 equal sized pieces, knead each piece into a smooth round ball. Arrange 10 small balls in each of 4 greased loaf pans (8½" x 3½") and grease tops. Arrange remaining balls on top of those in pans and grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven 350°, about 1 hour, covering with brown paper after first ½ hour. Spread cold loaves with icing. Yield—4 loaves.

Note: The freshness of dough may be stopped into loaves to fit pans, covered or being divided into balls will prove that produce knobby loaves.

Prairie Folk Are "He-Men"

Let's get down to the Solid Facts!

Chevrolet Trucks Can Save You Money All Along the Line

LOOK at the facts before you buy. They'll show you how a Chevrolet truck can mean really substantial savings on your hauling or delivery job. And they'll show you why.

In every detail, Chevrolet trucks are designed with the customer's job and payload in mind. Their economical, dependable Valve-in-Head engines, famous for power and stamina, keep fuel consumption low. Sturdy hypoid rear axles, deep channel-type frames, Pilot-Mounted cabs. Recirculating Ball-Steering and other Advance-Design features keep maintenance costs down. Value is built in to stay in — safeguarding your truck investment.

More Canadians buy Chevrolet trucks than any other make. Let the facts lead you to Chevrolet trucks for real savings — right from the start and on through the miles. Come in and talk over your truck needs and see how you can save money all along the line!

Fact No. 1 — More Truck for Your Money

Check the comparative value of Chevrolet trucks, and you'll see for yourself how Chevrolet gives you far more for your money. In design, in craftsmanship, and in every last detail of their construction, Chevrolet trucks are engineered and built to unsurpassed standards of value.

Fact No. 2 — Rock-Bottom Operating Costs

Many thousands of truck users have proved to their own satisfaction that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain! Valve-in-head economy, in the 92 h.p. Thriftmaster, 105 h.p. Loadmaster, 114 h.p. Toweimaster and 120 h.p. Workmaster saves on gas. Chevrolet's special 4-way engine lubrication system reduces wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact No. 3 — Engineered and Built for Your Loads

Chevrolet trucks are engineered to your payload requirements. You don't waste money by buying "one size fits all" — you don't risk truck interruption or slow downs by buying "too little truck." Frames, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team that does the job at lowest cost.

Fact No. 4 — Lower, Slower Depreciation

Records show that Chevrolet trucks consistently bring more money in re-sale or trade-in than any other make of trucks which cost about the same when new. Chevrolet's market value stays up because the value stays in. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy — and that's why more truck users buy them!

Peachendale Pals

The Peachendale Pals had their Achievement Day on May 13th at Peachendale school. The girls had a mock meeting with guest speakers and demonstrations. Mr. Lindstedt and Mr. Mason presented a plaque and pin to the Peachendale Rebels and Norma Goking, respectively, for Norma's essay on Farm Safety. Miss Ann Kernaleguen, who judged the sewing, told the girls the improvements they could make on their sewing, and she also told them how good their sewing was. (I was most proud of the girls' work all around). Mrs. Fletcher and Miss Younker worked very diligently for the girls and deserve a great deal of praise. The mothers are to be commended for their interest in the girls' work too.

New Powdered Bleach

Perborate bleach can be safely used to remove light stains from color-fast cottons and linens. Use a solution of one tablespoon of perborate bleach to a pint of warm water and the color will not be affected.

Resolutions of a Fruit Grower

By Richard Armour was in the paper last year but it's too good to pass by:

"I watch the blossoms coming, going,
The ever-changing orchard scene.
I watch the season's harvest growing
And feel the fruitlings, hard and green.
And as I thoughtfully stand under
The laden boughs, I softly sigh:
Who'll get the crop this year, I wonder,
The bugs, the birds, the boys or I?"

Canada's Food Rules

Five rules that serve as a basic pattern of eating for all persons, from the very young child to the older person. They are an excellent guide for you in planning your menus. Amounts of servings vary with individuals of course, but if you and your family follow these rules you will be getting enough minerals and vitamins each day. Here are the daily requirements as outlined by Canada's Food Rules:

1. MILK — Adults ½ to 1 pint
Children 1¼ pints to 1 quart.

2. FRUIT—One serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes or their juices, and one serving of other fruit.

3. VEGETABLES — At least one serving of potatoes; and at least two servings of other vegetables, preferably leafy, green or yellow, and frequently raw.

4. CEREALS and BREAD - One serving of whole grain cereal and at least four slices of Canada Approved Vitamin B bread (whole wheat, brown or whiter with butter.

5. MEAT and FISH—One serving of meat, fish, poultry, or meat alternates, such as beans, peas, nuts, eggs or cheese. Eat eggs and cheese at least three times a week each. Use liver frequently.

Fish liver oil, as a source of Vitamin D, should be given to children and expectant mothers, and may be advisable for older adults. Iodized salt is recommended.

Now you know what Canada's Food Rules are, and you can plan your meals accordingly to them.

Canadian Apples are voted the world around for their delightfully clean taste.

Seagram TELLS THE WORLD

"For clean taste... look to Canada"

"Say 'Canada' and you think of sparkling clear air; of swift-running waters; of sun-drenched farms and orchards. It seems only natural, then, that there should be an especially clean taste to so many of the good things from this favoured land."

The above illustration and text are from an advertisement now being published by The House of Seagram throughout the world—in Latin America, Asia, Europe, and Africa. This is one of a series of advertisements featuring Canadian scenes and Canadian food specialties. They are designed to make Canada better known throughout the world, and to help our balance of trade by assisting our Government's efforts to attract tourists to this great land.

The House of Seagram feels that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—a view dedicated to the development of Canada's stature in every land of the globe.

A Valuable Service

THERE ARE FEW COMMUNITIES in Canada which have not received new citizens, arriving from other countries since the war. In that time over 500,000 immigrants have come from other lands and settled in our cities, towns and farming communities. There are many problems connected with assimilating so many people into the way of life of a new country where they have had to learn the language and many other things before they were ready to assume citizenship. Many individuals and organizations have assisted in the important task of helping these people to feel welcome in their new home and one organization which does a great service in this field is the Canadian Citizenship Council

* * * *

Helped In Many Ways

Although its work is not widely published, the council has done a great deal to help new citizens to prepare to become Canadian citizens. One project which it undertook was to interview more than 14,000 people of 17 nationalities at a displaced persons camp in Germany and to provide prospective immigrants with information regarding Canadian citizenship and other important matters. It has published free guides to help new citizens to learn the language and prepare for citizenship and has made research grants for the study of problems related to the adjustment of immigrants to their new surroundings.

* * * *

Is Important To The People

Both organized help and interest is of great importance to people who must cope with the problem of accustoming themselves to the language and traditions of a strange country. In carrying out its work, the Citizenship council has co-operated with other organizations in various parts of the country in giving help and encouragement to newcomers. It may be said that much of the success of Canada's present immigration scheme and the fact that many new citizens are assimilated into the population and helped to settle happily into their new environment. Great credit is due to all those who carry on this important work

Large Sum To Be Spent Hunting Base Metals

REGINA — About $500,000 will be spent in northern Saskatchewan this year on exploration and development of base metals mainly in the border area near Flin Flon, Man.

That district is the hottest slam-slanking spot in Saskatchewan outside the Beaverlodge field in the northwest. Geophysical surveys and considerable diamond drilling are expected to continue this summer.

The $500,000 estimate was made by Hon. J. H. Brockelbank, provincial minister, in a review of the development in base metals expected this year.

While base metals will continue to play second fiddle to uranium, Mr. Brockelbank said there are definite signs of an upsurge in activity.

Canada-wide prospecting is expected in the area south of Cree and Reindeer lakes in the Rottenstone and Churchill mining districts.

However the expenditure of $500,000 is estimated on the basis of the work programme planned for the three commercially and approximately 2,000 claims in the huge metal area.

Alberta Has More Than 3,000 Oil Wells

EDMONTON — Alberta now has more than 3,000 oil wells, the petroleum and natural gas conservation board reported.

The Redwater field has 909 wells but the more-widespread and rapidly expanding Leduc field has 900 wells and may be the leader soon

Old Time Car is In Running Form And Ready For Sale

COCHRANE Alta.—Note to Jack Benny for sale—one 1909 Maxwell.

Kenneth Cohen, a new-comer here has reclaimed the old horseless carriage from a pile of junk and is willing to sell it to the radio comedian, or any other buyer, for a good price.

The Maxwell, probably the oldest car ever advertised for sale in Canada, was found in an abandoned shed on a ranch near here, where it had been stored for 30 years.

The body was shabby and the engine had fallen out in places. Cohen bought it for $10 and restored it in working order after several months of hard work.

Powered by a two-cylinder engine, it has all the accoutrements of the earliest automobiles—carbide lamps, brass-bound radiator and tool box in the back. Top performance is about 15 miles an hour.

The owner is unsure of the car's actual age but he thinks it's somewhere between 1909 and 1906. Pictures on parts of the car were registered in 1909. Aware of the value of such a museum piece, Mr. Cohen hopes to realize about $2,000 from his work.

Oil And Gas Finds Made Every Two Days

CALGARY.—Oil and natural gas discoveries in western Canada have been made at a record rate of about one every two days this year, according to figures released by Alberta's petroleum and natural gas conservation board.

During the first 4½ months of 1952 there were 54 indicated discoveries, more than 70 per cent of them in Alberta. Twenty of the wells found oil or oil encouragement while 34 struck natural gas or wet gas.

Exploratory activity is high in northeastern British Columbia. Eight discoveries, seven gas strikes and one oil find, have been made to date this year. Saskatchewan has revealed seven discoveries, including four oil finds and three gas strikes.

Crude oil production in Alberta for the week ended May 12 was up more than 36,000 barrels daily from the previous week

Daily average production for the week amounted to 370,287 barrels, compared with a daily average of 134,081 barrels for the week ended May 5, and 153,414 barrels for the corresponding week last year.

Redwater accounted for most of the increases as its daily average jumped from 52,367 to 72,042 barrels, while Leduc production rose from 48,436 to 52,321 barrels daily.

Production came from a total of 2,023 wells either producing or capable of producing, an increase of 29 over the previous week.

Nineteen more oil wells, were placed on production in Alberta during the week ended May 16. The Leduc-Woodbend field accounted for nine of them. Two wells were completed as potential gas producers and 11 were abandoned as dry holes.

The over-all well completion figure in Alberta at the end of the year has been boosted to 821, including 310 oil producers, 36 potential gassers and 475 abandonments.

Mountain Snows Make Wonderland Of Alberta Prairie

(By The Canadian Press)

Mountain snows have made a wonderland of a 50-mile-long stretch of Alberta prairie lying between the Bow River on the south and the Red River on the north. Not so many years ago on all that discouraging approach to Calgary, 130 miles to the west, only one tree grew—a cottonwood tree that was both landmark and joke.

* * *

Here was a problem, not for conservation, for there was nothing to conserve, but a question to be answered: what would nature do with that tract if given a hand?

Brooks, Alta., is the almost incredible answer, and for naturalists the town is the centre of a western wonderland.

Water was the one vital need of the tract and it worked the miracle. The region is now counted among the most productive in all western Canada. Crops of grain are opulent, trees grow in their thousands, gardens flourish, bird life is abundant and introduced ring-necked pheasants thrive. Wild rice, planted on a series of man-made lakes has attracted flocks of wild ducks.

The miracle-working water came originally from the melting snow and ice of Rocky Mountain slopes and valleys. It is this snow and ice that feeds the Bow River on which the C.P.R. built the great Bassano dam.

Water from that dam now irrigates thousands of acres of once-desert land and irrigation is being extended as more areas of the tract more than a million acres in extent. Known as the eastern irrigation district the great, constructive project is now owned by prosperous farmers and has pointed the way to prosperity for other prairie regions.

Virden Oil Well Produces 70 Barrels Daily

WINNIPEG. — Production at California Standard's Daly 15-1 oil well here "broke officially has got under way, with the "black gold" being pumped at an estimated—though unconfirmed—rate of 50 to 70 barrels daily.

John Over, division exploration superintendent for the company, said in Virden, the "best spectacular", but was the best in the province's time for. Highest previous production was 40 barrels per day.

The well, one-quarter mile south of the Virden producers, proudly-ed at the rate of 230 barrels during a month-long swabbing tests. Test figures are generally are much higher than actual production.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

May 28th, 1920

Rev. H. A. Edwards has purchased the Demers carriage shop and moved it to his property in the east end of town. It is his intention to renovate it into a residence.

The country is green, trees well out in leaf and grain coming along well.

Bowling Farms Ltd. have purchased 1760 acres south of town. have 3 tractors in operation and have already broken and seeded 250 acres.

Wildmere Winks

We are very sorry we have not sent our own and the community's deepest sympathy to Arthur Beckman oi Triangle on the loss of his brother Walter at Cmr., Alberta, from a heart attack a short time ago. Walter and family lived for a short time in the Triangle district several years ago before they moved to Cmr. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife, one son Robert who lives in Triangle and seven daughters. To them too, we extend our sympathy in their sudden and sad bereavement.

Sports day in Vermilion was marred when Richard Dordly of Triangle was seriously hurt at a ball game when hit on the side of the head by a bat. He is in the Vermilion hospital. We are all wishing him a speedy recovery Mr. Donlly. He is catcher for the Triangle ball team.

A nice rain fell over this district on Sunday afternoon but we could do with lots more as the ground is very dry. Seeding is almost finished for another spring . Owing to the dry grain is coming up very patchy.

Did you get any of this rain Mrs. J. J. Duncan? Maybe now your garden seeds will come up the right way and not go down under looking for moisture.

It's almost impossible to over stuff a boy with food, says Judith Chase Churchill in the current Reader's Digest A survey of 13 to 17 year olds at St Paul's school in Concord, N.H., showed they made good use of 5600 calories daily — three times their basal energy requirements. Don't worry if your kid seems to overeat.

Edmonton Schoolboys' Band at Elk Island Park

ON SUNDAY, JUNE 1st

A concert by the junior section of the Edmonton Schoolboys' band, under the direction of Bandmaster O. W. Murray, will be presented at Elk Island National park at 2:00 p.m. Sunday June 1st.

The Band, made up of 72 boys between the ages of 11 and 15, will play a varied program of marches, waltzes, and novelty numbers. The selections will include airs from popular operas, a Scottish medley and an Irish medley.

Drum majorettes will be on hand to give displays of single and double baton twirling as well as a flag twirling number.

The Edmonton Schoolboys' Band, which has a membership in both junior and senior sections of 120, was organized in 1935 by T. V. Newsome. O. W. Murray took charge of the junior section in 1941. Since its organization, the band has provided musical training to 700 boys

During the supper period a program of recorded music will be provided and at sunset a variety of travel films will be shown.

New Safety Regulation For Oil Workers

Stricter enforcement of safety regulations governing work on oil well drilling rigs will be carried out from now on by the Factories Act branch of the Department of Industries and Labor.

The first case involving a breach in the drilling rig safety regulations was heard in Wainwright police court recently. The charge was prosecuted by the Factories Act branch and a workman, who had been riding the travelling blocks and elevators of a drilling rig in a careless manner, was fined and given a stern reprimand by the magistrate.

The branch reported that 13 men had been killed while working on drilling rigs in the past year. All oil drilling crews should study the safety regulations regarding their work and observe these rules while carrying out their daily work.

Dewberry News

Come Sunday June 1st plan to attend the local picnic of the C.W.L. at the sports grounds. Races, ball games, bingo and refreshment booth. This always proves a very popular event each year so why not enjoy a day in the country. Lloyd Fred Braithwaite had the honor of winning first prize for a pen of heavy steers at the recent Lloyd stock show. He also won a 3rd and 4th in the open heavy singles event.

Frank Bowman had ten of his young bulls at the sale which sold the following day.

Dewberry girls are at it again. This time they won the tournament at the Vermilion sports defeating Vegreville in the final ball game. Dewberry was behind 7-1 near the end of the game but staged a mighty closing rally to win 17-7. Now a second Dewberry team will probably be giving them some opposition if they can get up enough players.

Four car loads of Hydro poles have been unloaded here showing the further development of rural power lines.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Ewen on the birth of a daughter.

Local fishermen journeyed to Trout Lake east of Cold Lake on long the holiday. Top jackfish which was caught weighed 14½ pounds and was landed by Steve Romanchuk.

General rains and the result is the best improvement of crops. Nearly all seeding is completed except late barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Newsome of Edmonton are visiting at the Dennill home.

Funeral of Mrs. Emily Jane Leahy

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Emily Jane Leahy who passed away in the Mannville hospital on May 19th at the age of 70 years were held at the First United church, Mannville, on Thursday May 22nd. The Rev. Penner officiated. Interment was made in the Mannville cemetery.

Mrs. Leahy was born in Ontario, coming to Alberta in 1903 and to Mannville in 1905.

The pail bearers were old timers who came over on the trail before the railway came through. They were Thos. Banks, Dan McMillan of Vermilion, Tim O'Connor, Jack Clark, John Finlay and Charlie Finlay of Mannville.

Floral tributes, donations to the Cemetery fund, the Anglican Memorial fund, the United Church Memorial fund, and the Cancer fund were contributed by the following:

Leslie Anderson and Alvin Bowman have pet coyote pups, raised them on bottles. The Bowman boys have a pet owl also.

The passing of Joe Sunderland, a very familiar figure with his cane and cherry smile, severs another link of our early settlers.

During the winter months Phillip Lemp built himself a nice plywood boat and is now enjoying the use of it. Looks as if Bud Toms was building a trailer to carry his boat.

Just a note of warning to all people on the road—be prepared with an emergency heating unit for your chicks, etc. because we are bound to have power troubles such as the one the other day.

Each F.U.A. local plan to enter a softball team at the Farmers' Day picnic June 13, north of Dewberry. You old players better grab a big spud and practice a little more.

Large Scholarship Plan Offered By Hotelmen

The largest and broadest scholarship plan ever offered to Albertans was outlined Tuesday by A. G. Swinarton of Fort Macleod, Alberta Hotel Association President. It is designed to assist several students annually, the program is sponsored by the licensed hoteliers of the province, through the Association. Mr. Swinarton revealed details of the plan during his presidential address at the A.H.A. 32nd annual convention at Edmonton.

Mr. Swinarton said that $15,000 would be available for scholarships this year. He added that the amount to be spent annually in future years would be double the amount spent on this year's inaugural scholarships.

Financial assistance to worthy students who otherwise would be deprived of their advanced education is provided by the program. A feature of the Alberta Hotel Association's Scholarship Plan is the fact that it will not be confined to University courses. For example scholarships may be granted to those pursuing the fields of agriculture, oil, forestry, mechanics, dressmaking, nursing, teaching and other vocations.

The first A.H.A. Scholarships will be awarded following release of the Grade XII departmental examinations. This year all scholarships will be tenable at the University of Alberta but this will not be the policy for future years.

Royalty Without Fuss

Queen Juliana's visit holds some suggestions for Canadians as to how tours of our own royal family might be conducted, says The Financial Post. She had a chance to enjoy herself, visiting the country which was her wartime home, and which 50,000 Dutch settlers have chosen for their permanent home since the war.

Any visit from our own royal house affects a much greater number of people, and must be more complicated. But surely we could learn from the Dutch. We could make our royal visitors' trips much more enjoyable by treating them with the greatest possible respect—as human beings like the rest of us.

Pleasure Boat Boom

More Canadian landlubbers are taking to the water this year than for many years past, reports The Financial Post. And they're doing it with a healthy disregard for the pocket book.

If consumer hard goods are moving slowly, luxury speedboats and big outboards are selling like next to hot cakes.

Vacation-minded city dwellers and desk-bound fishermen hankering for the wide-open stretches of water have put new life into many of Canada's small-boat builders.

The general feeling among most builders of the popular type boats: business is booming and most customers are newcomers to boat owning.

Lucky Graduates

Canada's university graduates have never had more glittering opportunities pushed at them on a platter, than the class of '52 now emerging from 23 universities all across the country, says The Financial Post.

Starting salaries, job prospects and security offered by industry in the shrinking young graduate market have never been brighter. Average starting salaries are $285, against last year's $243.

Student reaction to the boom has been a greater complacency than ever before towards going out and getting a job. A significant minority of this year's graduates have not taken jobs yet. Many object to going far afield.

Clandonald News

News doesn't seem to have come our way to any great extent lately and as we haven't been out looking for any this week's edition won't take long to read.

Seeding is fairly well completed in these parts and at present rain is urgently needed. Crops showing through are generally quite patchy owing to insufficient moisture for germination while those sown later on old land can scarcely be expected to show up at all until such time as more moisture arrives.

Mrs. Hartwell, a former resident in town and now making her home in Edmonton for the past few years, has been visiting in the district for a week or so. She is staying with her son Stewart and family who farm about 6 miles northeast of Clandonald. Mrs. Hartwell appears to be enjoying very good health and pleased to meet her old friends once more.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Seal had their married daughter Florence from Ontario visit them for a few days recently. Florence, a former champion softball player with Dewberry and Mannville, left here for the east several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Roe had their daughter, Mrs. Doris Whatcher of Edmonton to stay with them for several days. She planned to return to the city on Saturday accompanied by her parents.

Old friends were very pleased to see Tommy Stockwell back in the district for a week's visit. Tommy is quite weak following his winter spent in various Edmonton hospitals receiving treatment for a T.B. condition. The doctors have now advised him that with proper care he should be completely cured in about six months time. His father was here visiting at the same time having obtained leave of absence for a few days from Hallibarton's where he is employed. During their stay here they were able to attend to many matters of business and disposed of a considerable amount of their belongings to local buyers. The land is also sold, Harry Brass purchasing the former Cole farm, while the home quarter was sold to Eddie Stockwell whose land it adjoins.

Allan Ramsley, teller in the local branch of the Bank of Toronto and whose home is a few miles west of town, took quite an extended trip when he had his annual holidays at Easter. His travels took him as far as the U.S., part of the journey being made by air.

Congratulations to the Clandonald senior men's baseball club who were successful in winning the country baseball tourney at the Vermilion sports on Saturday. 9 teams competed in this event.

Louis Baldock is reported to be making good progress following his serious operation. His many friends wish him a complete and speedy recovery.

Old Electric Wiring Inadequate, Dangerous

Many people in Alberta owe their lives to the electrical inspectors, states a release from the Electrical Branch of the Dept. of Industries and Labor, of the Alberta government.

The inspectors stress that the public is always eager to correct any electrical faults that may endanger their lives, homes or stock, but usually are unaware of these faults.

The release states that one of the common hazards found in dwellings is the inadequacy of wiring. Houses constructed 25 years ago were wired only for light, and the introduction of numerous electrical appliances has dangerously overloaded these antiquated wiring. In addition to being dangerous, the overloading prevents the electrical equipment from operating efficiently.

R. A. Kembry, Chief Electrical Inspector stresses the fact that ordinary house power of 110 volts can easily kill an average human if improper wiring or fixtures exist.

Overloading of lines, improper fusing, inadequate wiring, loose connections and many other hazards exist in all parts of the country bringing a threat of accident or death to those who are unaware of the dangers.

One of the main functions of the Electrical Branch is to bring such matters to the attention of the public so that they can be corrected.

Adequate wiring should be installed at the time of building or re-modelling; however, modern wiring methods make re-wiring of the older dwellings a comparatively simple matter. Electrical Service Inspectors are being established throughout Canada to offer a free advisory service on adequate wiring to the home owner and prospective builder.

Funeral of George C. McIntosh Held In Alliance Chapel

Funeral services were held on Thursday, May 22nd at the Alliance chapel for George C. McIntosh who passed away on May 20th at the Vermilion hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mr. McIntosh was born on March 31st, 1880, in the State of Oregon. On December 27th, 1906 he was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Davis at Weston, Oregon. For a time they resided in Walla Walla, Wash., moving from there to Orion, Alberta and later to Vermilion in 1927 with their family. Here they farmed until about five years ago when they retired and moved into town. Mr. McIntosh, although of a retiring disposition felt keenly his responsibility to both God and man and used every opportunity to witness for the Saviour whom he had served so many years.

He leaves to mourn his loss his loving wife, two daughters, Mrs. John Hillen and Mrs. Harold Wilson of Vermilion; two sons, Lowell of Vermilion and Derwood, a missionary in Peconia, Boilvia, South America. There are twelve grandchildren and four great grandchildren. He also has two sisters and a brother in the U.S.

Interment took place in the Vermilion cemetery. Rev. Eric P. Berg officiated with Mr. Ray Hutchison and Mr. Myers, sons in law in charge of funeral arrangements.

His last request was that there be no flowers at his funeral but that the money be used to spread the Gospel of Christ, however the following floral tributes were noted from those who were not aware of this request: Edith, Warren and family. Mrs. Hawksworth, Louie and Claude Bishop

Thorncliffe W. I.

The May meeting of the Thorncliffe W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Alex Ross at 2:30 p.m. on May 14th. Seven members and one visitor were present. Come again, Florence.

The meeting opened with the singing of O Canada, followed by the Women's Creed. The roll call, a way to economize, was very interesting and gave us some good ideas.

Each member is making an article for the annual constituency convention which will be held in July. Each member also bought a ticket on the C.W.V. raffle.

Mrs. Moses, the Sick convener, reported sending 3 cards during the past month.

The social took the form of a quiz to test our mentality. To our surprise, some of us still aren't grown up. Oh well, we've got lots of time.

After the meeting adjourned a lovely lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Ross, assisted by Mrs. Moses and Mrs. King.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Clark on June 4th at 2:00 p.m. The roll call will be a gardening hint. Lunch this time will be supplied by Edna and Margaret, while Mrs. Earl Watt is in charge of the social department.

Gould-Taylor Wedding In Edmonton

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. W. R. Harrison in St. Johns church in Edmonton on Saturday, May 10th at 2:00 p.m., when Vivian Grace Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Taylor of Vermilion, became the bride of Claude Henry Gould, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Leury Gould of Mayerthorpe.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, was a vision of loveliness in a white ballerina-length nylon over satin gown with fly point sleeves, lace bolero and a waist-length veil, she carried a white prayer book adorned with white orchids and streamers. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone choker, a gift from the groom. She was only attended by Margaret Gould, sister of the groom, were for the occasion a pink nylon ballerina-length gown with shoulder veil and lace gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Jim Currie supported the groom as best man.

For the occasion the bride's mother chose a navy crepe dress with rose accessories and the groom's mother wore a brown gabardine suit accentuated with white accessories.

A small reception for some 35 relatives was held in St. Johns' Parish hall where a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by pink and white tapers decorated the bride's table. Pouring tea and coffee were Mrs. Dwyer, grandmother of the groom and Mrs. Creighton, aunt of the bride.

Following the reception the couple left for a honeymoon in Jasper and vicinity, the bride wearing a navy flared jacket with white accessories. On their return the newlyweds will make their home in Smoky Lake.

Surprise Birthday Party for Islay Lady

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilo Brower of Vermilion on Saturday May 23rd, the occasion being a surprise birthday party for Mrs. J. H. Simmons of Islay (Granny as she is known by her neighbors).

A few hands of whist were played with the honors going to Mrs. Brower and Peter Wilkinson and the consolations to Ernie Simmons and Grace Simmons.

Just as lunch was being served Mrs. Brower brought in a four layer birthday cake nicely decorated and topped with (how many candles Granny?) accompanied by the children singing 'Happy Birthday'. And she blew the candles all out at once? Ask Herb!

Granny was then presented with a very lovely corsage of pink and white flowers.

Those who helped make the evening a huge success were Mr. Herb Simmons and Emmie, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Forster and Jessie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Graw, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Simmons and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Simmons that it should be all one and children, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wilkinson and family.

FARE OF THANKS

Mrs. McIntosh and family wish to thank the many for their kind expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement. They also wish to thank Dr. Stephens, Miss Keith and the staff of the Vermilion hospital for their kindness to Mr. McIntosh during his illness.

ther C. C. Mitchell family. They report Mrs. Mitchell looking and being fairly well.

Syd Guernsey was in town Tuesday.

The local trustee convention of this district will be held next month, to be at Marwayne. Note the change of place. A most interesting convention is always on up. Some complain that we don't get much say in the school business . . . well you'll get less than none unless you show more interest than in the past few years. So come to the convention and see what is done. And give your suggestions.

The next meeting of the United Church W.A. is Thursday June 3 at Mrs. D. Martin's. The topic is Korea. Note that it should be better from Miss Mae Shields of Sierra Leone's most interesting to us last year at Mrs. Martin's.

Our sidewalks have been taken up in Islay business section . . . and I'm sure many of you will want to come to Islay to do your shopping - it will be no nice to walk from store to store on the new walks.

Gordon Purser, Ed and Alex McFadyen went to Sawmill Lake to fish over the holiday. They were fortunate in bringing home a goodly number of fish. Mr. inman and party went to Beaver Lake.

We were sorry to hear over the radio of the death of Neil McGee, killed on the highway at Vermilion. For many years Mr. McGee farmed near Holyrood school, then moved to the Kokoxe district.

A strawberry social is to be held in June watch for date.

Sixty Years Married, June 1st, 1952

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hicks Celebrate Diamond Wedding

A highly esteemed couple, pioneers of Vermilion and district since the early days of 1903, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Randolph Hicks, observed the 60th anniversary of their wedding on Sunday June 1st, 1952.

Mr. Hicks was born in Homer, Michigan in 1872. Mary Rosetta Pearson was born at Hamilton, Ont., in 1874. The happy couple met in Vittorio, Ontario and were married at home in Mount Albion, Ontario in 1892. They moved west in 1906 with their three young sons and rancher and farmed 12 miles north of Vermilion in the King Edward district. They later moved a little further north and operated a store at Mary Lake. The family then lived in Vermilion for a few years and in 1913 Mr. Hicks was appointed a Justice of the Peace and a number of other civic offices which he still holds. In 1927 the family moved to the then new town of Kitscoty and Mr. Hicks became agent for the Imperial Oil Co. One year later he was appointed Dewberry postmaster. He filled both these positions very acceptably for many years finally retiring as postmaster in 1947 and in 1951 from the oil agency. He and Mrs. Hicks then moved into Vermilion to enjoy their well-earned retirement.

On Sunday, commemorating the 60th anniversary, a family gathering was held with all the members of the immediate family present. One daughter, Mrs. Lillian Stonehouse came from Benito, Man., accompanied by her husband: Mrs. Pauline Keating, a second daughter, was present from Le Goff, Alberta together with her husband and family, three sons, Earl and Clyde of Vermilion, and Fred of Derwent and families were here.

There are 20 grandchildren, 18 of whom were at the gathering and both of their great grandchildren were also here for the occasion.

The family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hicks in Vermilion. The rooms were tastefully decorated with streamers and bells. As Mrs. Hicks is just recovering from a siege of illness no public reception was held but during the afternoon a few close friends called to extend felicitations and best wishes.

A very happy moment was experienced too, when a telegram was received from her Majesty the Queen. It was dated at Buckingham Palace and the message read "The Queen sends you warmest congratulations and good wishes on your Diamond Wedding day."

Nominating Convention Held at Mannville

W. R. Cornish Is Choice Of Social Credit

The delegates attending the nominating convention of the Vermilion Social Credit Constituency Association held in Mannville Saturday were unanimous in their choice of W. R. Cornish, sitting member for the past 8 years, as again carrying the Social Credit banner into the forthcoming provincial election. No other name was placed before the convention which was attended by 71 accredited delegates and a number of visitors.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Cornish said that if elected he would sit for one more term and then would leave it up to someone else to represent this constituency in the legislature.

Business of the convention was efficiently carried out by Ralph Wagner of Mannville in the chair and Peter Noster of Derwent as secretary.

Following the nomination period, the annual meeting of the association was held when the following were elected to office:

Hon. President -W. R. Cornish, M.L.A.
President -Ralph Wagner, Mannville
Vice-Pres. Alex Stone, Vermilion
Sec.-Treas. Peter Noster, Derwent.

Directors - A. H. Cooper, Vermilion; Don Myers, Minburn; Jack Swigden, Myrnam; Leighton Barr, Mannville rural; Clarence Ewing, Mannville; Walter Tyrn, Innisfree; Steve Unlat, Beauvallon.

Member Reports

In preparing for the convention Mr. Cornish touched on the rural program. It was now apparent that highway 16 would be completed and widened from Stony Creek to Vegreville this year and the shoulder would be built right in with the hard surfacing and not after ward. It wasn't likely, according to Mr. Cornish, that hard surfacing would be accomplished this year, but would be in the 1953 program. 15 following the C.P.R. line to the north will be completed to the junction of highway 41 this summer. He touched on the overall highway plan noting the necessity of another north and south artery to relieve the pressure on the Calgary-Edmonton route.

Problems affecting rural areas were dealt with including rural electrification and marketing of the farmers' products. Mr. Cornish stated that he believed that some plan must be evolved whereby the producer of the products would have more to say in marketing his products, possibly along the lines of co-operative marketing as suggested by the F.U.A.

Gas Export

The speaker spent some time on the question of export of natural gas, stating that when he returned to the sessions this spring he was quite prepared to oppose the bill. After hearing details from the exhaustive inquiry conducted by the Gas Conservation Board report he became convinced that some export of gas was in the best interests of the province. The gas being taken from the Provo River area is a dry gas, contains no chemicals, and is useful only for fuel. In piping this gas out, as many local areas must be serviced as possible and this is the only way Alberta people so served could hope to receive the use of the gas.

The Pincher Creek field where export is also to be allowed but which has not yet commenced, is capable of huge wet gas production. Far more than the whole of Alberta is using today. It could produce 100 million cubic feet of gas per day. This in turn would yield 3000 barrels of oil daily, 430 tons of sulphur daily, 500 barrels of propane gas and 700 barrels of butane gas daily. All these products would be taken out here, but this gas cannot be touched unless there is a market for it. In the way for people to have the use of gas is by the proposed by-product, the only way to obtain enough propane is by export of some of our natural gas. Alberta is importing propane at the present time. Gas reserves increase greatly with exploration, but there must be a motive for that exploration. The future is well protected from a gas viewpoint.

Mr. Cornish maintained that the present government is doing a very good job with Alberta's oil and gas and that as long as the province has the present administration the natural resources will be wisely handled, and nothing allowed to happen that would adversely affect the people of Alberta.

Grants to Local Governments

The Alberta government has also come a long way in their financial relief to local governments. As an example, grants to the M.D. of Minburn for 1951 totalled $281,000, 34.75% of the total finances of that district. Grants were again being raised this year.

Mr. Cornish forecast the return of the present administration in the next provincial election, and lauded Premier Manning and his Cabinet, the majority of the ministers being young men with great foresight and able to cope with the many problems confronting them.

Mr. Cornish dealt generally with several other matters before closing.

The convention adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

Celebration Marks 'Turning On Power' At Campbell Lake

The formation of the Campbell Lake Power Co. reached a climax on the evening of May 31st when the shareholders, with their wives and families, together with a number of invited guests, met in the Columbus hall at Clandonald to celebrate the occasion of the turning on of the power in their community.

Falling the arrival of a film which was to have been shown, a delightful hour was spent playing bingo and cards, followed by entertaining and enlightening talks by the guest speakers of the evening. Mr. Steve Hawreiak of Vegreville congratulated the shareholders on their foresight and enterprise in connection with the formation of the company. He touched on the uses to which electricity can be put on the farm and clarified a few of the difficulties which might be encountered.

Mr. Jim Nichols and Mr. Wes Hemp, local troublemen, gave a few pointers on managing these small difficulties and provided their help when necessary.

Following these talks a delicious lunch was served, and the party was brought to a close by a few well chosen remarks by the president Geo. Conway and secretary-treasurer George Mead. Guests for the evening, besides the guest speakers were Mrs. Wes Hemp of Derwent, the crew of the Sunrise Construction Co., who so ably pushed this enterprise through to rapid conclusion, and Mr. and Mrs. Emile Landry, Mannville, who gave his assistance as Commissioner of Oaths in the initial stages of the formation of the company.

It was felt by all present that a great step forward in the social life had been taken, one that would be much appreciated through the years and generations to follow.

The annual track meet of the Vermilion school division is being held this Friday, June 6th at Kitscoty. There are races, jumps and ball tournaments for all associations and a number of competitors will attend from Vermilion.

New Masonic Lodge Instituted, Elk Point

The Elk Point District is now served with a fine new Masonic Lodge, the new unit having been instituted on Friday night last by Wm. F. Emery, Grand Master of the Province of Alberta. The new premises and the institution of the Lodge has long been a dream of Dr. F. G. Miller, prominent Mason of the north country and the Lodge is honoured by St. Albert's Lodge of St. Paul from which lodge a considerable portion of the members also been drawn.

The lodge room is located above the Elk Point clinic and is splendidly finished and equipped for the purposes for which it has been designed. The new Master of the Lodge is W. Bro. B. Beatty, while the Secretary's position is being filled by Bro. Wagner.

On the occasion of the institution of the lodge a large number of visiting members, including 18 from Vermilion, filled the hall to capacity and the Provincial Grand Master gave a most interesting and enlightening address to the gathering. For many years past all the Masons living north of the Saskatchewan River have attended the lodge at St. Paul and it has meant travelling excessive distances from both east and west. The new lodge at Elk Point will serve a most useful purpose in reducing distances and will fill a long felt want in this area.

Board of Trade Delegates

W. G. Sutherland and D. R. Mitchell were in Red Deer Tuesday and Wednesday attending the annual meeting of Alberta Boards of Trade and Agriculture.

Fall Home and School Conference to be Held Here

It was the unanimous decision of the local Home and School Association to hold the district conference in Vermilion this fall. There are ten branches of the organization within the area from which representatives can be expected. The date suggested is in October just preceding the teachers' convention. It is hoped that the Vermilion school of agriculture will be available for the meetings at that time.

The suggestion that the fall conference be held here was made by Mrs. Len Tory of Wainwright who is regional director of the Provincial Home and School Association. Mrs. Tory was the guest speaker at the final meeting of the local branch held on Tuesday evening. She is a sparkling, animated speaker and reported on the recent convention held in Edmonton. Mrs Tory dwelt on the far reaching effects of resolutions passed by the home and school associations such as ours, stating that such resolutions are the 'meat' of the convention. As a result Home and School groups are now one of the great forces in the formation of school curriculums.

Mrs. Tory also suggested the formation of study groups within the local association. These groups study various phases of education with a view to finding the weak points, an offer resolutions for improvement.

Following the address of Mrs. Tory the meeting broke up into three buzz sessions. Mrs. Boxburgh was the chairman of the primary group. Mrs. Kibblewhite of the intermediate, and Mrs. Stewart of the high school section.

Reporting back, all groups submitted numerous suggestions and all approved the plan to hold the fall conference here; study groups were recommended; inter-change of Home and School plays with Wainwright and other towns in the region was among the recommendations made.

The chairman of the meeting was the president of the association, Canon Teape. He is shortly moving to Edmonton and a warm vote of thanks for his interest and activity was extended to him. Canon Teape in turn relayed the praise on to the secretary, Miss Dorothy Oldenburg who he said, did the lion's share of the work.

Home and School meetings now adjourn for the summer months, with the next session to be held on Monday Sept 15th. As this will coincidence a new year it will be the annual meeting and election of officers will be held. A nomination committee of Mrs. C. W. Stephens, A. W. Kibblewhite and E. M. Stewart will suggest a slate of officers on that occasion

"GREEN ACRES"

Seeding Grasses

It is a mistake to sow grass or alfalfa seed into loose dry soil. It is better to wait until a good rain soaks the ground then seed as soon as can be worked. Get a circular from my office on the seeding of grasses and clovers.

Sweet Clover Hay

Here is a good feed that is being neglected in this district Ten to twenty acres of sweet clover may save the day when hay and grain crops are nearly failures Also a couple of pounds per acre of sweet clover when sown with oats for green feed adds a good nitrogen supplement to the feed

Horticultural Guide

A booklet entitled Alberta Horticultural Guide has just come off the press. It contains lists of the varieties of vegetables, flowers and fruit trees tried out in our district and recommended for growing here Also advice is given for insect control in the garden. Every gardener should get a copy of this booklet

Queen Bee Cells

Now is the time of the year to check hives for Queen cells' It is only the matter of a couple of weeks until the Queen will be a new Queen and then there is a swarm. Give the bees lots of room or it can be watched. Get a circular from my office on the seeding of grasses and clovers.

Do-Worming Pigs

Most pigs are infested with worms. It costs a lot to feed worms and besides the pigs are unthrifty and catch any disease going around. Get a circular from my office on killing worms in pigs with the new Sodium Fluoride treatment. It is the best and cheapest way to kill worms in pigs.

Cheaper Brush Killing

Tree and brush growth are spoiling many native pastures. The trees can be killed with a new chemical called 2,4,5-T. Any crop spraying machine can be converted to spray trees by using a piece of garden hose and a special nozzle made for this purpose. Trees and grass cannot do well in the same place so why not kill out the trees and have more grass for the live stock?

A CRUEL ACT

A regrettable act of small boys tearing down a robin's nest and killing the baby robins was reported to the Standard this week. The nest was located in the garden of a home in the centre of the town and great interest by the family had been taken in this pair of robins and their little home, now so wantonly destroyed. The mother and father robins sat around their ruined nest for days in a very dejected and sad fashion. At another home in the west end, two wren houses were pulled down and destroyed while the people were out. Every parent reading this should ask himself or herself "Does my child do things like this?". Do you know for sure he doesn't? Have you ever pointed out to him the cruelty of such an act, or told them how valuable our bird life is?

Nest destroying seems to have been more common than usual this spring. There is no doubt that school teachers, cub and scoutmasters, and leaders of youth organizations do all in their power to curb such cruelty and destruction of desirable bird life, so it does appear that fathers and mothers are lax in emphasizing the value and beauty of our birds. In the U.S. at present there is a decided trend in cases of juvenile delinquency for officers to check the parents. There is little doubt that if this was done many fathers and mothers would be found lacking in many respects.

Every parent on reading this item should point out to the children the value and beauty of our bird life and the cruelty of such acts as narrated above. Every opportunity throughout the years should be taken to impress the thoughts into children's minds that birds are our friends and a great joy to the world and they or their nests should not be touched nor harmed in any way but should be protected and helped as much as possible. There are countless opportunities to tell the children these things in an interesting, kindly way.

Every dad is a hero to his lad, take a few minutes and have a talk with your boy—it will do a world of good.

A. M. WILSON SPEAKS AT FARMERS' MEETING

TOAD FLAX IS SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

Mr. A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner of Edmonton addressed a large gathering of farmers in Manville on Tuesday afternoon last.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform farmers about the Toad Flax Special area which was set up recently just north of the town of Manville. Mr. Wilson explained the assistance plan to the meeting. The Council of Mineburn M.D. proposes to sell calcium chlorate at a reduced price to farmers for destroying patches of Toad Flax. Mr. Wilson said the government would consider the request of the municipality to share equally in the assistance program.

The cost of sodium chlorate to farmers will be $5 per drum of 112 pounds. This is one-third of the wholesale price. The supply is limited to 3 drums per quarter section. Over this amount it is considered to be a cultivation problem rather than killing the weeds with the expensive chemical treatment.

Assistance will also be given to farmers for summerfallowing Toad Flax infested land. As it requires 10 to 12 cultivations to keep land black during the growing season, the cost of the season's cultivation may run to $15 per acre or more. Grants of $5 per acre will be made to farmers where land has to be black summerfallowed in order to check the spread of this weed.

Mr. Wilson advised farmers to look for outbreaks of Toad Flax on their land and to treat the patches with sodium chlorate. Where Toad Flax infests a whole field the cost of getting rid of it is likely to be more than clean land is worth in the district.

Mr. G. R. Sterling, Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control was also present. Mr. Sterling discussed in detail other methods recommended to eradicate Toad Flax. He said it was better to dust the sodium chlorate directly on the ground rather than to dissolve the chemical in water and then to spray the plants and the ground. Most of the failures in getting a kill are due to too light a treatment. It is necessary to put on 4 lbs. of chlorate to each 10 sq. feet. The area for six feet all around the patch should also be treated. Mr. Sterling warned farmers of the danger of fire in handling Sodium Chlorate.

Mr. Sterling also advised the use of blade cultivators rather than rolling implements in cutting off the growth of Toad Flax when summerfallowing. It was not necessary to cultivate deeply to cut off the Toad Flax plants and besides it costs more to get down 4 inches or more.

The Agricultural Service Board of Mineburn M. D. sponsored the meeting. The vice-chairman of the Board, Mr. George Erickson of Ranfurly acted as chairman. He expressed the satisfaction of the board in the co-operation being given by farmers in the effort to stamp out this weed pest before it has infested a lot more clean land around the district. The reeve, Mr. Chas. Stewart, assured the gathering that the council was right behind the Toad Flax control campaign.

District Agriculturist E. H. Buckingham and C. Gamble, municipal supervisor, also addressed the meeting.

Woodvale News

May has been about the driest month we have experienced in a long time. Just a little drizzle in the last week, not even a good shower. Crops, with the exception of the very early sown ones, are coming up patchy and those planted in the latter part of the month are not showing any sign of growth. It is a pity as there is quite a lot of seed-bed moisture and one good shower would have brought the crop along nicely. What will June bring?

Mr. Phillips the new student minister who comes from Toronto, has been holding services at Ganton school during May, with last Sunday's given in Watson school. It is his intention to have three consecutive services at Ganton and the fourth at Watson regularly through the summer.

Susan Walters not only got first prize for her essay on farm safety but has won a week free camping by learning by heart a 100 verses from St. Matthews for Sunday school. Congratulations again Susan.

The Telland ball team has not come into a winning streak yet but of three games played they have only won the first—wait however, til all the young teen-agers now on the reserve team get into their stride! Mary Banks had to help them out one Sunday when they were short of players and a very good job she did, being described as 'fleet as a deer'. Everyone hopes most sincerely that Dick Dorsly who was seriously injured during the sports day in Vermilion, will soon and completely recover. In former years he used to play often with the Telland team and everyone is very much concerned over his accident.

On the 27th a shower was held in Ganton school for Ruby Thorsen, a bride of this week. Friends came from far and wide and it took more than the lovely decorated basket to hold all the presents. Her sister Doris assisted her in opening the parcels and we have seldom seen so many lovely and useful gifts at one presentation. Ruby very fittingly thanked her many friends. Here we must be quiet shower took place Mrs. Oshalderton had arranged an hour of pleasant entertainment. Games were played and the school girls did some folk dancing very nicely and sang several songs accompanied by Hazel Thorsen on the organ. All enjoyed their program very much and I hope the older girls who also did so very well, don't mind if I say that the youngest one almost stole the show! After the presentation of gifts a delicious lunch was served by the Telland ladies and after circling the bride-to-be and singing 'For She's a Jolly Good Fellow', everyone went home well satisfied that this was one of the most pleasant showers in long, long time. It's no secret now that we might have another one in these parts pretty soon again!

In the meantime, congratulations once again Ruby and Arnold Ruud on this your wedding day, June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Duff McGrath left Sunday for Banff where they will attend a school trustees convention. Mrs. C. McGrath will accompany them to Edmonton where she will visit an old friend and relations. Margaret and Eleanore will stay with Mrs. A. McQuaid.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Goutier and Peter Goutier went to Vegreville for the confirmation of Robert and Jeanne Goutier. Mrs. Goutier stayed the week with her daughter Mrs. Edmund Dubuc and enjoyed the company of her children and little granddaughter Diane very much.

Miss Cora Mahan of the Brockville district has been teaching this past month at Woodvale.

Another ball game was played Sunday on the Ganton picnic grounds between Telland and 75 angle. This time Telland won by 30 to 20. Keep it up boys!

Band And Choral Society At Elk Island

Two Fort Saskatchewan musical groups will offer a varied program of marches, choral songs and waltzes at the regular concert in Elk Island National park at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, June 8th.

Marches and waltzes will be included in the selections by the Fort Saskatchewan Legion school band, under the direction of W. S. Elliott. Choral songs and solos will be offered by Fort Saskatchewan high school choral society under the direction of Michael O'Brien.

The Legion school band was organized in October 1949 and is made up of 40 members, most of whom are school students. The High school choral group has an active membership of 40 young people whose steady practice during the school term is shown in their fine choral singing.

A baritone solo will be presented by Michael O'Brien accompanied by the band.

At 11 a.m. a period of religious exercises will be held with Rev. J. E. Nix of Lamont United church conducting the service. Church bells and organ music by recordings will form part of the service and visitors are invited to participate in the open air devotional period. This is intended as a regular Sunday morning feature of the Park and any of the clergy and congregations in the surrounding area wishing to make use of the bandshell for this purpose are asked to contact J. M. Bell of the National Film Board, Edmonton.

During the supper period a program of recorded music will be provided and at sunset a variety of travel films will be shown.

Who Pays for Roads?

In the last 30 years owners of automotive vehicles have been taxed hundreds of millions of dollars, the fact to concrete these vehicles the total amount of money spent on highways in the same period. Canada. From one quarter to one third of what these people pay for gasoline in provincial tax or for an over[illegible] about half a cent for every mile travelled.

In the case and truck owners and the special taxes they pay on [illegible] there is a limit as to how much the motorist and his car can or should be asked to pay.

ALLANDALE

The weather continues dry. Light frosts were recorded until the last of May. Wild roses were out this year the earliest we ever remember. Mowing around the third week in May. They make a lovely sight along the side of the roads.

Though the electric power was turned on May 22nd around 5:30 p.m. there are some homes not yet connected. It would be a thrilling experience for those who could be on at that time and I'm sure will be for us when that time comes. Clarence Meyers and assistant Bill Payne are doing the Cameron home, then on to Armstrong's and Wilson's.

The gathering of shareholders and officials of the power company was held May 31st in Clavinonala and all enjoyed the lectures and will benefit from them. All in all it was a very enjoyable evening. I'm hoping our secretary will outline the evening's doings more fully.

Sorry I omitted unwittingly. Wm. Mayers' name in writing for waiver. His ability to only detects water but can tell the exact number of feet, as he did in Johnny Nelson's well.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dwyer (nee Violet Armstrong) and son Dennis of the city were visitors at home on May 23rd. Jack is in the trucking business in the city.

Joyce Armstrong is home at present. She was nursing at the Edmont hospital as an assistant dietician.

May 23rd was our last Gay 90s for the season, or until fall. The gatherings were smaller than usual but all seemed to have an enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Baldock had an unexpected visit from her sister Mrs. Broadhead and Jeanne from Saskatoon on May 24th. Deanne is [illegible] the R.C.A.F. and just arrived home from Resolute Bay where he spent the winter. He will be leaving very shortly for London, England where he will be flying Jets.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson have a new Chev car, metallic blue in color.

Fishing is still good at Muriel Lake. May 31st Don Wilson, Alf Skelton and Orley Onnasch got a good catch.

Our deepest sympathy to Mr. Dupuis and family on the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Edwards and family and another couple, their neighbors, were picnicking north and called at the A. Kepke home last Sunday June 1st in their lovely Pontiac car.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Greaves and daughter Brenda of the city brought Mr. Baldock home on May 29th and returned home May 31st. We're so pleased Leslie is looking so well after such a long siege of illness.

Mr. George Leighton who was burned so badly at Bill Cross's was home a week and on May 31st was taken back to Islay hospital. His legs below the knees were burned badly and are healing slowly.

A big rain north and Monday evening June 2nd — Noticed the electric power construction workers coming along well with the line for power line going to Cold Lake: Called at Lander's. Mrs. Gertie Lander, in Elk Point, she happened to be out but were told she had just returned from a holiday to B.C. Red Deer and Edmonton visiting relatives and friends. Then to Spring Park and called on the A. Kepke's and their lovely new home. The Rufus Kepke's newest home but had a short visit at the L. Swanson home, all sleeves and nephews, all are keepers, well.

The caterpillars are at work in that area and a lot of the trees are bare. I believe it was 1926-7 the last time we had them here so badly. I did hear on the radio they were due again this year.

Church was held at Allandale on June 1st at 11:30 p.m. and only every two weeks. Attendance was good, 18 being present, but we missed some of you folks, why not come and join us in our Sunday morning worship. Mr. Jackson is a very efficient S.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kepke and daughters Linda and Merna of Spring Park visited relatives in the district last week.

Lloyd Darling has moved his machine over to Ferguson Lake and has been putting his crop in there.

SEE COMPLETE SPORT STORY —

Bert Gilford, Sport

Quarterback, Star Defensive Halfback of the Vermilion Flyers for Over a Week.

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

GEORGE MERVEN, president of Gilford and Merven, brokers, glanced at his assistant-cashier and floor-manager Bert Gilford before he left headquarters. "A raise? He snorted. "You'll get no raise, Gilford. Think because your name's like the one on this firm's stationery that you own the place, don't you? Well, I'll tell you this, young man, Sam Gilford got his name there because he worked for it and saved his money. You're not like that; you're always having money advanced you—you're always broke. Yet you refused to subscribe to a single fund that my employees tried to raise this year. When I come back I'm going to fire you. You're a waster. I don't see how you expect to have such a good name as Gilford. Oh, yes, I'll admit you're good as well, but you are too improvident. We are suspicious of a man who can't live on the fifty a week we pay him."

Bert Gilford writhed before the portly boss's denunciation. Merven was leaving for a holiday that morning and it had seemed a good time to ask for a raise. He had not expected this harangue, but all that Merven had said was undeniable. He rose slowly from his chair.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Merven. I did the best I could. I liked to work for Gilford and Merven . . . sort of pride in the name, though of course I'm no relation of Gilford."

"Right you're not," snapped back Merven. "Sam would have been ashamed to own you. What do you spend your salary on . . . women?"

Young Gilford flushed, but held his tongue. Merven looked disgusted. "When I come back in a month's time, you go. I've learned that you are lazy and have no use to improve. I asked because I liked you and was interested in you. I won't say how I think you spend your money but . . ."

Bert did not wait for more. Merven was a loud man. The youngster had been sent to the firm almost a year. He had made good enough for those faults that Sam Merven had spoken about: Bert was always broke, often saving money advanced or borrowing it from the fellows who worked in the office.

Then Merven promptly departed on a short holiday to the prospect of a week in the Maine woods . . . moose and bear, trout to tempt with the fly.

The country was familiar to him. He took no guide and made direct for a lake where he had been once before. It was night when he got there and a last string of profanity perforated the still, heavy air and measured the birds out of their sleep; then camp was gone. On the shoulders had been cleared of trees and a great middle-aged man waded into the darkness. The march of agricultural had destroyed Sam Merven's favorite stamping ground.

As he stood there in the darkness and fervently cursed farmers by whom sporting blood has thinned to a money-hunting serum, rain began to fall. Sam recollected an old ruin of a farm up on the hill. He had never gone there, but now it was a case of any port in a storm.

Mosley watch-dogs discovered his approach. Heralded by their noise he walked up to the door which had opened for him already.

"Come in, stranger," a tall old man invited. "Ma an' me's just finished supper, but there's plenty cookin' steak, biscuits and tea."

It was like a bed into heaven for hungry Sam Merven. He stamped into the room and threw his duffle bag in a corner. Then he looked around. He had never seen a room so comfortably homelike. There was a fireplace, a big sofa, deep chairs.

"Say . . ." examined Merven in his abrupt way, "was this place always here?"

A motherly old lady had come to join the man. She was plump, kindly, bespectacled.

"No, sir," she said. "Just this year we could afford them comforts and Mos mos to work the farm. Pa's too old for that, you know. We've always craved nice things but we had to wait till we got prosperous, Mister . . ."

"Merven," growled Sam, impressed by their amiability.

"Do you from the city?" demanded Pa. "Our son Bert has a partner o' that name. Bert's in the brokerage business . . . Gilford and Merven. Bert sends in heaps of money, almost forty dollars each week till we git our crop-money. You ain't Bert's partner now, are you, Mr. Merven?"

Sam Merven said yes, more gently than anyone could suspect. And he meant it.

Alberta Cattlemen Lose $14 Million Due To Embargoes

EDMONTON.—Provincial agriculture officials said Alberta cattlemen lost an estimated $14,000,000 during the first four months of this year on cattle exports alone due to international and interprovincial livestock embargoes.

Based on a conservative estimate of $200 per animal, the value of cattle exported until the end of April this year was $8,277,000, compared with $22,247,000 in the same period last year.

Campaign Launched To Keep Alberta Free From Rats

EDMONTON—An attempt is being made to "rat-proof" Alberta.

W. L. Peulin, of St. Boniface, Man., a specialist in rats, has opened a campaign aimed at hauling an invasion of Norway rats by "rat-proofing" a six-mile-long area along the Alberta-International border.

Behind the line, no infestation was reported in the Edmond area, near the border, earlier this year. Alberta was the only rat-free province.

Do You Know That . . .

The cyclone that hit Regina on June 30, 1912, was the first of its kind recorded in Canadian history. The cyclone caused one death, injured 10 persons and a loss of about $30,000.

FIVE IN ONE

What to serve for dessert is a perennial question with some homemakers. If it is a great help to have a few standard recipes which may be varied to seem like something new, here is one which is delicious and which may be plain, chocolate, caramel or lemon, as you choose to create. Another one which may be an old favourite with some and new to others is Lemon Cake-Top Pudding or, as it sometimes called Baked Lemon Sponge. The dessert is at the top of the list for versatility. Serve it plain—flavoured after a roast of lamb, pineapple or apricot flavoured after chicken or with the tang of orange after duck.

People Of Strasbourg, Sask., Are Proud Of Their Mountain

(By Bee Moon in The Regina Leader-Post)

STRASBOURG, Sask.—Strasbourg's No. 1 geographical feature is a mountain. Some people may say it used to be called Last mountain and its name somehow got changed to Last mountain. Although other people say it used to be called Last.

The people of Strasbourg describe the pinnacle as the "peak". They say that on a clear day you can see 30 towns from the top.

On a clear day the people of Strasbourg can even look out of their windows and see the mountain.

Last mountain is about four miles north and 1¼ miles east of this community. Some say the slope up to the peak starts right at the town.

The rise is gradual until the top is reached, a couple of feet higher than at the start of the climb.

On the north side the decline is steeper and the mountain looks more imposing there.

It still can't exactly be said to dominate this community physically but it's left its mark on the inhabitants.

For you can't discuss a feature that causes a town to name a main street Mountain street and another Valley avenue.

The long body of water 12 miles to the west was named Last Mountain lake. The provincial electoral constituency that Strasbourg finds itself in is called Last Mountain.

A Strasbourg hotel used to be called Last Mountain.

Among other things there are:

A Last Mountain Valley school, an East Mount school, a Mountain View school, a Mountain Chase school, and an East Mount Baptist church.

W. A. Richardson, the editor of the Mountaineer, Strasbourg's weekly newspaper, will tell you how his paper got its name.

They were standing around the hotel back in the early 1900's and wondering what to call the paper.

Someone suggested Mountaineer and the name stuck. Naturally.

Legend has it that the Indians never could pick seneca a medicinal plant, near Last Mountain because the area was taboo.

Today, there's good deer hunting there in the fall and the berry picking is noted.

A town saboteur will tell you about a mixup from a far province who went to look at Last mountain and simply raised his eyebrows.

A wag once suggested that the people of Strasbourg make mountains out of molehills.

But for the most part the populace take all this in good part.

"We don't mind being laughed at about our mountain," is the way one of them puts it.

Keep Cash In The Community

(Editorial in The Valley Citizen, Rose Valley, Sask.)

As more country roads get a coat of gravel, as more highways are hard-topped, the trend toward evrimination not only continues, but grows apace. As roads improve and automobiles each year seem to be designed for a little more mileage per gallon of gasoline, more people bend for the city to do their weekly shopping.

The trend is a natural one, for nothing begets a crowd so quickly as a crowd. Often the selection in city stores is wider than that found in the hometown, usually sometimes prices are a little lower, for city transactions usually are cash transactions.

But those who go guilty to the city to spend their cash, might reflect on the fact that seldom if ever do they see the fellow who gets their cash driving out to their hometown to make a little payment on their sidewalks, on their schools, or to help support their church and other institutions. Without which life in their own hometown simply would not be up to much. Small town activities in the sports line in the local community are supported by their local merchants, who have a very real stake in their hometown and in the local institutions.

So let's give the too often maligned local merchant an opportunity to fill our orders if he can, but compete both in price and quality with the city merchant he will tell us he can. When times were less prosperous it was he who financed the needy, he kept the essential of life available to those who did not have the cash. No doubt he would do it again if necessary. Gratitude seems lacking in those who dash away elsewhere to shop when they have some ready cash to spend.

A dollar spent in our own town, each municipalities in our own each district and thus its value is enhanced. It's a dollar which comes home to roost whereas the dollar spent in distant parts usually stays elsewhere. To all intents and purposes as far as the local communities is concerned it is dead as dodo. The local businessmen ask no favors, all they want is to be given a fair chance. They deserve it.

Farmer Gets Valuable Oil Rights In Error

CALGARY. — Former Anton Turtle now owns mineral rights valued at well over $1,000,000 on his quarter-section of land in the Leduc district because of a mistake changed in the land titles office in 1908.

This was the decision of Mr. Justice W. C. Ezhers, in a judgment handed down here. Mr. Turtle won his case against the Canadian Pacific Railways and Imperial Oil limited.

The involved legal dispute was tried in Alberta supreme court in Edmonton last January. The property involved is in the heart of the Leduc oil field and is present in surrounded by scores of producing wells.

Briefly, the circumstances are that in 1908 the title to the land was transferred to Mike Podgorny, reserving coal and petroleum to the C.P.R. At that time, an error was made in the land titles office and the title read "reserving unto the C.P.R. all coal".

The wording remained the same when Mr. Turtle took over half the property in 1911 and the remainder in 1918.

An attempt was made in 1948 to correct the original error and the wording of the title was changed by adding the words "and petroleum". This made the title read "reserving unto the C.P.R. all coal and petroleum."

The court dispute was mainly over two points—whether or not the registrar of land titles had the right to make the correction, and to decide whether anybody owned the petroleum rights.

Mr. Justice Egbert ruled that the plaintiff, Mr. Turtle, "is entitled to the relief he seeks," and that the words "and petroleum" which were added to the title do not have any effect.

Court officials said the action may be extremely important in determining the effect of the Torrens system of land titles.

Under the system, originated in Australia in the middle of the 19th century, the existing title on a piece of property has been considered to be absolute. In other words, when a piece of land is purchased the purchaser is entitled to everything not reserved in the title.

The Torrens system has been in effect in Alberta since it was incorporated as a province

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

Girls' Clubs

Six Girls' Clubs in this district held their Achievement days in the last week. The Achievement day was to display the sewing that was done during the year, and to have it judged. A programme was planned for the entertainment of all visitors.

Each year there is chosen from each club, an efficiency winner, who is the top girl in the club. 14 years old or more who has not been to club work before. The girls from this district who win will be going to the Vermilion school of agriculture from June 6 to 12 along with all the boys and girls in central Alberta who are efficiency winners.

The girls who are efficiency winners this year are:-

Passchendale Pals — June Golding; Dunross Happy Hobby Club—Margery Roberton; Chauvin Dunrers — Barbara McLeod; Paradise Valley — Beatrice Kragnes; Clandonald — Marion White; Streamstown—Rose Skoreyko. Yes, the Provincial Dept. of Agriculture sponsors the Girls Clubs and provides free project books and help to them.

To Machine Hemstitch

To machine hemstitch sheer cotton ruffles, draw the threads, and baste the hem at the top of the drawn threads. Stitch on your machine, about 12 stitches to the inch and push the hem to the bottom of the drawn threads.

Knitting Sleeves

Try knitting children's sweater sleeves from shoulder to wrist. This will make it easier for you to add to the sleeve length as it's needed.

No! No!! No!!!

(Please excuse my hysterics) ... though navy beans, kidney, black, red or pinto beans and rice are actually vegetables, they should never take the place of vegetables in meals. These beans take the place of meat in a lower cost diet and for a change from meat, that they sadly lack the vitamins that vegetables like carrots, string beans, snap or green beans, cabbage and so on, give us.

Rice, macaroni and spaghetti may take the place of potatoes occasionally though they lack most of the vitamins that potatoes have. If you have rice or macaroni, don't serve potatoes with it, but do serve another vegetable and meat. If you have navy beans or any of the others mentioned above, don't serve meat with them, but have another vegetable and potatoes. This is something I wish restaurant cooks would take to heart.

Ethelwyn News

Now that seeding is finished the younger people have started their bi-monthly meetings at Rye. Plans are to take a softball team to the Farmers' picnic June 12th.

Mrs. Oswald Voakes (nee Florence Seal) and son of, Hamilton, Ont., spent a few days with the former's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Taylor.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Joe Sunderland. He was one of the early pioneers north of Dewberry. Sam and Ben Sunderland of Spokane, Wash. were here to attend their father's funeral.

The track meet at Dewberry this spring was the best ever held, due no doubt to the large number of parents who showed a keen interest and attended. The children like to have mother and dad on hand to encourage them. The teachers do too, as this makes them feel that the weeks of training are worth while when the parents evince interest.

The Rye ball team has really surprised everyone including themselves. The first game with North Home brought them a win of 35-8, their second game, another win of 19-8 from Queenie Creek. Other awards was by Rye pupils as the meet were Pete O'Rourke, 2nd; Phyllis Day, 2nd; Helen Shemkewich, 2nd; Finola McCormick, 2nd; Loretta Burns, 1st; Pete O'Rourke another 2nd and a 3rd; Mary Ann Grant, 3rd; Pauline Shrenkowich, 2nd; Freddie Day, 2nd, all in the races.

In the jumping Pauline Shrenkowich, 3rd in the high jump; Pete O'Rourke, 1st high jump; Freddy Day, 2nd in high jump; Loretta Burns 2nd in broad jump; Helen Shrenkowich, 1st running broad; Pauline Shrenkowich, 3rd running broad; Helen Shrenkowich, 3rd.

The booth at the track meet staffed by the Dewberry ladies, was a very busy place, as was the cafe down town. On behalf of the parents of the Rye district the writer would like to thank the teachers and all others who worked so hard for the track meet. Thanks also to the children who were such good sports and provided a day of fine entertainment.

The sincere thanks of the writer to Lieut. Chapman and Mrs. Chapman, also the band at the Salvation Army for the beautiful memorial service for our own dear mother, the late Mrs. Martin McBride. The church was lovely with lilacs and a beautiful basket of flowers by Mrs. Yelland to be left in the church in memory of Mrs. McBride. This basket was originally presented to Mrs. McBride on her 30th wedding anniversary.

Dean Cooper entertained his teacher and all of his school mates at his 11th birthday last Friday. Mothers, if you are looking for new ideas for children's parties try a treasure hunt. It proved very successful on this occasion.

A Rich Asset

OIL IS UPPERMOST in the minds of many residents of Western Canada today and there is good reason that this should be so. The discovery and development of oil and gas in the West has been of great importance to this part of Canada and there is every reason to believe that there are greater possibilities lying ahead in this field. Recent reports show that since the beginning of 1952 there has been a new "find" of gas or oil in the West every three days and that in the first 100 days of this year thirty new wells were found which gave gas or oil.

• • • • •

Many Wells In Alberta — As has been the case so far in finding oil and gas in the West, most of the new wells are in Alberta. So far this year there have been eleven new discoveries of oil in that province and twelve of gas. In Saskatchewan, two gas wells and two oil wells have been discovered, while in British Columbia there have been three new discoveries of natural gas and several shallow oil wells have been found in parts of the North West Territories. In Alberta, most of the discoveries which have been made this year have been in the central part of the province where there has been considerable activity throughout the past year in the search for new sources of gas and oil.

• • • • •

A New Era In The West — The discovery of oil and gas in the West has affected the economy of this part of Canada in a number of ways. It has attracted capital investment from all parts of Canada and from other countries to develop these rich natural resources, while employment has been provided for many hundreds of people, both residents of the province and those attracted from other places because of the activity there. This increase in capital investment and employment has been due not only to the production of gas and oil but to other industries which are attracted to the area because of the availability of these two important products. It has indeed marked the beginning of a new era in the West, one which is yet far from having reached its fullest development, and there is little wonder that these new oil fields are of foremost interest at this time to Canadians and to many people in other lands, who may in time look to them for vital fuel supplies.

Cannot Take Game From Here To U.S.

WASHINGTON—The Fish and Wildlife Service said that sportsmen hunting in Canada this fall will be barred from bringing their kill into the United States.

The ban applies to all cloven-hoofed animals, including moose, deer, elk, caribou, mountain goat, mountain sheep and antelope.

Albert M. Day, director of the service said transportation of these animals across the border will be prohibited as long as foot-and-mouth disease continues among Canadian cattle.

Day said small quantities of completely boned and thoroughly cooked meat from any of these animals, intended for personal consumption, may be brought back if approved at the border by U.S. inspectors.

Hides or skins also may be brought back if they are hard-dried, or if consigned to a government-approved establishment for disinfecting or processing.

A Sunday-school teacher was trying to impress on her pupils the need for missionaries in the East, and told the story of a poor native who broke his arm and was taken to hospital, where he learned for the first time about Christianity.

"Very soon," she concluded, "he was well and returned to his home. Now, how could he learn more about ratgion?"

There was silence for a moment, then one bright child volunteered, "Please, miss, he could break his other arm."

A well-known author was invited to lunch at a friend's house, and walked in just in time to catch his host placing his latest book in a prominent position on a small table. The host looked confused and started to murmur something, but the author smiled genially and said:

"My mother would do more," said Peter. "She'd ask Jimmy to stay for supper."

Bled Girl Third In Dance Class

VANCOUVER.—The judge didn't know, when she placed 10-year-old Lois Goodine third in a class of 30, that the little tap-dancer was ill.

Lois began to take tap-dancing lessons about a year ago and did her first solo after only 12 lessons.

At the British Columbia dance festival recently she entered a class of 30 between the ages of 10 and 13.

The judge, Helen Chase of Seattle, said that she noticed something wrong with the little girl's eyes, but never suspected that she was blind when she marked the score card.

Lois, a student at the Vancouver school for the blind, also plays the piano and the mouth-organ.

Birds Have Housing Problems Too

LAC DU BONNET, Man. — Nature seems to have its housing problems, too.

An early-bird house sparrow began nesting in an air ventilator in a house here. But a latearriving swallow has been using the ventilator for a nest for the last seven years.

The affair came to a bizarre ending when the swallow killed the sparrow. The sparrow's nest was destroyed, and two swallows carried material into the ventilator for a new nest.

Freezing Plant Needed In Antarctic

A dispatch from the Graham Land base said the plant was needed to prevent foodstuffs from spoiling during the summer when the temperature climbs to 50 degrees.

LOCOMOTIVE'S LAST TRIP

NANAIMO, B.C. — A locomotive which hauled coal around here for 70 years was presented to the city and has been placed in Piper's Park. Coal mined in an old pit which closed down in 1888 was gathered to provide power for the engine's last journey.

U.S. Bidders At Canadian Auction

In Oakville, Ont., to auction his cattle along with dozens of others from Quebec and Ile Maritimes, Premier J. Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island sold this four-year-old cow, Abegrell Pinza for $1,025. His best calf, Abegrell Limelight sold for $1,500. Both were purchased by the bidding of U.S. livestock men who bought cattle at the auction in spite of the embargo placed by the U.S. following the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in the province.—Central Press Canadian.

Caribou Herds In Hudson Bay Area Do Well

CHURCHILL, Man. — Eskimos in the Churchill area had plenty to eat during the past winter.

Reports from the coast of Hudson Bay and points at least 100 miles inland say there have been more caribou than for many years. Many wintered in the area.

Further back in the barren lands, the caribou went south in September and later wintered there. The trek back north is reported to have begun two months earlier than for several years.

Animals were seen moving in smaller bands of 400 and more, instead of great herds. One herd of several thousand caribou was seen around Chesney. It took three days to pass that point.

FLOWING WELL PRODUCES 300 GALLONS OF SOFT WATER

CHURCHILL, Man. — A flowing well which has been gushing out 300 gallons of soft water per minute has been causing hundreds of sightseers to the Jack Drummond farm, one half mile north of here.

The well was found recently while Tidewater Oil company was drilling a test well on Mr. Drummond's farm. So far attempts to stop the flow of water have not been successful.

Furnishing The Summer Cottage

Dreams of happy days spent at the summer cottage on the lake, by the sea or in the woods, help many a happy cottage owner through the winter months. Then, all of a sudden, it's spring and the dreams merge into reality. Perhaps the dreams, too, included some planning for improvements to make the summer spot more comfortable and easier to care for during vacation days.

Time spent at a summer cottage should provide complete relaxation that will send the family back to business, school and home with new energy and pep. But too many can defeat this purpose by using old or inadequate bedding of that old "anything goes" type in a little summer place. This is a big mistake.

Good quality sleeping equipment is a small investment that pays big dividends. A large part of the pleasure of a little summer place for many owners is in having company. Yet crowded, inefficient sleeping arrangements often take the joy out of having guests, and take it out of the guests, too.

Double-duty sleeping equipment is one way of solving this problem, for it provides for restful, comfortable sleep at night, yet is attractive and serviceable for lounging during the day.

For example, combination mattress and springs on legs, slip-covers in sturdy, gay materials such as the new colorful or striped denims, can be used in well arrangements alone, in pairs, or as many as needed. They take up 230 square inches, less than a bed with a frame and, pushed against the wall, they leave the centre of the room free.

Sofa beds are good, too, and attractive during the day, when their mattress and springs are hidden, tell evidence of sleeping. Bunk beds always so popular with the younger set, can readily be built into the walls of cottage rooms.

For a very small cottage, roll-away beds really are a boon. Folded up during the day and rolled into a closet or other convenient place, they are instantly ready for duty. And they are just about the handiest emergency sleeping space when an extra large crowd turns up, as they can be set up wherever there is a vacant spot, and then quickly rolled away come morning.

Sleeping facilities are the most important furnishings in a vacation cottage if the utmost value is to be obtained from it, and so should receive first attention, even if something else seemingly more desirable has to go by the board for the time being.

Youngsters Provide Scholarship

Urges "All Out" Drive For American Visitors

NEEPAWA, Man. — Manitobans were urged to drop their attitude of complacency toward the tourist industry and "go all out" to encourage a greater flow of American visitors in future.

Speaking to the mid-year directors' meeting of the Manitoba Associated Chambers of Commerce, past president E. C. Cilliat, Winnipeg, told members they could learn much from tourist promotional activities in the U.S.

Promotional activities in many sections there, he said, had been developed to a "fine art", with wage-earners, industry and government agencies working together to their common advantage.

This year, Mr. Cilliat said, it had been estimated that Manitoba's tourist industry would be worth about $24,000,000. In comparison, Arizona, "an arid state with much less to offer than Manitoba," attracted some $150,000,000 in tourist money last year.

Class accommodation, good food, service and additional hard-surfaced roads, Mr. Cilliat said, would do much to boost the tourist volume. Completion of the Trans-Canada highway was described as "essential".

Changes In Farm Loan Act Outlined

OTTAWA.—Proposed changes in the Canadian Farm Loan act to relieve the farm loan board to make larger loans to farmers, were outlined in the commons by Finance Minister Abbott.

Mr. Abbott said at present the board cannot loan more than $5,000 on a first mortgage, and $6,000 on a first and second mortgage together. The new bill would raise these limits to $10,000 and $12,000 respectively.

The present act limits a first mortgage loan to 50 per cent. of the actual value of land and buildings, and buildings are considered only to the extent they add to the value of the land as farm land, he continued.

The new bill will increase the limit on a first mortgage loan to 60 per cent., and the limit of the first and second mortgage together to 70 per cent. of the value of the security in those provinces where no such security can be taken, he said.

The board's operation will also be enlarged by allowing second mortgage loans to be made to purchase land, Mr. Abbott said. He felt experience had shown the restriction against such use, in the present act, could be safely removed.

An amendment will be set provides for the establishment of an advisory board to discuss with the farm loan board such matters as lending policies, principles underlying valuation of farm property, and conditions affecting lending policy on loans, Mr. Abbott continued.

Another amendment would transfer auditing the board's accounts from a private firm to the auditor general of Canada.

Mr. Abbott told G. M. Murray (L—Cariboo) the board's losses had been very small.

Mr. Murray said the board should be more generous, and make provisions for a little loan. In the Peace River country few loans were made because of the unwillingness of the board to take any chances, he claimed. So many papers had to be signed by farmers getting a loan, that many of them felt it was not worth the effort, he declared.

Some three billion tons of land material are dumped into the world's oceans every year by rivers, winds and other agencies.

Wildmere Winks

Mr. Dondly is still a patient in the hospital and is not yet able to sit up. His many friends and neighbors are having a 'bee' on Wednesday this week to do his summerfallowing for him. Jeff Martin finished up his combining last week. All these good deeds will go a long way in helping him back to health again. Mrs. Dondly's mother and dad from southern Alberta are staying with her while her husband is ill.

A surprise shower was held at Ganton school last Tuesday evening for Ruby Thomsen, a bride-to-be of this week. A good crowd turned out and Mrs. Osbaldeston, teacher at Ganton, had the table and blackboard very nicely fixed up with a lace cloth and pink and white streamers falling from ceiling bells. She also had many games and contests planned to fill in the evening. Then the gifts were brought in and Ruby was asked to come forward. Through a misunderstanding the groom-to-be did not come to the shower so Doris Thomsen helped her enjoy open the gifts. She got a lovely assortment and hardly any duplicates which is remarkable in such a number. The gifts were piled in a decorated clothes basket and when all were out a card said the basket was from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lysons. A lovely lunch was served after and all sang Shier's 'A Jolly Good Fellow' with Ruby in the centre. We all wish this young couple many years of happiness. Ruby and Arnold Ruud are to be married this Thursday in Vermilion. After a honeymoon they will settle in Triangle district. Their wedding dance is in Ganton school on June 20th.

We were so pleased to see such a nice crowd out to church on Sunday, 25 being present. Mr. Dawe has visited almost every family in our district. Next Sunday church is to be at 7.30 in the evening to give the ball players a chance to attend. We hope to see you all there folks. Mr. Dawe is very sincere in his work and he sang 'Just a Stranger in Galilee' which was well worth going to church to hear.

The Wildmere school's girls' and girls' club dance held at Basswood last Friday was well attended and a good time was had by everyone. Mr. Lysons of Tolland held the lucky ticket on the big tray. Mrs. Garnett was M.C. Jeff and Freddie Martin and Louise Tondu furnished the music.

Mrs. W. J. Garnett, sons Noel and Roy and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Garnett all of Basswood, journeyed to Edmonton last Thursday to attend Margaret Gilbertson's wedding. They really enjoyed it very much, only a drizzly rain made it rather unpleasant for the bride and her attendants. Margaret lived for some years in Basswood before moving to Edmonton. After finishing school she worked in a bank, later going to the coast where she also worked in the bank. After a short honeymoon the couple will reside at Cloverdale, B.C. Her sisters Mary and Jean also of the east were here for her wedding. Her name now is Mrs. J. W. Smith, folks. Thanks so much for the nice piece of wedding cake Mary sent. It really was grand. All your friends and neighbors wish you and your husband many years of happiness.

In the first of the league ball games Basswood Tigers defeated the Buffalo Coulee boys 15-6 on Sunday afternoon on their home grounds. Next Sunday Basswood plays Triangle at Triangle.

Miss Hada Rudeld of Mannville is helping Mrs. Struthers for a few days before going to work for Mrs. Gibson of Basswood for the summer.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Rendell were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Martin and Doreen at the Struthers' home.

Baillie Holte called for a few minutes after church on Sunday at the Wallingtons before going to play ball.

The writer and family visited a short while on Saturday evening at the Fadden home. Mrs. Fadden had just received 234 chicks from her son Bertie in Edmonton. He works for the Pringle Hatchery there.

The writer had a card from Mrs. H. Howard who is visiting her daughter Evelyn in New York. Evelyn gets the Standard so she keeps up with all the Wildmere news.

WHY TEACH ?

By Dr. Stanley Clarke, Faculty of Education — for Alberta School Trustees' Assn'n

Everybody wants short hours, high pay, quick promotions, easy work and holidays with pay. If you are looking for a job like that, remember so is everybody else. If you find such a job, you'll be lucky! If you find two, let us know about the other one.

Teaching as a career gives one some degree of each of these desired job qualities. The actual working hours are short not over 25 per week. Additional work is always self-entailed in the sense that you can mark the assignments after 4:00 o'clock or after supper — you can have a choice. The pay is not as high to start as is that of some other jobs, but it keeps rising with experience. For a young person considering a life work, that factor also is often neglected and is very important. Your parents will tell you how short four or five years between the ages of 20 and 25 look from their perspective. To the young person of 19 it seems like all of time!

As anyone knows, pay and hours of work aren't everything about a job. Do you like to be your own boss? Even in o'clock until 4 every day, a classroom teacher is. She decides what to do, how to do it better, when to do it. There isn't anybody peering down her neck and saying: "Now do this", or "Just stop that work you are doing and come over here". Besides being her own boss a teacher learns how to work with people, especially with children. The training teachers get is the best of training for motherhood. The harried parent who wonders what to do next often envies the teacher who can deal with 30 or 40 of these human dynamos. Any man is smart to choose a girl with such training for his wife.

So, why teach? Because you serve society as a teacher, because twenty years from now your influence on young lives will pay off, because it is work which requires intuitive and intelligence. If you care only for a big starting pay cheque, no little future prospects, with risky and itinerant employment, look at teaching as a job. But if you would like to improve yourself as a person and as a possible parent, if you would like to leave your mark on the world, indelibly printed in the lives of young people, then choose teaching as a career.

Bowtell Bulletin

Deepest sympathy is extended to the Gannon family on the passing of a loving father and grandfather — Mr. Neil McGee. Sympathy also to the Dupuis family at Islay who have been bereaved by the death of a loving wife and mother. Two more of our well known old timers who have gone to their well earned rest.

The Boradaile phone line was out of order for a few days due to twisted wires near Mr. Mullan's farm. This was fixed by Jim Ronaghan and Leslie Sherwood.

Twenty-eight attended the service at Pleasant Valley after which everyone enjoyed a nice picnic. Fred Plapp presented Canon and Mrs. Trupe with a purse of money. The Canon thanked everyone and said that he had enjoyed every minute of the past five years spent in this district and it will be the last which Canon Trupe conducts here.

Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Dedelly and Mrs. Perkins journeyed to the Knutson home May 20th to help the latter celebrate her birthday. It was also Mrs. Harrison's and Tom Sherwood's natal day. The writer was unable to be present due to having visitors, Mrs. Cummings and Ode Fenton.

By the time this appears in print the Jones family hope to be finished installing the phone.

Birthdays seem to be in the news this week as anniversaries of Mr. Semenuik, Ralph Lind, Leslie Sherwood, Christie Clark all occur on June 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnston have leased the elevator at Boradaile and gone to Round Hill.

Mrs. Ronaghan from Mr. Jones' Mrs. Plapp, Isabel and Mrs. Sherwood all enjoyed an afternoon spent at the Robinson home on Friday.

Syme Woodruff is a patient in the Vermilion hospital.

The Johnston family were visitors to Lavoy and Vegreville last week. Mrs. T. Robinson was a visitor at the Repp home recently. Fred Plapp and Jim Repp were in Edmonton Tuesday.

Mr. Repp had the misfortune to have a cow killed on the railway tracks recently.

The Blagas family spent Sunday at Lake Whitney bringing some spruce trees home.

A new roof is being put on the barn at Charlie Pearmain's.

The writer enjoyed a chat with members of the Canary-bird family and Mrs. Wallington. She was also pleased to meet for the first time Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Isley from the south.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark on the birth of a baby girl in the Vermilion hospital on June 1st.

Mrs. Worswan was a patient in the hospital for a few days this week.

Chatsworth Chatter

Crops are showing nice and green and quite even. The rain showers of Tuesday, 20th and Sunday 25th were very welcome but a general rain is needed now, though this locality is more fortunate than some others which haven't had any moisture throughout the entire spring.

We noticed some very brilliant sunrises on the morning of May 20th rather unusual at this time of year.

Our belated congratulations to Mrs. Florence Osbaldeston and to her pupil, Susan Wolters of Tolland on the opening of the essay award. Mrs. Osbaldeston is an ex-teacher of Chatsworth.

There were 35 out to church service on Sunday, 25th. The next service is to be held on Sunday, June 8th at 11 a.m. Following last Sunday's service a report was given by Mr. R. Good on last year's activities with an outline of this year's plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hutchinson and family of Calgary were visitors in Vermilion and district the week end of May 24th.

Scarlet fever is on the go through this district, a number of the children being down with it. It appears to be quite mild and lone of time at school seems to be the worst of it.

Miss Ryan is staying at Mrs. Steve Jacula's since there is scarlet fever at J. Thompson's.

Mr. Jones of Dewberry was a visitor to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. East for the May 24th week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sturt and family spent Sunday 18th visiting at the Herb Sturt home at Minburn.

HAULING — For your livestock, grain, coal or gravel hauling, phone Ken's Service 100 or 301. Full cargo insurance carried. Prompt, efficient service. 23xtf

Notice to Creditors and Claimants

IN THE ESTATE of Thomas Alexander Torrance, late of Vermilion, in the Province of Alberta, Farmer, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons having claims upon the estate of the above named, Thomas Alexander Torrance, who died on the 9th day of May A.D. 1952, are required to file with the undersigned by the 7th day of July A.D. 1952, a full statement duly verified of their claims and of any securities held by them, and that after that date the administratrix will distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to her knowledge.

Dated this 15th day of May, 1952.

JAMES McCORRY,
Ritscoty, Alberta,
Solicitor for the Administratrix. 46-7tc

Mrs. A. Ramsay and Allan of Glendonald, were visitors to the E. Thompson home last Sunday.

June and George Hosey of Edmonton visited with June's mother and brother on Saturday and Sunday, May 24th and 25th.

Mrs. Jack Mackenzie and children of Drayton Valley and Mrs. Barney Klashinsky and children of Vancouver, B.C., are visiting relatives in the town and district.

It is expected that the erection of the power line throughout this area will get under way next week.

The road across the grade north of E. Thompson's is in very bad condition and it is not advisable for motorists to travel this way now. It seems too bad that one spot like this should mar an otherwise good road.

Alberta's oil production is approaching 200,000 barrels a day. Oil reserves in this province are estimated to be around 1.5 billion barrels.

How "Skinny" Girls Get Lovely Curves
Gain 5 to 10 lbs. How Pep
Thousands who have put on solid rich weight before, now have shapely, attractive figures. The secret is their delicious, easy-to-take Vitamin-Mineral Concentrate. Their new-found curves prove how they get the most from the food they eat. Doctors say many people who are thin and underweight are only that way because they do not get enough vitamins and minerals from their daily meals. Yeast-Vite has proven how you, too, may get these vitamins.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harrington of Wanham, Alberta, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Edith, to Mr. Norman Ronald Mercier of Islay. The marriage will take place at the Holy Name Catholic church, Vermilion on June 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin of Vermilion announce the engagement of their daughter Constance May to Mr. Wilfrid R. Faubert of Windsor, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Faubert of Chatham, Ontario. The wedding will take place on June 14th, 1952, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Windsor, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs George Brown and Tom Brown, old time residents of the Ottawa district, left Monday morning by motor for Victoria, B.C. where they will make their future home. It might be noted that Tom homesteaded on the premises now occupied by the Vermilion school of agriculture. The departure of George and Tom breaks a link with the historic past of the town and district of Vermilion. A sister, Mrs. Sid Barwick is now resident in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Webb and their twin daughters have just returned from a holiday motor trip to Great Falls, Spokane and Banff.

Friends here will be interested to learn that a baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brinsombe at Westlock on May 27th. The little girl is being called Maureen Joyce, a sister for Alan aged 2. In September Gil will be teaching in one of the Edmonton public schools. He sends his best regards to all old friends and expects to visit here during the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hallwarth and daughter Evelyn of Athabasca spent last Thursday and Friday in Vermilion visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kuehn and family. Mrs. Hallwach and Mrs. Kuehn are sisters. From here the visitors went on to West Lock where they will see their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hill went to Gladsworth, Sask., last week end where they attended the wedding of Mr. Hill's only niece. Gladsworth is located some 60 miles south of Saskatoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Coma of Edmonton have returned to Vermilion to reside. Mr. Coma has accepted a position as mechanical staff of Geo. Webb's garage.

The Court allowed said disallowed and judgment was given the plaintiffs for the difference.

DEER LAKE DOINGS

Deer Lake pupils did exceptionally well at the track meet in Dewberry on Saturday, May 31st. Many ribbons were won and the school was highest in points. Congratulations to the children and teacher.

Mr and Mrs John Reid and family, Mr and Mrs. Jim Reid and Mrs. W. Styles of Athabasca took advantage of the long week end of May 24th and visited old friends and neighbors of this district, also Clandonald and Vermilion. Mrs. Styles left a subscription to the Standard as she said she likes to keep up with news from around to these parts. We hope they had a pleasant trip home Come again folks.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Geo Gilbert is improving in health and will soon be home

Mrs Philben was a recent visitor to Edmonton. She motored up with friends and spent a few days with her daughter and son-in-law and family Mr. and Mrs. H. Cagne.

The Deerwery W.I. held their annual picnic in Dewberry on Sunday June 1st. Despite the cold day there was a large attendance. The refreshment and bingo stalls were kept busy. The main attraction of course were the ball games. The Dewberry men's team held a large lead throughout the game. Congratulations to them and to Mr. John Anderson for his initiative in getting together a team in a short time. The majority of the players had not played for years.

Methinks a certain garage mechanic will have to charge his battery up as Mary and Elsie certainly gave him a thrill by not starting. They used it to 'raspberry' the opposing team and to cheer the Dewberry boys on. Mary Lou Nagy was the winner of a pair of sheets and pillow cases. The ladies of the C.W.L. would like to thank all who helped to make the picnic a success.

Our sincerest sympathy goes out to Mr Dupuit on the loss of his beloved wife. Also to the family on the loss of a loving mother. Mrs. Dupuit was our neighbor for many years before she and Mr. Dupuit retired to Islay. She was a good neighbor and was well liked in the district for her kindly ways.

Archbishop Barfoot Conducts Confirmation At Clandonald

Possibly the largest gathering of its kind in the history of St. Mary's Anglican church at Clandonald took place on Thursday last, the occasion being a visit by His Grace Archbishop Barfoot, Anglican Primate of All Canada, who received fifteen candidates for Confirmation. Those presented were from the parishes of Vermilion, Marwayne and Irwinville as well as Clandonald visiting clergy accompanied the Archbishop.

Following the impressive service a social gathering was held in the Orange hall where lunch was served and a very enjoyable time was spent meeting the visitors from the distant parishes. His Grace addressed the gathering informally and gave a very interesting talk outlining his plans for the next few months. These plans include trips to England, Germany, the U.S., Eastern Canada, and then to India where a new Diocese is being formally opened.

Visiting clergy with the Archbishop were Canon Tespe of Vermilion and Rev. N. Alcock. They along with the parish minister Rev. R. Cathcart, assisted with the service. Other ministers present were the Rev. Ford of Okotoks and the Rev. D. Jones of Edmonton.

United Church Scene Of Ruud-Thompson Wedding

On June 5th the United church, Vermilion, decorated with lilacs, iris, double poppies and bridal flowers, with white satin ribbon marking the guest pews, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Rev. C. W. McKay united in marriage Ruby Constance Thomson, eldest daughter of Mr. Chris Thomson of Tolland and Mr. Arnold Harry Ruud third eldest son of Mrs. Margaret Ruud of Tolland.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her away. She was radiant in a floor-length net over satin gown, with a lace tunic which had a round collar and tiny covered buttons the full length of the bodice. Her floor-length veil was nylon net with satin embroidery and was held in place by a net sequin and a cursage of white-carnations.

After the ceremony the bridal party journeyed to the college grounds where several pictures were taken.

At 4:30 p.m. twenty-three relatives sat down to a sumptuous turkey supper at the Brunswick hotel. The bride's table laid with a cream lace cloth was centred by a miniature bride and groom.

Later that evening the bride donned a blue grey gabardine suit with white accessories and a cursage of yellow carnations, and the happy couple left amid a shower of rice and confetti by bus for Jasper and Banff.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was gold emerald set earrings and a gold tie pin to the best man.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Ford, uncle and aunt of the bride from Edmonton.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Ruud will be at home on the groom's farm in the Triangle district.

Vermilion Air Cadets Win Flying Scholarships

Kenneth Caron and Henry Simonson Obtain High Standing in Training

By virtue of obtaining very high standing in written examinations, two members of Squadron 97, Vermilion Air Cadets have been selected for R.C.A.F. Scholarship Flying courses this summer. The cadets are Kenneth Caron and Henry Simonson. Besides having to obtain high marks in the final courses written, the boys had to pass a physical fitness examination. As a result of their prowess they will go to Edmonton on July 2nd and from then on to July 24th take an intensive flying course which will culminate in their eligibility for a private pilot's license. It is interesting to note that these boys will take their training from the Edmonton Flying club under the supervision of Maurice Fallow, a former Vermilion pilot.

There were 250 Air Cadets selected for these special training courses from a total of 800 who wrote the exams hoping to qualify. The top 250 were chosen and it is noteworthy that two of the successful boys should be from the Vermilion squadron, indicating very clearly the excellent quality of training received here. Officers commanding the squadron this year have been Stan Maryniuk and Jim Fisk. The latter has now moved to Maidstone.

Action-Packed Boxing Card This Friday

IN ARENA — STARTS AT 8:30 P.M.

An action packed boxing card has been planned by the Vermilion Amateur Boxing club to be held in the Vermilion arena on Friday evening commencing at 8:30.

The main bout features Herbie Little, a local boy, and Bob Paley of the Edmonton South Side Legion club in the 135 pound class. This will be a four round match and everyone is interested to see just how Herbie matches up with the well trained Edmonton fighter.

Two 135 pounders, Marv Little of town and J. Barnett, also from the South Side Legion club, will mix it up in 4 rounds. Both these youngsters love action so there will be lots of it in this encounter.

Coming from the Edmonton Boys' Boxing club is the provincial champion of the 90-pound class, Ronnie Paulain who will box 3 rounds with an opponent not yet selected.

The champion of the Alberta 145-pound amateur class, Walter Kozack, also of the South Side Legion club, is coming from the city and it is hoped that an opponent can be found for him. Watching him in action is a real treat. Another well known Edmonton fighter who hopes to be here that evening is Gordie Riddell.

Other items on the fight card are some blind fold boxing and a three round go between two boys in the 95-pound class, yet to be selected.

Alex Wynnyczuk, who along with the members of the Little family, has been responsible for injecting a lot of interest in boxing in Vermilion, says that there is plenty of room for more boys to learn the boxing game. Training is carried out in the arena gym every Wednesday evening and he is anxious that more local boys in all age groups turn out and see what it is all about.

In the meanwhile attend the fight card at the arena Friday evening and see fast, scientific boxing at its best

E. H. Buralngham and N. N. Hemiks are attending the annual convention of the Alberta Branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada which from Thursday to Saturday this week in Lethbridge. They plan to return home Sunday.

"GREEN ACRES"

Weeds Rob Soil of Moisture

When weeds are small they use only a small amount of soil moisture, but after they are two inches tall they use lots of it. The job of summer fallow is to conserve moisture for next years crop. Don't let the weeds rob the soil of its moisture now. Do the summerfallow early. Early cultivation is all that is needed to kill the small weeds.

Control the Accidents

Let's try hard not to have any farm accidents this year. Tipping of a tractor over on oneself or stick ing a foot into an uncovered gear is a poor way to break into the news. Accidents are mostly due to care lessness and are preventable. Be mostly due to lateness. Someone wouldn't be bothered to go around or to do something that endangers life or limb and then it happens

Safflower, a New Crop

Recently I had an enquiry about safflower a new oil seed crop. There is only one answer, it takes a longer growing season than we have here. Even at Leth bridge the season is seldom long enough to mature seed. We will have to wait until earlier varieties have been developed before we can grow Safflower here.

Congrats to Mr. Tucker

Another local Hereford breeder has bought a grand champion bull. This time it is Jack Tucker. Mr. Tucker bought Perrybank Brither 4th at the Lacombe bull sale the last week. The breeder was Butterfield Bros. of Ponoka. Congratulations are on bringing such a good bull to this district.

Wire Worm Damage

It is believed that part of the losses blamed on poor germination this year may be due to wire worm damage. Would farmers check their fields and if wire worms are present please let me know as I wish to make a survey of wire worm infested areas The wire worm is yellow and harder than most worms. In length they vary up to something that enlarges the end of the segment.

Second Crop Seeding

Many gardeners keep on seeding right up to July 1st or later. The second crop peas, beans, radish, lettuce, spinach, beets, carrots etc are ready to use often when the first crop is past its prime. Also carrots, beets, turnips, cabbage, etc. for winter storage, keep the best of seeded late.

Burglars Get Rich Haul From The Co-Op. Store

BREAK-IN SUNDAY A. M. WITH TRUCK

The first case of breaking, entering and robbery recorded here in many years resulted in burglars looting the Coop store and butcher shop of $493.20 The break-in was first briefly effected in the early hours of Sunday morning.

Entry was gained through a transom above the back door in the butcher shop. The shop till was forced open with a butcher's steel. The glass was broken out of the door between the butcher shop and department store to gain entrance there. The grocery till, dry goods till, and even an unused till in the office were all opened in the search for cash. The largest portion of the money was obtained from a desk drawer in the manager's office and belonged to the bulk gas sales department.

The thieves were interested in cash only and money orders and cheques were scattered about in profusion. About a half dozen packages of cigarettes were also taken.

$c to $1 Store Entered

The same night and possibly by the same gang, forcible entrance was made at the 5c to $1 store. About $10 in nickels, dimes and quarters, kept for change purposes were filched.

The thieves were evidently amateurs as they used whatever tools were handy to break open tills and doors.

RAIN AT LAST !

The very long dry spell which has lasted all spring was slightly broken on Friday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when .10, .27 and .08 of rainfall was recorded at the Dept. of Transport weather station.

High for the week was last Thursday with 72 and low was 38 on Saturday.

Generally speaking, crops are backward, pasture is poor and more rain is definitely needed.

Ethelwyn Notes

The Clandonald United Church W A meeting was held at the home of Mrs Onsness on June 5th with 11 members and 3 guests present. The annual meeting of the W.A. will be held in the church at Clandonald on June 19th at 7:30 p.m. Plan to have a record attendance at this meeting. The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harold Cooper July 3. Either at that meeting or in the near future Mrs. Onsness is going to teach the group how to dress a doll with milk fliters. Sounds crazy, doesn't it The result is a beautiful ornament

The long awaited day of the Kitscoty track meet arrived and all the jumping events and races were completed but only a few games of ball were played due to rain. The teams will play again commencing at 1 30 p m Saturday June 21st at Kitscoty. The Rye pupils made a good try but did not bring home any ribbons. They have yet to play ball however. The girls made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, the boys with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Sr.

The wind and dust storms of last week have made a sorry looking mess of some grain fields. The dust sifted into every tiny crack of the homes making a complete housecleaning necessary.

The sing-song Sunday evening at the United church in Clandonald was greatly enjoyed by everyone Thank you Mr Douglas

Wildmere Winks

On Tuesday evening last week Mrs. Gibson of Dewberry, Mrs. G. Crothers and Mrs. R. Martin of Wildmere were invited to a "Tupper Party" at Mrs. G. Harrison's of Battleview district. They enjoyed this very much. Wildmere and Sheawood will enjoy one in August.

A number of Wildmere-ites attended the wedding of Ruby and Arnold Rund held at the United church in Vermilion. It was a very pretty wedding and the bride was lovely in an all-white flowered dress with long veil. She entered the church on the arm of her father. Her sister Hazel was bridesmaid dressed in yellow nylon. After the wedding ceremony Miss Audrey Mix sang "I Love You Truly' very beautifully while the register was signed. The happy young couple shook hands with all and then pictures were taken. A reception was held later at the Brunswick hotel after which the bride and groom left on the bus for a short honeymoon.

We are very pleased to be able to say that Mr. Dently is now up once more, although he gets very tired at times. If he keeps improving he is to come home this week. His cousin is looking after the work at house.

Thursday, Robert Smith of Bassweood, Guy Whitlock of Wildmere and Ted Riley of Woodvale and town went fishing to Muriel and other lakes up north. Guy was the only lucky one, catching 7 fish. It was very windy day and it wasn't safe to go very far from shore in a row boat. All in all they really enjoyed the day's outing even if they did not get many fish.

Saturday evening Bill, Adam and Albert Smith, Cliff and Russell Crothers, Jas. Kennedy, Robert Martin, all of Wildmere, and Dave Hughes of Basswood and S. Lindroth of Rossville all journeyed to Long Lake for a week end fishing trip. They had a good day and some of them were caught, consequently many homes hereabouts had a feel of fresh fish. Thanks boys, they were lovely.

The Basswood-Triangle ball game was played last Wednesday evening at Triangle with the score in favor of Basswood. As no Umpire was on hand Mrs. R. Martin did a very good job officiating. Next Sunday afternoon Tolland plays Basswood on home grounds: Triangle plays on Monday, home grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Crothers took Hilda Kuledit to her home near Mannville on Monday. She had been helping Mrs. Crothers for a few days.

We are very pleased that there were fifty out to church Sunday evening. It was nice to see the little school ma's well filled, and no one was more pleased than Mr. Dawe. We noticed Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Seuffert from Vermilion. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sweeney and family of Vermilion. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clarke Jr. and family of Tripcancle, the Gibson family from Basswood and many others. Come again folks. Church next Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Visitors to the Wallington home on Sunday were Laurence Graham from north of Vermilion, Mr. and Mrs. A. Russell of Triangle, Burton Seale and son Jimmie of Battleview and while we were having supper Mr. Dawe came along. We were glad to have these folks. Mr. and Mrs. Rendell plan on having the Sunday morning to go to Van couver Island to reside in future.

We understand a couple of new homes are being built in our corner, namely Fred Haines and J. Wilson. Lloyd Howard is busy digging a new basement on Section 11 where he is moving his buildings.

The writer had chats recently with Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Hans Eyben and Lily, Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Sherwood.

Funniest thing heard: Our young nephew on seeing a mother duck trying to protect her little ones, said: "She had broken wings, and sore feet and everything!"

Mannville Church Is Scene of Pretty Bridal

MANZ—SMITH

The United church at Mannville was the scene of a pretty double-ring ceremony on Wednesday June 4th when Miss Pearl Jean Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Smith, became the bride of Mr. Morris Edward Manz, son of Mrs. E. Manz and the late Mr. Manz, all of Mannville.

Mixed lilacs and seasonal blossoms decorated the church for the ceremony, performed by Rev. Harold Penner.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with lace. Tiny self-covered buttons extended to the waistline. She wore a long lace veil and carried a bouquet of red roses. Her jewelry was the groom's gift, a necklace with earrings to match.

Mrs. Murray Rose was her sister's matron of honor wearing a blue taffeta frock trimmed with matching lace. Yellow carnations formed her bouquet.

Mr. Leonard Manz, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Malcolm Smith and Mr. Gerald Barr.

Miss Arlene Leitch played the wedding music. During the signing of the register Miss Maxine Leitch sang "Because".

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Smith wore a gray crepe afternoon dress with a white straw hat and pink roses en corsage.

The mother of the groom was dressed in a navy frock with navy accessories. Pinned at her shoulder was a corsage of pink roses.

Later about 50 guests attended a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, laid with a cloth of Queen Anne lace, was centred with a pillared, three-layer cake.

Mr. Bert Williams proposed a toast to the bride.

For travelling the bride changed to a beige frock with pink and brown accessories.

When they return from a honeymoon in Banff the newlyweds will make their home at Mannville.

Out of town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. David Pile, Marilyn and Bobby of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Alois Manz of Sedgewick, Saskatchewan and Mr. Raymond Manz of Berwyn

Margaret Gilholme Is City Bride

FORMER VERMILION GIRL

A pretty wedding was solemnized early one evening recently in Holy Trinity church when Miss Margaret Isabel Gilholme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilholme of Edmonton, became the bride of Mr. Jesse William Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Smith of Berrymoor.

Rev. W. M. Nalsby performed the ceremony in a setting of lilacs, potted plants and pink and white snapdragons.

Approaching the altar on her father's arm, the bride wore an ankle-length frock of snowy net over satin. A strapless model, it was modified with a brief net bolero. She wore a chapel veil and carried a prayer book garlanded with Sweetheart roses. The groom's gift, an opal pendant with earrings to match, was her only jewelry.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie Gilholme, bridesmaid, and her niece, Little Joan Lees, flower girl.

Miss Gilholme chose a cocktail-length pink lace gown with a hat to match. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

Best man was Mr. Guy Smith, Mr. J. Harkness and Mr. W. Cleator ushered the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gilholme wore a navy rose afternoon dress with navy and gray accessories. Pinned at her shoulder was a corsage of cream roses and mauve sweet peas.

Later 80 guests attended a reception held in the parish hall.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. W. Garnet and Mrs. D. Clayton.

For a honeymoon to Banff the bride donned a gray suit with pink and white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home in Cloverdale, B.C.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. H. Lock of Hazelton, B.C.; Mrs. D. Johnson of New Westminster, B.C. and Mrs. W. J. Garnett of Vermilion. —Edmonton Journal

If this column is long tonight, it's because we got a new typewriter!

Farm Women's Week

Farm Women's Week for this district will be held at the school of agriculture in Vermilion during the week of July 14th to 17th. One wonderful thing about it is that if you must bring a baby or small child, supervision during class hours is arranged for at no extra cost.

Accommodation is provided in the school dormitories at a charge of $7 per day for board and room. Children under six years may come for free, and a charge of $1.50 per day is made for children from 6 to 12 years. Write here for a pamphlet describing Farm Women's Week and for an application form.

A Good Idea

I saw the best idea for a climber for your peas. This climber was part of an old, worn fish net which was stretched between two poles along the row of peas. I believe you can buy used fish net if you shop around.

Tips on Stoves

For those of you who are being hooked up to electricity, here are a few points to remember when you buy your first electric stove.

All extra conveniences and gadgets increase the cost of the unit.

A well insulated oven should resound with a dull thud instead of a tinny sound when the door is struck. The lining of the oven should be baked enamel, preferably dark colored, and rust proof. Rounded corners will make your cleaning easier.

Doors and drawers should move easily without screeching.

The size of the range should suit your family's needs.

The top of the stove and the elements should be easy to clean. On the outside the edges should be rounded, no screw heads sticking out, and should have an attractive appearance.

The oven should have a means of temperature identification.

Advice to Parents

The modern parent is advised to take a child on his knee and reason with him. This is good advice provided the child is turned face down. (Good idea, sometimes, don't you think?)

Help for the Homemaker

If you're wondering how to make that slipcover, or why your cake fell, or how to can peas, anything to do with your house, then you should know that you can write to me, send a telegram, etc., and either ask me to come out to help you, or to write to you about your own special problem.

T. Eaton Awards

The T. Eaton Awards have been given to the Department of Agriculture sewing and decorating clubs for the year, 1950-51. The T. Eaton award is given to the top girl in the club who has not won it before, and the gift is given for club use until that club disbands. Then the wining may keep what they have won. Here are the winners in this district:

Chauvin — Aileen Pitman: Dunness—Marlene Clark: Blackfoot—Ruth MacAllister: Paradise Valley — Kathleen Swayne. Streamstown — Theresa Hebnire. Irma Irene Dootson. Neither Theresa nor Irene have received their award yet but they will soon.

"The die has now been cast"

An American manufacturer was planning to open a plant in Canada. He considered various locations and found what seemed a likely site. He talked to a local bank manager, got facts about the community and its facilities.

Some time later the company wrote to the banker:

"The die has now been cast. It is our intention to locate in S . . . We feel that it is well suited to our particular operation. You have been of great aid to us. Your accurate and rapid presentation of facts necessary to reach a decision was top-notch."

Such letters show how a branch bank serves not only its own depositors and other customers but how, by assisting business development, it benefits the whole community.

A Record Year

FOR SEVERAL YEARS Canadian farmers have been told that cash incomes for farm products have been reaching record peaks. This was true again in 1951 when the cash farm income was estimated to be $2,825,000,000, which was 27 per cent. more than the $2,219,600,000 earned in 1950. However, as has been the case in previous years we are reminded that farm operating costs and living costs were also up and so, while the cash income was high, the farmers had to pay correspondingly high prices for the goods and services which they required

Are Warnings Of A Decline

This year, the report on cash farm incomes in Canada, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics carried a warning that the report for 1952 might show a decline. In both January and February of the year, the price index for the sale of farm products was lower than for the corresponding months in 1951 and the unfortunate situation which has arisen in regard to the livestock trade will no doubt influence to some levels considerably. As in the case every year much still depend upon the crop which is harvested and on the markets

Second Only To Ontario

In 1951 the world demand for Canadian wheat was good and there was a firm market for Canadian cattle in the United States. Cash receipts from livestock and livestock products totalled $1,209,560,000 while the sale of wheat brought $474,989,000. Both these figures were higher than those for the previous year. Saskatchewan, with a total cash farm income of $626,000,000 ranked second to Ontario among all the provinces except Newfoundland for which there was no report. Alberta followed Saskatchewan with $470,400,000 and Manitoba had $286,700,000. The year 1951 marked a peak in cash income returns for Canadian farmers and the figure for the year was fourteen per cent. higher than that for the previous record year which was 1949. The record farm income has been in keeping with that in other industries but higher farm operating costs have accounted for a large part of the farmer's increased earnings. It is to be hoped that the present year's crops will be favourable and that they will help to keep farm income levels up in 1952.

Had Sores Over Legs Size of Silver Dollars

—Is Misery for 20 Years—

Read His Thankful Letter

Lod, Alberta and have received some letters about Zam-Buk. Everything I was told was true. I suffered from sores on my legs for twenty years. They were the size of silver dollars. I tried several remedies but they did not help me. A friend recommended Zam-Buk and after using the first box I could see some improvement. I have used seven boxes in all and the sores are completely healed. Thanks to Zam-Buk. Signed) Mrs. Mona Lod.

Superstitions Of Indians Hinder Medical Work

NORREG, Alta. — White man's medicine machine is fighting a stiff battle with Indian superstition among the Stony-Sarcee Tribes in this span-selly-settled area in the Rocky Mountains 130 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Members of the tribes have refused to appear to collect their annual $5 treaty money from the district Indian agent because of the x-ray machine and crew that come with him. Superstition has made them so afraid of the x-ray machine that not even $5 will induce them to "have their picture taken."

The superstitions may go back a long way but as time progresses they are given added strength by the Indian's refusal to accept medical treatment before it is too late.

The Indian parents generally refuse to allow an x-ray for their children until the ravages of tuberculosis are all too obvious. Then another argument often ensues before they let their children go to hospital.

By the time many receive treatment it is too late and they die in hospital a short time after admittance. Then the story is circulated that the children died because of the white men. The victim's death is never blamed on the Indian's reluctance to accept early and useful treatment.

Robert Battle superintendent of the Stony-Sarcee Indian Agency, said that on trips to the reservation without the x-ray machine the Indians are out at daybreak for their money

On this last trip, Battle had to drive around the reserve and encourage the Indians to come to the schoolroom to collect their money and "have their pictures taken."

By dint of much persuasion and fast talking, he convinced 35 of the 70 Indians on the reserve into submitting to the "ordeal" before the treaty-paying party left.

Man. And Sask. National Parks Becoming Popular

OTTAWA.—Riding Mountain park had the greatest numerical gain in visitors of any of Canada's national parks in the year ending March 31, 1952.

The government travel bureau said the playground had 334,000 visitors, up 53,482 over 280,627 the year before.

Only Banff, with 482,948, surpassed Riding Mountain.

Attendance at all national parks was 2,185,413, up nearly a quarter of a million of the previous year.

Prince Albert national park had 12,407 more visitors in the year ending March 31, 1952, than in the previous year, according to government travel bureau figures released.

The northern Saskatchewan playground attracted 85,200 visitors during the year, compared with 72,793 the year before.

In the same period, Fort Battleford drew 6,788 visitors. No figures were given for 1950-51.

Banff national park had the largest number of visitors in 1951-52 with 482,948. Riding Mountain park, Manitoba, was second with 334,000.

British Hen Passes Saskatchewan Hold Record Of Egg Laying

CHICHESTER, England. — A hen named Duplicate smashed a 25-year-old world record when she delivered her 360th egg in 150 days on Fisher Farm at North Mudham, near here.

Duplicate, aged 10 months, becomes world champion egg-layer, a title held since 1927 by Lady Victoria, a Canadian hen owned by the University of Saskatchewan.

"Lady" laid 358 eggs in 365 days.

Duplicate, a North Holland Blue, began to attract attention early this year by her phenomenal laying feats. In one week she produced 26 eggs, nearly four a day. One every 18 hours is considered good going even among the best layers.

Her fame spread and earlier this month she became a television performer when she was "interviewed" after beating the British egg record.

Mrs. Wilfred Hutchings and her farmer husband were flooded with congratulations when Duplicate laid her 360th egg. Even Duplicate joined in the celebrations—she laid another.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Veltch were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes, Miss Gloria Mc-Nally, Marilyn and Janice Hitman, all of Camrose.

During the past week we had to say goodbye to two families. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frederickesen returned to their home in Nebraska. They just moved up here last fall but the climate did not agree with Mrs. Frederickesen's health so they had to sell out and return to the U.S.A. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Elliott and Jim left by car for Vancouver where they plan in making their home. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott were real old timers in the Moyerton district and we are sorry they have made the move but wish them all kinds of luck in their new home.

Miss Helen Levitt who graduated from the Royal Alex hospital in Edmonton recently is spending her vacation with her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Levitt.

Miss Muriel Matheson returned to Vancouver on Saturday after spending her vacation with her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Matheson.

Friday our town was completely deserted as everyone made the trip to Kitscoty as that was the day of the big A.T.A. track meet. At the time of writing we have no word as to how the P.V. contingent made out but will have it for a later issue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Swayne have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Swayne and son William of Albuquerque, New Mexico. They arrived on Thursday coming by car.

The P.W.W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Stephenoff on Wednesday afternoon. It was decided to hold a strawberry social in the basement of the church on Thursday June 19th afternoon and evening after the show.

Glad to see Mrs. A. T. Goodwin home from her stay in the Lloydminster hospital. She is still not enjoying the best of health.

On Friday afternoon we had a fairly good rain and electric storm. We are in need however of a real good rain that will go down to the sub-soil moisture as it is getting very dry.

The Cockshutt Company put on a demonstration of tillage implements on the farm of Parke Dobson on Wednesday afternoon that was well attended by interested farmers. G Elliott of McLaughlin and E. Knor of Paradise Valley are the local agents for this company.

The Young People's society of the church got under way with an election meeting following the evening service on June 1st. After an explanation of the standard Young People's executive positions and program aids, the elections were carried out. Shirley Gunn as the new president now heads the elected body of nine officers. All district Young People are cordially invited to attend the meetings to be held each Sunday at 9 p.m.

On Wednesday June 4 the regular meeting of the W.A. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stenhoff. Mrs. George Venner chaired the meeting which carried out a very heavy business session.

Strawberry socials are soon to be held at both McLaughlin and Paradise Valley. These will be conducted by the Willing Workers and Women's Auxiliary respectively. Watch for notices regarding details of these coming events.

Sunday service will be held as usual, McLaughlin at 11:00 a.m., Paradise Valley at 7:30 p.m. Student minister Leonard F. Ling, B.A.

Clean Up Streets, Too

In this spring clean-up and beautification business we should not overlook municipal property, says The Financial Post. One of the worst offenders in untidiness is often the town government.

Private citizens plant trees and flowers, paint their fences and trim their grass only to have the whole effect spoiled by litter on streets and boulevard or in some vacant lot next door. Weeds grow high and rank on city-owned property or on property over which the city can exercise control. Garbage collectors leave a trail of papers, boxes and garbage pail lids behind them. Beautiful shade trees, sometimes whole streets of them, are slaughtered without consideration.

There is little hope of making any town or city really attractive unless the municipal authorities do their share.

CHEVROLET

The Only Fine Cars . . . PRICED SO LOW!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Centrapilot Power
Engine vibration and power impulses are "screened out" — isolated from driver and passengers. Engine rides flexibly suspended between new high-side mountings.

Extra Large Brakes
Chevrolet's Jumbo-Drum brakes, with their big 11-inch brake drums, apply more leverage for more stopping power. Bonded linings last up to twice as long.

Lowest Priced in Its Field!
Chevrolet, the Leader, is the lowest priced car in its field. It's Canada's most beautiful low-priced car — and Canada's most wonderful motor car value!

Lady In Waiting
Fisher Body sets the standard for styling and craftsmanship. And Fisher Unisteel construction guards you with solid all-steel strength.

Knee-Action Ride
Chevrolet's famous Knee-Action ride is now even softer, smoother. New shock absorber action smoothers bumps and jolts more quickly.

Wider Tread
Chevrolet measures a full 58½ inches between centres of rear wheels — providing a broader base to give more all-round stability.

6-Way Engine Lubrication
Chevrolet's exclusive engine lubricating system supplies exactly the right kind and amount of lubrication to each moving part.

Cast Iron Alloy Pistons
Pistons are formed from the same material as the cylinder block — expand and contract at the same rate. This reduces piston wear and oil consumption.

Gorgeous New Exterior Colors
Rich and beautiful color combinations . . . the most wonderful array in the entire low-price field. In De Luxe series, interiors and exteriors are distinctively color-matched.

Powerglide
Automatic Transmission
It's simpler with fewer parts to wear or require adjustment. It's smoother because oil does it all without complicated intermediate gears. Optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.

Powerful Valve-in-Head Engine
Teamed with Powerglide is the powerful Valve-in-Head engine, at outstanding performance in any field! This engine's Hydraulic-Hushed valve lifters are another important Chevrolet exclusive.

Curved One-Piece Windshield
Chevrolet offers curved glass with exclusive, shaded windshield-slanting. Tinted glass all round helps you drive more safely and comfortably. (Optional at extra cost).

The gift was presented at a dinner held at Rona Taylor's home. That same evening Canon Teape conducted service at Mannville. Incidentally, yours is the only newspaper that I have seen the photo in."

Joan Ethel Hubbard Married At Mannville

MANVILLE—A wedding of wide interest was solemnized in Christ church, Mannville, May 28th when Miss Joan Ethel Hubbard became the bride of Mr. Joseph Dowicki. Miss Hubbard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hubbard of Mannville. The groom is the son of Mr. John Dowicki and the late Mrs. Dowicki of Edmonton.

Rev. R. T. Clennett officiated, assisted by Rev. V. P. Cole of Tofield.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown. The double skirt of net over satin fell from an extended lace bodice with tiny pointed collar trimmed with seed pearls. A tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones supported her three-quarter length embroidered net veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Attending Miss Hubbard were Mrs. James Goehko and Miss Merna Summers. Mrs. Goehko wore a gown of aqua taffeta and Miss Summers was gowned in yellow net over taffeta. Matching picture-bow-length mittens and floral headpieces completed their attire. Cascade bouquets of red and yellow carnations respectively were carried by the attendants.

Flower girls were Karen Hubbard and Beatrice Chrysler, who wore identical floor-length frocks of pink taffeta, with matching floral headpieces and white lace mittens completing their costume. They carried white lace baskets of honeysuckle and white lilacs.

Best man was Mr. Neil Ellis of Edmonton. Messrs. Bruce Hubbard and Reginald Lugg acted as ushers.

Mrs. R. E. Goehko sang a solo, "The Lord's Prayer". Organist was Miss Carol Mercer.

At a reception in the L.O.L. hall following the ceremony, the bride's mother received in a floor length two-piece dress of navy and gray tricotine. She wore navy and pink accessories. Other special guests at the heart recess and stephanotis.

About 100 guests were present at the reception.

Tea pourers were Mrs. Harry Arnold, the bride's grandmother, and Mrs. F. A. Mercer, her great aunt. Mrs. Hubbard cut the wedding cake.

Mrs. H. W. A. Arnold seated the guests. Servitors were Misses Lynn Croft, Carol Mercer, Gladys Veitch, Joan Lynch, Joan Fisher, Barbara Chrysler, Norma McLuskie.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. V. P. Cole. Rev. R. T. Clennett also spoke before the groom's reply.

For travelling the bride wore a suit of navy sheen gabardine with white accessories.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. V. P. Cole of Tofield; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Clennet of Calgary, Mrs. Stanley Charkos, John and Stanley Jr. of Hannah; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chaplow, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ellis, all of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thompson of Lashburn, Sask., Mr. Arnold Ellis of Tofield, Mrs. Helmer Hansen and Mrs. Donald Symington of Viking.

High School Graduates Honored At Banquet, Dance

On Thursday evening, June 12, the Grade XI students of the Vermilion high school entertained the graduating class, their parents, the teaching staff and school officials at their annual get-together banquet and dance. A record number of 173 guests sat down to a delicious meal served by the St. Saviour's W.A.'ts in the Legion hall.

Attractive decorations centered around a Dutch motif. The table decorations consisted principally of figurines of Dutch couples in a background of colorful artificial tulips and windmills. The walls were adorned with large drawings of Dutch children, windmills and flowers.

Graduating Class

The principal guests, the graduating class, were divided into two groups, viz., those completing their high school diplomas this year and those in their first year of Grade XII. The graduates are: Kenneth Caron, Betty Cross, Donalda Daley, Ruby Eyben, Margaret Graham, Enid Holden, Jean Lee Betty Little, Wilfred Little, Marian Pilkie, Doris Sedivin, Berne Seuffert, Doreen Stone, Allan Sullivan and Jennie Underdown. The undergraduates are: Shirley Cross, Miles Dixon, Margaret Gow, Lily Magzis, Dorothy Marshall, Kenneth Miller, Alan Pilkie, James Milley and Annie Wawiuich. Other special guests at the evening were Mr. E. Farmer, examiner for the Toronto Conservatory of Music and Dr. A. W. Reeves, Superintendent of High Schools.

Toasts

Rev. E. Berg asked the blessing and Mr. M. F. Smallman, high school principal, acted as toastmaster.

Following the toast to the Queen, Miss Christina Morrison introduced each member of the graduating class by giving a short but interesting sketch of his or her part in our school life.

The toast to the graduates was ably proposed by Miss Anne Martin who referred mainly to the basic education that the class has now completed with all their trials in the process, and extended the best wishes of all present to the class of 1952. In his reply for the Grade XII class, Mr. Allan Sullivan looked ahead to the possible uses they would make of this knowledge, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ellis, all of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thompson of Lashburn, Sask., Mr. Arnold Ellis of Tofield, Mrs. Helmer Hansen and Mrs. Donald Symington of Viking.

Awards

One of the most interesting features of the evening for the students was presentation of awards by Mr. Smallman. The following students who have obtained 25 points have earned their crests: Jean Kibblewhite, Edith Brown, Jaqueline Carrol, Helen Nelson, Doris Schmidt, Shirley Taylor, Esther Simonsen, Louise Wilson, Jim Adam, Larry Kelso, Jerry Lillies, Margaret Graham, Enid Holden, Allen Pilkie, Doreen Stone, Jack Barr, Stewart Cooper, Stewart Cooper, Helen Davies, Helen Adam, Hazel Barr, Keitha Dawson, Vivio Adagna, Anne Stewart, Bob Barr, Lillian Semeniuk, Victoria Boruchan, Lois Herzog, Elizabeth Kuzek and Rosalyn Little. Wings were awarded to the following students who have obtained 50 points: Jean Kibblewhite, Bob Bentley, Doris Schmidt, Janet Wilson, Catherine Barr, Joan Maxwell, Gwen Lyons, John Stewart, Ken Caron, Betty Cross, Miles Dixon, Betty Little, Peter Kupin, Doreen Scott and Stewart Cooper. Bars, representing an assessing of 75 points, went to: Bob Bentley, Bev Beake, Noreen Dougan, Betty Kibblewhite, Edward Lyons, Christina Morrison, John Stewart, Hugh Shepherd, Shirley Sutherland, Shirley Cross, Wilfred Little, Berna Seuffert and Gordon Scott.

The following students received pins representing an accomplishment of the total of 100 points: Bob Bentley, Rex Beake, Edward Lyons, Anne Martin, Hugh Shepherd, Marian Pilkie, Berna Seuffert and Shirley Sutherland.

Miss Anne Martin and Miss Betty Bentley each received the two major awards, school rings for having amassed a total of 125 points and school sweaters for 150 points or over.

Commercial prizes consisted of a shorthand pin given to Miss Donalda Daley for having a speed of 100 words per minute and typing pin given to Jim Miller, Betty Little, Berna Seuffert and Marjorie Smith, for having a speed of 40 words per minute.

Miss B.P.D.E. Scholarship

The winner of the Elks' award of $25 for being the best general all-around student in Grade IX for the 1951-52 term was Miss Jean Kibblewhite. The award was presented to her in a few well chosen words by Mr. Gordon Ross, a prominent member of the local B.P.O.E., as he congratulated Jean on her exceptional work this year.

Misses Betty Bentley and Noreen Dougan played a piano duet, Schubert's Military March, which was very well received by the audience.

Valedictorian Class

Miss Enid Holden, the class valedictorian, gave the farewell address on behalf of the graduating class. She looked back over the years and reviewed some of the memories of high school and then turned to the future as she expressed her hope that the students would be well equipped to uphold our democratic way of life.

Representing the Grade XII students, Miss Margaret Graham presented Miss Knapp with a bouquet of roses to show their appreciation for her efforts in organizing the graduation ceremonies.

On behalf of the boats of the evening, Miss Shirley Sutherland presented Miss Billie Pilkie with a bouquet of mixed flowers. She thanked her for all her help and encouragement in various school activities, including preparations for this banquet and other banquets for the past and for school carnivals and social events.

Dr. Reeves, Guest Speaker

Dr. A. W. Reeves, guest speaker, delivered a very interesting address on the general theme of maturity. In it, he reminded the graduates that from now on they will have to make their own decisions, that they should think clearly in doing so and that they will rely less and less on their parents and teachers. They should weigh matters carefully before acting even though it takes much time. Especially, he advised them to consider most thoughtfully the choice of a vocation. As an example of the result of years of careful thinking and planning and cooperation, he mentioned the use of the facilities at the disposal of agriculture here in Vermilion that our own school children will make before long next fall.

The banquet program was concluded by the music class singing 'Steal Away'.

Enjoyable Dance

A dance followed at the Elks hall where a good crowd attended. The Inman orchestra with the High School orchestra for part time provided the music for several novelty and ordinary dances well enjoyed by all.

Wildmere F. U. A. Discusses Production Tax At Meeting

TO ORGANIZE CIVIL DEFENCE CLASSES

The members were all disappointed that Mr. George Martin couldn't get the pictures of civil defense to show at the meeting but it was decided that the necessary classes be organized. The writer suggested that the W.I. will cooperate.

A production tax in lieu of the present royalties was discussed at length. After being tossed about for some time the idea was accepted in principal by the group by a small majority. It was felt by some present that not only would it save bookkeeping and worry, but give everyone a chance to pay their share of the national budget.

Mr. Jas. Wallington, councillor for this division, was then called upon to report on the action taken by the council of Vermilion River in the proposed seed cleaning plant, also his program on road construction, which he did very ably and to the satisfaction of all present.

The district F. U. A. convention this year will be held in Wainwright on July 4th. Mr. R. Osterburg, Mr. L. Alexander, Mr. A. Smith and Mr. B. Holte were chosen as delegates. A community picnic by the F.U.A. W.I. and curling club was then discussed but no action taken. What about it folks?

Mr. George Martin has agreed to show the civil defense pictures as soon as they are available and will announce the date in the Standard. Watch for it and don't forget to come out and hear your delegates on July 9th.

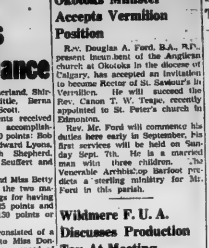
S. C. Heckbert Named To High Masonic Post



His Worship Mayor S. Carl Heckbert was named as a Grand Warden of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Alberta at the annual communication of that organization in Edmonton during the past week and is now directly in line to succeed to the position of Grand Master of the Order which has a membership approximating twenty thousand in the Province of Alberta.

Mr. Heckbert has been a member of the fraternity for some 26 years having joined in the province of New Brunswick shortly after his primary term overseas service in the First Great war. He has been active in Masonic circles in the Province of Alberta for many years. The new officer was for 8 years Provincial Grand Master of the Canadian Legion and a member of the executive of the Dominion Command of the Legion for a similar period.

He has been twice President of the Western Fairs Association which administers the affairs of all B class fairs in Western Canada and has also served as President of the Alberta B Fairs association. His experience in these administrative positions will doubtless stand him in good stead in the work of th Masonic Order in Alberta.

For some time it has been felt desirable to have a senior officer of the fraternity in north-eastern Alberta and at the recent elections in Edmonton it was notable that several hundred members converged on that city to support their candidate. Members of the Vermilion and nearby lodges are gratified to have direct representation on the central body and citizens generally will join in extending congratulations in connection with this high honor.

M.D. Councillors Feted By Board

GUESTS AT LUNCHEON

The reeve, councillors and secretary at Vermilion River municipal council were guests of the Board of Trade at the monday dinner meeting Wednesday.

President G. W. Sutherland was in the chair and after welcoming the guests called upon District Agriculturist Buckingham to introduce them one by one. Before doing so Mr. Buckingham remarked that the councillors of rural municipalities gave great service to the country, far beyond the call of actual duty and certainly much greater than any amount paid them. It was clear too that Vermilion River was fortunate in having a very progressive council as they had many firsts to their credit included in these were first in purebred sire area, Bang- Disease Restricted area TB Restricted area. Other marks of progress were the Manyawne Seed Cleaning plant and the organization of a record at Vermilion, and the Health Unit which will soon begin to function.

Mr. Buckingham also added that Vermilion River was the largest municipality in the province based for as assessment and number of farmers were concerned

Reeve Jack Leighton replied thanking the Board of Trade for their hospitality and Mr. Buckingham for his kind remarks. Councillor George Lawrence joined with Mr. Leighton in expressing appreciation to the Board.

The visitors present were Reeve Jack Leighton, Councillors Carl Beistelm, Jim Wallington Paddy McGuigan, George Lawrence, Arthur Clerk and Jack Rose, and secretary, Tom Wilson.

30-1

Every Bout Filled With Action

Fight Card Much Enjoyed

The boxing card presented in the arena to the Vermilion Amateur Boxing club saw some of the best amateur boxers in the province in action in a local ring. It also provided a splendid opportunity for the fans to see how the best mitt artists here stood up with the topnotchers.

Tex Vermilion and district fans appreciated the fight card as arranged by Alex Wynnyczuk and amply shown when the four sections of portable bleacher seats moved into the arena for the over seven were quickly filled, other seats were rushe'l in but still quite a number were left standing.

Refereeing several of the bouts was Walter Kowack provincial amateur champion of the 145 pounds class. Judging was done by the referee Jim Parsons of Edmonton, Bill Sutherland and Herb Mc-Phee in the last bout.

Dr. Ben King acted as announcer and in his opening remarks paid a tribute to Mr. Wynnyczuk for starting the boxing club and for securing any boy or young man interested in the art. It provided a healthful and fine recreation

The first number saw six boys fight through two rounds blindfolded. This was a scream for the spectators even if some of the scrappers found the going rather tough when beset simultaneously by two or three swinging opponents. The boys were Ronald Martinez, Doug Hessam, George Whitcher Peter Koplin, Bob Hemmaway and Dennis Beaudoin. Mr. A. M West of Craig's presented each of the boys with a tie.

Operatic Bout

The first bout saw neat punching Wilf Little, 150 pounds, win a decision over Peter Toner, 154 pounds, in a spirited and lively encounter. Wilf had a little advantage in reach and experience over Peter and displayed the deadliest left hand seen during the evening. Walter Kowack refereed.

Alberta Champ in Action

The second bout featured Ronnie Paulais of the Edmonton Boys' Boxing club, provincial champion of the 85 pound class, and Frank Grenabaid of the South Side Legion. These two little fellows displayed real boxing ability, footwork, punching know-how and cool-headedness. It was a real treat to see them and no one watching the bout had any doubts about the value of the training in muscular coordination, clear-thinking ability and evenness of temper. Paulais, quite a bit younger, won the decision by a narrow margin.

Exhibition Bout

Mary Little of Vermilion and Alcivin Barnett of Edmonton, 120 and 135 pounds respectively, boxed an exhibition due to the fact that they were in different age groups. Mary is only 11 but gave his 22-year-old opponent all he could handle to hold his own.

Main Bout to Bob Paley

The headline bout brought 160 pound Bob Paley of Edmonton against Vermilion's Herb Little, 155. Paley came from the Edmonton South Side club. The bout would have been a headliner on any card and the fans saw four rounds of rugged boxing, crammed with action throughout. Paley won a close decision.

Wins Special Awards

A special award for outstanding performance and good sportsmanship was made to Mary Little by Alex Wynnyczuk's Men's Wear of Edmonton. This was a sport sweater. The award was made by the judges at the end of the evening. Mary's also gave this young boxer a fine shirt.

School Trustees To Meet At Marwayne

(From Islay News)

On June 28th in Marwayne and commencing at 10:30 a.m. is the Trustees' convention for the Vermilion school division. If you have never attended one, come this year and hear what the trustees talk about. If you have suggestions, and there are plenty of them heard on the street and in a round about way, come and make them known. Do you care what kind of a school your child attends? The qualities of the teacher? How much tax you pay? Surely you care about the tax anyway. Next year the convention could be held at Islay, if Islay people attend and extend an invitation.

New Style Cars .

Instead of minor face-lifting previously planned on 1963 models talk in the States is that there will be some major restyling and at least four new engines, reports The Financial Post.

Competition is said to have dictated the revised planning. Sales are not as good as expected. Manufacturers who have made no major change since 1960, don't want Ford and the so-called independents with new looks to get a head start in the 1963 sales race.

Dewberry News

Another summer camp is planned at Hardisty Lake and Dewberry Local F.U.A. are sponsoring two young people who will have their registration paid by the Local. Eugene Maitzie and Roger Lamp have been chosen to go with alternates Bob and Joyce Parker.

Our best wishes for many happy years are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hendley Demuth (nee Anita Ritt) who were married here recently. A very enjoyable wedding dance was held.

Yes Sir! Cowboys are building regular bucking outfits in preparation for a stampede to be held on the Vernon Rexet farm on Tuesday, June 26th.

The biggest fish story belongs to Alf Redman and Martin Bye who fought a big dead stump for a half hour thinking they had hooked a fish. It happened somewhere in the Ashmont district.

Farmers' Picnic Attended

About 1000 people were on hand for the day-late Farmers' picnic. A very enjoyable time was spent while all the gate receipts paid out in prizes. It takes a good booth to make a picnic a success and special praise to Mrs. U. McMullen and Don Mathison head conveners for such Marwayne, Verberly, Clandonald, Riverton and two Greenlawn F. U. A. organizations all worked together to arrange the booth and a program of sports. Winners in baseball, Dewberry Girls' softball, Dewberry. Men's softball, Clandonald bonus.

Rains have been very welcome and will now sprout late grain. Some wheat fields are 3 weeks behind last year. Late grain has been very patchy. Moths are leaving trees here much the same as the caterpillar plague in the late 20's.

Congratulations are in order to Mr and Mrs. Carl Bondi to whom a daughter was born at the Vermilion hospital. Mr. Bondi is a local elevator employee.

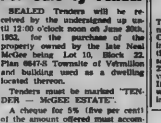
OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SLEEPWALKER

Carol Said, "A Man in Love With Me Will Become a Good Money Thinger."

By HELEN BEAL



TACEY sat opposite each other. She picked up a spool of linen thread the sewing box. The scissors made a small sound. A needle, quickly threaded, was inspirationless in the bright blue cloth. He looked up over his newspaper and tapped his pipe gently against the arm of the chair.

The light from the flame played across her face. He observed the way it accentuated the high cheekbone and the highlights of her hair. The tense line of her mouth and small furrows between the widely spaced eyes gave her face an aggressive that was not quite familiar to him. He watched her, not bothering to pick up his paper again.

The clock on the mantelpiece ticked steadily. It made a sharp, pleasant sound in the quiet room. She glanced up at his frequently.

"Julie," he said, gently, leaning forward so that his strong, rather irregular features were marked by the light of the flame, "you dislike that clock, don't you?"

"Of course not, Carl," she said. "Why should I? It's a beautiful clock."

"Do you know what I'd do with it if I were you?"

"What?" she asked, knotting a bit of thread.

"Put it out of my sight once and for all."

"But why?"

"It seems to have a peculiar effect on you. I'd like you to get rid of it."

"Wouldn't that be rather foolish?" "I don't think so," he said, slowly refilling his pipe.

"He still don't know who sent it to me," she said. "No card was enclosed."

Back to think of it, there wasn't a card," he said.

Only there had been one. He remembered the morning the clock arrived. Fourteen cards had been done on the package. It was characteristic of Anne Haile to send something with postage due. And there was another in the package which read: "Happy anniversary to an upand-coming young lawyer and his wife. May you build much happiness together." Possibly the entire difficulty lay in the fact that Anne Haile had aspired to be a great actress. She had, in fact, even achieved some small success in her chosen profession. Only she hated giving up any part she had ever played—including himself as one of her potential leading men.

There had been just time enough to slip the card in his pocket when Julie walked into the room. He was certain he had convinced her the clock was probably from an old friend or a distant relative who had neglected the formality of enclosing a message. It was the second time Anne had sent them a gift on their anniversary. He had tolerated the first, elegant marble book-ends with his customary good humor. Julie had insisted upon keeping them. She knew all about Anne Haile because she had told her; and she knew he no longer gave her a second thought because he had told her that, too. But now, after two years, the gift of an expensive clock was contrived to mean more than sheer impertinence.

"Julie," he said, attempting to break up the strained conversation, "how about some coffee and a snack of something?"

"I'll join you," she said, tossing the scissors and spool of thread into the quilted basket.

"Would you like to share a little drink with me?" he asked, helping himself to cheese and crackers.

"What is it?" she asked, still absorbed in her own thoughts.

"You walk in your sleep."

She sat motionless, her hands in her lap. "I haven't done that in years, Carl. Not since I was a child. When—"

"Last night and a few nights before that," he said.

"How far did I go?"

"The living room. Then back to bed."

"What did I do?"

"Nothing in particular," he said, after a moment's hesitation. "Why didn't you wake me?"

"I thought I might frighten you. I suppose," he said casually, "that something happens when you're worried about something. Would you like to tell me about it? We've never kept anything from each other."

"There isn't a thing bothering me," she said simply.

"All right, Julie. Have it your way. I just thought I'd try to help."

"Thank you, Carl," she said softly, a tension in her sensitive face again. In a little while she got up and walked to the door.

It was almost four the next morning when he heard her turn and get out of bed.

She walked slowly, with an unsteady sense of ease, till she reached the fireplace. A faint glow still lingered in the long ones subdued logs. She moved cautiously, feeling along the mantelpiece.

Finally, she touched the clock. Her fingers found the edge of the frame.

"Julie!"

She started to talk but not in response to her name which he had just spoken. He stood still and listened. Then, very slowly, she began to walk back to the bedroom . . .

The crash was sharp and loud. He heard her stumble against a chair. For a moment, he thought she had fallen.

"Carl—"

"Don't get excited Julie. You'll be all right in a minute."

"What happened?"

"You walked in your sleep again." "Oh, no, Carl! It frightens me to even think about it."

"I don't believe it's going to happen again."

"But the crash—"

"Incidental," he said, leading her back to the fireplace after switching on the light

"I didn't, Carl!" The clock lay smashed to bits, small pieces of glass shattered against the log. "It was such a lovely clock. I couldn't possibly have been as heartless as all that."

"You talked in your sleep, too." She looked almost angelic in the small harvest of bright lamplight. "What did I say?"

"Four simple words: 'Stop trying, Anne Haile'."

Carl, how did you guess that I know Anne Haile sent us the clock?"

"A man in love with his wife knows a great many things," he said gravely. "Remember that." He didn't bother to tell her, though, that he had taken the clock from her and thrown it in the fireplace himself. "I hope this is my last offense," she said.

"And Anne Haile's," he added.

He would never know she returned his final kiss with a slight touch of guilt on her conscience. Because this had been one time she really hadn't walked in her sleep; to even the score, she had planned the very thing she had just accomplished with such skilled prowess.

World's Wheat Carryover Less Than '51

OTTAWA — The world's four major wheat-producing nations had approximately 745,400,000 bushels of the grain on hand for carryover or export.

The total supplies were 18 per cent, below the 908,700,000 bushels of last year.

Canada's supplies were larger than in 1951, at 384,100,000 bushels against 365,200,000.

The bureau of statistics said it was still too early in the season for an overall appraisal of current world wheat crop prospects, but "several factors affecting the potential size of the 1952 crop are already evident."

Based on conditions at the beginning of last month the bureau said, the U.S. winter wheat crop was estimated at 946,000,000 bushels 53 per cent larger than the 645,000,000 harvested in 1951.

In Ontario, where most of Canada's winter wheat is grown acreage this year was estimated at 640,000 against 1951's 702,000.

In Argentina and Australia farmers were being encouraged to raise production to former levels, the bureau said. In Argentina the encouragement was in the form of sharply increased guaranteed prices.

Seeding to most crops was to take place in the generally favorable conditions the bureau said.

Calgary Man Operates A Most Unusual Bird Sanctuary

Situated in Midst of the Industrial Area Consisting of Docks Drawn 7nd City Noise

CALGARY —George Pickering of Calgary considers himself a "brother to the old wild goose". Sole owner and operator of one of Canada's most unusual bird sanctuaries, he has devoted 24 years of his life to the care of wild fowl.

From a tiny plot back in 1926, Mr. Pickering has built the Inglewood Bird Sanctuary into a 400-acre training ground for Eden, tying entirely within the city limits.

Visitors to Calgary are always amazed to find the thriving sanctuary in the midst of heavy industry. A railroad runs beside the east gate. An oil refinery is within a stone's throw But inside the fence calm holds as drowned out by the quack-ing of ducks and the rustling of wings

The sanctuary includes two large islands, a peninsula, a 1½-mile stretch of the Bow river, enough land to lay out a golf course and a spring-fed lake which keeps the temperature of the water at exactly 45 degrees the year around.

Mr Pickering a former Alberta government fisheries employee, is the fond "father" of 30,000 birds which visit his haven each year and others which are merely boarders.

"Around Christmas time you can't see the water for the birds," says the 66-year-old naturalist.

Some of the birds have returned to the same nest for the last 15 years.

Mr. Pickering tells a "mother goose" story about one bird who hatched her brood on mother's day twice in three years. She chooses the appropriate day two years ago Last year she hatched her eggs a day before mother's day. But this year she was back on schedule

Every Sunday afternoon, rain or shine, hundreds of visitors flock to the banks of the sanctuary streams to feed bags of crumbs and biscuits. Since it was established, more than 200,006 persons have visited the lake. Teachers and pupils, nimrods, bird-watchers and nature lovers of all kinds are regular visitors.

Washing along the shores one can see more than 18 different kinds of ducks and geese, to say nothing of swans, pheasants and partridges. There are even a few stately peacocks strutting around

For a number of years, Mr. Pickering has conducted experiments in cross-breeding to derive a Canadian domestic bird. His cross-bred geese, unlike the farm variety, can swim and fly, and the wild counterparts.

Perhaps the most amazing thing about the Inglewood Sanctuary is the fact that Mr. Pickering has reared and horse the expense all by himself. At the end of more than a quarter century he has patiently toiled to supply a home for his feathered friends!—and has never received a cent for his trouble.

Report Spruce Tree Pests Are Hatching

REGINA.—The little white scales are on the move.

Reginans with spruce trees in their yards are advised by Forest Entomologist Bill Murray to be on the lookout for the little mites which are just hatching.

The method of combatting the pest is to spray the trees with a mixture of dry lime, sulphur and water using one pound of sulphur to 12 gallons of water.

The process, which shouldn't be carried out in temperatures over 75 degrees, should be repeated at 10-day intervals for about one month.

Young Bulls Bring Big Prices At Edmonton Sale

EDMONTON—Auctioneers obtained a top price of $4,000 and an average of $2,050 for 27 young registered bulls at the eighth annual sale of Shorthorns from Claude Gallinger's farm.

Without any American or Eastern Canadian buyers present, the bulls from the four western provinces maintained values at a satisfactory level. Compared with the 1951 sale, average was only $47 lower when the $18,000 peak bull of 1951 is omitted. Last year six young bulls sold around $750 but this time only one sold below $1,000.

As usual Alberta breeders were the heaviest buyers although Saskatchewan farmer s played a strong part, buying sever bulls, while buyers from British Columbia attended from each Manitoba three averaging $3,733.

The top 10 bulls averaged $3,270. Once again the offspring of the outstanding sire, Kilburn Max 5th, was much sought after and bidding keen and eight head averaged almost $3,100. Included were the four highest-priced bulls, from $4,100 to $4,000.

C. B. Carigan, of Fairview, Alta., paid the top price of the sale for Kilburn Max Acter 7, C.D. Gordon of Portage la Prairie, Man., was the buyer of Max Perrless at $4,000. A. S. and O. R. Fidlone of Forrestburg, Man., bought Max Buyer at $4,400. Clem Loughlin of Viking, Alta., obtained Kilburn Max West for $4,100.

Hunt For Oil Being Intensified

EDMONTON.—Oil exploration activity is showing a steady increase in western Canada.

At the end of May there were 103 geophysical crews working in the west, eastern provinces, an increase of 30 per cent. over the same period last year.

The largest percentage is in Alberta, where 123 crews are working. Saskatchewan has shown a huge increase since February, when 10 crews were active. Now there are 34, four less than the record established last year.

In Manitoba there are two field crews working and British Columbia also has two. Imperial Oil has the greatest number of crews working, with 22 in the four provinces. Canadian Gulf has 15 and Shell Oil and Socony-Vacuum each have 11.

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

Apples

Apples won't crack when they're baked if you remember to peel a one-inch band from the middle of each apple, then stuff it and bake in a moderate oven.

Have you ever tried maple syrup, or honey with nuts or raisins and cinnamon to stuff your apples with? Cranberry sauce gives a nice change, and marshmallows with a squeeze of lemon juice are good too. Use your own imagination.

Did you realize that apple juice is cheaper to buy than soft drinks? The 48-ounce tins are the best buy, and the very best buy is Vitamized apple juice. The flavor of it is ever so fresh, then clear apple juice, I think, and the cost no more. It's a tasty way to get your daily supply of Vitamin C.

Last Week's Question

Have you figured out the answer to last week's question about saving enough money to buy something you really want? Probably you've got a good idea or two of your own, but my suggestion is simply to say NO to the travelling salesman selling aluminum, stainless steel, and knife sets. (How about letting your husband read this too? I've heard of cases where the wife has resisted the sales talk, but the husband couldn't).

Rather than buying one of these sets right off, do sit down and ask yourself these things — Will I use all those pieces? Have I got the storage space for them? Could we spend the money on something we'll enjoy more?

Then if you've answered truthfully and decided you still want a set, Don't Buy It Yet. Go to a hardware store with a list of the pieces and find the cost of the set, of the same quality, from the store. You'll get quite a shock at the high cost you'll pay the travelling salesman for the same pieces. Then at the hardware store you don't have to buy that huge roaster you'll use only at Xmas, but you can choose the pieces you really need.

Don't let anyone talk you into a set of pans because of higher vitamin content of the food cooked in those pans. If you cook your food properly you'll have just as much nutritional value in it whether you're cooking in glass, enamelware or what-have-you.

So investigate before you buy stainless steel or aluminum pot and pan sets, or knife sets from any salesman. (If the goods aren't up to snuff you can't go back to him to have the value restored either, as one lady from Tofield discovered to her regret). Then with the money you save by being careful, you can have that easy chair, or postponed holiday you've been dreaming about.

That old Dutch Proverb is appropriate here . . "When fools go to market, peddlers make money"

Poor Behavior of Children

I've heard quite a few complaints lately about the poor behavior of children, and occasionally of grown-ups at public concerts and entertainment of all sorts. Youngsters race up and down aisles, fight or argue, wiggle and talk while people are performing or while the show is going on, and no attempt is made to stop them.

Now there's not much use in referring to 'when I was young', since we truly are in a different era, but still and all, it seems to me that there is still a code of ethics and manners of some sort. Basically though we are becoming more selfish (that's another of my ideas) we still have to live with other humans and so must consider them a little, don't you think?

You, as parents are mostly responsible for teaching your children the right and wrong way to behave in public, and one of the best ways is to give your youngsters the experience of going to public gatherings and behaving properly there. When they are there though, I think it's up to you to see that they do behave or else leave them home until they are old enough to appreciate what everyone else has come to hear and can't because of the racket.

There that's enough preaching at you, isn't it?

Going on a Holiday?

Then read this column next week for a few ideas to make your travelling more fun.

Canada's Farm Lands

THROUGHOUT THE PAST YEAR interesting information concerning various phases of life in Canada have been made public, as facts gathered by the taking of the 1961 census have been assembled by the statisticians. Among these many facts were some concerning the farming population and the areas of farm land under cultivation in Canada at the time the census was taken. The figures show that there are 54,500 fewer farms now than there were in 1941, but that the number of acres of farm land under cultivation has increased by 460,501. The largest increase in farm acreage has been in British Columbia, where 16.6 per cent. more land is now being farmed. The number of farms in that province has increased by 21.1 per cent., showing that the average holding there is now smaller than it was ten years ago.

* * * * *

Figures Show Fewer Farms

The other Western provinces all show decreases in the number of occupied farms in the ten year period. Saskatchewan had 136,153 occupied farms in 1941 and 112,014 in 1951. In Manitoba there was a drop from 36,034 to 32,353, while in Alberta there were 99,732 occupied farms in 1941 compared to 94,315 today. Several reasons are given for this drop in the number of occupied farms. The trend toward consolidation of farms in some places accounts in part for it while the use of farm lands for pasture has also contributed to the decline. A shift in population to the cities has taken many from the farms, while the rapid growth of nearly all our larger cities has resulted in the taking in of farm lands in the surrounding areas.

* * * * *

Reasons Given For Decrease

Some of the decreases may also be explained by the fact that in 1941 a farm was described as "one acre or more of land which had yielded agricultural products worth fifty dollars or more in 1940." In 1951 the definition changed to "a holding of three acres or more on which agricultural operations are carried out, or from one to three acres with agricultural production in 1950 valued at two hundred and fifty dollars or more." While the figures show a decrease in the number of farms, they have also shown an increase in the acreage under cultivation in all the Western provinces. In Saskatchewan the number of acres under cultivation was found to be 20,766,927 as compared to 13,662,190. In Alberta it has risen from 23,577,295 to 24,459,652, while in Manitoba the increase has been from 10,891,322 to 17,730,262. In many countries all the land suitable for the growing of crops has long since been brought under cultivation, and Canada is fortunate in being one of those in which agriculture is still an expanding industry.

CANADA NOW HAS EIGHT LEPERS

OTTAWA Canada now has a total of eight lepers—two less than last year—which she maintains at two central colonies at a cost of about $62,000 a year. Health Minister Martin said.

He told the Commons it costs $7,500 a year to maintain the colony at Bentinck Island in B.C. where three leper patients live and $14,700 to maintain the other at Tracadie, N.B., where there are five patients.

MASS VACCINATION OF FIELD VOLUNTEERS IN TWO VILLAGES

MELBOURNE, Australia — Sir MacFarlane Burnet, Director of the medical institute here, has announced that an effective poliomyelitis vaccine may be in mass production within two years. He said the vaccine of living tissue could be injected into the children between the ages of one and two, to provide immunity against polio.

Hog Sales In Manitoba Up

WINNIPEG, Man. — Hog marketings in Manitoba from Jan. 1 to May 17 show a 30 per cent. increase over the corresponding period in 1951. The provincial department of agriculture reported.

Indications are the peak of the heavy marketing now is passed, the department said. Cattle marketings for the same period were down 15 per cent with most of the decrease taking place since the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak.

Pasture production is about 20 per cent. above a year ago, the department said. Lack of rain caused a serious pasture condition and many farmers were forced to feed to maintain milk flow.

Egg marketings reached a peak May 19, well above that of 1951. The regular seasonal decline now was evident and egg quality had deteriorated sharply this year Poultry men in storage remained high with current marketings considerably in excess of local consumption.

IN BUDGET-WISE 1ND SOUS

The old question "which came first the chicken or the egg" is still a most point but housekeepers agree that when it comes to lower cost foods the egg is one of the first on the list these days.

Canada's Food Rules state that we should have at least three eggs each per week. So, while the prices are low, help the food budget and the main by serving eggs frequently.

Eggs are such a versatile food that one famous chef was lead to remark that "eggs are the cement that holds the meals of cookery together". Following are two "quickies" for the main course at luncheon or supper.

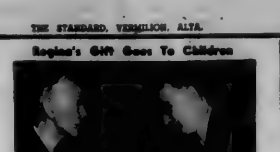
Egg Sandwich a la King
1 can (10 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom, chicken or celery soup
4 tablespoons milk
4 to 6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
6 slices buttered toast

Combine soup and milk and heat. Slice hard-cooked eggs. Make 6 sandwiches with the hot buttered toast and half the egg slices. Season with salt and pepper. Place on individual serving plates. Place remaining slices of eggs on top of sandwiches and cover with the hot soup. Garnish with sprigs of parsley or sprinkle with paprika. Serve with a crisp green salad. Yield: 6 servings.

Baked Eggs With Green Beans
1 can (10 oz.) condensed tomato soup
10 oz. wax beans
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 cup cooked green beans (fresh, frozen or canned)
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ cup grated cheese
6 eggs

Mix soup and water (measured in soup can). Add crumbs, vegetables and cheese. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour into greased baking dish. Break eggs one at a time into cup or saucer and slip into the thickened mixture with a spoon in the tomato mixture. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., about 20 minutes until eggs are set. Sprinkle with a little extra grated cheese just before serving if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Regina's Gift Goes To Children



On behalf of Queen Elizabeth, Governor-General Vincent Massey presents a certificate to Hon. J. C. Nollet, signifying the gift of 200 bushels of wheat to the Canadian Save the Children fund. The wheat was given by Her Majesty by the city of Regina during her visit to Canada, and she, in turn, turned it over to the Fund, which raised $7,000 by its sale. The Fund supplies food and clothing to Europe's needy children.—Central Press Canadian.

"Lilliputian" Vole Is No. 1 Enemy To Many Farmers

WINNIPEG, Man.—The "Lilliputian" vole, public enemy No. 1 to many Canadian farmers, was blamed for millions of dollars crop damage across the prairies. The tiny, furtive and extremely prolific prairies vole often is erroneously referred to as the Meadow Mouse.

The vole who feasts, while ducks, deer, elk and other wildgame get most of the blame for the damage, is noted in scientific observations as a ravagers of grain fields in eastern Canada as early as the 17th century. Scientists, call it "one of the greatest destroyers of crops in history."

Georgy Freeman, project manager for the Brathmore area of southern Alberta, reported:

"A very amazing feature this spring is the number of mice observed. Where they are the short-tailed variety which is quite adept at swimming. There are literally millions of them in the fields and over the roads."

He said set crops were almost completely ruined by the mice and wheat had also suffered considerably. "On the brighter side, however, is the fact that these tiny animals are now dying by the thousands—another instance of Nature striking her balance."

Officials of the wildlife group here explained that these were only preliminary examples. They said an Old Testament reference to voles, covering a plague presumably visited upon the Philistines, stated:

"Mice were generated and boiled near the towns and fields in the midst of that region, and there was a confusion of death in all the land."

Aristotle speaks of the voles: "The rate of propagation of field mice is comparable to their destruction they cause, are rare beyond all telling . . ."

Current investigation indicates the vole has survived the passage of time much longer and better than most of the ancient civilization. An almost unbelievable menace to crops and, indeed, to human existence are concerned, one which is widely tolerated.

In 1909, one historian recorded that "The Island of St. John (Prince Edward Island) is alleged to be visited every seven years by swarms of locusts or field mice alternately . . . After they ravage the land, they (mice) precipitate themselves into the sea."

Records in Nova Scotia show the previous appearance one of its greatest outbreaks of mice in 1815. The extent of crop damage was underestimed, but the record states, "by midsummer they had destroyed great quantities of hay and grain."

During the autumn of 1909 great numbers of mice over-ran central Saskatchewan and central Alberta, according to the American naturalist, Preble, who had studied the vole extensively in western Canada.

Preble, in a report on his findings, said they also multiplied in some parts of Manitoba and all over the middle-west a great deal of grain was devoured by them, both in fields and store-houses."

Swimming Tip

How To Avoid Cramps

(By Glen R. Shepherd, M.D.)

When Johnny dives into the old swimming hole right after lunch, watch out. A cramp can make him totally unable to swim, float, or otherwise keep his head above water.

Although all parts are concerned with this is taking him out before he drowns, your better knowledge of such cramps may prevent a future tragedy.

Whether the cramp is in the calf of the leg or the abdomen, it is set off by the shock of the cold water and prolonged by the relative lack of blood to the muscle.

Blood isn't always equally distributed in the body. The tiny branches of arteries widen or narrow to control the amount of blood they carry. By a sort of switching arrangement, more blood can be pumped to the outer body muscles or to the inner organs, such as the stomach, intestines, and other organs of digestion.

Right after a meal and continuing for at least an hour, the digestive organs have a big job to do in breaking down food to usable parts and sending those parts around to the right places for storage and use. This takes a lot of blood. It means that more blood is switched into these organs, leaving less for the outer muscles of the body.

The exercising muscles don't need as much blood then especially those of lower animals who have the good sense to go to sleep after a meal. Human beings, sometimes unfortunately, can overrule their basic animal impulses and exercise right after eating.

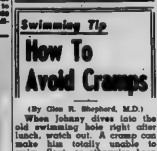
When a muscle is working, it needs more oxygen and food energy. More blood is needed to bring these materials as well as carry away acid wastes from the muscle. When Johnny jumps up from stuffing himself at a picnic lunch, dives, and begins violent exertion in swimming, his muscles burn more oxygen than they are supplied with. Blood is mostly going into the internal organs to take care of that huge meal he just ate.

When a muscle doesn't have enough oxygen, it burns. It may even tighten up into a rigid knot-like mass. This is particularly likely if it is also stimulated by the sudden shock of cold water.

Those who have had a foot cramp, at night know how painful it is. They realize how helpless they feel to stretch or unbend the muscle.

At the beginning of warm weather, many people are not in shape to plunge into a hot afternoon of fatigue from lack of sleep or too hard play after work in the day is another factor which will help bring about swimming cramps.

You may save your boy's life if you will see that he gets enough rest, eats enough calcium-containing food, and stays out of the water for at least an hour after eating. And before he does go swimming, taking a companion along is good insurance. One can save the other if a cramp



Staking Your Tomato Vines

To stake or not to stake tomatoes has been debated by home gardeners. Those in favor of it argue that staking saves space, keeps fruit clean, lessens danger of loses from rot. Those against staking say it takes too much time and labor.

Here's the final answer: Tests show that tomatoes from staked vines are considerably higher in vitamin C.

This reason? Because staked tomatoes get more sunshine than those not vines allowed to sprawl on the ground.

Use strong stakes. Each stake should be five or six feet long and set into the ground to a depth of 18 inches. Use strips of cloth to tie the plant to the stake in several places. Tie loosely.

First make a loop around the stake with a cloth strip, then make a loop around the plant stem, and the back of the stake. The loop around the stake should be tight to prevent slipping, while that around the plant stem should be fairly loose to prevent bruising or breaking.

Staked tomatoes will do better if given a certain amount of pruning as they grow. Cut or pinch out suckers at leaf joints. Keep removing suckers until the fruiting period is well advanced. If this is not done the suckers will sap the plant's strength and the fruits produced will be small and poor quality.

Tomato sucker: grow in the joints of the leaves between the leaf and the main stalk. The true fruiting sprays come directly from the stem on the opposite side and where there is no leaf stem.

NEWS from ISLAY

New Sibbaldbie

I told you Islay was to have new sidewalks, well, they are coming! The forms are in and the gravel piles are there waiting to be put in the right place. Someone remarked, 'Islay's getting her face lifted!'. Yes, and now she is to have a great gap in her upper jaw, the Jack Fyfe house is to be razed and hauled out to the Charlie Robertson farm and rebuilt.

On Friday June 27th in the evening there will be a Strawberry social and cake or cream social in the hall. It is planned to have a ball game that evening also. In all probability the Klusmen from Vermilion will come again. They were here recently and a really good game, with plenty of fun, was played. Our boys just edged the Klusmen out by one run. Here is hoping they come again. Ice cream and berries if you wish.

On Tuesday evenings First Aid classes are held in the school: Civil Defence' Thursday evening. These classes are very worthwhile and it is said if you just sat in and watched that one would get much information. Fire fighting is one of the projects that is being stressed in America and Britain so no matter where you happen to be and fire occurs you would know the principles of the method and feel you could help. Please come for yourself. Dr. Hanlan is First Aid instructor and Mr. George Martin for Civil Defence.

Donna and Lois Cooper of Vermilion spent the week-end visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bothwell.

More Twins

Methinks the immigration department should ease up a bit as we in this part of the province are getting our population increased rapidly, two sets of twins recently to Mr. and Mrs. D. Clarke April 11th twin boys, and to Mr. and Mrs. Paddy McGuigan, a boy and a girl, last June 5th. Congrats to all!

Miss Marion Rostock assisted at the hospital on night duty a few nights recently. Mrs. Hilda Bell assists in the day time on changing of shifts.

Something we saw in print recently was advice to parents: "A child should be taken on your knee and reasoned with: only make sure he is bottom side up." But it didn't say 'slipper' or 'hair brush' as the reasoner, so use your own judgment.

Claymore Clippings

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Willes have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoskins from Deer Lodge, Montana. Mrs. Willes and Mrs. Hoskins were school friends in England. This is Mrs. Hoskins first visit to Alberta. They are leaving early this week for a leisurly trip home, planning to visit some of our parks and beauty spots en route.

Owing to the rain only a few were able to attend church Sunday afternoon. Mr. Cleaver, student minister of the Auburndale field was a visitor and assisted Rev. MacKay. Mrs. Cleaver is leaner. He also has a beautiful solo, "God Answers Prayer". This solo was inspiring and it is by and composed by Mr. Cleaver.

Bobbie Willer had a number of friends to a birthday party last Saturday afternoon. They enjoyed games and the party ended with a generous and delicious lunch

Mr. and Mrs. Neil MacLean and family spent last Sunday afternoon and evening visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. MacMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lynch and family were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Krushinsky on Sunday last.

The general rain on Sunday has given us reserve moisture enough to carry the crops and garden into July. With sunshine and warm days the growth should be rapid

The ladies' social club meeting was postponed last Wednesday to June 18th. It is hoped that all the ladies interested in the picnic arrangements will attend as there are several matters to be looked after.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Illustrated—2-Door Custom Riviera

Right from the start - you'll love it!

IT ISN'T always the big things that tell you how downright good a car really is.

You'll note, for example, that this Buick has—not one—but two sets of figures on its speedometer. There's one for total mileage, which almost all cars give you. And there's one for trip mileage, found on all Buicks, but rare on other cars carrying comparable price tags.

Then there's the way a Buick starts. No groping for a starter button on the dash. You just push down your foot on the accelerator pedal—and one motion does the whole job. That's something else found only on a Buick—and we can give you a good guess what the reason is—it's a costlier device.

And when you step on this combined starter-accelerator—boy, do things start to happen! That great-powered Fireball 8 Engine purrs into action—and you're off with the smooth sweep of a Diesel streamliner on the rails.

Now, you discover something else. Buick's Million Dollar Ride. Body-cushioned curves, level-gaited on the straight-away, steady and true on course—it's words every dollar is cost in tools, engineering and special features—including the magic of Dynaflow Drive.*

Our first rain came June 10, only a few small showers before that, and it has been raining off and on for almost a week. It was badly needed in this district as we had missed entirely heavy showers.

June 6th Orley Ommeas and son in-law Don Wilson motored to Lac la Biche for Mrs. James Welsh. Irene Della Ommeas and family, Adele, Doreen and Wayne, returning the next day. On June 10th Adele and Doreen had their tonsils removed in the Vermilion hospital.

The week end of June 7th Mr. and Mrs. Woody Wilson and family visited at the latter's sister's home north of North Battleford.

The dance at the school on the 6th was well attended and the prizes were generous.

The afternoon of our W.A., June 12th at the Moore home was rainy, thinking the roads impassable none attended from around here. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Edwards, Mr. Bridle and Mrs. Hobbs from town were present. Sorry Mrs. Moore we hope our next invitation isn't too much, it is disappointing, and one really doesn't know what to do. The rain was so welcome I'm sure we can all feel happy over that.

Ralph Strome's were fortunate in getting a good supply of water at around 120 feet.

Eddie Throndson was a visitor to the city last week end returning with a boat from Mr. Currie's.

The flu is still going its rounds at home and some in the hospital. Last Saturday morning Mrs. Don Wilson was taken to the Vermilion hospital suffering from after effects of the flu. The three children, Raymond Dorothy and Marlene are with their viennese grandparents.

Mrs Gertie Swanson from Elk Point is visiting relatives and friends around the district. Since coming she visited her daughter Florence and Raymond Hammond of Lashburn Sask. Last Saturday afternoon the five Omeasa sisters Mrs Mabel Lee Mrs Gertie Swanson Mrs Edna Armstrong, Mrs. Stella Myers and Mrs Nora Monaghan met at Groogers cafe.

For all you kind folks who have been asking about our church suppet it will be Wednesday, June 25th at 8 o'clock and members please. It will be held at the usual place. Look for at elsewhere in the Standard.

Mr. Gus Throndson and Mr. Andy Ramsay left on June 10th for the Banff hot springs and the Radium springs.

Closing thought: "If you have inherited a prideful tradition, you must carry it on: if you haven't, then start building one now."

"GREEN ACRES"

Seeding Lawns

It takes time and trouble to get a good lawn established. First be sure the soil is rich and well fertilized with manure. Work down and pack and kill weeds for several weeks then broadcast seed and rake it in. Four pounds of seed is needed for 1000 square feet. Use Creeping Red Fescue or in the case of larger farm lawns Crested Wheat is alright. Use plenty of water if you have a water tap and hose.

Bugs on Spruce Trees

Several people have reported that insects were damaging their spruce trees. In some cases it is plant lice. These can be killed by spraying with Black Leaf 40. One teaspoonful to a quart of water is about right. If it is the small red spider then the only chemical that is recommended is Aramite. Put saw flies and budworms use D.D.T. or Parts Green.

For the Land's Sake

More alfalfa and grass means more livestock must be kept, which means more manure to enrich the soil, which means larger grain crops also. It is an endless cycle but it is sure crop farming and results in more money in the bank at the end of ten years or so.

Farm Women's Week July 14th to 17th

AT VERMILION SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Farm Women's Week, that popula, annual event at the schools of agriculture will be held this year at Vermilion, Alberta, Vermilion and Olds and Fairview will have their Farm Women's Week during that month. The week at Vermilion will be held July 14 to 17.

The Farm Women's Week program is planned to include lectures and demonstrations in practical home economics topics as well as agricultural topics of interest to women. Provision is also made for recreation and relaxation from the routine of home duties on the farm. Early applications will receive first consideration, and the sooner applications are received the better will be the chance of reserving accommodation. Each school can accommodate around 100 to guests, and although priority is given to applications from those actually living on the farm, visitors are welcome if accommodation permits.

District Agriculturists and District Home Economists can supply information about Farm Women's Week, or application forms and particulars can be obtained from the Home Economics Service, Alberta Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton or from the principals of the Several Wildmere-ites journeyed to Lloydminster on Thursday to see some of the ball games only to have them rained out after one game. Cliff and George Cruthers called to see Bud Bathe and family while there.

Mr. Donlly came home from the hospital last Tuesday feeling very well but has to take things on the easy side for some time. Best of luck is our wish from you many friends.

Everyone is rejoicing over the grand rain last week and again on Sunday. It was what was really needed or things were getting very serious as far as moisture was concerned. The grass is nice and green again and crops and gardens are coming along much better. Some nice warm weather now and things will really jump.

Our church service was rained out on Sunday. So Mr. Bathe, but the roads were too muddy for folks to get there. Church will be at the same time, 7.30 next Sunday, so plan to come.

The writer had the pleasure of attending the Vermilion high school banquet and dance as her niece Margaret was one of the girls in the graduating class. The girls all looked grand in their lovely dresses and forgetting the boys who all looked very nice. The songs by the music class under the leadership of Miss Jones were really enjoyed. The girls and boys who had speeches to make did very well. We are sure the bouquets presented to Miss Knapp and Mrs. Billie Pilkington by the students were greatly appreciated. The food was excellent and everyone did full justice to it we are sure. The little novelties at each place were nice souvenirs of the occasion. After the speeches were over several of the grads had their pictures taken at Mr. Carmichael had set up a studio in the basement for the benefit of those desiring pictures. The graduates appreciated this very much as it was such a wet night outside. All then gathered at the Elks hall for the dance. To put it mildly everyone certainly enjoyed themselves to the utmost. Larry Kelsey proved an able M.C. Keith Inman's orchestra provided grand music. This brought the 1952 graduating class program to a happy close and we wish them all success in their exams starting this week.

Don't forget Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rusel's wedding dance to be held at Gaston school on Friday, June 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rendell left on Sunday morning's train on their journey to Manitoba where they may reside in future.

We hear lots of comments on the show held at the Columbia over the week end. Stuart Reed K. others did not. Some said it wasn't a show for children and that it wasn't worth the price. You can't please everyone however, no matter how hard one tries.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Isley and family of Optimist district spent Sunday afternoon at the J. Bathe home in Beaumont.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the family of Mrs. McIntosh in their hour of sorrow. The grim reaper has called twice in a very short time at that home. May they find comfort in knowing their parents are now at rest where suffering and pain are no more. Their book of life has closed but open it at any page and it shines out with pleasant memories of days gone by.

Earl Graham of Calgary attended the high school banquet and dance returning to Calgary again next morning.

Should get a new hive ready. If the swarm is on a tree branch the job is easy but if it is on a fence post you will need to brush the bees into a box or bolter and carry to the new hive. If the bees have been swarmed for two or three days treat them with respect as they may have acquired some nasty intentions by that time.

Trash Cover

Very few stubble fields were burnt off this year. The straw and stubble is now worked into the surface soil and there is little or no danger of losing good soil by blowing or washing. There is no doubt also that yields are better when the stubble is saved. More stubble is held on the surface when cultivation is shallow and speed is not over 3½ m.p.h. Blade weeders, duck foot cultivators and rod weeders are better than disc machines for keeping stubble on top.

Beware of Fire

Everyone using Sodium Chlorate is warned of the fire hazard. It is specially dangerous when clothing dries after spraying weeds. The chemical bursts into flames from friction or from a light. It is best and safer to put mullein chlorate on the ground dry than to spray onto the weeds.

Bowtell Bulletin

There will be a meeting of the Bowtell community club in the hall on June 25th at 8:30 p.m.

Due to heavy rains Harold Knutson, Robert Repp and Leslie Sherwood are back from trucking at Camrose.

Byrne Woodruff was taken out to the hospital on Monday to Calgary by his son and daughter. It is hoped he will soon show an improvement in health.

Ken Rostad is now an elevator agent at Riley.

Mr L. Payne kindly donated $10 to help shingle Pleasant Valley church.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Harrison were visitors to Lloydminster Thursday.

The writer, hubby and Beverly enjoyed supper at the Knutson home recently. Mr. and Mrs. Delly were Saturday evening visitors at the Jones' home. The writer and family were pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. J. Ronaghan and Donnie as guests for supper Saturday, and Mrs. Walker and William on Sunday.

The writer is sorry to learn at time of writing that Don Harrison, Mrs. DeDelly and Jill Walker are all on the sick list. The Perkins baby is also quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Robinson and Margaret and Peggy Kay journeyed to Tullby Lake on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Repp, Mrs. Gear and Mrs. Cagnon were visitors to Calgary and other points in southern Alberta for a few days recently.

Cpl. Fenton left recently for Ontario to visit a brother and old friends. It is a good many years since Cpl. left the west.

Bob Johnston is now stationed on the C.N.R. at Redwater.

It is nice to see Mrs. B. Rostad from Vancouver back in our midst again.

Sixty Years Married

Pioneers of Vermilion and district since 1904, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Alexander Hicks celebrated sixty years of married life on June 1st. They were married at Mount Albion, Ont., on June 1, 1892. In searching the files of the Standard, and Mr. and Mrs. Hicks are the fourth couple to observe diamond wedding in the history of Vermilion. Others were the late Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Pilkie, the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred West of Wellsdale, and Mr. and Mrs. James Cavil.

Clandonald News

The heavy rains of the past few days have entirely altered the crop prospects which were anything but bright up until now. In all, over two inches of rainfall were recorded in town and this coming over a period of many hours followed by cool weather will do the utmost good. Despite the dry weather growth in some cases is unusually well advanced. Saskatoons are now mature and a good of volunteer wheat was found on June 13th with an overall height of 2" inches and well headed.

The writer had occasion to call on Mr. and Mrs. Herb Spencer recently in Vermilion where they are living very comfortably in their own house at the back of the lot where their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watts have their residence. Mr. Spencer is unable to carry on his farming operations this year and this fine old couple are always glad to see any former acquaintances and chat over old times.

Another former resident, Mrs. Peter McCormick, better known around here as May King was a district visitor recently. Mrs. McCormick who was visiting with her sister Mrs. R. Goad, now resides in the Carrot Creek district where her husband is engaged in farming.

Other old timers, formerly of the Dewberry district, now residing in summerland, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Bob Elliott renewed acquaintances here and around their old home for a few days last week.

Newly-Weds Welcomed

The long awaited event of the season, the party of welcome for newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Lawrence, was held at their home last Tuesday evening. Despite the wet weather a large gathering was on hand and very enjoyable time was had by all present. Those contemplating matrimony have been given cause for serious thought by the appearance in the groom's pocket who was sporting one of the unest black eyes seen in many moons. However we have it on good authority that it really was caused by an accident.

Edmonton visitors attending the graduation dance were Miss Margaret Rossiter and Tommy Stock well. Margaret will return to the city shortly following a visit of about ten days here. She hopes to complete her business course at McTavish college shortly. Her father plans to accompany her on her return and will visit for a few days with the married son Jack and daughter Mary who have their home in the city.

Tommy Stockwell is looking fine and is at present making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kinch in the Highlands district. Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell were among the pioneers of this district having left here about 30 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Karla had several of Matt's family from Saskatchewan as their guests for a few days. While here they attended the baseball tournament at Lloydminster and the graduation dance.

F. U. A. Picnic

The big event of the season, the joint F.U.A. picnic held north of Dewberry at the Old Timers' picnic grounds was well attended in spite of the fact it had to be postponed for one day on account of the rain. It is hoped that this will be an annual affair and that next year, profiting by experience and with favorable weather, it will be better than ever. Our sincere thanks go to those F.U.A. members who by their efforts in association with the Greenlawn Old Timers picnic were of invaluable help with their aid and experience in making the affair run so smoothly. Although unable to see the finals of the soft ball tournament we understand that the Clandonald members finished up on top with a decisive win.

Woodvale News

With several days of showers and a real downpour on the 12th worry about insufficient moisture is over for the time being. With return of warmer weather we'll be busy killing weeds in fields and gardens as they have a tendency to grow so much faster and all seeds and the later sown grains have been dormant for such a long time.

Mr. Joe Flook of Riding Mountain, Man., repeated his visit to the Woodvale district of two years ago. This time he was accompanied by his daughter and two grandchildren. They stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wes Lacy which is close to Joe's old homestead where he lived 40 years ago.

The Red Cross auxiliary held a well attended meeting and quilting bee at the home of Mrs. Watson on June 6th. Everyone was pleased to see Mrs. T. and Mrs. R. Preston with Mrs. Proctor there and hope they will come again, now they have, so to speak, a private chauffeur. The big quilt was finished in time to leisurely enjoy a delicious lunch. Two big boxes of used clothing were collected to be sent to the Presbyterian Indian Mission field. The ladies will meet again to discuss picnic booth matters at a quilting bee at Mrs. J. Lysons who will leave word at the Tolland store when that is going to be.

Quin Lenshoch has returned from Banff for a six weeks holiday at the home of Mrs. Van Wageningen.

Mable Lysons is expected home from Banff this week also.

The Tolland baseball team lost to Auburndale on the 8th and due to the rains have not been able to play the Kinamen club nor Basswood in games scheduled for Wednesday and Sunday.

C.G.I.T. Hold Mother & Daughter Banquet At Paradise Valley

The Paradise Valley C.G.I.T. Valley Maids held their Mother and Daughter banquet in the church basement on Monday June 9th. After Joyce Adams and grace 21 sat down to the sumptuous meal supplied by the girls for their mothers.

After the ice cream, angel food, chocolate cake, etc. had disappeared all settled down to listen to the speeches which followed. Joyce acted as toast mistress and called on Lois Stoddart to propose the toast to the Queen. Joan Richardson played the music. Beatrice Kragens spoke to the mothers and proposed a toast to them, and Mrs. E. Swayze in a very fine speech replied. Mrs. Wm. Stoddart showed the girls the advantages of being a member of a C.G.I.T. group and proposed a toast to this fine group. Shirley Gunn replied and told the meaning of C.G.I.T. and what it meant to a girl who has been a member for six years.

We were very fortunate in having Mrs. J. Hawkes as our guest speaker. She gave a very informative address on health. Being a nurse she was able to bring out points which were of much interest and value to the mothers as well as the girls. The time and effort spent in preparing this speech was much appreciated.

Miss Lileth McLean Marlene McDonald and Pat Pedersen assisted as waitresses.

Mrs. Gunn thanked speakers and all who helped to make the banquet a success. The program closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Pleasant Valley

The much needed rain came at last. It will make the crops and gardens jump now. Many folks have been using small stuff from their gardens such as radishes, cress leituce, etc.

Everyone is busy right now — men folk are fencing and summerfallowing.

We hear that you have the phone now Mrs. Jones. Hello there!

Everyone here was sorry to say goodbye to Canon Teape. Mr. S. R. P. Cooper, our Editor, is coming to Pleasant Valley on Sunday to conduct the service. Hope everyone comes.

Mrs. Golby had the misfortune to lose 27 chickens on Sunday night with the heavy rain.

Flowers are coming out nicely now, roses, pansies, poppies and columbines with all their various colors are indeed a grand sight.

We hear that wedding bells are going to ring for one of our neighbors soon. This is always a very joyous occasion and best wishes are extended to the happy young couple.

Mr. Bowser is planning to fly east this summer.

Fat Grab-Bag

There's a nice fat grab-bag of around $50,000 millions waiting this year for Canadian business, reminds The Financial Post. That's the estimated size of disposable income — the amount which Canadians will have to spend or save as they please after taxes have been paid.

A good deal of the money of course goes for necessities, food, clothing and shelter.

But for the great majority there is a surplus, so called optional income, money to be saved or spent on a great variety of things semi luxuries, luxuries or more of every thing.

Death of Mrs. J. B. Chambers at Manville

FUNERAL AT PARADISE VALLEY

(Paradise Valley News)

It was a great shock to everyone when word came through that Mrs. J. B. Chambers passed away at her home in Manville on Tuesday June 10th. Mrs. Chambers had been in poor health for over a month and only returned home from the hospital on Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. Chamberlain went to Manville last fall after spending 21 years in Paradise Valley, coming here in 1930 where Mr. Chambers operated the Western elevator. Mrs. Chambers was born in Australia and came to Canada while quite young. She taugh school for a number of years at Ardill and Medhurst. Sask. Her maiden name was Mary Eileen Zwingher but was known to her many friends as Pat. She was a very keen tennis player and curler and took a great interest in sport. She leaves a husband and two sons Bruce in the R.C.A.F. now stationed in Edmonton and Don of Sudbury, Ont., also one grandchild. In the bereavement family we extend our sincere sympathy. The funeral was held on Saturday June 14th at the Union Church in Paradise Valley, with Mr. Ling conducting the service. Interment was in the Paradise Valley cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Stewart, Ellis, Alex Miller, Bernard Baxter, Kontery Hoskins, William Stodart and W. A. Conn. Water Street St. was at the organ.

Meyer's Funeral home at Vermilion was in charge of arrangements.

THORNECLIFFE

The June meeting of the W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Clark on June 6th at 2 p.m. Seven members and one visitor were present. We welcome our new member, Mrs. Wm. Thomas.

The meeting opened with the singing of the Canada followed by the "Women's Creed" and the roll call, a gardening hint. The most part of the meeting was spent in a discussion of the coming Constitutency convention. All our questions were answered by Mrs. Garnett, who obligingly attended the meeting.

Mrs. Fred Clark was nominated as delegate for the convention, with Mrs. Wm. King as alternate. Mrs. Earl Watt was nominated as handicraft convener. Please have your articles ready. Lunch followed.

The social was a game by Mrs. Earl Watt. The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the Queen' after which a lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Fred Clark and Mrs. Alex Ross.

Chatsworth Chatter

We've had ample moisture now to carry us along for awhile with the rains of Friday 6th, Saturday 7th, Tuesday and Wednesday's showers, a heavy rain on Thursday and on Sunday. In fact we had rain all week. Crops and gardens are showing rapid growth.

Roads were very muddy at the week end but have dried quickly.

Seeding fever is still prevalent in the district. Frank Farkash being one of the latest to finish.

Matt Farkash spent a few days in the hospital last week with an infected finger.

Mr and Mrs. Neil Jones and family of Dewberry, spent Sunday the 15th visiting at Mr. and Mrs. E. East's.

Mr. Jones was a good crowd out in church service on the 8th. Next service is to be Sunday 22nd.

Mrs. Frank Farkash spent a few days at her parents' home in Minburn last week.

The meeting of the F.U.A. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Maggs on Monday evening the 9th. A fair attendance. Welcome tea and production tax were discussed. The delegates to the annual district convention held at Wainwright on July 4th were nominated these being Mr. E. East Leo Kleshinsky and the president J. K. Thompson. At the close of the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

The June meeting of the Chatsworth Country Club will be held at Mrs O. Burns this Friday with a sewing demonstration by Miss Bernice Reed District Home Economist from Wainwright. All ladies of the district and visitors are very welcome to attend appreciation for the co-operation of the W.I. and of provincial president Mrs. A. B. McGarvey of Peebles.

THE PLACE JUST ISN'T THE SAME WITHOUT THEM!

Donnie Webb went East to trap lobsters so he took his parents along for the trip. Yes, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Webb and Donnie hopped the train at Waterwright Sunday night for a few weeks well earned vacation in the East, and we do mean East. Their plans might include is still a mystery so we will just have to wait till they return in August to hear the real-well, most of the rest anyway. Who wouldn't be a Massey-Harris dealer?

The ladies of The Salvation Army Home League will hold a sale of baking in the Nelson-Hill hardware on June 21st from 3 to 5 p.m. 30

Just board the new Mercury that's waiting for them. Have a real-good time on their merry way to visit with friends and relatives down home. Whatever else their plans

Cancer Campaign Is Completed — $3050 In Donations

Executive of the newly-formed Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society met on June 20th. As the president, Mrs. M. M. Lebsack, is shortly leaving to reside in Lethbridge, she tendered her resignation. Mr. R. K. Chalmers was elected to replace Mrs. Lebsack. In accepting the office Mr. Chalmers paid tribute to the fine work done by Mrs. Lebsack in establishing the Vermilion branch and stated that she would be greatly missed in the organization.

The annual cancer campaign has now been completed and the executive are pleased to report that the sum of $3050 was subscribed by the generous citizens in and around Vermilion to further the work of the Cancer Society. It is interesting to note that to date Vermilion and district has all but drawn in Alberta with regards to the amount of money collected. This is very greatly due to the executive and they wish to publicly thank all those who assisted in any way to make the campaign such a success and to all citizens who by their generous donations caused the success of the campaign.

Tractor Rodeo; Display Of Indian Relics

New Features At Vermilion Fair, July 24, 25 and 26

Vermilion's enterprising exhibition is to be held July 24, 25 and 26 and the directors have arranged an outstanding program for the benefit of patrons. The telegram just received from A. W. Shackleford, President of the Lethbridge fair states that the prospects for attractions program is the best ever seen on B circuit.

Livestock entries are evidently going to be heavy and the revised school fair program is drawing wide attention from the pupils of the Vermilion and several surrounding school divisions.

Tractor Rodeo

New features for 1952 have been added and the first "Tractor Rodeo" of this area is to be staged so that the experts from the farms of the district will have a great opportunity to demonstrate their ability with the steel steeds. Numerous competitions involving the use of tractors are to be held and suitable prize awards will be made in each event, with special daily and grand aggregate awards. All young men and boys should indicate their desire to compete as soon as possible.

Display Indian Relics

Something never before held at a B Class fair in Western Canada will be the display of Indian relics and pioneer items such as old time guns, household articles and curiosities of various kinds. All who have interesting pieces are urged to show them for the benefit of their fellow citizens. Every precaution will be taken to protect the items and to see that they are returned to their rightful owners.

A fine collection owned by the late M. A. Brimacombe was destroyed by fire in the Vermilion high school some years ago but it is felt that there are still many interesting relics of by-gone days available for display. The wholehearted co-operation of residents of northeastern Alberta will be greatly appreciated and will make for an unusual exhibition.

Boys and girls of the Vermilion, Vegreville, Wainwright and St. Paul school divisions are urged to show school work, livestock and handicraft and special awards are being made to stage an outstanding Junior Fair. Complete details of all the above are available from S. C. Heckbert, Secretary-Manager, Vermilion.

Free Films to Be Shown By Agric. Service Board

The Agricultural Service Board has arranged to show films on Soil Erosion, 2-4-D and Rats at the Armories at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday June 28th All farmers and everyone else interested are urged to attend.

Male Chorus Concert Enjoyed

AGAIN PROVES POPULAR EVENT

A very welcome feature of entertainment, the annual concert rendered by the male chorus of 19 voices, was presented in the Colombia theatre to a large audience on Sunday evening. Despite the fact that there are always some personnel changes from year to year, the chorus seems generally to improve in technique, tone and harmony of their renditions. On Sunday evening this was particularly true, the wide variety of numbers being interpreted with marked perfection and ease.

It all depended on your own inclinations as to which was your favorite on Sunday evening. Some claimed that the two selections by Brahms, 'Lullaby' and 'Sleep Baby Sleep' were outstanding in the degree of harmony attained. Others liked the more difficult composition by Thos. Morley, 'Now is the Month of Maying', which was very well rendered. Still others liked 'Home' particularly suited for chorus singing was given for the first time and the choice was a popular one.

Judging from the applause, and from the fact that it was one of the two allowed encores, the favorite of many was 'Shenandoah Arms'. From a quiet beginning it builds up to the high crescendo of an army on the march and in battle. It was an interpretation calling for great versatility and the chorus is to be commended on its excellent rendition.

'Dry Bones' as presented by the chorus, has lost none of its popularity, and was selected as the second encore.

Soloist in 'Kentucky Babe was Mr. Tom Watts, while in the chorus following, 'Rose of Tralee' Dr. E. King sang the solo parts.

Dr. King and Mrs. Hughes offered as a duet the composition by Offenbach 'Barcarolle'. Their voices harmonized beautifully to the great pleasure of the audience.

Dr. C. W. Stephens accompanied the chorus, was provided upon the occasion an instrumental solo, 'Cielito Lindo' and as an encore turned to a modern boogey-woogey.

The group again sang 'Prayer for Peace' as a very fitting closing number of their concert.

Mr. Jack Brown, director of the chorus announced that all the proceeds would be given towards the promotion of hockey for the coming season. Dr. Hughes thanked Messrs. Pilkie for their generosity in donating the theatre and 'to their work in preparing the stage settings.

That singing appeals to all ages and all callings was demonstrated by the personnel of the group ranging from Mr. Jack Brown, the youngest member of 15 years to Dr. C. W. Stephens, one of the oldest. The organization will be welcome when practices resume in September.

Singing with the chorus Sunday evening were Ward McDonald, Dr. Hughes, Doug. Laurence Hartwiller, Albert Hildreth, Bev Baldock, Fred Lang, Dr. C. W. Stephens, Dr. E. King, Tom Watts, Jim Nichols, Russ Mc-Kenzie, John Maxwell, Dr. Goodwin, Gerald Stephens, Wm. Fosko, Jim Ferguson. Accompanist Dr. C. W. Stephens, and director Jack Brown.

Death of John Watts At Vancouver

Well remembered in Vermilion where he lived from 1912 until 1931, John Watts passed away at Vancouver on Friday June 20th. He was 86 years of age. He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing widow and one son Tom, of Vermilion. There is one grandchild.

Funeral services were held at St. Saviour's Anglican church in Vermilion on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with interment in the Vermilion cemetery. The Rev. R. T. Chilcott of Clandonald officiated.

The funeral was under full honorary auspices as Mr. Watts was still a member of the mother lodge at Wigan, Lancashire, England. He was also a member of Vermilion Lodge while resident in town.

"GREEN ACRES"

Polyhow Chlorate

This is a new weed killer that will not burn hence it is safe from the fire hazard that makes it risky to use with Sodium Chlorate at all. Borax is mixed with Sodium Chlorate to counteract the danger of the chlorate igniting from friction or from fire. Polyhor is on the market now.

Fireweed Strawberries

It is best to quick freeze straw berries as soon as you pick them. They can be frozen in sugar syrup, either whole or sliced. It is best to thaw the berries so you can get them into the jars easily. No one ever gets tired of fresh strawberries. What you don't grow strawberries? Well that is your hard luck. Lots of people grow them in this district and we can't see why you just make up your mind to do it.

Stop the Gullies

Small gullies can be found on nearly every farm in this area. The spring runoff washes out small gullies down the slopes in cultivated fields. Soon they will be so big that you cannot cross the wash-out with implements. The only way to stop this erosion is to seed down the draw with brome grass. It is a good time to go at this job now. The soil is wet from the recent rains and the seed will get a good start.

Spruce Trees are Young

Don't think we know that they grow when we admire somebody's spruce trees in the winter. In the December issue we know there was a row of spruce trees near the buildings. Why not summerfallow a strip of land and order a few spruce seedlings? The cost is only a few cent each but orders should go in now for planting next spring.

Fall Pasture

In Southern Alberta a good many farmers seed oats on summerfallow land and use the crop for fall pasture. Ranchers pay from $7 to $10 per acre for this kind of pasture. It works alright up here also but it would appear that seeding should be done before July 10th.

Old Hay Early

Hay is left too long before cutting in this part of the world. Alfalfa and sweet clover should be cut when just coming into flower. Brome and crested wheat should be cut just when they start to come into head To delay cutting longer may mean more pounds per acre but also it will mean less feeding value.

Many Entries Pour In For Highland Games

EDMONTON POLICE, ARMY BAND AND WAR-WAR TEAMS

Entries for the Highland Games at St. Andrews on Wednesday next are pouring in and the novel entertainment program has all the appearances of something simply jam packed with thrills for the spectators. The events are decidedly different from anything seen in this part of Alberta and will attract from many miles.

Besides the numerous other events such as piping and dancing, tossing the caber, putting the shot which has already attracted entries from Edmonton, Calgary, Red Deer, Regina and Vancouver, the tug-o-war is proving quite an attraction. The Edmonton police force has entered a team of huskies, no less than 3 teams of soldiers are coming from Wainwright and one of these has an anchor man weighing 300 pounds and all muscle, with two 272 pounders rigid in line in front of him. Even at that R. R. claimed that the Vermilion entry with Tiny Rooks as anchor man will be the team to beat.

Anyway you look at it folks it will be great entertainment — don't fail to attend the Highland games at St. Andrews on Wednesday next, July 2nd!

Ab Sinclair drops the editor a line and says, "Regards to all my old friends at Vermilion". Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair now reside at 3066 West 13th Ave. in Vancouver.

School Out Friday

A total of 609 school children, varying in ages from 6 to 20 will go on holidays from the Vermilion town schools on Friday.

Letting them out is no task but getting that many along with 30 more, back into the classrooms in September is the job that is facing the school board. Registration of beginners indicates that 80 more of the little pupils, the biggest primary class in the history of the town, will be eligible to start in September. With no new building yet commenced and with temporary rooms in the primary school playroom, the high school lab and auditorium, and one-room rural schools on public school grounds, there just doesn't seem to be any place to put them.

1.25 JUNE RAINFALL

As a result of rain on four of the last seven days, or since last publication day, June rainfall totals 2.80 inches. Rain to the amount of .37 fell during the week, mostly on Sunday, with .27 and Monday with .24. Growing conditions are now ideal.

Warm spot for the week was last Saturday with 86 and lowest was 34 on both Thursday morning last week and Wednesday this week.

Speed Limits Changed In Alberta

SEVERE PENALTIES FOR DRINKING AND DRIVING

The maximum speed limit for cars travelling on Alberta highways has been raised from 70 m.p.h. to 80 m.p.h. effective July 1. The new speed limit will be effective for both day and night driving.

This has been announced by the Vehicle Frauds of the Provincial Secretary's Department. Change in the speed limit is the result of an amendment to the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Maximum speed limit, day or night, for trucks is 50 m.p.h., highway buses, 55 and school buses 40. Drivers are reminded that the new speeds are not effective until July 1.

Motorists were cautioned again to the penalties arising from driving while under the influence of liquor. For conviction on the charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol, a driver automatically loses his driving license for two months if it is his first offence and for one year for a second or subsequent offence.

Any driver convicted of driving while intoxicated automatically loses his driver's or chauffeur's license for a year.

The offices of Wm. Krause, Optometrist, will be closed all day Monday soon on June 27th and all day Saturday June 28th. 39-1c

The Agricultural Service Board has arranged to show films on Soil Erosion, 2,4-D and Rats at the Armories at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday June 28th. All farmers and everyone else interested are urged to attend.

Paradise Valley

Mr. S. F. Pearson of Bashaw is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckett. Mr. Pearson is postmaster at that point and is enjoying his annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gordon attended the Danyluk-Christie wedding which took place last week at Chauvin.

On Friday evening the Chauvin baseball team paid a visit to Paradise Valley and edged the locals by a 3-2 count. Some good baseball was dished up to the fans.

A very interesting meeting was held in the hall on Friday evening when the Dept. of Agriculture held a meeting with E. H. Buckingham District Agriculturist in charge. Films were shown on weeds, 2,4-D and rate. The meeting was very poorly attended and certainly deserved a much larger attendance. A dance sponsored by the baseball boys followed the meeting.

Splendid rains have been received during the past week and now moisture conditions are ideal. Side roads are in a muddy condition and very rough. Weeds are also doing their part and spraying is becoming general.

Mr Herb Foxwell returned to his training with the R.C.A.F. at Vancouver on Friday night, going via Chauvin.

Mr. Harry French our local barber was a business visitor to Edmonton during the past week. L.N. Thomas was in charge of the pool room during his absence.

We regret to hear that Mr Ben Brassington is a patient in the Vermilion hospital at Edmonton. We hope that Ben will not be there very long.

Paradise Valley United Church

Just now the boys and girls of Paradise Valley and McLaughlin are making plans to attend the United church camp at Lake Wilsey. This will be the first camp here as an added convenience for this area of the province. The camps are to be held the first two weeks of July with the boys 12 to 14 taking over the first session, to be followed by the girls a week later. A good attendance is expected and a fine camp all round should make a pleasant holiday for those attending.

Last Thursday the P.V.W.A. group sponsored their annual strawberry tea. The weather was fine and general success greeted the ladies' efforts from 2 to 5 p.m. and after the show.

The official board for the field held its meeting on Wednesday, June 18th at the farm home of Mr and Mrs. A. Weeks, McLaughlin. There were 18 people present and the business at hand was quickly disposed of and a fine lunch enjoyed by all.

Additional camping news is provided by the P.V. scouts. They plan to hold a four day camp beginning June 28th at Cold Lake. Mr C. Richardson will be in charge.

NELSON'T WEAR SAME SHOE

There's no need of having the same labels for political parties at the provincial level as at the federal, says The Financial Post. It confuses and bedevils our political discussion, this effort of the main parties to operate on both levels — and the CCF tries it on the municipal level too. Apart from contributing to the power and grandeur of the party manipulators this has no virtue. The problems of the various levels of government are quite different and quite different policies are to be expected. Trying to set up party platforms for the different levels is one of the reasons those in the widely and unimportant-documents "they are".

Make Observance Of Traffic Signs A Habit

1. Be alert and obey all traffic control devices as though they were flesh and blood policemen.
2. Do not become careless on familiar roads.
3. Control your speed so that you can read signs.
4. Stay on the correct lane and heed no passing zones.
5. Remember the STOP sign means a complete stop — not a mere reduction of speed.
6. Be sure all tracks are clear at rail crossings — a slow freight may screen a passenger.

Be Careful - the life you save may be your own!

DRY DOT IN CITIES

There are at least a dozen big cities in Canada, declares The Financial Post, where traffic congestion downtown has reached the point where then-and-it-gone-for-good shoppers refuse to face it. If that situation continues very long, retail business will simply be forced to disperse and former high class shopping street will become blighted areas.

By that time it will be too late for the major surgery that is required to free these overloaded arteries, too late for the ambitious plans that city councils are so fond of discussing but so reluctant to get started.

The new U.S. superliner, United States, is 100% fireproof; there is no wood in her at all. Also says Fortune Hyde in the Reader's Digest, she can be converted quickly

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SMART DOG

—By—
Walter Stanley Shotts

Illustrations by Young Studios

All day the new highway was alive with traffic, but at night it was almost still. Old Joe Simpson—leaned comfortably back in his chair outside his gas station. Joe kept open just the same. He sort of enjoyed it. He would light another pipe and watch the stars. His cattle dog would sleep at his feet; and the sheriff's cat would come to visit him from across the road.

A roadster slid up to the pump and interrupted his reverie. Joe walked leisurely over. A slim young fellow hopped out quickly.

"How many?" asked Joe in his soft voice.

The young man jerked out a pistol. "This is a stick-up, granddad," he snapped. "Get inside. And hand quick."

But Joe took his hand very slowly. "Fellers are gettin' awful thick. You're the fourth this summer. I wish you'd put that gun away. I'm dangerous. And I ain't."

The younger man took a menacing step. "Did I say open the safe."

"There ain't no safe. There's a cash register."

"Open it up."

Old Joe Simpson shrugged and pressed a key on the register. "Ain't so much in it, son," he said apologetically, disclosing a handful of change. "I send it out as soon as I get it."

"Baloney! I been watchin' this place since sundown. You done a lot of business a while back, and you ain't been out."

Joe Simpson smiled. "The dog takes it out," he said calmly. "I'll show you."

His whistled. The collie trotted in. "Watch this, boy," Joe said. He rested up a slip of paper with paper and put it into the dog's mouth.

"Take it to Jim. Don," he ordered. The collie disappeared into the darkness outside.

"Where does he take it?"

"Down to the post office."

"Grandpa, you're a liar," the young man snarled. He picked up a piece of ignition wire. "Put out your hands, grandad. I'm going to tie you up and get that money."

"No," warned Joe softly. "I wouldn't do that. My brother-in-law's the sheriff around these parts. You might get hurt."

At the sound of the word sheriff, the young man whipped around to face the front. "I'm ready.

"That's all right, son," said Joe, "I'm don't come over in the night time. Not unless I phone him."

"You're kiddin' me. The money's in here."

"Look around, son, if you want." While the young man was rummaging, the collie came back and put his muzzle in the old man's hand. Joe stroked his head. "Good dog!" he said. Then together they watched the search. Old Joe was smiling faintly, and it looked as if the dog was, too.

At last, with a curse, the young man put his gun in his pocket, and started back to the car. Joe followed close behind.

"No hard feelin's, son," he said. "We all get our trades, I guess."

The young man stopped abruptly. "Put 'em up!" commanded a deep voice.

In the shadow of the car was standing a stocky, powerful man. A silver badge shone brightly on his vest. He jabbed an old-fashioned six-shooter into the young man's ribs. The robber raised his hands.

"Pretty good, Joe," he chuckled. "That's four of 'em this summer."

Old Joe smiled and patted the collie's head. "Yep," he said. "Smart dog 'em all. Me an' my dog. Gimme that paper, Tex."

The sheriff handed over the white slip that the collie had carried.

Old Joe looked at the young man regretfully. "You need a long vacation, son. You ain't smart enough for the stick-up trade."

He unrolled the paper. "Rest" he said softly. "Heehaw" on it at all. But that means for Jim to hurry right over."

Returned To Rolling Hills

Buffalo Are Attraction At Waterton Lakes National Park

WATERTON LAKES, Alta.—Buffalo days have returned to the rolling hills of southern Alberta. But today's herd is a far cry from that of its forefathers which grazed here more than a century ago. Under supervision of federal park wardens, six of these mighty monarchs of the plains migrated via truck from Elk Island Park, 25 miles east of Edmonton. They were placed in a "Habbowl" paddock just west of the highway near the Pincher Creek entrance to Waterton Lakes National Park.

The paddock, two adjoining pastures, one for winter and one for summer, is situated on the historic site of the old Hudson Bay fur brigade trail which ran from Winnipeg over the south Kootenay pass to Vancouver. Parts of this trail are still evident in the buffalo paddock area.

The herd, recently enlarged to seven when a calf was born, will be kept reasonably small, about 12 head, because it is essentially a show herd.

The Waterton Lakes herd is descended from the famed Pablo herd of the flathead country in Montana. This herd was purchased by the Canadian government in 1906.

The Pablo herd, started in 1873 by Walking Coyote, a Feud O'Creile Indian, remained on the range until 1906 when the Canadian government obtained an option on it delivered at the railway station at Ravelli, Mont. Transfer of the herd, 709 in number, to Canadian pastures took three years.

At the time of the purchase buffalo in Canada numbered only 30. Of these

Pretty Candlelight Ceremony Held In Derwent

CHERKAWSKY—KOSHYLYK

A pretty wedding took place in the Derwent Ukrainian Greek Catholic church recently, when Olga Kobylnyk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kobylnyk, became the bride of Olek Cherkawsky, son of Rev. Cherkawsky.

Rev. B. Hnatshensky, Rev. E. Melnychuk and Rev. J. Cherkawsky performed the lovely candlelight ceremony.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride wore a white gown of lace and nylon tulle. A strapless model, it was modified by a lace bolero with tapering lily-point sleeves. The bouffant skirt was of nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil, edged with chantilly lace, misted down from a pearl encrusted coronet. The bride carried a bouquet of crimson roses and stephanotis, and her only jewellery, a gold cross, was a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were the Misses Natalie Kobylnyk, Elisabeth Krawchuk, Joan Fedoray and Irene Sakalosh. They were also fairy-styled gowns of nylon marquisette in shades of pink and blue. Bands of flowers comprised their headdresses and they carried maegays. Teresa Andrews and Christine Lendzuk, the flower girls, were white taffeta gowns, bands of flowers in their hair and carried nosegays.

The best man was Dan Sakaluk. Walter Dibar, Matt Krawchuk and Steve Lychak.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kobylnyk chose a white print dress and wore a corsage of pink roses.

A reception with 300 guests attending was held in the Ukrainian National hall. The bride's table contained a three layer cake which was surrounded by vases of pink carnations and white irises.

Following a honeymoon in Niagara Falls, New York and Chicago the newlyweds will make their home in Derwent.

Farm Help From Alberta Wanted

For the 10th consecutive year farm workers from Alberta are required in Ontario, according to W. Carnith, manager, National Employment Service, Edmonton, Alta.

Low cost fares enable the farm workers from any point in Alberta to proceed to destination points in Ontario on payment of $30 only. Return transportation is available between Aug. 15 and 31 at a cost of $31.50.

The low fares are made possible by subsidies jointly financed by the provinces of Ontario and Federal governments, under the Federal-Provincial Farm Labour program and by special tariffs granted by the railways. The provincial government also contributes in the case of the project by assisting in recruiting and dispatching workers through their farm help service.

National Employment offices will make all arrangements for the transfer of workers to Ontario. In Vermilion K. H. Buckingham is in charge and has full information.

Woodvale News

As we are accompanying our hubby on a business trip to the movies and St. Paul, with a day's fishing thrown in too, we hope we had better write the few news items we have before they get lost.

Talking about fishing, parties from all over the district have been to the lakes lately enjoying a few days of leisure, bringing home the bacon too.

Adam Pusnek of Vineyard, Sask., is visiting around here and staying with Clarence Lewis and Art Lyons. All his many friends are glad to see him again and looking so well and happy and full of fun as always!

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pierman had their two oldest children are making a round trip by car, via Olds, Calgary, to Banff and Jasper. Grandma Rankin is in Vermilion is looking after the baby.

Dave Sweeney is busy digging a cellar on the rear of the lot he bought. Johnny Isley is giving him a helping hand.

The Gordon Dixon's moved sometime ago onto their new place near the school. They are living in a bunk house for the time being.

Frnie Isley will be writing his Gr. 9 exams at the Ganton school, where three other pupils Freddy McGrath, Frankie Wolsers and Hazel Thomsons are undergoing the same torture.

Dorothy Isley is writing her Gr. XI correspondence subjects under supervision of Miss Mahan.

We hope someone else will report on the wedding dance in the Ganton school last Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rasul. We were unable to go and hope that the thunderstorm that lingered for hours overhead in those parts and brought so much rain, did not spoil the party, as ungravelled roads sure were muddy and slippery that evening.

Ten Commandments To the Mother Of A School Beginner

1. You shall see to it that your Johnny is physically fit for the year ahead of him. Look to his eyes, his ears, his teeth, his weight, and last, but by no means least, his adenoids and tonsils.

2. You shall clothe your Johnny neatly and cleanly and continue to do so throughout the year.

3. You shall instruct your Johnny carefully in the unassisted donning of coat, cap, rubbers or overshoes. This do and the teacher will bless you.

4. You shall not frighten him with tales of what the teacher will do, should he misbehave. Let him find out for himself if the time comes, if ever.

5. You shall keep his dog at home from this day forward.

6. You shall refrain from any criticism of the teacher in the presence of your Johnny.

7. You shall acquaint yourself with his teacher. It frequently irons out many problems.

8. You shall await the teacher's instructions before purchasing supplies. It quite often prevents disappointment.

9. You shall administer the soap and water at least twice a day.

10. You shall not be overanxious to start Johnny to school. If he appears immature for his age, seek advice before sending him.

These things do, and you will have a happy, healthy child, who will be a joy to his teacher and the pride of his parents.

Blue Jeans

Blue Jeans all started when many noted European cities specialized in the manufacture of some particular kind of cloth. This was the case with Janua (modern Genoa) which produced a type of heavy twilled cotton called jene or jean. Jean became popular for use in making trousers. For many years they were manufactured from undyed jean; then someone made up a batch from cloth dyed blue. Such blue jeans were an instant success with workmen outdoors men, and lately, our own youngsters.

Going on a Motor Trip?

To make your holiday more fun you can start out with a "canteen" in your car. The canteen can be simply a sturdy cardboard box which you can fill with oranges, chocolate bars, gum and whatever you like. (This will save frazzled nerves caused by stopping every 50 miles to resupply your family.) Along with the canteen, you'll need a waterproof basket of some sort, an ordinary paper bag that can be put in the garbage every night works well, and as you keep the roads clean, you also teach tidiness to your youngsters.

ZITS is an exciting car game in which players watch the countryside for objects to Zits. You may arrange your own scoring but here is an idea of how it might go: white horse, 1 point; white goat, 10 points; white-bearded man 20 points. The first player to see a white animal shouts "Zits, goat". If it is a goat he gets 10 points, but if it turns out to be a sheep or a dog he loses ten points. Highest score wins.

MILEAGE is fun and you can learn to guess distance this way too. At the command "guess" all players estimate the distance to a point decided on. It might be a house, a tree or a hill. The player who comes nearest according to the speedometer wins.

GRAVEYARD is played by deciding on some object to count, horses, cows or whatever you like. One player or team takes one side of the road, the others take the other side. Each calls out the number of cows they see on their side and adds them to their score. If they pass a graveyard on their side, all their cows are killed and they must start over. Play this game to a city limit, to the town you're going to. Largest score wins.

Whatever you do, and wherever you go on your holiday, I hope you have heaps of fun, and rest, and enjoyment.

"Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" is the name of a booklet you may have for writing in for it. The book tells you all the times required for fruits, vegetables, the special care needed, methods of canning. Including the new, raw method so good for berries and recipes for jams, jellies and pickles. Just write for it.

Did You Know?

Did you know that the new fabrics like Orlakay, Plexlay, Cotton Taffetas and materials of that type no matter what their trade name, are actually cottons with a light plastic coating. That's why they shed dirt, and wash so easily with so little wrinkling. Isn't science wonderful.

"Preserve by Freezing"

Is the name of another bulletin you may write for if you need it. This booklet gives you complete information for freezing all foods.

For Next Week

Next week will be pretty well devoted to salads, so watch for it if you're interested.

An F.A.O. Report

AS THE NATIONS OF EUROPE recovered from the effects of the war, the production of food crops was resumed and less has been heard in recent years of the great need for wheat and other foodstuffs there. In this connection the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations reports that although there is now normal production in many parts of the world where there was little or none during the war, the volume of the principal food crops in many European countries and in the Far East is still below the pre-war level. However, world food production has increased by some nine per cent. over the figure for the four years before the war, that is from 1934 to 1938.

• • • •

Supplies Are Not Adequate

However, the report of the Food and Agriculture Organization points out that the world population has increased by thirteen per cent. since 1938, so although production is now greater than it was before the war, the per capita amount of food is below the level for the pre-war years. At that time the world food supply was not considered to be adequate, and how it is considerably less. As we know, food is not distributed equally throughout the world, and in countries like our own, misuse there is usually a surplus of agricultural products, few of the people are hungry

• • • •

Production Is Now Greater

In some parts of Europe and in the Far East, however, even with adequate food and one of the great social problems of our times is to help the people of those countries to achieve higher standards of living. At the time it fails to the great food-producing countries of the Western Hemisphere including Canada, to supply those countries wherever it is possible to do so. Production has increased since the war and it is expected that the world food supply will be larger in 1952 than it was in the preceding year. Canada is fortunate to be one of those countries where an abundance of food can be grown, but our good fortune carries with it a responsibility to contribute to the solution of the great world problems which centre around the low living standards of many thousands of people in other lands

Alberta Meeting Half Of Canada's Daily Oil Needs

Alberta oil production continues to break all previous records and is now close to 300,000 barrels daily, which is about half the oil this country uses in a day.

Daily average for the week ended May 26 was a new peak at 196,013 bbls. compared with 190,178 during the previous record established in the week ended May 19

Redwater again has the largest production, 69,566 bbls against 56,-736 bbls. the previous week. Leduc production rose from 62,471 to 63,-721 bbls daily.

Frank McMahon president of Pacific Petroleums advances some reasons in his 1951 report why he expects the western oil boom to continue to expand.

"The . . . 126 gas and oil discoveries made during the past 18 months in Western Canada give abundant proof of the possibilities for successful development. Under the stimulus of one long distance oil pipeline sharply expanding its capacity, one major oil pipeline under construction, and the authorization of natural gas export by the Alberta Government—the three projects investing almost $300 million—there is every reason to believe that exploration, drilling and production rates will continue their rapid expansion."—The Financial Post.

GRATITUDE

A lifelong pedestrian bought a bicycle. On his way home to the suburbs he had to make a call and left the bicycle outside the shop. Having made his purchase, he forgot the bicycle and, from force of habit, boarded a bus.

On his arrival home his wife, much to his astonishment, reminded him that he had gone away in the morning on his bike. He took the next bus for the City, and to his surprise, found the bicycle where he had left it.

As a token of his appreciation of the honesty of his fellow citizens he decided to make an offering to the less fortunate ones. So he cycled to a church and deposited a contribution in the poor-box.

With his heart full of joy he left the church and found that his bicycle had gone.

Mine Town Becoming Model Of Cleanliness

NATAL, B.C.—Sparwood, two miles west of here in the picturesque Crow's Nest Pass coal, doesn't look like a coal-mining town.

It is, in fact, the realization of a dream, long held by planners of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company.

For years housewives whose husbands worked at the mines put up with the grime and soot from coke ovens and slag piles at nearby Natal and Michel.

But in Sparwood, housewives can forget the coal miner. They live in clean, comfortable bungalows in a well-planned residential town which the coal company hopes will soon supplement grimy Natal and Michel entirely.

The project started in 1939 when the company built six houses with a limited expansion in mind. But after the war they decided to expand on the plan and today there are 36 houses in Sparwood with another 32 going up this year.

Lots in Sparwood are sold to company employees for $1 each. Others must pay $250 for a lot.

Space has been set aside for a commercial district well away from the residential area, which includes a large playground for children.

Work will start this summer on a new $425,000 high school. In addition to six classrooms, the school will contain a home economics room, industrial arts shop, drafting room, library and study hall, science room, lunch room and a combination gymnasium and auditorium.

The school will be finished in September, 1953. By that time the town of Sparwood will be well on the way to being one of the brightest mining towns in Western Canada.

TOURIST RECORD EXPECTED FOR 1952

OTTAWA. — Resources Minister Winters said that this may be a record tourist year for Canada.

He said in a statement that prospect is suggested by a record number in April entries of automobiles on travellers' vehicle permits, taken as a usually reliable indication of tourist trends.

Mr. Winters said there were 98,378 permit entries for the month, 13 per cent. up from the corresponding month last year and an all-time record for April.

Finds Wild West Tales Tame Compared With War Adventures

CALGARY—Wild west tales about trigger-happy cowboys and war-painted Indians of the old days don't faze Edith Cobet, a recent arrival from Liverpool, England.

She finds western tales tame compared with her wartime adventures in England with an anti-aircraft battery.

Baseball is one thing that has captured the fancy of Miss Cobet, recently appointed Junior Red Cross field organizer for southern Alberta with headquarters in Calgary. Her English accent echoes through the stands at every game she attends.

Baseball is only one phase of Canada's life that Edith has found interesting. She was introduced to Alberta's special brand of square dancing at a giant square dance fest right here and now she's all set to buy herself a flowered skirt and all the trimmings.

Miss Cobet graduated from the University of Liverpool where she studied social science and town planning.

Suggests Battleford As Centre For Sask. 50th Anniversary

BATTLEFORD, Sask. — The historic town of Battleford has been suggested as one of the chief centres for official observances when Saskatchewan celebrates her 50th anniversary in 1955. Town Councillor Joe Kuffner has launched a movement to have Battleford, a capital of the Northwest Territories when they included Saskatchewan and Alberta, play an important role in the province's golden jubilee celebrations.

As early as 1800 the Hudson's Bay company established posts at the junction of the Battle and North Saskatchewan rivers in west-central Saskatchewan about 75 miles northwest of Saskatoon.

The Royal Northwest Mounted Police established their regional headquarters at Battleford and it was from that fort that R.N.W.M.P. went to quell the disturbance at Duck Lake after the Riel rebellion broke out in 1885.

After a defeat at Duck Lake and being besieged at Fort Pitt, the Mounties withdrew to Battleford. As the fortunes of battle changed they received the surrender of Poundmaker of the Stoney Indians at Battleford.

It was in Battleford that the Saskatchewan Herald, the first newspaper west of Winnipeg, was published in 1878. The town also boasts the oldest Roman Catholic and Anglican churches in the province.

Battleford people take their town's history casually and the town of North Battleford has become the commercial centre of the area but Councilor Kuffner feels that the town's colorful part in the province's history deserves recognition.

Wildmere Winks

Church service at Wildmere was rained out again on Sunday. We are surely getting lots of rain now. If dry, church will be at 7:30 next Sunday.

On Thursday evening Basswood Tigers and Tolland played off the game scheduled for last Sunday before with Basswood winning 14 to 7. Late in the afternoon of last Sunday the Tigers journeyed to Auburndale and played that team, and won, we believe by a score of 10-7. Next Sunday Scotstoun plays the Tigers on Basswood grounds.

What a crowd attended the wedding dance of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rued at Tolland on Friday night! It was as muddy outside that the floor was like dancing on a gravel road. J. C. Wallington was M.C. until midnight when Adam Dusek took over. All in all it was a grand dance and gave the young couple a good send off to their happy married life.

We were pleased to be able to have a nice chat with Tom Doyle and his son Bobby on Saturday in town. They were here from Penoka visiting relatives around Vermilion. Saturday evening they went out to Mr. and Mrs. Duff M. Gracie's. They will return home on Thursday. While Tom is a bachelor he is the same jolly fellow he used to be. If time was good to talk to him, to see the hope and faith he has in the future. Mrs. Doyle and young son did not accompany him this time.

On Saturday this week Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson of Basswood and three children Mary, Isabelle and Ernest, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin and Doreen of Wildmere leave on a three-weeks holiday to the Pacific coast where the Gibson's will visit relatives in New Westminster and Cloverdale, B.C. We all wish them a great trip and a grand holiday. They are going by car and truck.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith of Basswood and Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, Bill and Adam Smith of Wildmere attended the Male Voice chorus at the Columbia. All enjoyed it very much.

A couple of old land marks of Wildmere changed places this week. The house on J. Barnhart's farm has been a land mark for many years. It was built by the late Andrew Cochrane in the early teens and when Mr. Barnhart lived there the writer and family used to watch for the smoke from the chimney. J. Wilson bought this farm and moved the house a half mile south where he intends to make it into a modern home for himself and Mrs. Wilson, however, we'll still be able to see the friendly smoke curling out of the chimney. The other one is a home that was built by the late Tom Riley. This farm was bought by Evan Costin and he has sold the buildings off it. Bruce Wilson has bought the house and moved it to his farm south of Vermilion. Mr. or Mrs. Vermilion moved both these houses.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. Chalmers and George called for a few minutes at the writer's home. Bill and Adam Smith were supper guests at the J. Wilson home on Sunday. The writer had a nice chat with Mrs. B. Rogan on Saturday in town.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Jack Stanford is a patient in hospital. We all wish you a speedy recovery. Grace to health and home.

Sunday May 25 Rosedale was all over spraying J. Wallington's crops for weeds last week.

A nice crowd attended Mrs. J. Alexander's sale in Battleview last Wednesday. Things sold very well. Mrs. Alexander now lives in Hines where she works in the telephone office. Mr. McCormick has rented here.

The Foot and Mouth Disease

We are in Western Canada greatly alarmed about the outbreak of foot and mouth disease. Our troubles, however, are much lighter than those being suffered in some other countries. The latest news from Britain reveals that since last November they have suffered from 250 different outbreaks and that 16,000 cattle and about 10,000 sheep and 9,000 pigs have already been destroyed at a cost to the Government already of $2,720,000. That a standstill order has been put up on the movement of livestock and that the famous British Agricultural Fairs and shows which for long have played a useful and stimulating part in the life of the farming community have a bleak and uncertain prospect. It has been found in Britain that herds affected with foot and mouth disease can be nursed back to health, but that the cost to the farmer is not less great and that slaughtering is in the end the cheapest method. The individual farmer suffers very severely from slaughtering, but it is felt that unless this is done a disaster on a national scale might ensue. This is all particularly hard on Britain where a shortage of meat requires a weekly ration of only 2½ ozs worth per person of meat and 1½ ounces of bacon. The foot and mouth disease may reduce this meagre ration.

NEWS from ISLAY

Lovely School at Minburn

Had a most enjoyable day this week at Minburn, spending the time with Mr. and Mrs. Harold White and family. We were shown all through the new school there, a very beautiful building. It's 'the last word' in interior layout and decoration and equipment. Maybe our division could get some ideas there. We thought Dewberry's new school something to talk about, but it has to take a back seat, just not in it with the Minburn school, which will be a real pleasure to work in.

One evening recently a shower honoring Miss Jean Harrington, a bride-elect was held at the home of Mrs. Betty Purser. Some 20 ladies were present. Mrs. Purser carried out a basket gaily decorated in pink and white, laden with very nice gifts. Mrs. Sybil Roebuck made the presentation speech and after opening the gifts Miss Harrington made a very nice reply, thanking the friends for their kind news and good wishes. Following a lovely lunch was enjoyed. Miss Harrington is the matron of our Islay hospital so we do hope she and her future husband Mr. Norman Mylrie will reside in the wedding in the house recently purchased from Harry Young and she will continue as matron.

You have, heard the story of 'old Sam Brown, who looked for his spectacles and shouted 'Martha, have you seen my specs?' 'Yes, Sam, they are on your forehead.'

Well, that isn't just what we were told almost Bill Hudson and that ring rod, but it seems Bill went with the gang recently to fish. Couldn't find his rod when they got to the lake. 'Be darned, that's funny, no rod'. Can't you see Bill with a stick from a poplar tree, some string and a bent pin, hauling in the fish? But Bill Barfoot came to the rescue he had an extra rig in his box and so Bill didn't have to resort to the poplar pole. Maybe I'll take one more look at your equipment before you drive out of town.

The corner lot, once occupied by the hotel is being built on again. A service station by the B.A. Oil Co. Clarence Robertson who is agent here and whose warehouse is just across the street from same is doing the building and will be the operator.

The Handicraft club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Hilda Bell.

A shower for the McGuigan twin babies was given at the home of Mrs. D. Martin on Wednesday June 18th. Neighbors and friends attended in large numbers. The gifts were lovely, many were home-made and most useful, even to a set of dressed in home-made flannelette twins composed of shawls and nighties, bonnets and lovely baby faces—really a cute pair. Shirley, the sister of the babies had the fun of opening the gifts assisted by Katherine Grout and Betty Martin. A very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Martin assisted by the neighbors.

The Islay school brought home the Vermilion A.T.A. cup for softball, won at the track meet.

"Blood Red the Sun" by Benedict Cameron is being read by some of the Islay citizens and stirred their blood so that they had to go see the tournament ground, the cairn, the old mill wheel, etc. The party consisted of Harry and Annie, Sheila, George and Mrs. Purves and Miss Eva Redmond of Ironville, Mr. and Mrs. B. Tenley, Marion and Jack, and Janet Bell set out merrily on their way on Sunday and we at home merrily enjoyed the rain. The party was viewing the cem etr The travellers were viewing the cemetery when the rain pattered down a little—they were found its remains of the old mill wheel. They ate their dinner at Ross Lake and even in the rain they really enjoyed the meal which Sheila served from the kitchenette of Gertie (the car) where she had a gas stove, even Sheila was in the kitchenette. After dinner they went on to Lindberg to see the salt plant and to Elk Point to see the new bridge. They had supper at the swimming hole on the Vermilion River, arriving home early in the evening, quite happy.

If you thrill to pioneer stories, drop in and visit Mr. D. Buchanan. Some of days before 1900 around Fort Saskatchewan, of the Indian days and of a time in a camp there. Dave should write these stories, they would make good reading.

Why try to put the old jalopies off the roads? Here is a bit taken from the magazine Voice of Motordom — "More than 95% of all automobile accidents occur through [illegible] and over [illegible] 97% of all accidents involve cars in good condition." This was said by Merlin Donald of the All-Canada Insurance Federation. Facts, not fiction.

Question—Who invented chewing gum?

Ethelwyn Notes

We hope that everyone is getting as much rain as we in this district are. Rather a worry to picnic committees. The committee for the P.U.A. picnic had a grandstand arranged and everything was run off like clockwork.

The Carbondale United church W.A. would like to thank everyone who helped in anyway, both with labor and donations of food at the lunch booth on sports day. Your help was greatly appreciated.

The United Church W.A. held the annual meeting in the church on June 18th. The following were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Sophie Feenstra; Vice-president—Mrs. Gewer; Secretary — Mrs. Jaremco. Devotional convener—Mrs. Swart; Project convener — Mrs. Schoonmaker. Mrs. Peck was returned for another term as treasurer. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Cooper's July 3rd.

It is this writer's opinion that some discussion concerning school truck routes would be timely, and through the columns of the Standard. How many favor holding a truck meet? What benefits from them? It is the writer's opinion that much is left undone towards displaying the efficiency of these meets. These past several years the writer has discussed the truck meets with numerous teachers of rural schools and all claim they are just a big nuisance to them, and many teams that did not return for the ball tournaments at Kitscoty indicate that many think the same. It is possible the present system should be changed. Training in hard work and the meet is held just when exams are coming up. Teachers umpire games in which their own school teams are playing. Let's hear from others on this subject.

Along the skyline trails and through the fabled passes of the Canadian Rockies this July, 130 dude riders, straddling their surely saddled cayuses, will view some of the most spectacular scenery on the continent. The dudes are Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization founded by J. Murray Gibbon, well-known author and former general publicity agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, and during the last two weeks in July will participate in five-day and six-day rides in the Egypt Lake-Marmon Ridge area of the Continental Divide near Banff, jumping off point for the expeditions. The five-day ride, starting July 18th, costs $95 per person and the six-day jaunt, beginning July 25th costs $75, which includes horse, saddle equipment, eggs accommodation, meals and guide service. All riders are eligible for membership in the 39-year-old Trail Riders organization.

Winners Announced in Second Essay on Farm Safety

Roy Hnatow, Bridgeview School, and Donna Schneider, Clandonald, Take First Prizes.

The Farm Safety Committee of the Alberta Safety Council has announced the School Division winners in the second of two essay competitions recently conducted throughout the rural schools of the province.

In the Vermilion School division Roy Hnatow, grade 6 pupil of the Bridgeview school was the winner. Miss Mable Hilton is the teacher.

In the grade 7 and 8 division, Donna Schneider, grade 7 pupil at the Clandonald Separate school won first prize. Sister Alma is her teacher.

Assigned subjects for the second competition were tractors; animals; falls or falling objects. A survey of essays received in this competition would indicate that Alberta's rural young people have a firm realization of the hazards of modern farming, and some very sound ideas on safety measures for prevention.

As in the initial contest, two room prizes and two personal prizes were made available for each school division which entered the contest, one for the winning pupil and one for his or her room for the best essay in grades 5 and 6, and for the best essay in grades 7 and 8.

Selection for Provincial Prize.

A selection of the three best essays from both contests is now being made for the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Provincial prizes. The Alberta Safety Council is offering special scholarship awards to the authors of the three papers judged the best in the province. These awards are $75 for 1st and $25 each for the next two. Final results will be available before the closing of school.

Two More Competitions.

The Farm Safety Committee of the Alberta Safety Council intends to sponsor two more essay competitions, commencing early in the fall term, one to be completed before Christmas and one after. In fact, response to the pioneer venture has been so good that it is hoped to make Farm Safety Essay competitions annual events.

The Essay committee is: R. D. Jorgenson, M.L.A., Chairman; W.E. Parlow, Chief Superintendent of Schools for Alberta; E. B. Swindlehurst, Dept. of Agriculture; Rudolph Hennig, President Alberta School Trustees Assoc.; H. Stutchbury and A. P. Lawrence, Alberta Safety Council.

After consideration by a committee which judged subject material in regard to the safety angle, all essays were submitted to W. Everard Edmonds, M.A., for judging on an academic basis.

Winning essay, Grades 5 and 6 group, by Roy Hnatow, Grade 6, Bridgeview school.

"It Happened On the Farm"

Tom Corbit and his five-year-old son Billy, entered their stable to harness a team of horses. Billy never had been around horses so he stayed close to his father.

Mr. Corbit said, "don't be afraid of these horses son. They are the quietest team in this country."

The horses who were busily eating, had not heard the approaching pair.

Mr. Corbit walked up behind the horses. He stepped one of them on the rump to make it get over. This frightened the horse which began to kick. Following his companion's actions the other horse, also startled, began to kick. Mr. Corbit and Billy were both kicked severely.

Mrs. Corbit rushed her critically injured husband and son to the hospital, but they died on the way.

Billy would not have been killed if Mr. Corbit had told him to stay back 'till he had made the horse get over. Mr. Corbit should not have stepped the horse. The lonesome horse could not be blamed for killing its master and the boy. Even a person is frightened when someone who cannot be seen slaps him.

A horse in the stable or in the open should be approached from as great an angle as possible. Do not approach a horse from behind. Do not slap or shout at a horse unless he knows you're there.

When approaching a horse, speak gently, move slowly, and watch for signs of nervousness.

So be careful when around horses.

Q

At what age do most women retire?

A

Ten years earlier than men . . . usually at 55.

They like live longer. Bank accounts, therefore, require smaller income for a much longer period of time than men. Many Canadians find Mutual Life of Canada policies, with their absolute safety, their steady increase in values and their long record of generous dividend payments, the best possible way of providing adequate income for the future. Discuss your problem today with a Mutual Life of Canada representative.

Winning essay, Grades 7 and 8, by Donna Schneider Grade 7, Clandonald Separate school. Teacher, Sister Alma.

IT HAPPENED ON THE FARM

The Brown family had a pony, Prince, which was a rather frisky one. The father and older boys thought he was a great horse but the smaller children weren't allowed to ride him because he shied at almost anything along the road. They had another horse, Dollie, that was pokey and easier for the children to control and drive to school.

The older boys tried to race Prince with another horse and Prince got the idea that he wasn't to let anyone pass him.

Jack, a boy of 12, always envied his bigger brothers because they could ride Prince and he couldn't. Jack was a better rider than any of the other boys of his age and he thought that he could ride Prince just as well as his older brothers.

One day Bill, a neighbor friend of Jack's came over for a horseback ride. As mother and father were in town, Jack thought he would take Prince. Jack and Bill were riding along for a while when Bill's horse started to act a little faster. Prince, then went faster yet. A small piece of white paper was on the road and Prince took two jumps and Jack went over his head. He broke some bones in his arm and had his arm in a cast for quite a few weeks. When his father found out the cause of the accident, he scolded Jack for not obeying.

This accident could have been prevented if Jack had obeyed his father when he told him not to ride Prince [illegible] was a good rider n[illegible] knew he wasn't good enough to control Prince. Little boys should not try to be smart and think they can do what their fathers say they can't. Jack shouldn't have picked a day when his father wasn't home. He should have had his father with him the first time he tried out a high spirited horse.

Piping and dancing contests will be featured at the St. Andrew's Highland games on Wednesday, July 2nd. This novel program proved very popular when initiated a year ago and will be more attractive than ever on the second occasion. See the advertisement in this issue and posters for full particulars and don't fail to keep this day free to attend the Highland games. 50-1

In loving memory of Ina Louise Anderson
— who passed away June 23, 1947
"What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In Heaven, that happy life."

Fair Attractions Said Outstanding

S. C. Heckbert, chairman of the attractions committee and Western Canada Fairs Association past manager of Vermilion fair, has received the following letter from Alex A.W. Schackleford, President of the Lethbridge Exhibition Assoc.:

"Attractions programme for Western Canada B. Fairs opened here tonight and attractions have ever shown in Western Canada and exceptionally well received by Lethbridge district people. Every act is excellent and we are sure our people will enjoy each attraction."

Starting on July 24th at 7:30 p.m. the Irving Cummings Attractions working out of Chicago will provide entertainment for Vermilion and district. Shows will be given on Thursday evening, Friday afternoon and both evening, Saturday and again on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Advance tickets for Vermilion fair will shortly be on sale and all district "boosters" are urged to provide themselves with a sufficient number of tickets as very considerable saving will be effected by such purchase. Advance tickets are good for grandstand as well as gate admissions. Next week's issue of the Standard will contain a resume of the attractions which appear, from advance notices, to be of unusually interesting character.

The Boy Scouts' camp will be held from Monday July 21st to Saturday July 26th inclusive at the Vermilion school of agriculture and as the enrollment is now complete no more applications can be accepted for this year.

THEY'RE FIRST
Because They're Finest!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Stack up what you get for what you pay... and join the nation's largest group of truck buyers by choosing Chevrolet

CHEVROLET

Maybe you didn't know that by far the biggest number of truck users in Canada today are buying Chevrolet Trucks.

They are . . . and for good hard-headed reasons. Because when they're after a truck can be set down about like this:

1) It's got to be low in cost. No use paying a lot of extra money for a truck that the truck will have to earn back. Chevrolet trucks give you more for your money.

2) Upkeep and operating costs must be low. A truck is money-making equipment. It can't be a money-waster. Chevrolet trucks work for you—because "wages" on fuel and maintenance.

3) How well the truck does the job is all-important. It's got to have the capacity, power and rugged construction to get work done—efficiently and economically. Chevrolet trucks are engineered and built for your loads.

4) The truck must be rugged, long lasting. That's one important reason why over-all Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more at trade-in, for what they cost, than any other truck.

If these considerations make sense to you, take a good long look at facts 1, 2, 3 and 4 below. Then come in and let's see how a Chevrolet truck can save you money in your business.

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLET TRUCKS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE

GO THE ROAD WITH THE GREATEST PAYLOAD

Fact No. 1 — More truck for your money. Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck, regardless of handling the same payloads, and you'll see that Chevrolet gives you far more for your money. Chevrolet, for all its low prices, brings you completeness, modern and exclusive truck features you won't find in many trucks costing a lot more.

Fact No. 2 — Best-known operating costs. Many thousands of truck users have proved to their own satisfaction that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy, in the low priced Chevrolet engines, saves on gas. Chevrolet's special 4-way engine lubrication system reduces friction and wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact No. 3 — Engineered and built for your loads. Chevrolet trucks are engineered to meet your payload requirements. You don't waste money by buying "too much truck" — you don't risk work, loss of time or slow-downs by buying "too little truck." Frame, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team.

Fact No. 4 — Long, dependable operation. Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring many money at resale or trade-in time any other make. Chevrolet's another value says up because the value stays in. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy.

June has lived up to its reputation of being the rainy month. Now we hope that July will bring the warm growing weather we need, and just the odd shower to keep crop and garden from getting too dry. The countryside looks so nice and green and fresh, but grain is late.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webber from Toronto who were visiting the former's mother Mrs. Mabel Webber, got around mostly on horseback and in a wagon, and did not see quite as many people as they would have liked. They enjoyed their stay though and hope to be back in vacation time more often in the future. So does Adam Dunek who returned to Wynyard last week end. Or did you stay just a wee bit longer, Adam?

Two quilting bees were held at the home of Mrs. J. Lysons to make quilts for Master Lyons' trousseau. To the first one came a few relations and a neighbor and about 8 came to work on the large wool filled quilt and held at the 16th mile telephone office here.

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

A Salad a Day

Salads are a boon to those who must count their calories. Salads are a delightful way to ensure those prescribed raw vegetables and fruits every day. As soon as salad greens are delivered from market or gathered from the garden, trim off inedible leaves. Store unwashed in tightly covered receptacle in refrigerator and wash as needed (to avoid 'rusting'). To wash head lettuce - cut out core, hold each under cold running water until the leaves are easily separated by water and fingers. Leaf lettuce, endive, spinach etc., swish in water, wash each leaf separately, lift out. Lake warm water is better than cold to remove sand. Dry salad greens before making salad by shaking or patting gently in clean towel or absorbent paper. Keep salad greens cold after washing until ready for use. Place in hydrator or plastic bag in refrigerator.

Raw Vegetables

Raw vegetables commonly used with salad greens: Thinly sliced radishes, thinly sliced cucumbers, diced celery, tomato slices or wedges, thinly sliced carrots or thin carrot strips, little new onions, finely cu chives, minced parsley; rings of green or red peppers; strips of pimento, flowerets of cauliflower; wafer thin slices of turnips; Shredded cabbage, finely shredde baby beets, shredded raw parsnips, sliced raw mushrooms.

How to make Tasteful, Quickened Green Salad

1. For a faint whisper of garlic flavor, rub chilled bowl with garlic bud.

2. Break apart and break up crisp salad greens and place in bowl.

3. Add attractive sized pieces (to retain their identity) of vegetables, fruits, etc.

4. Just before serving, add dressing — only enough to make leaves of greens glisten

5. Gently toss ingredients so that every piece is coated with dressing.

6. Add juicy tomato sections at the last.

7. Serve in large bowl or in individual bowls or on chilled salad plates.

French Dressing

The dressing makes the salad! (For simple green salads). Best together with rotary beater or shake well in tightly covered jar.

1 tbsp. sugar; 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. paprika, 1 tsp. mustard, ¼ tsp. pepper, ¼ cup mild vinegar or lemon juice, ¾ cup salad oil, few drops onion juice or clove garlic.

Keep in covered jar in refrigerator. Shake to mix well before using. Send for "The Salad Bowl" for many delightful recipe s and garnishes.

Changes in Battle River Constituency Are Outlined

BY ROBERT FAIR, M.P.
BATTLE RIVER

As this column is being written the 6th session of the 21st parliament is drawing near to conclusion and at the present time the House is sitting from 11 in the morning until 11 at night six days a week with time off for lunch and dinner. In addition to these rather tiresome sittings a number of committees are holding two or three meetings a day in an attempt to complete the business and bring in final reports to the House.

In spite of the fact that the session was opened on the 28th of February and may close by the end of the month, quite a number of pieces of legislation have been considered and as a result of these, it is hoped that conditions will be made better for Canadians in all walks of life. While space will not permit dealing in detail with all of the legislation, I should at once state that the long demanded increase in War Veterans Allowance has now passed the House of Commons and is waiting passage by the Senate. This in effect increases the allowance for single persons from $40 to $50 per month and for married couples from $70 to $90. In addition it brings the ceiling on age down from 65 to 60 and also places the earning capacity of a veteran on a monthly basis. The ceiling formerly was $1200 per annum but it is hoped that this unless our work that will give him this amount in a period of four or five months he can continue to earn other amounts on a monthly basis without affecting his allowance. Payment of this allowance will be made retroactive to the 1st of January and it is hoped that those cheques will be sent out in August. Other minor legislation dealing with veterans has been passed but the one described above is the main act.

Report on Foot and Mouth.

In connection with the outbreak of foot and mouth disease last December, the Agricultural Committee a few days ago made a lengthy report to the House which in my opinion leaves out most of the things that should be included. One of the most important clauses reads as follows: "Having considered the correspondence and records submitted together with the evidence adduced, your committee is of the opinion that the officials of the Health of Animals Division, Dept. of Agriculture, followed the well defined plans laid down through long experience gained working in cooperation with their counterparts in the U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry in diagnose and combat stomatitis and foot and mouth disease. As a result of this action, foot and mouth disease in Canada is definitely under control and appears to have been eradicated."

This is not the report that should have been submitted based on the evidence given by various officials of the Health and Animals branch and I hope to be able to explain in greater detail points that were brought out during the investigation. Some of the opposition members described the report as a "white wash report", and I cannot entirely disagree with this description. The Department, however, must be given credit for diligent work they have done in stamping out the disease after they had been convinced, in the absence of the head of the department, Dr. Childs, that the disease was actually foot and mouth. In my opinion, the bad publicity given to the outbreak from now on and indeed in the past, will be in the interests of cattle raisers in this country and I have no way for opening of markets to the U.S. again and in this way saving about normal conditions for cattle raisers and others dependent upon them.

Redistribution of Seats

As a result of the 1951 census we had a redistribution of the seats in the House of Commons this session and final reports are expected later today. This will have the effect of providing 265 members in the House with an average population of 54,031. Shifts of population will cause Nova Scotia to lose one seat, Manitoba 2, Saskatchewan 1.

I might mention here that were it not for a special provision providing for a 15% floor, Saskatchewan would stand to lose 5 seats reducing their present 30 to 13. On the other side provision was made for an additional seat for the McKenzie River district which at the present time is represented by the member for the Yukon.

Changes in Battle River

Quebec will gain two seats in addition to their present 73. Ontario will gain two seats from their present 83 and B.C. will have a gain of four seats from their present 18. There will be no change in the number of seats in Alberta but because of the population of the constituencies of Vegreville, Battle River, Camrose and Acadia at the time of the 1951 census being approximately 142,000, those four constituencies are now reduced to 3 members. This necessitated the addition of four more of townships from the southern boundary of the Camrose and Battle River constituencies to Acadia as well as some from the east side of the Red Deer and Wetaskiwin constituencies. It also provides for one row of townships from the north side of Camrose to be added to Vegreville as well as townships 50 to 36 inclusive, ranges 7 to 11 inclusive from the northwest corner of Battle River be added to Vegreville to bring its population up to approximately 30,000. This leaves a present Battle River-Camrose combined constituency comprising townships 42 to 49 inclusive, ranges 1 to 21 inclusive and also townships 30 to 36, ranges 1 to 6 inclusive. The seat being taken from this section of the country will be allotted to the Edmonton district and will be called Edmonton South as the population in and around Edmonton has increased very materially during recent years.

As my space is exhausted, I shall have to continue details of other pieces of legislation in future columns. It is my intention to get around the constituency just as soon as it is possible to arrange meetings after I return home and this will give me an opportunity to answer questions that may be in the minds of various persons.

The Widow's Might

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

The Might of Alice Cranney Was Revealed in Her Deed.

THERE was amused consternation among the fair dwellers at Beachmont when they learned that the new tenant of Clifftop Cottage was a widow. Several had seen her . . . Ruby young thing, not over twenty-five and sweet enough to eat. At least they said that until they learned that she had built a monument over a husband.

But Alice Conway had not reached twenty when she married John Terria. He departed this life two years later and when she came to Beachmont she was still a year under twenty-five. And in all truth she was lovely. The only thing maligned about Alice was her mind. She had made up her mind to acquire another husband.

Of course, the Beachmonters suspected her designs. Every young woman held more tightly to her man, and observed him closely from the tender smile of Mrs. Terria. But, contrarily, Alice kept to herself and did not join in any of the gay parties that enlivened the sun-burned life of Beachmont. It was generally commented that she wrote stories for the magazines and was busy on a novel. Everyone was eaten with curiosity. Mrs. Terria, they discovered, had two servants and both were excellent cooks. No one could grasp why a lone widow in a tiny cottage should have such an imposing staff.

Smilingly she admitted she was writing a book.

"What sort of book?" the curious asked.

"Oh, a domestic novel," Alice told them mysteriously. She made them delicious tea and fed them cake and as they never before had tasted.

"I love good cooking," she said, "and I have two of the best kitchen-experts in the country. Any time you care to run in . . ."

Oh, she was very nice to everybody. At the same time she made it clear that she was interested in no one man. Gradually the suspicions dwindled.

But there they were much satray. Alice had already picked out the man she wished to have. She began to bait for him, or rather her visitors had cast it for her.

There was at Beachmont that summer a man much sought by women . . . Peter Alanson, a novelist. Peter was one of those rare novelists who make money by their books and do not have to peddle poetry and articles on the home-disorderly to buy breakfast food. Peter was rich, handsome in a cold, stern way, and indifferent to women young, middle-aged or well-to-do.

The fair young creatures at Beachmont all had tried for Peter. He had not yielded. Instead he had entertured them in his books. They hastened to tell him that a rival light shone from Clifftop. Alice had admitted that she sold things to the magazines . . . under a pen-name, of course. They told him it was his duty to visit a sister-author and swap a few lies with her.

So Peter went and came back a different man.

Try as they would, the summertime folk could not find what attracted Peter, like unattractable, to the widow. Was it just a common love of literature? It was not. Peter was unmistakably in love. What secret charms had this woman? What was the widow's might? Peter Alanson waxed fat, more contented, more in love as the golden months of summer passed and the mosquitoes destructive life was at its bey-day.

Other than Peter's devotion, Peter's example. All were affected in the same way. All fell in love with her and would sooner visit Clifftop than sit in at a poker game. Jealously each one guarded his experience and not one would tell the wherefore.

But Peter Alanson was her favorite. Peter's fellow-novelist became to the puzzled beach-dwellers some souvenir copies of Alice Alanson's book. And the great secret of the widow's charm was out. They were autographed copies, and every woman received hers with delight and love for her who had sent it. The book was: The Clifftop Book of Dainty Recipes or How to Get and Keep a Husband . . . by Alice Conway. It was dedicated to Peter Alanson, lover and judge of a good meal.

CREAM PUFFS FOR THE FAMILY

Many homemakers consider cream puffs or eclairs as something quite beyond their culinary skill. Actually those delectable confections are among one of the easiest deserts to prepare. Made in a generous size they make a good family dessert or in tiny bite-sized versions they grace the most formal or informal tea table. They make a nice change from the fancy sandwich for refreshments also. They may be made very small or medium in size and filled with chicken, or egg salad and have a wee bit of lettuce or endive tucked into them for a touch of colour.

Cream puffs and eclairs are the same thing, differing only in their shape. Following is a recipe which makes a delicious crisp puff.

Cream Puffs or Eclairs

½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup butter
½ cup milk or water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Heat the milk or water and add the butter. Bring to the boiling point and add the flour and salt. Cook and stir until the batter leaves the sides of the pan and clings together forming a ball around the spoon. Remove from the heat at once and add the eggs one at a time, beating the first egg in until thoroughly blended before adding the second egg. Drop from a spoon forming two inch rounds heaped in the centre and two inches apart on a greased cookie sheet. These will form large puffs. For small bit-sized puffs, drop the dough from the half-teaspoon or less spoon of a set of measuring spoons. For eclairs shape the dough into oblongs heaping it up well in the centres. Bake in a hot oven 400 deg. F. for 30 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 deg. F. and bake 5 minutes longer or until done. To test remove one puff from pan and cut slit in side to see if cooked right through. If not done the puff will be doughy inside. Yield 6 to 8 large puffs or 36 bouchettes.

When cold, cut a slit in side or top of puff and fill with sweetened plain or cocoa-flavored whipped cream, custard or lemon filling. Puffs are especially nice filled with ice cream and topped with chocolate or butterscotch sauce.

Serve puffs in place of patty shells and fill with creamed eggs, chicken, meat or fish.

Salads For Health And Beauty

Summ. is the season of salads and no wonder. Properly prepared and eaten they can help to make the hot weather quite bearable.

Use fresh fruits and vegetables. Never soak them any longer than is necessary to get them clean. Precious minerals are lost in water. Eat the skins of the fruits and vegetables wherever possible.

Salads are extremely versatile. They can replace heat-generating foods or stand alone as complete meals. On occasion they may take the place of either soup or dessert. And if you are interested in losing weight or just maintaining present poundage you will find salads one important addition.

As a further aid in keeping your weight down when you are eating salads, substitute lemon juice for the dressing. Be original in your salad planning. Use the following as suggestions to choose from:

Always a base of the raw vegetable or fruit bowl. Complete with cooked sections of bananas and oranges, berries, whole apples, pineapple and bright sauce. Another idea: combination of cooked beans mixed with a whole raw tomato, chopped cucumber slices and green pepper rings.

Raw vegetables combined together with a cooked dressing make delicious salads. Then there's the all round mixed green salad. Arrange lettuce, endive, watercress, celery and whatever you have on hand in a bowl. Add your favorite dressing and toss.

"Fine! What were they?"

"Get out and stay out!"

Mrs. Flint was expressing pessimism for the future during our visit. "It looks as if all that lovely land around Flint is going to be covered with houses," she said. "Why, even Flint Jr. High School is going to be built on it."

"Perhaps," I suggested, "they'll put the school on the roof."

"Oh, no," she replied, "they're going to build that on the ground, too."

Farm Women's Week July 14th to 17th — Make Application Now

If you plan to attend Farm Women's week as one of the wheels of agriculture this year now is the time to make application. Farm Women's week will be held at all three schools. The date of the week at Vermilion is July 14 to 17.

Some of your neighbors might also be interested in this event and by early application you might arrange accommodation together. In any case there will be no shortage of good company. There's nothing like the broadening effect of meeting people from other places and learning about the things in which they are interested. There are many things of value to be obtained by attending Farm Women's week. Besides relaxation and recreation, increased knowledge as a result of the lectures and demonstrations provided, enjoyable social gatherings, and an opportunity to meet old friends and make new ones.

Full particulars of the Farm Women's week can be obtained from your District Home Economist or from the principal of the nearest school of agriculture.

A Welfare Problem

A RECENT CONFERENCE in Ottawa, called by Hon R. H. Winters, Minister of Resources, to discuss the welfare of Canada's Eskimo population, has once more drawn attention to the problems affecting that section of the population. There are about 8,500 Eskimos in Canada not including those living in Labrador. The Department of Resources and Development is in charge of administering their affairs and the broad policy adopted toward them is to assist them to adjust to the advances of civilization without endangering their independence and way of life. It is the aim of the authorities also to help the Eskimos to build a sound economy and to encourage them to fit themselves to assume the rights and responsibilities of citizenship.

* * * *

Difficulty Of Checking T.B.

At the conference called by Mr. Winters, representatives of eight government departments, missionaries, and the Hudson's Bay Company discussed problems affecting the Eskimo population. A statement issued at the close of the conference said that those in attendance at it "were generally in agreement that present measures for the care and advancement of the Eskimos are sound but efforts should be unified and intensified wherever possible. One of the items discussed was the health and morale of the Eskimo people. Tuberculosis was said to be increasing seriously and the difficulty of isolating active cases quickly due to the fact that the population is widely scattered, was given as one reason for this increase. Use by the Eskimo of what was a food and lack of game on which they normally live was also named for the spread of T.B. and the need for a long-term, effective program was stressed as the best means to check the disease was emphasized.

* * * *

Indicate Need For Planning

Education of the Eskimos was also discussed and it was suggested that new text books should be provided and that more emphasis should be placed on practical training in the twenty-five government-operated schools. The effects of government aid in the form of family allowances old age pensions and pensions for the blind were discussed and it was agreed that the contacts with civilization are affecting the health and economy of the Eskimos. While they are entitled to all the benefits enjoyed by citizens in other parts of Canada, those in attendance at the conference believed that the Eskimos should be encouraged to live off the land and follow their traditional way of life. Although they form only a small part of the entire population of Canada, the welfare of this group is not overlooked and it is apparent that there is need for active and effective planning for their future if their health and economy is to be safeguarded.

Canadian Middies Visit Old Virgley

Twenty Canadian midshipmen step out into the past with feminine companionship garbed in the attire of two centuries ago on a tour of restored Williamsburg, Va. The midshipmen, temporarily stationed at the Little Creek Naval Base near Williamsburg, spent the day touring the old city which was regarded as "the brightest jewel in the King's crown" in the 1700's. In the background is the colonial Governor's Palace.

Livery Barns Disappearing To Make Room For Modern Progress

(By Jane Dale)

HAMISTA.—The last of four livery barns in Hamista is now being dismantled and the lumber hauled away to make room for a proposed municipal building. With the wrecking of the old barn old timers glance backward reminiscently, recalling vividly the time when livery barns satisfied all needs used in small towns.

The old McConnell livery barn, built in 1906 by one of the town's earliest contractors, George Anderson still residing in Hamista, withstood the ravages of time but finally succumbed to the modern trend. When it was in its heyday there were three other livery barns in Hamista.

The 1914-18 war was hardly over when the first barn was converted into a garage and machine shop. Later it fell prey to fire which razed it to the ground during the night while most of the town slept. A second barn was later converted into a poolroom and cafeteria, leaving only two barns to accommodate the remaining horses and the teams in winter.

A few years ago the third barn was moved from its site, rebuilt and used for a dairy herd within the precincts of the town, leaving McConnell's barn as a landmark and relic of bygone days. Now in this year 1952, this too, is being wrecked and the lumber taken away to be used for other purposes, and the site made ready for a modern municipal hall. With the barn's passing there goes the last touch with the horse and buggy days.

Old timers and others who have lived in rural centres most of their days know what a place the livery barn held in their early days of the settlements. The town's best horses were housed there, and the farmers for miles around used its facilities continuously. Small town life then was not complete without the livery barn. But with the advent of the cars, trucks and other modern means of communication and travel the horses lost favor and the barns fell into disuse, so with the tearing down of McConnell's barn, another landmark has vanished.

Putting Fish To Sleep For Shipping

MONTREAL — Now they are putting fish to sleep.

The Canadian Forestry Association reported that the Canadian Wildlife service proved trout could live without water by putting the fish to sleep while they were being transferred from one lake to another.

After they were netted, the trout were anaesthetized by placing two per cent Ethyl Carbamate in a water tank. Once asleep the fish were packed in ice, sardine fashion, and flown to their new lake home.

The association said that of more than 1,500 trout weighing an average of five pounds each that were transplanted less than 10 per cent died. It said the death rate would have been much greater had they been shipped in containers of water.

Today is yesterday's pupil.

Suicide Pilot Was Unafraid

BANFF, Alta.—Tanie Kato delegate from Japan to the international Y's men's convention here, told his 900 fellow delegates that his Christian faith stood him in good stead when, as a Kamikaze pilot in the last war, he was ordered to hurl his plane and himself on an American warship.

"When I received the order I thought over my 20 years of life and to my surprise I was not afraid. I thought of God and my religion and I was calm."

The order to attack was cancelled as his plane was taxiing down the runway, Kato said.

Kato said he intended to be a Kamikaze pilot again, "but this time I am carrying the bomb of Christianity and love to my people."

"TOOTH DOODLING" MAY LEAD TO DENTURES

VANCOUVER.—"Tooth doodling" can lead to false teeth Dr B Jan Nelson of Seattle told the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Association. He explained that grinding teeth in a rage or when concentrating on a knotty problem may help at the time but can lead to dentures. "Tooth doodling I call it," he said. "It can lead to sensitive teeth, inflamed gums and, eventually, removal of teeth."

with Modern Fast-Acting DRY Yeast!

FAN TANS
Measure into large bowl, 1/2 c. lukewarm water. Lightly sprinkle 1 teaspoon sugar; the said sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle slowly with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min., THEN stir well. Add 1 c. milk and stir in 1 tbs. granulated sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 2 tbs. shortening. Add 2 cups flour and beat well. Add enough more flour (about 2 cups) to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, grease top of dough, cover and let rise in warm place (85°) until double in bulk (about 1 hour). Punch down and roll out 1/4 inch thick. Cut with 2 1/2 inch round cutter. Brush with melted butter. Fold each piece of dough in half and press edges together. Place on greased baking sheet, brush with melted butter, cover and let rise in warm place (85°) until double in bulk (about 1 hour). Bake in hot oven (400°) 15 min. Makes 2 dozen.

Coal Industry Is Fundamental To Canada

OTTAWA.—Canada's coal industry is fundamental to the industrial life of the country and is not going to be put out of business by oil discoveries in the west.

That was the promise given the commons by Mines Minister Prudham.

He replied to members from coal-mining areas who bemoaned the fate of the coal industry beset by conversion of railway locomotives to oil. The coal industry was going through a "squeeze". But the squeeze would only make the industry work harder and it would survive. He told Alberta members they should not forget that gas and oil discoveries in that province tend to put Alberta coal out of business. The Alberta government had a direct responsibility to help the industry and he believed it would. On the federal side the Dominion coal board was doing all possible to help the industry through the transition period.

The minister and federal and Alberta authorities are conferring with a view to establishing quality standards for Alberta coal to enter the Eastern Canadian market. He believed the east could use 1,000,000 tons of Alberta coal a year.

Gives Nature A Helping Hand In Destroying Harmful Insects

By HOWARD DeWALD
(CPC Correspondent)

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Many a farmer's glad O. C. Quick of Phoenix is a ladies' man.

Quick deals in ladybugs and there's nothing a (certainmeggitte fooidinhirts to scientists) ladybug likes better than to feast on scale insects, aphids, and other small, soft-bodied creatures injurious to alfalfa, cotton, sorghums and other crops.

Quick's bugs have saved many farmers from ruin by ridding their fields of harmful insect infestations.

The ex-croptoaster is an international broker in the ladybug field. He ships boxes of ladybugs to steady customers in many sections of Canada, the United States and Mexico.

The farmers open the two-gallon cartons in the field and the tiny, orange-shelled battalions go to work. They have ravenous appetites and by the time they go through a field the farmer has no worries about losing his crop to harmful insects.

The ladybugs—which aren't really bugs but beetles—are non-vegetarians. They turn up their noses at plants, and when they've eaten all the insects in a field fly away, either to other fields or back to the mountains and foothills to feast on the harmful insects that live in woodsy areas.

Quick ships the beetles in two-gallon cartons which hold 270,000 and sell for $18. Pine cones are placed inside the boxes to give the ladybugs a greedy start—a clue to and prevent them clustering so tightly that some suffocate.

The last two months Quick sold $3,000 worth and took orders for $10,000 more. Many State parks and for some of this business, although it is small compared to the volume in agriculture.

Quick has from 25 to 30 collectors working for him in the mountain and foothill country of Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah and Colorado. For most, it's a part-time job. A few collectors do nothing else.

"In winter months the ladybugs hibernate and in summer they rest in large bunches," says Quick. "Often I've seen them crawling from under snow, and gathering is then done by spreading a large canvas on the surface of the snow. They cling to the canvas in mass and are easily shaken into containers.

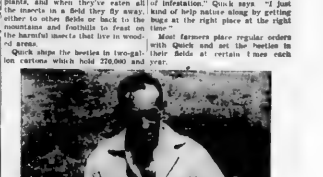
"When we find them hanging on bushes we spread the canvas on the ground, shake them on to it, and pack them away."

Quick makes a semi-annual tour of his collectors, hauls the beetles back to Phoenix in a specially equipped truck, and places them in cold storage to await shipment. From collection to shipment time, they are kept in artificial hibernation at temperatures from 36 to 45 degrees.

The ladybugs are usually placed in the fields in the early morning or at night. They are set at the base of plants and an effort is made not to excite them or they will fly away.

"It's nature's way of taking care of infestation," Quick says. "I just kind of help nature along by getting bugs at the right place at the right time."

Most farmers place regular orders with Quick and set the season in their fields at certain times each year.



G. C. Quick has 270,000 bug-killers here, all with hearty appetites after a long period of hibernation.—Central Canadian.

Quick was in the croptdusting business when he became interested in bugs. He learned that croptdusting is only valid for short bursts. It did away with the good ones too.

So he started dabbling in ladybugs, finding how they worked and what they could do. Once he accidentally dropped a box of ladybugs in his house. The result was complete cockroach eradication and when the news spread he was swamped almost daily with orders from homeowners who had cockroach problems.

To Increase Herds Of Reindeer In North

OTTAWA. — Resources Minister Winters said that two more reindeer herds will be added to the three already maintained in the Northwest Territories for the benefit of the native population.

He made the disclosure in the commons as members began clause-by-clause study of a bill to give to the Northwest Territories commission some of the powers now vested in the federal government.

One prerogative being transferred is that making of regulations with respect to reindeer herds. Others include jurisdiction over roads, wills, the property of married women, owners and inquests, the manufacture and possession of intoxicants, establishment and maintenance of hospitals and agriculture matters

The earth weighs an estimated six sextillion tons.

EXTEND SERVICE

REGINA.—The Saskatchewan Government has undertaken a program to extend electric service to 1,000 new customers in towns and on farms. The electrification expansion is estimated to cost $6,000,000.

Ethelwyn Notes

Holiday season is here once more. Unfortunately it is now holiday time for many teachers who must start summer school this week, and for students who plan to work at summer

A large crowd attended the picnic at Rye Lake. The afternoon was spent playing ball and completed when a number lunch was served. The lunch included all the fixings everyone could eat. It was with deep regret that we said good bye to Mrs McCormick our teacher and feel that we have indeed been fortunate in having such a good teacher for the past two years. The pupils have made wonderful progress under her guidance. Our loss will assuredly be some other district's gain. Our good wishes accompany you Miss McCormick.

Not even a heavy downpour could spoil the attendance at the social. Working between showers the ladies served a delicious supper.

Mrs. Robert Elliott of Edmonton is holidaying at the home of her father, Mr Charlie Skrenkowich. Mr. Elliott spent the week-end here also.

Our best wishes to all of the newlyweds

Holidaying at the Henry Carlton home are Mrs. Carlton's sister and family from Edmonton.

VERMILION FAIR PROMISES BEST PROGRAM EVER

Vermilion's Big Fair has just two weeks more of preparation before the best show ever and the officers and directors are working day and night to assure patrons of something really outstanding. All that is required is ideal weather and crowds of people.

Display of Furniture

For the first time in the history of the district an endeavor is being made to stage a showing of interesting old-time items, such as guns, Indian equipment, photos etc. There is doubtless much of interest in our district and the exhibition directors feel that a most interesting exhibit can be assembled if the co-operation of all who have worthwhile items can be secured. What have you in your attics or barns that your district people would like to see? In each case the name of the exhibitor will be given and the Board guarantees the safe return of all items.

Horse Events

All the young broncs in the country-to-be might, thirty years ago have ridden fast horses, but who now expertly operate tractors, will have a chance to show their prowess. The tractor rodeo is lots of fun and valuable prizes will be awarded winners in the various competitions. Tractors and equipment are being supplied by Fair Board -- all you have to do is to make a better job than the other fellow. Events will be held on both Friday and Saturday in the track, oval at the west end of the grounds. Make sure you are on hand to cheer your friends that you are more expert than they are.

Grandstand Attractions

You have seen good shows at Vermilion for many years past but according to all the advance notices received from Lethbridge, Moose Jaw and Portage la Prairie exhibition managers, you are due for a pleasant surprise — because the 1952 show is said to be another "Topz" in entertainment with never a dull moment.

The kids will thrill to the antics of the clowns (maybe the older folk will also) as they sit cheering into action in front of the grandstand's Princess Seats are sure to please as they are almost human in their performance; Fred Kiech and his Triple Velocity Ventriloquist Act are said to rival the famous Edgar Bergen and the reckless Charlie Chase; Dorothy Eden and Loco in their amazing head balancing ritual offers thrills a plenty; the Partners, the Wacky Acrobats' will genuinely satisfy any reasonable craving for fun and thrill.

The "Victoria Troupe, a family of five, direct from London, England are Piledrivers, operate on unicycles from low to 8 feet in height and from what we hear from fairs where they have performed they are the ultimate in entertainment value. Several other troupes possess fine performances and we are not going to tell you all about them because you will be saving that surprise at Vermilion's Big Fair on July 24, 25 and 26.

Light Horse Show

Vermilion's annual show of light and heavy horses is par excellence for Western Canada and there will be some 150 horses capering around in their splendor; new costumes will add attractiveness to the place and all district people having horses for show are urged to enter them by July 18th. Stock horse annual costs will find Al prize awards awaiting them and it should be noted that Prof. Grant McEwen, formerly Dean of Agriculture at the University of Manitoba will be placing the ribbons for all light horse classes. Prof. McEwen is an outstanding horse judge and will add much to the value of exhibiting this year.

Midway Thrills

Jimmie Sullivan, owner and manager of the Wallace Bros. midway writes that he has added a number of attractions to his fine show and that he will be on hand at Vermilion to entertain the kiddies in good time on Thursday afternoon. There will be rides of all kinds with some brand new thrills.

Machinery Display

Every up to the minute farm machine will be on show at Vermilion Fair with all of the economical conditions. This will give all farmers an excellent opportunity to study the most modern methods in agriculture. All dealers will be pleased to explain the newer features and there will also be some of the swank new cars on display.

Grand Display of Livestock

From early reports there is every indication that livestock classes will be well filled and there will be a number of the choicest stock in the West on show for the three days of the Vermilion fair.

Junior Fair

Climaxing an all-out effort to build up a good School Fair the district has been paid for prizes and there already more than 1000 entries have been received for this Junior fair. Every boy and girl in the district should be showing something and there will be glad to welcome every single one.

Remember Vermilion's Big Fair July 24, 25 and 26!

Attract Large Crowd On Wednesday Last

Highland Games Prove Novel Entertainment

The Highland Games held at the fair grounds in Vermilion last week provided a most entertaining and novel day's program. It was distinctly different and the committee of St. Andrews people who introduced the idea one year ago and continued it this, are to be commended for the splendid show presented. At the last minute the committee decided to hold the games at the fair grounds in town due to the recent rains and unsuitability of the park for same. The games were almost rained out one year ago at St. Andrews and given a better day Wednesday, over twice the crowd was on hand. It is quite easy to see that if the event is continued it will eventually become an eagerly awaited day.

Highland Fling Tug-O-War

The husky Edmonton police team won the tug-o-war tournament and this event is the principal piece-de The audience became greatly excited and gave all the teams a great ovation.

In the first round the popular Clandonald team pulled the Police No. 2 team or Light Tanks as they were nicknamed, in two straight falls. The Police team, two or Heavies, won the first pull from the Edmonton team, but lost the losing outfit went on to gain the final bracket by winning the next two.

In the final the experienced police team proved too strong for the Clandonald men, pulling them in two straight.

Program Curtailed

Due to the great number of entries in the piping and dancing classes it was found necessary to curtail the program, and two competitions, caber, were cancelled. This was done with disappointment to spectators and potential competitors alike and the committee state very definitely that the events will be held next year.

Winners of Special Awards

Robert MacPherson of Edmonton was the winner of the trophy donated by Craig Bros. for Professional piping.

The St. Andrews trophy for Pro fessional dancing went to Jessie Bryan of Edmonton while Mabel Thomson won the Long Drag story trophy for amateur dancing.

A gold medal was given to Bittle Bryan of Edmonton as the youngest competitor. Carolyn is just 4 years old, but how she can dance!

A very pleasing feature of the afternoon was the very evident enjoyment which the actual competitors derived from the contests. They were eager to entertain the crowd and gave their dances with good will, vim and verve, while the players as such were completely immersed in getting the best from their pipes along with the best presentation.

Winners of Piping Competitions

Piobrachd (Open) — 1. Robert MacPherson, Edmonton. 2, John MacMillan, Clandonald. 3. Harry Lunan, Edmonton

Marches (Open. 1. Robert MacPherson, Edmonton. 2, John MacMillan, Clandonald. 3. Jessie D Briggs, Edmonton

Canadian Utilities Serves Landonville

ENERGY TURNED ON JULY 2

What was probably the most rapidly organized rural electrification program in the province was culminated on Wednesday, July 2nd when energy was turned on in the Landonville extension of the Greenlawn Rural Electrification Co-operative.

The first meeting of farmers in the area to discuss creating the organized power was held in Louise Lake school on Monday, Jan. 28th. Cost of the line was compared for 18 shareholders and contracts were handed out. On Jan 30th, 23 members had completed their agreements and well over half the required money, some $14,000 on deposit in the Bank of Toronto, Cleardale.

On Thursday Jan. 31st these contracts were handed over to the directors of the Greenlawn Association where they were accepted and passed to Canadian Utilities.

May 18th farmers of Landonville stepped their spring work and frantically cut brush to keep ahead of the surveyors who completed their work in 3 days.

Hard on the heels of the surveying party came Sinclair Construction Co. who began distribution poles on May 23rd.

Crowding a self-imposed 6-week deadline, 10 men of the Sinclair crew headed by Foreman Bendle wire line from Frank Meal's which also included changing 4 miles of line in the Orange hall, Mayer to up 3 farms on the way to J. C Gordon's. Work was started at this point of the Landonville extension.

All work was completed one day ahead of the deadline, a remarkable approximately one week's work best during bad weather May Construction Co. of Edmonton was employed to dig the holes.

Mrs. Norman Stanley handed the final contract over to Mr. Sinclair as well and favorably known in the district for many years. He is a brother of Jim Sinclair a young engineering graduate 1928-29 and attended the University of Alberta some time later.

Clandonald Girl Is Edmonton Bride

MARSHALL—BARRLET

Metropolitan United church was the setting for an attractive bridal one afternoon recently when Miss Myrle Katherine Ramsley became the bride of Mr. Gerald Herbert Marshall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ramsley of Clandonald and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marshall of Napinka, Ont.

Baskets of peonies and ferns decorated the church and gross vases were marked with white satin bows.

Rev. Reid Vipond performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white nylon net gown. A strapless model, it was modified with a lace bolero jacket that centered tapered lily-point sleeves. Show Must Go On

Hon. D. A. Ure, Minister of Agriculture, stated recently that the policy of assisting Alberta livestock breeders in assembling and exhibiting their stock at the Royal Winter Fair will again be in effect this year.

At a recent meeting at the Legislative Building, Edmonton, the Alberta Livestock Board were of the opinion, that barring further spread of foot and mouth disease in Canada, unrestricted movement of stock within the country will be likely by fall. In view of this situation, plans are now under way for an Alberta livestock exhibit at the Royal Winter Fair to be held in Toronto, Nov. 11 to 22.

Livestock breeders may make nominations of animals to secretary of their Provincial Breed Assoc., or direct to the Livestock Branch, Alberta Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton. Nominations will be received up to Sept. 15th.

Rains Continue; 1.36 Ins. Over Week-end

Desirable rains continue to fall in this section of Alberta and a total of 1.36 was registered last Friday, Saturday and Sunday with the all day Saturday rain accounting for 1.13 of this amount.

Warmest day of the week-end was 90 above and coolest spot Sunday morning with 43.

Tiger Lily With Five Blossoms on One Stem

Not being any great authority as a floriculturist the Standard cannot expound too deeply on the rarity of such occurrences but Mrs. Chas. Sweeney brought in a wild Tiger Lily having no less than five full sized blossoms on one stem. It was always our opinion from casual observation that the normal way for lilies to grow was one to a stem. The plant is a real lily and was quite resplendent with its quintuplet flowers before wilting.

Bonwick-Martin Nuptials At Clandonald

BONWICK—MARTIN

A pretty wedding was solemnized on June 25th at the St. Columbkas church in Clandonald when Pearl Sarah Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Martin of Dewberry became the bride of Mr. Wilfred Barwick, son of Mr. G. A. Bonwick and the late Mrs. Bonwick of Winnipeg.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length dress of white satin with pleated nylon and lace overskirt. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses and fern. Her veil was floor-length. She wore a necklace and earring set of sapphire, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were her sister Miss Mary Martin who wore a floor-length dress of yellow satin with overskirt of nylon net. Her bouquet was of yellow carnations and fern. Miss Betty Gillies in a floor-length dress of mauve satin and net with a silver thread design. Ribbon streamers in her hair and her flowers. Both wore chapel veils to match their dresses.

Wearing ankle-length dresses of blue taffeta with chapel veils and carrying white baskets filled with pink roses, Darlene Craige and Joan Trach, nieces of the bride, made very sweet flower girls.

Paddy and Jerry Martin were groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Martin chose a navy blue dress with navy and white accessories and pink carnations en corsage.

The Rev. Father Scriven officiated at the nuptial mass. Miss Lorraine Michael sang Gounod's Ave Maria. Music was also rendred by the choir during mass.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, attended by a large number of friends. The table, covered with a lace table cloth was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by vases of roses. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. Father Scriven.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wade of Edmonton, Paddy Martin, Miss Joyce Swanson, Mrs. Godfrey and son Wilfred and daughter Mrs. Betty Gillies, all from Calgary and Miss Mary Martin of Vancouver.

A dance given in the Dewberry hall at night, was well attended and very much enjoyed, and where the bride and groom were wished all health, happiness and prosperity.

The newlyweds left next day for a honeymoon in Winnipeg and points east. The bride chose for travelling a pale blue gabardine suit with navy and white accessories.

The groom is at present a member of the armed forces stationed at Calgary. The happy young couple will reside in Calgary for the present.

NEWS from ISLAY

(This news bulletin was held over from last week.)

There is no end to the surprises on this Western prairie! For some years Mr. M. Christopherson lived here close to Islay, but no one seemed to know of his ability in music. Now, since living in Killarney he is leader of the Killarney band. This band came Friday night last to entertain us at the Shortcake social. The band was most generous too, with its selections. We'd like to have them visit us again, and soon. All enjoyed their music, and we of the W.A. thank most heartily these musicians. Also we are very grateful to the Kinsmen ball team who played here against our men's team. The game was a good one. Altogether our social was an enjoyable affair and we are very grateful to all who patronized it, and to those who felt to and helped serve, wash dishes etc. A sum of $86.75 was taken in.

And another surprise- This time it was Mrs. Helen McCaughan who was surprised when her mother and father drove up to the store on Saturday. They are from Chilliwack, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Simmons, Irene and Emmerson motored to Ontario leaving here June 1st and returning on the 21st. They visited at Toronto, Niagara Falls, Listowel Drayton and many other points down in Western Ontario. It took four days to go a little less time than 20 years ago when they went by the little old Model T Ford — taking 4 days! There were several gatherings of relatives down there and Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, Irene and Emmerson were presented with gifts and very lovely ones too. The trip was without mishap, only having one flat, and Mr. Simmons got his coat tail brushed by a swiftly moving car. He had stopped on the side of the highway and crossed to book a cabin for the night, as by morning the road a car came a little too close, his hood and hand were hit but he was not knocked down. The car occupants knew they had struck him so stopped to enquire. Mr. Simmons has a black heel and a bruised hand.

Miss Ruth McFadyen is on holiday and her sister Mrs. Mary Tormoter is supplying at the drug store.

Oh, by the way, Mrs. John Great Sr. no need now for block and tackle to get into the drugstore. You must come to town and have a walk on our new 'black top' walks — just so easy now, drive up to the curb, step out of your car and there you are right on the new sidewalk. Come, make a real shopping trip and walk to Jim Tin's, then to Harry's and Annie's, Frod's and on to Alberta's as well. Oh, I already heard one lady remark how nice it was to walk to town. One can go with pleasure on the streets now.

Don't recognize some of our neighboring folks these days — so many driving different cars. Two noticed lately, Nurse — Mr. Jim Barnett Sr., a nice looking red car; Arnold Parrish a Ford, and Don McFadyen a grey coupe.

Mrs. Jack Carey is in the Misericordia hospital and Mr. Roy Brown is in the University hospital. We wish the very best for both of them and hope they will soon be home again.

Roy a supervisor of a certain insurance company. "Ladies, if you wish your men folk to be safe, handle we the morning, a man is less likely to be in accidents if he has a good send off in the morning." I'd add to that 'a good breakfast'.

United Church News

Factories at was in the air at Mc Laughlin on Friday July 4th as that was the day of the Sunday school picnic. There was a good attendance, both young and old and a bountiful day set the finishing touches to a fine afternoon. All present enjoyed themselves and we hope no one suffered any ill effects by eating too much of the plentiful ice cream and lemonade.

The Boy Scouts at Clear Lake weren't quite that fortunate as they found their camp site was kept pretty wet as was everything else over the July 1st week end. Never theless they all seemed to enjoy the new experience of camp life and venture; though they did have to come home a day earlier than was planned.

The W.A. at P.V. held their regular meeting Friday July 4th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Knutson.

June 24th was recognized as Golf Sunday at both points. The special services there marked the opening of the St. Stephen's College building fund campaign. The drive will continue for two weeks and a canvass of all members and adherents is being carried out.

We wish to extend our heartiest best wishes to the P.V. Church of God on the occasion of their Dedication services during the first week of July. Truly we are all one body under Christ and all the churches are engaged in the work of His hand.

OUR COMPLETE REPORT STORY—

"DILEMMA"

By RUSSELL WILSEY

The Pretty Waitress' Smile Observed Mr. Saxby

IT WAS a dilemma, the sort of situation Mr. Saxby would have taken great pains to avoid, had he known it was coming.

It was Jane's fault, really, he thought, as the subway rumbled beneath the city. If his wife hadn't insisted on that new topcoat, it never would have happened. It was natural for him to mistake one like it in the restaurant.

"Don't forget, Edward," his wife had said, "you get that coat this morning before it turns chilly. I don't want to fret over your cold's mother wishes."

And so when Frankings, the outside salesman, had phoned in that he would be ill, and K had fallen upon Mr. Saxby's shoulders to make the long trip uptown to collect on order, Mr. Saxby had bought the coat at the first store he found.

The train grunted to a halt and Mr. Saxby bolted through the door. The hurried influx of the deep pocket of the coat Mr. Saxby had mistaken for his own banged against his leg. His feeling of correctness . . . Mr. Jim Barnett Sr., a nice looking red car; Arnold Parrish a Ford, and Don McFadyen a grey coupe.

Mrs. Jack Carey is in the Misericordia hospital and Mr. Roy Brown is in the University hospital. We wish the very best for both of them and hope they will soon be home again.

Roy a supervisor of a certain insurance company. "Ladies, if you wish your men folk to be safe, handle we the morning, a man is less likely to be in accidents if he has a good send off in the morning." I'd add to that 'a good breakfast'.

Mr. Saxby hadn't studied it closely. His eyes had bugged at the sight of it, and then he had jammed it back into the pocket. No one in the subway car seemed to have noticed it. For that Mr. Saxby was thankful. He did know it was heavy and shiny.

The dilemma facing Mr. Saxby was what to do with it. His first reaction, and the one on which he was still operating, was to keep the coat, and the gun, back to the restaurant.

Who would carry a gun? Mr. Saxby had asked himself. Certainly not a policeman. The police had hip holsters. And plainclothes detectives always carried them in shoulder holsters. Mr. Saxby read detective stories, and knew this. Only a certain type of person carried one in his pocket!

But what could he do? Suppose he walked up to the policeman on the corner, pulled out the gun, and said, "Here." Why, he might in shot before he could get out another word!

Even if he wept to a police station, the desk sergeant might not think much of his story of a coat mix-up in a restaurant. And the police were very strict about guns without permits. In all probability they'd lock him up until his story was checked on. And then if Jane heard about it . . . Mr. Saxby refused to consider the results.

Well, whose coat did he have? Seeing the rest of the restaurant again reminded him instantly of the heavy-set, swarthy man who had come in after him and taken the booth behind his. Vaguely Mr. Saxby recalled the man removing a topcoat before he sat down. Of course, that had been the real owner. And something about his looks had disturbed Mr. Saxby even then.

Mr. Saxby reached the restaurant and went in. It wasn't until the waiters were swinging about behind him that he realized what he'd done. Instinctively he'd returned to the restaurant, a place he never wanted to see again.

He half turned, to go out, but it was too late. The waiter was hurrying toward him.

"Back to lunch back after all," she said, smiling.

"Yes, well . . . you see . . ." Mr. Saxby, halted. Confused, he began to shed the strange coat.

"I thought you'd be back," she went on. "The other man didn't notice you taking his coat until you were gone."

"That's it," Mr. Saxby mumbled, "but there's something I have to explain."

Suddenly, having the pretty waitress smiling up into his face was completely unnerved Mr. Saxby. The prospect of being able to reveal his awful secret to a sympathetic soul overwhelmed him.

"I found his in the pocket," he said, gingerly removing the gun.

"Oh, yeah," the waitress answered, "that's Joe's."

"Joe's?"

"Uh huh, that's Joe's coat."

She took the pistol from Mr. Saxby's nerveless fingers and pointed it at his chest.

"It's his gimmick," she explained as she pulled the trigger.

A cigarette popped out of the muzzle.

"Have a cigarette?" she asked with a smile.

"No," Mr. Saxby said weakly, "no, thanks. My wife doesn't like me to smoke."

Cycling Safety Rules

This is the season when millions of youngsters take to the streets and highways on bicycles. For their protection, they should learn and practice the rules of safe bicycling.

To help the young bicyclists, and old ones, too, safety experts of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. have suggested the following rules:

"Don't weave in and out of traffic in competition with motor vehicles; you and your bike are almost sure to come off second best in a collision. Be particularly careful at intersections.

"Exercise extreme caution, always, while coming out of or turning into driveways.

"Never —oh, never! — hitch onto trucks or automobiles!

"Don't ride two people on a single bicycle; it's not built for them—both safety; ride single file on the highway.

"Use lights at night, and at all times keep the bicycle — especially lights and braking mechanism in good repair.

"Observe all traffic rules and signs. They apply to you just as much as to the biggest cross-country transport truck."

BRITISH TRAILER HAS UPSTAIRS

LONDON — Permanent homes on wheels—They're known as trailers in Canada, but here they're called caravans of more than 300,000 people in Britain at the present. Independent public display of the Caravan Residents Association shows just what can be done with these mobile homes.

Many of the features are familiar to Canadians, such as glass wool insulation, built-in kitchens and bathrooms, hot and cold water systems and convertible furniture.

But among the new types on view here are two-storey caravans. One has two bedrooms upstairs with a central "staircase" from the "entrance hall."

Another model includes a main room that changes with a few adjustments from a buffet dining-room into a settee lounge or a double bedroom.

If You Get Lost While Hiking, Follow These Tips

1. When you decide you are definitely lost, STOP, sit down and try to figure out where you are.

2. Try to estimate the direction of your last known point of reference, using the sun, moon, or moss on shady side of tree trunks as a rough guide.

3. Follow ridges and water courses down stream—they ultimately should lead you to civilization.

4. Don't try to travel in the dark. Light a fire in a safe place and make yourself as comfortable as possible until daylight.

5. Make your trail as you go with sticks or rocks to make it easier for searchers to find you.

6. The number 3 is a distress call in any form—three whistles, three flashes on a flash light, or three puffs of smoke from a fire. Forest Rangers are constantly on the lookout for the unusual—they undoubtedly will investigate your signal.

7. Follow the Forest Service's advice—Don't yell, don't run, don't worry, don't quit!

If you plan to hike in strange territory, carry a flashlight and a few hooks, matches in a water-proof box, a compass, a little concentrated food, and a strong knife.

JOHN WATTS LAID TO REST

JOHN WATTS

The funeral of the late John Watts, who died in Vancouver on Friday, June 20th, was held in Vermilion from St. Saviour's Anglican church, on Wednesday June 25th, under Masonic auspices. The Rev. Canon Cathcart of Clandonald officiated with Moyer's Funeral home in charge of arrangements. Interment was in the Vermilion cemetery in the family plot.

The late John Watts was born at Morecambe, Lanes., England, on Feb. 1st, 1866, and was in his 86th year at the time of his death. He was raised in Upholland, Lanes. It was here that he started his career of bell ringing at the early age of 16. This was his hobby until he had rung the bells well over the south of Lancashire and some of the churches in the Midlands. He had to his credit the fact of having started and trained many men in this fine art, the finest to be found, and possibly not equalled in the British Empire of having rung peals for every event in the British Isles, from a visit of the Prince of Wales to that of Queen Victoria, Diamond Jubilee and right through to the death of King George the 5th, and the accession to the throne of Queen Elizabeth. He rang at the time of the reign of Ladysmith, when a "Grand Sire Triple" was done, over three hours of continuous ringing. He was a member of Mawdsley Lodge in Wigan, Lancs., and held active membership in this Lodge for over 40 years, being the number one on their register on coming into part. In 1912 he came with his family to Canada where he settled in Vermilion. In 1931 he and Mrs. Watts moved to Vancouver on his retirement from the C.N.R. He is survived by his wife at Vancouver and son Tom at Vermilion.

The solemn rites of the Masonic order were conducted at the graveside and were a fitting end to the memory of a man who had made masonry one of his studies. Pall bearers were old friends and brethren, J. W. G. Morrison, John Brimacombe, Rev. Walter Mervin, Bill H. J. Payne and Ken Rowe.

Floral offerings were received from Loving wife Tom, Dorothy, Isabel and Audrey, Jean and Allen, Ron and Ethel, Walter and Leonora, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer, Harry Lacy, Jessie and Glenn Clark, Mary and the boys, G. The Wisdom of the Bells

Placed here on high we serve the town
Beneath the Crown, beneath the Sky.
Differing in size, in note and weight.
With reasoned speech, well timed
Yet small or great, we harmonize, and true
Our message we tell to each.
Brief, loud and bold, we say our say.
And then straightway our peace we hold.
To read a race, our lesson learn.
Then has his turn, and time and place.

WEDDING BELLS

FALCONBON—SMITH

A lovely wedding took place in the Anglican church of St. John the Evangelist at Grand Centre, Alberta on June 13th, when Miss Dorothy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith of Fort Kent, and Mr. Ivan Falconbon, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Falconbon of Brunyville were united in holy matrimony. The Rev. Turstin officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of white taffeta with long sleeves and with a court of white net and tuckee of white net sparkling with sequins. Her floor-length veil was held in place by a beaded drum of white carnations. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and a white prayer book. Her only jewelry was a white ribbon rosary.

The bridesmaids, Miss Mable Smith of Fort Kent and Miss Vera Anderson of Grand Centre, chose dresses of yellow taffeta and pink taffeta in floor-length style, trimmed with matching net. Their headdresses were of white carnations and they carried bridesmaids' bouquets of sweetheart roses.

The flower girls wore blue and pink crinkly floor-length dresses with white organdie headdresses. Supporting the groom were Leo Falconbon and Ronald Smith.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Grand Centre recreation hall attended by fifty guests.

The bride's table was decorated with sprays of spring flowers and white candles, centred by a triple tiered wedding cake.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a green afternoon dress. Her corsage was one white rose and a rosebud. The groom's mother chose a blue tailored suit. Her corsage was a white carnation.

Later in the evening a wedding supper was held at the home of the groom's parents. This was followed by a dance at the Eastborn hall.

The happy young couple will make their home in Bronyville.

Wildmere Winks

(Held over from last week.)

Children and teachers alike are enjoying a holiday after a long siege of books. Some pupils have finished, others move to a grade higher.

Church at Wildmere on June 29 was again opened not making three Sundays in a row this has happened. Several left the ball game early to get chores done so that they could go to church when that big storm came in from the south. Small pellets of hail fell at the writer's but it wasn't enough to do any damage. Here's hoping next Sunday will be best.

A nice crowd attended the Buffalo Coulee picnic on Friday, June 27th. Some good ball games were watched. Auburndale and Basswood were in the finals with the Basswood team coming out Ladies' softball, children's games and races rounded out the day, and of course a couple of good booths to fill the inner man's wants.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. Tom Watts and his mother on the loss of a loving husband and father. He lived a long and useful life but God saw the road was getting heavy and called him home to rest.

Lloyd Howard is a patient at the time of writing suffering from blood poisoning in his leg. It's a busy time to be laid up as he is getting his basement ready to move his house a mile east of his present home site. We all hope you soon recover Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith and daughter Diana of Bon Accord, have spent the week end at Norman's old home in Wildmere. Mrs. Stanley Mrs. Smith's mother, accompanied them. They planned to return home Sunday evening but the rain that evening and again most of Monday prevented this, but they got away Tuesday morning. Norman still is storekeeping at the Norman & Norman store in Bon Accord.

On Sunday afternoon Scotstoun ball team played Basswood Tigers at Wildmere with the score 8-4 in favor of Basswood. The Tigers are short of players since Bob and Frank left on their holidays, however, Bill Garnett and George Riley are doing a good job while they are gone.

Congrats to Mr. and Mrs. David Dibbon of Hammond on the birth of a daughter on Sunday June 29th, at the Vermilion hospital. A sister for little Kenny.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Coburn and three children of Vancouver Island, B.C., are here visiting Allan's brother Howard of Wilcoughby, sister Mrs. L. Howard in Wildmere and Mrs. Coburn's parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wilson of Vermilion.

New Safety Stickers After July 1st

Alberta motorists will soon have to renew their motor vehicle safety stickers.

The provincial government's Motor Vehicle Branch announces that July 1st marks the end of the first 12 months of the vehicle safety testing program. All present certificates of approval and safety stickers expire 12 months from the date of their issue.

New certificates of approval and safety stickers are being issued by the 1300 service stations and garages which have been appointed as official testing stations for the safety inspection program. The former stickers will not be used after June 30th.

The motor vehicle branch also announced that a new windshield sticker of the transfer type is being issued this year following complaints that the previous sticker did not stand up well to wear.

E. R. Hughes, deputy provincial secretary, urged all motorists to arrange for a new inspection of their passenger car well before the expiration dates of their present safety stickers. This would avoid delay and inconvenience.

The government safety test costs $3, which goes to the service station to cover the cost of examination. Inspection includes brakes, lights steering and other vehicle parts whose efficient operation is essential to safe driving.

Interprovincial Farm Union Conference

TO BE HELD JULY 17 & 18

An Interprovincial Farm Union conference will be held in Saskatoon July 17 and 18 to consider briefing agricultural questions of the day, such as the International Wheat Agreement, livestock, poultry and egg marketing and the matter of future markets generally.

J. L. Brownlee, who is head of the Interprovincial Farm Union Council and president of the Saskatchewan Farmers Union, said the matter of speakers billed to address the two-day meeting included E. Kriss, U.S.A. delegate to the International Wheat Agreement conference in London; Federal Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner; Premier T. C. Douglas and officials of the three prairie farm unions, the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and Saskatchewan Poultry Association.

Mrs. Tommy Greaves and daughter Brenda visited at the Baldock home for a week end on the 28th. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baldock accompanied their daughter home to the city. Mr. Baldock's sister and family were visiting Bob and brother Clarence last week end in Islay. They were on their way to Elk Point to visit the latter's mother Mrs. Gertie Swanson and other relatives at Spring Lake.

The Allendale V.A. are to have their July meeting out of door providing it's a sunny afternoon. All were agreeable to meet west of Ralph Strome's buildings overlooking Campbell Lake for Pot Luck lunch.

Our congratulations and very best wishes to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mercier.

To all those who helped with our church garden and who partook of it, thank you very kindly. Even though the evening wasn't the best you all helped to make the most of it. The proceeds were very large indeed, the best we had yet. There was a ball game between the Kinsmen and Island Hill, the latter winning. The boys enjoy themselves and show good sportsmanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Anderson and family were home at the Armstrong's on June 29th in their new Pontiac car. Their son Gary is holidaying with his grandparents for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Simmons and daughters from New Sarepta visited with their daughter Lurline, Mrs. Jack Hobbis, in town last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hobbis and family are leaving shortly for holidays in Saskatchewan to visit with the latter's brother Gerald Omness and family and other relatives.

On June 28th Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Ott Strome and daughter left for the Ponoka Stampede. They and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Strome and sons will give him inhibitions or feelings of not being loved (a theory tried lately and found sadly wanting). There's no space to tell you more. Ask me sometime if you are interested.

Dr. Haslam, Saskatchewan Professor of Physics told us about and showed us the Betatron, that amazing machine that splits atoms and helps in the cure of cancer they believe. The Betatron can make gold from mercury but it costs over a million dollars an ounce to do it, and students.

I wished so much, while I am enjoying the brightness, that you (you all of you) could have been there. The theme of the Convention was "The Home and Family". The most entrancing speaker I've ever heard was Miss Florence Reynolds of the Food and Agricultural Organization of which Canada is a member. Miss Reynolds was a quiet, calm, beautiful woman who has travelled the world over and from the countries and ranks. She spoke about F.A.O. and the World Family and made each of us feel very fortunate that we, the women of Canada, are treated with respect, free as brevis of burden, where we do have a roof over our families' heads and where we have food. Miss Reynolds said the difference between advanced and backward countries, was the difference in the status of women.

Dr. Esther McGinnis from the U.S. spoke on "Mental Health and Family Life Education". Dr. McGinnis believes that you must live what you teach your children. Their manners, their attitudes, their habits, their values are caught not taught. Children come to respect you, not what you say. Love and understanding marketing and not matter of future markets generally.

This is evident in the theory of giving a child everything he wishes, because you'll give him inhibitions or feelings of not being loved (a theory tried lately and found sadly wanting). There's no space to tell you more. Ask me sometime if you are interested.

Dr. Haslam, Saskatchewan Professor of Physics told us about and showed us the Betatron, that amazing machine that splits atoms and helps in the cure of cancer they believe. The Betatron can make gold from mercury but it costs over a million dollars an ounce to do it, and students.

Dr. Hilda Neatby, Saskatchewan History Professor, and members of the committee working on the Massey Report (a report on the arts and crafts of the Canadian people, remember?) gave us an idea of the difficulties encountered by Canadian artists, musicians, writers and so on, who wished to earn their living by their art, or who wished to study abroad. Dr. Neatby told of the need of the proposed Canada Council to help these people.

Dr. McKerracher, Director of Saskatchewan's Psychiatric Services, spoke on Mental Health and the Family. Dr. McKerracher said that children of smaller families cause much more concern to the parents (because the parent has only one or two youngsters to hover over) than children of larger families. He also said (I think) that that everyone of us is insane to a certain degree, and we must get used to the idea that insanity is really only a form of sickness not to be sneered and shunned.

Dr. Spinks, Saskatchewan Dietary Professor, told us of "Tagged Nutrients" (vitamins and minerals are changed slightly, traced through the body to see how much is utilized in the body, how long they stay and so on.

News Notes From Your District Home Economist

Prepared Conversation

It was a real thrill to be able to attend the Canadian Home Economics Association convention in Saskatoon. (I'd never been there before, you see). Saskatoon is one of the nicest cities I've ever seen — clean, quiet, green, with picturesque bridges, and lawns and trees everywhere. The nicest part of the Convention was the people, all Home Economists — teachers, extension workers, nutritionists, housewives, dietitians, economists, journalists, and students.

I wished so much, while I am enjoying the brightness, that you (you all of you) could have been there. The theme of the Convention was "The Home and Family". The most entrancing speaker I've ever heard was Miss Florence Reynolds of the Food and Agricultural Organization of which Canada is a member. Miss Reynolds was a quiet, calm, beautiful woman who has travelled the world over and from the countries and ranks. She spoke about F.A.O. and the World Family and made each of us feel very fortunate that we, the women of Canada, are treated with respect, free as brevis of burden, where we do have a roof over our families' heads and where we have food. Miss Reynolds said the difference between advanced and backward countries, was the difference in the status of women.

ALLANDALE

(Held over from last week, please make allowance for lapse of time.)

There is nothing much to report about the weather but rain and more rain. Now for some sunshine and crops and gardens will really come along.

Mrs. Tommy Greaves and daughter Brenda visited at the Baldock home for a week end on the 28th. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baldock accompanied their daughter home to the city. Mr. Baldock's sister and family were visiting Bob and brother Clarence last week end in Islay. They were on their way to Elk Point to visit the latter's mother Mrs. Gertie Swanson and other relatives at Spring Lake.

The Allendale V.A. are to have their July meeting out of door providing it's a sunny afternoon. All were agreeable to meet west of Ralph Strome's buildings overlooking Campbell Lake for Pot Luck lunch.

Our congratulations and very best wishes to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mercier.

To all those who helped with our church garden and who partook of it, thank you very kindly. Even though the evening wasn't the best you all helped to make the most of it. The proceeds were very large indeed, the best we had yet. There was a ball game between the Kinsmen and Island Hill, the latter winning. The boys enjoy themselves and show good sportsmanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Anderson and family were home at the Armstrong's on June 29th in their new Pontiac car. Their son Gary is holidaying with his grandparents for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Simmons and daughters from New Sarepta visited with their daughter Lurline, Mrs. Jack Hobbis, in town last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hobbis and family are leaving shortly for holidays in Saskatchewan to visit with the latter's brother Gerald Omness and family and other relatives.

On June 28th Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Ott Strome and daughter left for the Ponoka Stampede. They and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Strome and sons

By Bernice Read, Wainwright, Alberta

boys attended Hardisty Stampede in June. Their son daughter Irene stayin; with her grandparents, Throssel.

Last Sunday Mr. Don Bardwell our student minister of '49 and '50 arrived in Vermilion by bus from Saskatchewan. Though the roads and weather were unfavorable he did what you can do for others, rather than what you can make them do for you, and you will know what it is to have a friend.

Pretty Wedding At Paradise Valley

FLINT—HARMES

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Church of God, Paradise Valley on Monday, June 30th, when Patsey Harmes, daughter of Mr. Stevie Harmes of Edmonton was united in marriage to William Flint, youngest son of Mr and Mrs. A. W. Flint of Paradise Valley.

Rev. A. C. Pavis performed the ceremony in the absence of Rev. H. C. Cowles who was to have officiated but owing to an unforseen circumstance he was unable to be present.

The bride entering the church with her maid of honor, wore a white organza gown. Her chapel veil was held in place by a white halo and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride was attended by her sister Delia who wore a blue organza gown and carried a bouquet of carnations. The little flower girl Sandra Adams wore a yellow full length gown and also carried carnations. Gladys Hellren of Saskatoon presided at the piano, Mr. Irvin Flint was best man and the ushers were Pulghum and George Allenbaugh of Saskatoon. The church was daintily decorated with pink and white streamers and bells. The flowers used in decorating were pink and white gerbera.

During the signing of the register a solo "A Wedding Prayer" was sung by Annetta Fulghum who was accompanied on the piano by her sister Bernice. The reception was held in the basement of the church.

Mrs. David Harms of Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harms and Cecil of Camrose Mr. and Mrs. George Allenbaugh of Saskatoon, Lily and Daisy Harms also of Saskatoon were all guests at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Flint have taken up residence on the groom's farm north of town. We extend our best wishes for a long happy life to the newlyweds.

A Timely Warning

FIRES ARE A MAJOR MENACE to life and property and there are serious losses in Canada each year from this cause. Most of the large fires occur in the winter time, for many of them are caused by over-heated pipes or stoves, or from faulty heating equipment in many cases the defects being due to carelessness on the part of the owner. The summer, when stoves and furnaces are not in use is the time in which to put them in repair and to make alterations and new installations where necessary. H. E. Putter, Fire Commissioner for the Province of Manitoba in a recent article on "How to Avoid Fires in Buildings" says that "defective and overheated chimneys are one of the main causes of fires in buildings."

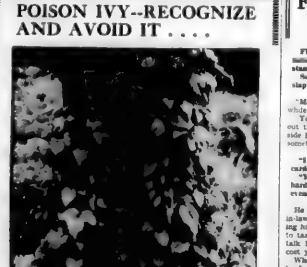
Chimney May Be Defective

Many other explanations that care should be taken [illegible] safe condition, although it may mean [illegible] heating system is even considering them. He also utters warning against having stoves or other sources of heat too close to woodwork or other inflammable objects. If the woodwork gets very hot, it should be shielded with asbestos board and it is pointed out that asbestos must not be used on the inside of the shielding for it will act as insulation and cause overheating. There is also danger from [illegible] at installations and these too should be fully checked and repaired if necessary.

Would Save Annual Loss

Another frequent source of fires is accumulations of [illegible] dust in basements or sheds, which are often set [illegible] from a stove or furnace or from a hot ashes [illegible] Canada's annual loss [illegible] to do this is very high and in addition there is an annual loss of hundreds of lives from fires throughout the country. If householders and property owners would make sure that heating systems and stoves are safe, wife in good order and would remove accumulations of waste paper and other combustible materials from their property, there would be fewer fires, and fewer lives lost from that cause each year in Canada.

POISON IVY--RECOGNIZE AND AVOID IT . . . .



CAN YOU RECOGNIZE IT? — It's not much good getting irritated about Poison Ivy after it has irritated you. It's much better to recognize the plant before. Poison Ivy is the only Canadian plant with a three-parted leaves and white fruit. There's mistake it for Virginia creeper which has five-parted leaves and blue fruit. Poison ivy grows almost anywhere on the landand for it on fishing trips, picnics and holidays, and give it a wide berth.—(Canada Department of Agriculture photo).

Among the [illegible] annoyances in Canada [illegible] black flies and poison ivy rash about equal. But while it is almost impossible to avoid mosquito and black fly bites, it is quite possible to avoid running afoul of poison ivy if you learn to recognize the plant. Though the substance in poison ivy which causes the skin irritation is active all through the year, it is most potent in the spring and early summer, which is just around holiday and picnic time. The cautious holiday maker will keep his eyes skinned when around lake and woodland resorts, and along roadsides and in rocky places, for poison ivy will grow almost anywhere. And keep your dog away from it. Not only can he get badly affected but he can carry the poison to you.

Poison ivy is the only native Canadian plant with a three-parted leaf and white fruit, and to the uncommitted part of many, is frequently confused with Virginia creeper which has five-parted leaves and blue fruit. A comparison of poison ivy is that the leaves are alternate alternately on the woody stem and each leaf is composed of three leaflets. The leaflets themselves are lustrous and deeply notched, the notches being irregular in size and shape. The fruit is in clusters of small greenish-white berries. Often in the spring and early summer the whole plant is covered with a fine down. The flowers are small and greenish-white and are borne in clusters in the axils of the leaves.

In our summer camps in Canada, [illegible] poison ivy is found in the west. In some places it grows [illegible] in the form of a shrub, usually found in clusters of green-stalked leaves. In the autumn many of the leaves change to a beautiful crimson color, but they will not fall from [illegible] nights. The berries are [illegible] and are [illegible] in clusters.

If you do come in contact with poison ivy, immediate washing of the affected parts with laundry soap and warm water is often sufficient treatment, depending upon how susceptible you are to the poison. When available, alcohol, kerosene or gasoline are useful alternatives for soap and water.

If a rash develops a solution of a five-grain tablet of potassium permanganate in one quart of water is helpful. Calamine lotion is suitable for the face and hands as it does not stain the skin as does the permanganate solution. But do not use greasy or oily substances as they are likely to dissolve and spread the poison. See your doctor in severe cases of the attack in severe, particularity as you might be mistaking it for some other skin trouble.

But it is much simpler in every way to keep away from poison ivy by learning to recognize it.

Don't Hide Under Tree During Storm

Figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show that seventy-six of all persons killed in the United States by lightning were under a tree seeking shelter under three.

Lightning kills 100 persons a year. Other hazards during a lightning storm are being in a small boat, being a swimming or being out in open [illegible].

To summarize, an electrical storm is a [illegible] a double hazard. The outdoors [illegible] is no longer [illegible] a [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

He found it necessary to come to the Provincial government technical school in Calgary to finish his course. The Roberts left Vermilion about 17 years ago. Jack and family then motored to Biggar where they spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Les Reid, going on to visit Mrs. Hobbis' brother Percy Omness and family at Kindersley. Jerry is farming near Kindersley having 1100 acres in crop and 1000 acres in summerfallow. Crops at, though badly in need of rain in some places are much farther advanced than those in Alberta. Much of the wheat is headed out. From Kindersley the Hobbis went through to Watson to pick up and take Mr. Hobbis Sr. back all came home together. While at Watson they enjoyed a trip to Lake Kipabiskau to do a bit of fishing.

The Mannville and Derwent Colt clubs are showing and selling 40 fine agricos on Thursday afternoon and it is expected that buyers will be present representing the major livestock purchasing firms. Judges are cordially invited to attend and to encourage the farm boys and girls in their efforts to raise better livestock.

Grandstand Show

The first grandstand show will be on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock and Miss Barbara Small, in charge of the troupe, has wired that they guarantee a standout performance which will please both young and old. The trained seals, the comedians, the unicycle artists, the ventriloquist and all the others are keen to put on a good show for Vermilion and district people. The show is fast and will keep you enthused from start to finish.

Livestock Display

There will be some fine classes of livestock and the livestock parade on Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock sharp will be well worth seeing. There will be an assembly of splendid light horses, eager to "strut their stuff" and this part of Vermilion fair has become a by-word in all of Western Canada.

Boys' and Girls' Camp

The Boys' and Girls' camping again being held at the school of agriculture, is filled to capacity with 125 farm boys and girls, and Principal Bentley and his staff are all ready to go and to see that the young people have a grand time, but that they obtain an abundance of useful and practical information which will stand them in good stead in the future.

Juniors Busy

The 1952 Junior fair has more than 1500 entries and boys and girls together with their parents are assured of some very interesting comparisons in the special building set aside for this mammoth boys and girls fair.

Variety of Displays

Displays of farm machinery and equipment as well as agricultural, will be on display both inside and outside the buildings will prove of interest to both men and women and altogether the 1952 Vermilion fair on July 24th, 25th and 26th will appeal to you as the "Friendly Fair" where you can meet your friends and renew friendships. The usual money-saving advance tickets at 5 for $1 are on sale throughout the district. The number issued this year is limited and all are urged to provide for the needs of the entire family so that disappointments will be as few as possible. Vermilion fair is unique in the West for the sale of such low priced admissions to both gate and grandstand and a very special invitation is extended to you to attend the big Vermilion fair starting on Thursday of next week and running for three grand days and nights.

Liberals Organize For Alberta Election

GEO. KRAVETZ OF MANNVILLE CHOSEN AS CANDIDATE.

MANNVILLE. — At a well attended nominating convention held at the Orange hall, Mannville, on the evening of Wednesday July 9, George Kravetz, Mannville high school teacher, was unanimously chosen the Liberal standard bearer for the Vermilion constituency in the forthcoming provincial election.

Mr. Kravetz was born in Montreal and came to Innisfree with his parents at an early age. After graduating from Innisfree high school he attended Camrose Normal school. His service of four and a half years was spent with the R. C. A. F. as wireless instructor. In 1947 Mr. Kravetz graduated from the University of Alberta with the degree of Bachelor of Education. At present he is president of the Vermilion Local of the Alberta Teachers' Association, as well as the Mannville Home and School Association.

After a brief talk by Mr. Kravetz the convention was addressed by the Provincial Liberal leader J. Harper Prowse, who severely criticized the off and gas policies of the present Social Credit government saying it is of selling the province to foreign interests, to the detriment of the citizens of Alberta. He also promised to take the municipalities into full-fledged financial partnership replacing the 75% conditional grant relationship presently existing between the province and the municipalities.

At the same meeting a new executive of the Vermilion Liberal Association was elected the officers are as follows:

Hon. President C. W. Robinson
Vermilion: President Wm. Chorney, Myinam: Vice-Pres. J. D. Adams, Vermilion, Executive members A. F. Hunter, Vermilion, D. R. Mitchell, Vermilion, Mrs. Annie Hubbard, Mannville. Mrs. Hilda Cross, Vermilion, Russell Whitson Mannville.

The new building, located on Main street, is 30 feet long with a 29-foot frontage. It is constructed of cement blocks manufactured by the Concrete Block Co. at Lloydminster. The first floor will house the Watkins Stationery and Coffee Bar while the full-sized basement contains three business suites. One of these is already occupied by a hair dressing parlor, the Beauty Nook, another has been rented to Vermilion Photocraft, while the third large suite is available for rent.

The new store with its modern glass front running back from the sidewalk at a slight angle to provide easy entrance, is a decided acquisition to Main street and to Vermilion. See the display advertisement appearing in the opening elsewhere in this issue.

Canon & Mrs. Teape Farewelled by Parish

Parishioners of St. Saviour's Anglican church gathered in the parish hall on Friday evening to regretfully bid farewell to their pastor of the last five years, Canon and Mrs. T. W. Teape. During their stay here they have done much to revitalize interest in the church both in town and country points. Canon and Mrs. Teape and family now go to Edmonton where he has been appointed Rector of St. Peter's. Canon Teape is being succeeded here by the Rev. Fort of Okotoks who commences his pastorate in September.

Following an enjoyable program of considerable variety directed by Mr. Tom Watts, Mr. Jim Robson was called upon to make the presentation of a purse to Canon and Mrs. Teape. Mr. Robson opened his remarks by addressing the gathering as "Friends", and went on to say "May I repeat the word 'friends' because as members of our church I sincerely believe we are friends and this word probably represents the keynote of the Teape mission in Vermilion. They have at all times shown the needs of friendship, not only in our church but in all organizations with which they have associated while living here with us.

The team work of the Canon and Mrs. Teape has been their greatest strength. Mrs. Teape, by her loving grace as a cheerful smile endeared herself to all who have met her.

Canon Teape's greatest asset was the uncanny ability which he possessed to involve the maximum he required as exemplified by the wonderful efforts of the various ladies' groups and the building program carried through by the men.

We are thankful that we have had them for five years, the work they have begun will be carried on — and their new parish will receive an impetus from their missionary."

Rev. Eve Berg and Rev. C. W. MacKay also spoke briefly paying tribute to the work of Canon Teape in the town and the Ministerial association and telling of the friendship existing between the ministers of the various churches in Vermilion.

Canon and Mrs. Teape, Margie Roland, Robert and Mrs. Chene left on Wednesday for their new home in Edmonton, being driven to the city by Mr. Keith King. They will be keenly missed in Vermilion but as Mr. Robson said, "we are thankful to have had them for five years".

PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN CURE

YOUR HEALTH UNIT AIMS TO MAKE YOU "HEALTH MINDED."

Although there are many diseases which require hospital treatment, there is an increasing number which could and should be prevented, including, for example, diphtheria, whooping cough, rickets, typhoid and many others.

What Does the Health Unit Do?

1 Communicable Diseases program includes quarantine of patients, control of sources of contacts, immunization program tuberculosis control.

Your Health Officer does not undertake the specific treatment of diseases that is and will remain the job of your family doctor.

2 Sanitation Inspection of water supplies, sewage disposal plants, garbage disposal, milk supplies, meat supplies, other food sources, laboratory tests on milk and water supplies.

Careful supervision by the Sanitary Inspector prevents epidemics of dysentery, gastro enteritis, some throat, typhoid etc., striking you by the above means.

3 Pre-natal and post-natal service. The educational work of the unit aims to help the expectant mother to learn how best to prepare for her baby including diet, a sufficient calcium to ensure healthy bones and teeth for the child, and to help her to give the best possible start in life to the new-born child, particularly by breast feeding. At least one visit is made to the home after the child is born to assist the young mother and her child where necessary.

4 Child Welfare Baby and child clinics will be held periodically at selected points, time and place as advertised in the Standard and by radio, to provide information and advice for children under school age.

5 School Service: Periodic examinations are carried out to detect abnormalities e.g. of vision so that children can be treated quickly and effectively. This treatment will, of course be done through the family doctor.

6 Mental Hygiene Clinics will be held periodically by specialists to help parents with retarded or nervous children.

7 Nutrition and Health Education The aim of a Health Unit is that every individual living within its boundaries should have "A healthy mind in a healthy body".

The members of the staff would be delighted to talk to groups of people on any of the points in the program.

If it's information or advice you want, call either Vermilion 502 or Vermilion 14. There will be a subaffice at Innisfree, but for the present people in the Minburn M.D., Villages of Innisfree and Minburn, are asked to contact Vermilion.

Remember that a local Health Unit represents the best investment in health a community can make.

New Short Course At School of Agric.

"FARM YOUNG PEOPLE'S WEEK" JULY 28 - AUG. 2

Plans have been completed to present a special Camp' program for farm young people between the ages of 13 and 18 years at the school of agriculture in Vermilion during the week beginning July 28th.

This program is designed to meet the interests and needs of older boys and girls from farm homes who would enjoy a week's holiday away from home. The recreation and study periods will be supervised by members of the staff of the school and the Extension Branch of the Department of Agriculture.

The demand for this short course has grown out of the fact that the camp held at the school in connection with the Vermilion fair has attracted more applicants than could be accommodated. Last year the F.U.A. sponsored a camp at Hardisty Lake which also proved very popular but the camp site was not again available. However, the staff and facilities at the school of agriculture provide an opportunity for just this age group to have an excellent holiday something to do, something worthwhile to think about and lots of other young people to make the whole week enjoyable.

A special feature of the program is the opportunity for swimming. Lessons and life-guard instructions will be given by a well qualified swimming instructor.

The total cost of room and board and shop materials is $10 each. Those wishing to attend this course should contact the school of agriculture by letter or phone, call before July 24th so plans for accommodation's can be made.

Born at Inverness, Quebec, on June 15, 1883, he came west in 1906 taking up a homestead in the Wetaskiw district. In 1916 he married Mrs. Charlotte Cameron by whom he is survived. Of a retiring nature he was a good friend and neighbor, always ready to lend a hand in time of need.

Mr. Cameron was a highly skilled cabinet maker and carpenter and many buildings throughout the district were erected by him or under his supervision. Some of these include the Landonville church, old Wetaskiw school, the Frank Lavers residence and several large barns.

GREENLAWN

As the regular correspondent of the Greenlawn Grapevine is away staying with her mother who is seriously ill in hospital it is only of interest to those who look for this column in your paper to hear a little of what is going on in this active little community.

The Rev. A. Hockin and family are visitors at the home of Mrs. Hoskin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Walker. Rev. Hockin preached the sermon at the Dewberry United church on Sunday.

I am informed by Jim Magill, the secretary of the Junior Seed club that a meeting of the club was held in the Greenlawn hall to hear an address by Mr. E. H. Buckingham, our district agriculturist.

Interesting Address by Mr. Magill

At the convention held in Kitscoty on July 10th Jim Magill was nominated as a candidate to contest the Alexandra constituency in the interests of the C.C.F. Jim was born and educated in Saskatoon and after serving nearly 5 years overseas, he took a farm in our district. Since coming here he has taken a very active part in all kinds of community endeavours, gaining the respect of all. He is president of the F.U.A. local which boasts a membership of close to [illegible]

Successful Chicken Supper

The chicken supper arranged by the Women's club was a great success. Greenlawn women are great providers and Chairman Ken Lee had food to satisfy the appetites of the many who expected lucky indeed who came out. After the supper Norman Nathison showed some very interesting films interspersed with numbers by some of the good local talent horseboots including flute and piccolo solos by Harlan Green, songs by the Mathison girls and the very popular piano selected by Joe Ryan accompanied by Lewis Mathison.

Tom Applegate has purchased a big new truck and was seen delivering telephone poles to replace those which have rotted off.

Mr and Mrs. Haskell have returned from a extended holiday at the coast and report having had a wonderful time.

Verdi Grant and family parted into the truck for the Calgary Stampede and points west.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

THE FLOWER HUNTER

By Louis Arthur Coolaghan

What the Parson Came to Mistook Loving Old Hat Laugh At Has Thought the World Of.

ELIZABETH RAND looked with wonder at the pale young man among the flowers.

"You let me, Mr. Grantley, that you would be content to spend all your life in a little cabin up here on the hills? You prefer that to getting into the real life of the world—the life that means conflict, struggle and sorrow? Don't you ever feel that the world is your heritage—a hard one to claim, I'll grant you, but one worth while? You dodge its responsibilities by living . . . among flowers?"

John Grantley smiled tolerantly at Elizabeth's young enthusiasm. Grantley was a blond, thin young fellow. He wore glasses and there were many streaks of white in his eyes, for all that, he looked much older than he really was.

"So you think it is not a man's place . . . among the flowers, Miss Rand? I am a sort of a slacker . . . is that it? Every man must live his own life, and my life means what will always be like this . . . up here in the quiet hills, away from the cities and the turmoil. It is best . . . always summer. There are but always flowers."

They were sitting on the grass in front of the mountain cabin where Elizabeth, staying at the big house of the Simonds family, her relatives, two miles down the mountains, often came to talk to the strange man whom people called The Flower-Hunter.

"When September comes . . . and it is only a month away . . ." continued Grantley, "I shall leave here unhappy, unless . . . unless . . . Elizabeth, dearest, I love you. I want you. Won't you marry me?"

Elizabeth drew her hand from his. She had often wondered what she would do if this man proposed to her. She would laugh, she used to tell herself. It would be too ridiculous. She, a senior at Vanstone, just a year away from her degree, proposed to by a rather shabby, bespectacled, unmannered young man who lived in a crazy cabin banked around by flowers of countless varieties and colors.

But when the proposal came she did not laugh. The woman was not made that could laugh at the sincerity and honest love that Grantley showed. His mild blue eyes searched her proud face eagerly, trying to read her happiness in the depths of her eyes . . . those baffling, brown eyes that had been too much for many a love-smitten collegian.

"Marry you?" Elizabeth felt deep in her heart that she could do that. But it was all so impossible. Her parents would never hear of the match. It was taken for granted by Elizabeth's family and friends that she would marry Pierce Foster, a Senior at Madison. Pierce was coming up to take the Simonds and her that very afternoon; probably was there by now, while she was sitting on the rock grass in the shadow of a flowering rose bush listening to a proposal of marriage.

"I could never marry you, John . . . I am sorry . . . a week ago this happened. We were such friends and I loved to come and visit you and sit with you here among your flowers. But now . . ."

As gently, as kindly as she could, Elizabeth told him the many reasons that stood in the way of their marriage.

He listened patiently, a whimsical smile crinkling his lips.

"I could see how overcome all your objections, Elizabeth? Tell me . . . do you care for me at all? . . . Do I leave the flowers, go out into your world of conflict . . . ?" He shuddered, "would you . . . could I hope to win you? You have another year at Vanstone, you tell me. At the end of that time . . ."

"But Pierce Regan . . . We have been intended for each other since childhood. Pierce is a fine chap . . . Why, here he comes now!" . . . A grey roadster was crawling up the mountain road from the great white pile of the Simonds house far [illegible]

"He is coming for you," said Grantley, looking away from Elizabeth with the rose in his hand. "I am sorry if I have spoiled our friendship, Elizabeth. I was sort of a fool to hope that you . . . that you would love a plain Flower Hunter."

He said the words not bitterly. There was a hint of sorrow about his mouth. Elizabeth's heart ached for him. Certainly she wasn't in love with Pierce. The grey car came nearer.

"I must my good-by to you now, Elizabeth. We may meet again. Yes, I feel sure that we shall meet again, and let it be as friends."

Elizabeth could have wept. Oh, for time . . . just a little time to think calmly. She did not want to lose him. It had been so lovely.

Pierce came up the path to the door. With a thrill that was not jealousy Elizabeth saw that a girl was with him. Pierce was rather fond of Mae Glenning.

"Hello, Beth!" called Pierce; then, looking at Grantley he stopped in confusion.

"Why, hello, professor," he said like a shy Freshman. "I didn't know it was up here you were working on your book. And is it true you are leaving our school for good to teach at Vanstone? I've never had so fine a class as my Freshman Botany."

Pierce marked Elizabeth's puzzled embarrassment.

"I guess Mr. Grantley has been goading you, Beth. He is the greatest botanist in the country. He's going to teach at your school next year. Well, perhaps you would just as soon stay here and talk. I suppose Mr. Grantley will have some Senior classes and you might like . . ."

"Yes," said Elizabeth. "I . . . I think I may sign up with him."

You'll Like This Family—We Did

—And the Family Reading Club chose it as "safe and enjoyable for all members of the family to read."

It's called "The Pennsylvanians" and is written by a man who knows his characters thoroughly and makes them life like. In fact we'd bet he was born still in real life.

The whole 334 pages interested and amused so much that we couldn't stop till we'd read them all. Many friends tell us they felt they knew the people in the story and were greatly pleased we'd recommended it to them.

Big city reviewers who get all kinds of books fell in love with the Pennsylvanians and gave glowing columns of praise as W. A. Mitchener of Toronto, Globe and Mail said, in part—

"A bold venture on the part of the author is certainly going to repay him well because a large number of people are going to like The Pennsylvanians immensely.

It starts slowly in a city, which might be Amsterdam, with the harried, kindly and very poor dean of the cathedral, his wife, whose temper had suffered from the trials of parish service, and half a dozen children, ranging from a boy of 11 to a son and daughter each in their early 20's. Two of the children are already married when the story opens, three more marry during its course.

The action consists of the problems of the home, the reactions of the brothers and sisters to each other and to their parents. Ties of natural affection are very strong, as they are bound to be in large families. It is impossible to say when the doings and sayings of the Pennsylvanians waken interest. Perhaps it is through the similarities and contrasts of family traits in the members of the group. But there is no doubt at all that interest in the fortunes of the group and its members mounts imperceptibly and steadily throughout the narrative.

On the dean's death name of the children goes to the eldest brother, Adrian, in Rochester, while Philip joins his brother-in-law, Robert in Montreal. At first this reader credited the change of scene with the increasing interest, because both editor are graphically handled But in the final pages it became quite evident that absorption in the story was the product of Mr Partridge's ease with his people. Utterly natural in all they do, they are completely credible as human beings. The reader comes to believe in them as real.

If your bookseller has not got the book in stock at $3.75—you could ask him to get it from the publishers who are The Riverson Press Toronto. We loved it. The Pennsylvanians are good to see a Canadian book make a real success in his first book but of course he has been a successful writer for years and a great student of people.

Prister With A Few Drinks

Out in Missouri a farmer gave a pruning office an order for one bale of his job was promised for June 30th. The date being the last day before the prolonged drought started.

The printer decided to take a few drinks. He took several. Then he decided to remember the bale that there was no delivery that day and staggered to the office to get out the job.

The farmer called for the bills, but the printer couldn't look them home. Next day he started to put them up, and this is what he read when he came to the list of articles for sale:

Twenty-five cows broke to work; 11 head of cultivators coming in soon; 10 head of shovelling bronchos; 5 scraps at sides; 8 plain mares; 120 rods canvas belting, better than new; De Laval cow with ice cream attachment; McCormick binder in fool; Poland china bobsled due to farrow in April; 14 head of chickens with grass seed attachments, in good working order; 2 J. I. Case riding heifers, good as new, spraying outfit, can be ridden by children; 15 Billy goats. 70 bushels capacity with spraying nozzle and other attachments. Man, other articles too numerous to mention, which I expect to get at night between new and date of sale.

New Pet Replacing Wire-Terrier in U.K.

LONDON—Figures issued by British kennel club show that the Welsh Corgi, a favorite of the royal family, is becoming the most popular family pet.

The Corgi has moved up to fourth place in the annual popularity poll of pedigree pups, displacing the wire-haired terrier which has been one of the first four more than 30 years.

The Corgi's popularity dates from 1933 when the late King George VI bought a pup for his daughter Princess Elizabeth. Now Elizabeth as Queen has a Corgi called Sugar as nursery pet for her two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne. The pup is daughter of the reigning pet of the royal household Susan.

Hanging Restores Fabric Is Wool

If a man has two suits of clothes and wears each three days a week, they should last twice as long as one suit worn every day.

Wrong—they will last at least three times as long.

Because, in hanging, the elastic nature of the woven woollen fabric restores itself to shape

But should a suit being caught in the rain, a suit should therefore only require pressing once a month, cleaning probably every second month.

A properly formed washbone hanger contributes much to the snugness of fit at the collar.

The Vermilion Fair

The Vermilion Fair on July 24, 25 and 26 is the best place I know of to display your cooking or handicraft talents. There are classes for every type of article and not cash for you grown-ups but for school children too. If you'd like it, you may write for the free pamphlet "Standards for Judging".

Children's Dresses

Dresses best suited to little girls 2 to 6 years old are designed especially for a child's way of doing things. Styled for comfort, they allow for growth and freedom of action. The dresses are easy to put on and to launder. They encourage a child to dress without help. They are dainty, yet sturdy enough for playtime and for frequent washings. Their beauty lies in simple styling with becoming lines and colors, not in fussy decorations. In choosing little girls' dresses, whether you make them at home or buy ready makes, consider the following points:

Comfortable Styles — Dresses without belts, little folks don't have waistlines. Fullness — gathered, pleated, or circular set in at each side of the front and back looks best and allows for action and growth.

Roomy armholes and short sleeves without cuffs or bands. Elastic keeps arm movement, and they become tighter as the child grows. Sleeveless dresses, with wings or ruffles for a perky look, are good for hot weather.

Colorless neck lines, low in front. Neck lines cut too high are uncomfortable and may soon be outgrown. Collars are bulky and inconvenient under wraps.

Dresses short enough not to be under foot when a child stoops at play. Have little girls' dresses well above the knees, but not too short. Experiment a little to see what length looks best. A 6 to 8 inch hem allows for letting a dress down.

Dresses without fancy trimmings. Dangling trim, and sashes and bows that come untied get in a child's way, hamper action and may even be hazardous.

Simply styled dresses that best meet little girls' needs are easy to wash and iron too. They lighten work and save time for mothers.

Next week you may read about suitable materials and good workmanship.

Lord Chesterfield said: "The less one has to do, the less time one finds to do it in." Rather true I think.

Ethelwyn Notes

We cannot complain about dry weather these past few weeks as there have been very few dry days for working the summerfallow or garden. It is surprising how quickly the roads dry after a heavy rain, except in the side roads which are never good even in dry weather and are in really bad shape this summer.

A larger crowd than ever gathered at the Greenlawn Old Timers' picnic July 1st. The entries in the horse races were not numerous but the chuck wagon race, an innovation this year, was greatly enjoyed. Two cattle owned, Henry Carlton of Clandonald was the winner drivling four well matched blacks. Carlotta Burns brought honor to the district by winning two prizes, 1 first and 1 third with her pony in the races.

Mr. Martin McBride of Vermilion wishes to thank the picnic committee at Greenlawn for the gift of chocolates presented to him as the oldest gentleman there.

Clandonald and district people were saddened by three deaths within a week. Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved families of Mr. Harry Klatek, Mr. Arthur Cameron and Annette Fisher.

Seen at the Old Timers picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Boyce and family, Mr. Moses Allaire and Rosie Shvenkewich, Mrs. Robert Gilbert, Bill McBride, Ollie Embshus, Don MacGillivray, John McFee and Leslie Gease, all from Edmonton. Mrs. Eli Sweet of Winnipeg; Tom Hagen of Kitscoty; Leonard Timarowen of Vegreville; Mrs. D. Turner (nee Martha Nichols) of Bowness, Calgary.

The combined W.A. meeting and supper-ware party held at Mrs. Cooper's was well attended. Mrs. Norman Thompson agents over very well pleased with the sales she made. The writer hopes to have another demonstration in the fall to give more ladies a chance to obtain some of the lovely and useful articles offered.

The W.A. patch apron which has been going around the district for the past year was called in at the meeting and the patches taken off—the yield was $75. The names of all who has put a patch on were put into a hat and Jimmy Swart drew one out—the lucky name was Miss Katie Stryska who then won the apron.

A timely question: Why do so many people complain about the government and yet fail to exercise their right to vote. Vote as you wish but vote.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Blindt of Manito, Minn., are the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Albert D. Good.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allan have their little granddaughter visiting them.

The Canadian National Railways had its beginning more than a century ago with the first railway in Canada, the Champlain and St. Lawrence, which opened in 1836 as a link between Montreal and New York. Later this became part of the Grand Trunk and shortly after the first world war was taken over by the C.N.R.

20 Million Canadians

In another 20 years at the present rate of growth, Canada's population will reach 20 millions, says The Financial Post. This will mean more people to buy more goods. Thin markets will 'fatten' producing in larger quantities. Spreading the vast overhead of fixed costs, many Canadian heavy industries will achieve higher efficiency. Costs will come more into line with U.S. costs. There will be more room for true Canadian design in furniture, in clothes and in household equipment.

Manufacturing will show the greatest growth and will use most of the additional labor force. Little of the population increase will flow to the farms. The same number of farms will have 50% more Canadians to feed. Home markets for agricultural produce will loom larger. Probably wheat will be the only farm produ• which will still have to look to export. And if we use our heads and help to develop two-thirds countries now, we should not have much trouble finding markets for surplus crops 20 years from now. The problem of export markets for farm products should be small and farm prices relatively good.

Woodvale News

A wedding of interest in the friends of the Friedland family in this district, took place in Trinity United church, Toronto, on June 28 when Jean Frances, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Friedland, was married to George James Holland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Holland, Sr., of Kingston, Ont. The Rev. Crossley Hunter officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by two matrons of honor, her sister Olive, Mrs. Howard Cooper and the groom's sister, Mrs. Hugh Crawford, whose husband was best man. Ushers were John Trotter of Kingston and Douglas Clark of Toronto. After the ceremony the wedding party motored out to Pickdale Drive-in restaurant where the reception was held. The bride received many beautiful presents from her host of friends and relatives. After the reception the young couple left for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester and Watkins Glen, N.Y., and from there to Kingston.

On their return they will make their home at 124 Riverdale Road, Toronto.

We were very pleased to get this news and wish you and your husband, a long life of happiness, Jean.

Maybe we should mention that Olive has been married for 8 years now and has a boy four years old, and that Art has been working in Smith Falls, Ont., for the past 9 years, but is now living in Toronto. 46 Garnock, Ave. It is always good to hear from old Woodvale friends again.

Does anyone still remember Jim Crew, who used to work around here in the early 30's? After 20 years in Glasgow Scotland, he and his family have moved back to Canada and they live in Toronto where Jim is employed as a baker. He still hopes to come back and visit the Woodvale and Tolland districts in the not too distant future.

Emily Young, formerly of Blindville, who has been in missionary work in France these past years, is doing some extensive travelling this summer. She spent a month in England, mainly Hertford, and is at present visiting with her sister Georgette and her mother's relatives in Belgium. She will go to the Netherlands the end of July and return to France in the fall.

A visitor to the Goutier home is their daughter Mrs. Therese Pelletier and little son Marcel from Perigord, Sask. She spent a week first with her sister Mrs. Suzanne Dubue at Vegreville, who with little Diane accompanied her home and will stay for a week. Marie Goutier, who is taking the summer school course in Edmonton is expected home for a week's end and Camille Goutier might arrive any day to join this family re-union. He is studying for the priesthood in the Eastern U.S. and is spending a two months vacation in Canada visiting in Quebec, Montreal and with his brother Maurice in Lesser, Sask.

To close this Woodvale bulletin, we wish to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. John Croshies whose marriage took place on the 5th, most heartily, and we hope you two will very often vist the old family home here and your many friends. There is no doubt, weather permitting, Mable and John, that you'll see the 'gang' at Alrways on your wedding dance!

Brooks Lysons gave a very good outline of the F.U.A. convention at Wainwright at the meeting July 9th. Further plans were made for the picnic on the 19th.

Fred Slocum went to Calgary for the Stampede.

Quirine Lenhuck also left for the Stampede and will go on to Kelowna to pick fruit.

WEDDING BELLS

LEWIS—BLAIR

On the afternoon of June 10th the United church of Lac La Biche was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Gwendoline Isabella, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Blair of Lac La Biche, became the bride of Mr. Lewis.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. A. Greenough.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was resplendent in a gown of white brocaded organdy over taffeta, which was complimented by a wedding veil worn previously by her mother. The veil misted from a small organdy cap trimmed with lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations and wore as her only jewelry a wrist watch, gift of the groom.

Miss Beulah Quast as bridesmaid, attended the bride down the aisle. She chose as her attire a gown of nylon over taffeta and her jewelry was a matching pendant and ear ring set. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers

The groom was ably attended by Mr. Evert Isly as best man. Mr Donald Blair, brother of the bride, was usher.

Mrs. Lett played the wedding music for the happy occasion.

The bride's mother chose a navy lace dress of blue moire silk and wore a corsage of pink carnations and red roses. The groom's mother wore a gown of mauve crepe, her corsage was pink carnations and red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bridal table was covered by a beautiful tiered wedding cake, which during the reception was cut by the bride and groom. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Mr. Greenough, to which the groom ably responded.

Out of town guests were Mrs. J. A. Blair, grandmother of the bride; Miss Amy Dalgleish, great aunt of the bride, both of Kitscoty; and Mrs. Elmer Eidstrom, aunt and uncle of the bride and daughter Sharon of Edberg. Mr and Mrs. Ivan Lewis, parents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Isly, all of Fort Saskatchewan. Miss Lillian Lewis, Mrs. Lily and Mr Lewis, sisters and brother of the groom, all of Irma. Special guests were Mrs. H. E. Carran, Mrs. L. Richard, Miss Lucille Tatum, all of Lac La Biche.

For travelling the bride donned a blue-grey suit and white accessories. After their honeymoon to Sylvan Lake the happy couple will make their home at Fort Saskatchewan.

The young couple received many beautiful gifts and a profusion of good wishes from those present.

A New Index

CANADIANS ARE PRESENTED periodically with a cost of living index which indicates the trend of prices of a variety of essential commodities used from day to day. For some time the trend was steadily upward and the figures verified the fact that living costs rose over an extended period in all parts of the country. It has recently been announced that the form of the index is to be changed and that shortly the barometer of prices will be known as the Consumer Price Index instead of the Cost of Living Index. The new title is only one of several changes which are to be made in this periodic report of the nation's living costs.

* * *

Our Economy Has Changed

In the future, the index will be based on prices which prevailed in 1949 instead of on the pre-war basis of prices as they were in the years from 1935 to 1939. This will automatically lower the figures in the report and perhaps give a more accurate indication of price trends, since there have been many changes in our way since the pre-war period. It has been found that the method used to determine the index should also be changed since living conditions have altered since the present system was set up. A recent survey showed that in the past few years Canadians have tended to spend more on food and household operation and that massive property ownership has increased, rent is a less common item in family budgets. With these and other changes in mind it has been decided that the index should in future be given a higher percentage to the clothing group and slightly and other alterations made in keeping with the changes in the spending habits of the people.

* * *

Has Attracted Wide Interest

Statistics which concern the daily life of the average person are usually interesting but they are also of value to many ways: business men and those who study the nation's economy. The cost of living index has attracted wide interest in the past few years and has presented to the people in a clear form the changes in living costs in Canada. It is perhaps well that it has been decided to bring the index up to date with the spending habits of the people and to a basis more closely related to our present standard of living. While prices have risen considerably, employment rates have increased and incomes in many cases have reached record figures. The cost of living index has been alarmingly high at times but it has not told the whole story and the new index will perhaps give a more accurate picture of conditions as they are now.

SELF-PORTRAIT OF A SUICIDE—A love of photography and a dislike of mice caused an English photographer in London to bring this trap, in which a mouse took his own picture and his life at the same time. The trap was wired to the camera so that tripping of the trap mechanism also tripped the camera shutter. Here the killing spring is about to come down on the neck of the rodent after its first nibble at the cheese sprung the trap.—Central Press Canadian.

Old-Timers Still Remember Great Gold Rush Of 1898

When recently, demolition men tore down yet another of Dawson City's log cabins they discovered under the floorboards gold dust worth over $5,000. It dated from the days when 45,000 men and women struggled over mountain ridges, shot the rapids of the mighty Yukon River, and clambered through bog and over bare rock in the greatest gold rush in history — the Klondyke Rush of '98.

It slipped through the fingers of rip-roaring men who paid for their drinks in gold dust—men like Dangerous Dan McGrew and Sloppy Smith, Rifkah Carmack, and the Indian Shookum Pete, Bull Ballantyne, and Charlie Benguerets and others.

Dangerous Dan lived only in the mind of the poet Robert Louis Service; Sloppy Smith was shot down in a gun-battle with law officers; Rifkah and Shookum are dead. But Bull Ballantyne and Charlie Benguerets, and many another soldier of the '98 rush are alive, and still looking for gold along the creeks that flow from Solomon's Dome into the Klondyke River.

A correspondent now back in Britain, who recently talked with them, says: "They have a far-away look in their eyes and gold-fever in their brains. Once a hell-raising town, Dawson City is today but a shadow. Its log cabins dilapidated, its streets peopled by old men who "came up the Yukon" fifty-odd years ago in answer to the cry "GOLD!"

At night they meet in the Flora Dora Saloon, where Diamond-Tooth-ed Gertie and Klondyke Kate (now in her eighties) danced the can-can.

"I remember Christie Johnson offering Cecily Marion her weight in gold if she'd marry him," says old Charlie Benguelesta. "They stood over there, under them gold letters F-L-O-R-A D-O-R-A."

Bill Anderson, another old-timer, recalls what happened when Swift-water Gates struck it rich. "He was a dishwasher," he says, "but when he hit pay-dirt he bought a top hat and strutted like a peacock.

"Another lucky one was Harry Gleave. Harry came in with one dollar in his pocket and a pair of new shoulders, struck gold, won the Flora Dora dance hall game of poker, and made a fortune."

Ed himself was both lucky and unlucky. He struck a thousands of dollars worth of gold dust in two days, but somebody hit him over the head with a champagne bottle, and from he has not been able to remember where his claim was!

Such are the stories you could hear in the Flora Dora Saloon, now renamed the Ken Alexander Hotel.

The town's social life centred on the saloon. In a corner Diamond-Tooth on the bar were scales for weighing gold dust. One Sam-Bronco attendant gathered enough dust from the floor sawdust to buy himself a rich mining claim.

Fortunes were lost in gold roulette and faro, and what the gambling-saloon-hall-keepers didn't grab the dance-hall girls.

Once the fourth largest town in Canada, Dawson's population today is not above 450 men, women, and children, and on every side is evidence of the Gold Rush days in which it still lives.

The fire-engine standing on a plot of land near one of the shops looks like a Model-A Ford on wheels — it must be 50 years old. Children clamber over the stage coach in which the fabulous can-can girls, the nun, Mother Mary Mark, and men like Bull Ballantyne danced. Clark rode between their cabins and "the city", "Dr. John," said the voice from below. "I asked Dorothy to marry me after she said she would, but I forgot to kiss her."

The man admitted he drank lots of coffee. "Nice days I drink eight," he said.

"Fifty cups a day! Doesn't it keep you awake?" inquired the salesman.

"Well, it helps!" answered the man.

Man Says He Trained Mackerel

WELLINGTON, N.E.—Tourists returning from remote Marlborough Sounds recently produced a photograph of a man who claims he trained 25 mackerel and 85 cod to swim into shore each night to be fed.

The tourists have learned it is close time when W. Ker wades out into the water at nightfall, the tourists say. The fish swim alongside him, raise their heads and wait for the food Ker drops to them.

The mackerel—known locally as schnapper — which Ker says are easily identified by their markings, vary in weight from six pound "Little Bobs" to 24-pound "Herbs."

About four years ago Ker began throwing shell fish into the waters of the bay. First he got the idea of the free dinner service were the blue cod. Then about a year ago the schnapper got in on the act.

The fish became tamer each year until Ker could put his hand in the water to feed them. Some months ago he also discovered they would allow themselves to be picked up.

Cool Words For Hot Beaches

Get your suntan gradually, a few minutes each day. Use suntan lotion generously, and wear sunglasses to protect your eyes against the glare of water and sand.

Don't exercise and then go into the water to cool off. Fatigue and overworked muscles can cause cramps.

Wait a reasonable time after eating before going in for a swim. And remember, alcohol and swimming are a poor combination!

Trust only your own swimming ability—rubber ring apparatus is apt to collapse or be swept out to sea. Play safe!

Many a tunned or gashed foot can be prevented if you promise yourself not to run in the surf. Buried rocks and broken glass are beach hazards.

Always swim in the presence of at least one other good swimmer in an area patrolled by the life guards. Strong currents or muscle cramps can overcome even the strongest swimmer!

Conservatively estimate your long distance swimming ability. Long distance swimmers should be accompanied by other good swimmers, or preferably by a boat.

When swimming in a strange area, learn the characteristics of waters from the life guards present. This precaution will keep you from being caught in strong currents or tide rips-like.

Always make certain of the depth of the water before doing any diving from piers or rocks.

It's both courtesy and good housekeeping to gather up your picnic leftovers and deposit them in the trash barrels provided at most beaches.

Swimming goggles, nose clips and ear plugs are valuable for persons susceptible to swimming infections.

Funny and Otherwise

The young plumber had proposed to the girl and had been accepted. Several hours later they parted and he went home.

At three o'clock in the morning after ringing at the front door bell of the girl's house was heard. Her father, roused from sleep, went to the window and, sticking out his head, inquired who was there.

"It's John," said the voice from below. "I asked Dorothy to marry me and she said she would, but I forgot to kiss her."

Angling Tip By Expert

PRESTON, Ont.— William Grinder has a tip for catching more fish but it may leave your stomach black and blue.

Mr. Grinder's secret is to keep the rod pointed at the lure and while reeling in to hold the rod straight out from the body at almost arm's length.

"At times I've pulled it into my stomach so hard it actually hurt and my companions have heard me grunt with pain." The white-haired angler explains. "But I usually get my fish."

The retired Hamilton-born glassblower says his method reduces the time lost in lifting the tip of the rod when a fish nibbles.

"As far as I know my method is not practised by anyone outside of myself. I picked it up from an Englishman a long time ago."

Mr. Grinder's fishing career started at the age of three with his father on Hamilton Bay. At that time young William was lashed to the boat to prevent his falling or being dragged into the water by a fish. He bought his first fishing tackle around 1901 but now he makes his own. It takes half a day to make a spoon and requires brass, nickel silver, manganese, bronze and pure silver.

Mr. Grinder believes he was the first man to introduce casting in Ontario.

"I had travelled around the north country," he says, "and had never seen a casting before I started."

Today he holds life membership in three fishing clubs.

Knots May Be Ugly But Save Trees

KENT, D. — Knots generally are not wanted by home craftsmen or carpenters, but they help the tree solve the knotty problem of self-preservation.

So says Martin L. Davey, Jr., tree expert, who points out the knots are merely the gnarled growth provided by nature in healing over the wounds where branches were shed.

As branches grow and crowd each other trees do some self-pruning and shedding of branches, he explained.

Golf Involves All Kinds Of Problems

A golf game involves all kinds of problems," Monsmann told his wife after a round. "Take the match I had with that Scotch fellow McGregor at the golf club this morning. We're all square at the 17th hole, playing a $2 massie when McGregor tops his ball in a dark rough. Naturally I go over and help him look for it, on account I don't want any monkey business from McGregor.

"He can't find his ball, however, and I start walking toward the green. Suddenly he yells after me, 'It's okay, Joe, here was that little ball of mine all the time' I look back and there I see a ball right on the fairway all beautifully teed up for a shot to the green with McGregor happily pulling an approachiker iron from his bag. And here, my dear, I am faced with a very serious problem. Just how am I going to be able to brank the news to McGregor that all the time I've got his lost ball in my pocket?"

For What Emerald Oil Has Done for Me" Writes Florida Lady

"The Emerald Oil has been so wonderful to me that I would not take $1,000 for what it has done for me," writes Mrs. [illegible] of [illegible], Florida. I have taken only one bottle and it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I am now sleeping fine, my nerves are steady and I am feeling like a new woman. I am glad to recommend Emerald Oil to anyone suffering with Eczema."

Vermilion To Be Home For Newlyweds

MACNAB—ALEXANDER

The Full Gospel church, Calgary, was the scene of a double-ring wedding recently when Miss Hazel Dolores Alexander, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander, became the bride of Mr. Brenton Alexander Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Macnab of Vermilion. Rev. V. J. Konick officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a strapless gown of rhinestone studded lace with a sweeping skirt of nylon net complemented by a lace jacket with long sleeves and a small stand-up collar. Her circular nylon net veil was edged with lace and caught by a Juliet cap of satin and lace. Her bridal bouquet was composed of Sweetheart roses and ivy.

Miss Donna Alexander, sister of the bride, was maid of honour. Her pale pink gown was styled with a lace bodice and a full nylon net skirt featuring a side panel of pleated net and lace. She also wore a matching Juliet cap of satin and a Juliet cap with a small circular veil. Her nosegay was composed of pink carnations and Sonata Hill roses and stephanotis.

This gown styling was repeated in the gowns worn by the bridesmaids Miss Trudy Harris and Miss Lucy Murray whose frocks were in shades of pale green and mauve respectively. The former's bouquet was composed of yellow scabious and Talisman roses and the latter's mauve scabious with Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Walter Brown and guests were ushered by Mr. Don Crough and Mr. Keith Alexander. During the signing of the register, Mrs. G. Jarman sang "Because" and the wedding music was played by Mrs. W. Wilkin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bridal couple left later on a honeymoon trip. For travelling the bride changed to a light-gray double-breasted suit complemented by red accessories. Her shoulder was covered a corsage of red carnations centred with a white gardenia.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Macnab will take up residence at Vermilion.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Caroline Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. R. Hargood of Plackfalds; Mr. and Mrs. T. Vaughn of Lethbridge; Mr. and Mrs. A. Alexander of Turner Valley, Mr. Don Crough of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Macnab Sr., of Vermilion. — Calgary Herald.

Farm Safety Council Announces Top Awards

FOR SCHOOL ESSAYS

Alberta's farm cash income from the sale of farm products totalled for the first quarter (Jan. to March) 1952, $61,211,000 as compared to $72,781,099 in the same period of 1951. This overall decrease of about 25% is not shared equally by the livestock man and the grain grower. In the former group the sale of stock and poultry was down from $42,211,000 to $30,013,000, reflecting lower numbers marketed as well as reduced prices. Receipts from the sale of cattle and calves were down from $23,906,000 to $14,148,000. Hard hit also were swine receipts. With greater numbers marketed at lower prices, hogs brought $4,113,000 as compared to $10,-560,000 in the first quarter of 1951.

To March 31, 1952, farmers received $48,540,000 from the sale of grains, seeds and hay, including wheat board payments. This was $20,176,000 above the $28,313,000 received from the same source a year ago. Reflecting a generally good crop situation in 1951, Prairie Farm Assistance payments were only $561,000 as compared to $7,-937,000 last year.

In total forested area Canada ranks third of all countries in the world, being exceeded only by Russia and Brazil.

Wildmere Winks

Mrs. J. Wilson left last Wednesday morning by bus for Fort Saskatchewan where she and her sister Mrs. Fluker will journey by car to Lesjlbe in the Peace River country to visit another sister Delia and family. They plan to go up the Alaska highway while in that part of the country.

From cards received from Mr. and Mrs. Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. Martin they are really enjoying their holiday at the Coast.

Auburndale had a grand day for their picnic and there was a nice crowd, good ball games, lots of races, and at the end of a very enjoyable soft ball game between the boys and married men. We bet there were some stiff men next day. What do you say boys? Boobs supplied eats and treats and there were swings for the children.

Triangle did not have such a fortunate day, a few gathered and some sociable ball games were played. Triangle plans to hold a picnic later on if weather permits and we hope this wet weather lets up soon for a spell at least.

Several Wildmere W.I. ladies attended the conference at the college. It was enjoyed by all. While our W.I. did not receive many prizes it was a good outing and one meets so many friends you do not see otherwise. We all look forward to next year.

We were very pleased to see such a nice attendance at church on Sunday when 53 turned out. Mr. Dawe gave a good sermon and his solo after was greatly enjoyed. Next Sunday church will be held at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon so please take note.

We had nice chats with Mrs. Mooney, Mrs. Bridgley who was down from Edmonton for a visit. Mrs. Kather and Mrs. Seite.

There are about $111,000,000 worth of paper bags and boxes made in Canada each year.

Pleasant Valley

At time of writing it is lovely weather with lots of warm sunshine. The wild berries are now ripe and they should be picked right away as they soon dry up on the bushes with these warm days. Come over the hills folks and fill your pails.

Roadsides are so pretty at present with many wild flowers in full bloom. The writer noticed a particularly beautiful group today yellow and white clover, daisies, yellow an white also with a cluster of pink roses, not as nature planted them.

Noticed around Jim Miller built ing a little pink bundle you looking quite the Daddy Jim! Mabel Lysons And John Crookes Wed At United Church

Bright sunshine favored Mabel Lysons, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Lysons and the late Mr. Lysons of Telland, when she became the bride of John Crookes, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Crookes Edwards on Wednesday July 9th at the First United church, Vermilion. The Rev. C. W. McKay officiated.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, Mr. Brooks Lysons, the bride was lovely in a long white dress with a brocaded sateen bodice and wide tulle skirt, a fingertip veil was held in place by a band of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of mixed colored gladioli and baby breath. Her only jewelry was a gold brooch, a gift of the groom.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Thelma Sweeney was the matron of honor. Her floor length dress was of blue sheer trimmed with blue lace and a black veil. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Walter Lysons attended the groom as best man. Clarence, Art and Tom Lysons were the ushers.

The reception of the bride wore a dress of navy eyelet silk and matching hat, while the mother of the groom chose for her occasion a silk dress in a lighter shade of blue and a pink hat. Both wore corsages of carnations and small gladioli in pink and white.

Following the ceremony, in the golden sunlight outside the church, the happy couple were showered with confetti and rice, pictures were taken and congratulations extended by family friends.

The bridal party then proceeded to the farm home of Mrs. Lysons where a reception was held for the immediate family and a few close friends. The rooms were tastefully decorated in spring flowers and bouquets of flowers. A delicious buffet supper was served and Mr. D. C. McGrath proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. More pictures were taken and then the three tiered wedding cake was cut by the newlyweds.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for a honeymoon at Jasper and Banff. For travelling the bride changed to a grey suit with white accessories. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Airways, Alta.

Gifts of the groom to the matron of honor were a bracelet and pair of earrings and necklace, and to the best man a gold tie pin.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. Crookes and Mr. and Mrs. G. Hobbs of Airways.

Proposed Community Life Conference Is Cancelled

The proposed Community Life Conference planned to be held in Vermilion July 28th and 29th and sponsored jointly by the Vermilion Board of Trade and Dept. of Extension, University of Alberta, has been cancelled.

Cancellation was deemed advisable due to the facts that the preliminaire rains have so delayed haying that an attendance of farmers was highly problematical: that the annual Vermilion 3-day fair closes just before the proposed conference: and finally, a few women's social club members each week, which are held just before and just after, would greatly reduce the attendance of people who might be likely to attend the Community Life Conference.

In short, there is just so much activity at Vermilion that it is very difficult to work in any other events regardless of how worthwhile they are.

The program of the fair, a good airplane will be on hand to take the fans for a ride at reasonable rates for riders, as well as Shorty Heath of Camrose with his Shetland ponies. A grand ball on the evening will wind up the program.

Crops Field Day At School Of Agriculture

DR. UNRAU TO SPEAK

Farmers of the Vermilion area will have an opportunity to observe results of tests or various field crops at the school of agriculture on Tuesday, July 29th.

Interesting results can be seen where plots of different varieties and kind of crops have been grown side by side. Dr. John Unrau from the University of Alberta will be on hand to discuss points of latest information pertaining to crop varieties and cropping practices.

Farmers' seed samples grown for purity test under the "Crop Testing Plan" will be analyzed by Dr. Unrau and recommendations will be discussed. Also in attendance will be W. G. Malaher, assistant director of the Crop Testing plan, and a former member of the Vermilion school of agriculture staff.

This occasion will afford local people with the opportunity to examine not only the crop demonstrations but the gardens and other items of interest on the V.S.A. grounds.

110 Young People Enjoy United Church Camp At Lake Whitney

The following account of the camp for young people held at Lake Whitney during the month of July was kindly forwarded to the Standard by the camp leader.

This week's held at Whitney for the first time and was organized by the United church. The story follows:

"Fifty boys attended the camp at Whitney Lake from July 3 to 10. My friend and I had the pleasure of accompanying the camp inspector, Mr. Hall, on one of her daily inspections. All of the cabins and tents were neat and clean and merited the 100% awarded them.

The largest cabin had the partition taken out and it made a very fine dining room. The boys were doing full justice to an excellent dinner when we went in. It was hard to believe that there were so many boys present as there was just a quiet hum of conversation. They impressed me as being orderly and mannerly crowd of boys.

After each boy had finished dining they washed their own dishes and cutlery and placed them on table ready for the next meal. The boys days were spent as follows: 7 a.m. rise; 7.15 morning watch; 7.45 flags; 8.00 breakfast; 9.15 chores; 9.45 bible; 10.15 games and swimming ;11.45 every boy out. 12 noon flags. 12 15 dinner: 1 p.m. chores and games 2.00 rest period; 2.45 swimming. 3.45 handicraft and hobbies. 4.45 swimming, games and fishing. 6.15 flags; 6.30 supper; 7.00 games. 8.30 vespers. 9 camp fire hour, then to bed at 9.30 p.m.

The flags help wait on table, get water, help with the washing of dishes etc. There is a change of flags each day so that all take their turns.

The camp director was the Rev. W. Vogel, United Church minister at Kitscoty, with Rev. Adam, Elk Point, Rev. Wing of Bonnyville and Rev. Lee of St. Paul assisting. During the first part of the week Mrs. Vogel assisted. Mrs. Vogel is from B.C. and Mr. Jackson of Hamilton, Ont. were also present.

The kitchen was well looked after by Mrs. Vogel of Kitscoty very gamely took on the somewhat mammoth job of head cook, assisted by Miss Peggy Ewen of Dewberry and Mrs Adam of Elk Point was assistant dishwasher and cook's flag. The other ladies said they also were good helpers and mother, a friend in need as she sent a sympathetic ear in their troubles and rejoiced with them in their joys.

Mrs. Neil Jones of Dewberry was assistant cook for the earlier part of the week but was called home owing to illness in the family.

Dr. Savage was in attendance for the duration of the camp. One of the boys celebrated a birthday while there and the Doctor brought a birthday cake and ice cream as a birthday treat for all the boys.

Mr and Mrs. James Smith of Kitscoty took charge of the camp on Saturday and Sunday while the

Young Vermilion Couple Married At Elk Point

REID — BAUMAN

The United church, Elk Point, was the scene of a lovely afternoon wedding recently when Miss Joyce Elizabeth Bauman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bauman, Elk Point, pledged vows with Mr. Robert James Reid, son of Mr and Mrs. J. Reid of Vermilion.

Rev. H. Day performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of blue delphiniums and white powies.

Entering the church with her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon net and lace net over satin. The gown was fashioned with panels of chantilly lace in the front and back of the skirt over rows of net ruffles. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and long lill point sleeves. A matching net top with seed pearls held her fingertip veil.

The bride carried a white Bible garlanded with an orchid and lily of the valley on white streamers. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mrs. Glenys Bauman, sister-in law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a mauve nylon sheer dress with matching mittens and headdress. Her colonial bouquet was of white and pink carnations and roses.

Little Ingrid Berg, niece of the bride, was flower girl She wore a blue Swiss dot gown and carried a little basket of mixed flowers.

Mr. Marty Albers, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Mr. Mark Overton and Mr. Jack Bauman were ushers.

During the signing of the register Mr. Jack Bauman, twin brother of the bride, sang "Oh Promise Me." Wedding music was played by Mrs. F. Miller.

Later a reception for the immediate families was held at the bride's home. A three-tiered wedding cake was flanked by tall pink tapers graced the bride's table.

To receive her guests the bride's mother wore a cherry crepe dress complemented with black accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage at her shoulder.

A forest green nylon dress was worn by the groom's mother and she wore white accessories. Pale pink carnations fashioned her corsage.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Marty Albers.

Leaving for a honeymoon to Jasper the bride donned a navy suit with pink and navy accessories. An orchid corsage was pinned at her shoulder.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home in Edmonton.

New Parking Space In Heart of the Business Section

OPEN THE WEEK END

In order to alleviate the critical shortage of parking space during rush business hours in town and particularly Saturday afternoons and evenings, the town council has converted the east half of the park on First Street South into a parking area.

This area has been marked off into three streets and the surface gravelled. When completed stalls for each car will be marked off and the whole area dust-proofed, that is, the gravel will be given an oil treatment.

Space will thus be provided for 128 more cars with easy access in and out, the area being serviced by one way lanes with 45 degree angle parking on each side. All this in the most central place in town. It is provided for the taxpayers of Vermilion as a service to the ever-increasing number of visitors who make Vermilion their shopping and business centre.

Farm Women's Week Has Good Attendance

Sixty-three ladies attended the full programme of farm women's week at the school of agriculture July 14th to 17th and about ten others came in for special days during the four-day sessions.

The Arts and Handicrafts display included work done by local ladies as well as exhibits from the Art Guild of Lloydminster and from the Provincial Cultural Activities Branch. The displays were shown in the school library and in the gymnasium where, throughout the evening visitors were able to view and discuss a wide variety of crafts. Mr. Evans from Lloydminster completed the fine art work and Mrs. T. H. Davies, President of the Vermilion branch of the Handicrafts Guild described the activities of the organization. The keen interest in art and handicrafts indicates increasing support for a district display of this nature.

Other items on the program for this week included lectures and demonstrations on topics of special interest to women from all parts of this part of Alberta. Those taking part included in addition to members of the school staff, the University of Alberta Extension staff, and the provincial Extension service. 110 Young People Enjoy United Church Camp At Lake Whitney

The following account of the camp for young people held at Lake Whitney during the month of July was kindly forwarded to the Standard by a visitor to the camp. This week's held at Whitney for the first time and was organized by the United church. The story follows:

"Fifty boys attended the camp at Whitney Lake from July 3 to 10. My friend and I had the pleasure of accompanying the camp inspector, Mr. Hall, on one of her daily inspections. All of the cabins and tents were neat and clean and merited the 100% awarded them.

The largest cabin had the partition taken out and it made a very fine dining room. The boys were doing full justice to an excellent dinner when we went in. It was hard to believe that there were so many boys present as there was just a quiet hum of conversation. They impressed me as being orderly and mannerly crowd of boys.

After each boy had finished dining they washed their own dishes and cutlery and placed them on table ready for the next meal. The boys days were spent as follows: 7 a.m. rise; 7.15 morning watch; 7.45 flags; 8.00 breakfast; 9.15 chores; 9.45 bible; 10.15 games and swimming ;11.45 every boy out. 12 noon flags. 12 15 dinner: 1 p.m. chores and games 2.00 rest period; 2.45 swimming. 3.45 handicraft and hobbies. 4.45 swimming, games and fishing. 6.15 flags; 6.30 supper; 7.00 games. 8.30 vespers. 9 camp fire hour, then to bed at 9.30 p.m.

The flags help wait on table, get water, help with the washing of dishes etc. There is a change of flags each day so that all take their turns.

The camp director was the Rev. W. Vogel, United Church minister at Kitscoty, with Rev. Adam, Elk Point, Rev. Wing of Bonnyville and Rev. Lee of St. Paul assisting. During the first part of the week Mrs. Vogel assisted. Mrs. Vogel is from B.C. and Mr. Jackson of Hamilton, Ont. were also present.

The kitchen was well looked after by Mrs. Vogel of Kitscoty very gamely took on the somewhat mammoth job of head cook, assisted by Miss Peggy Ewen of Dewberry and Mrs Adam of Elk Point was assistant dishwasher and cook's flag. The other ladies said they also were good helpers and mother, a friend in need as she sent a sympathetic ear in their troubles and rejoiced with them in their joys.

Mrs. Neil Jones of Dewberry was assistant cook for the earlier part of the week but was called home owing to illness in the family.

Dr. Savage was in attendance for the duration of the camp. One of the boys celebrated a birthday while there and the Doctor brought a birthday cake and ice cream as a birthday treat for all the boys.

Mr and Mrs. James Smith of Kitscoty took charge of the camp on Saturday and Sunday while the ministers attended to their ministerial duties in their own parishes.

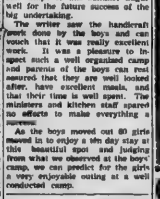
Camp Site Purchased

This camp site was purchased about one year ago by the United Churches of this section of Alberta with the intention of holding interdenominational camps for boys and girls annually. This year saw the first of these camps. United Churches at Kinsella, Dewberry, Marwayne, Vermilion and other points both north and south of the river were instrumental in purchasing the camp and commencing the annual summer outing program. The boys and girls receive worth while training while really enjoying the great outdoors and the well run camps of this summer augur well for the future success of the big undertaking.

The writer saw the handicraft work done by the boys and can vouch that it was really excellent work. It was a pleasure to inspect such a well organized camp and parents of the boys can rest assured that they are well looked after, have excellent meals, and that their time is well spent. The ministers and kitchen staff spared no effort to make everything a success.

As the boys moved out 60 girls moved in to enjoy a six day stay at this beautiful spot and judging from what we observed at the boys' camp, we can predict for the girls a very enjoyable outing at a well conducted camp.



JIM MAGILL

In last week's issue of the Standard it was erroneously reported that Jim Magill, C.C.F. candidate for Alexandra constituency, is the president of the Dewberry Local of the F.U.A. Mr. Magill is president of the Greenlawn Local, serving his second term in this capacity. He has had long experience with the farm movement, having acted as Provincial Junior secretary of the U. F. C. (Illsd.) and as provincial organizer of the same body. His interest in this work was interrupted for a period in which he learned the problems of labor, working as a mechanic and as overseer on the Wheat Pool, the Dewberry Co-op store and the Greenlawn Rural Electrification Co-op. He has been associated with the C.C.F. party since it was organized in 1932 and has served on the Alexandra constituency board for the last few years. 5c

Chatsworth Chatter

The roads are in very bad condition, due to continued rains.

The crops are showing excellent growth, although some fields, particularly barley, are yellowing from too much moisture. These should be no lack of straw this year, as grain is waist-high. But then ... we aren't harvesting yet! It is to be hoped that hail will hold off, so as not to blight hopes of good looking for bumper crops.

Mrs. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. Blake and Jirla, of Vermilion, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCann.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Painter and family left on an extensive motor trip to the Pacific coast on July 11th. They planned to visit relatives at Hazelton, B.C., and Seattle, Washington.

Mr. Ralph Jackson our student minister, braved the roads to visit the homes in our community two weeks ago.

Mrs. Daisy Cummings was a recent visitor to Edmonton. The trip was made by car, and she was accompanied by Mrs. Milliner and Mrs. Dixon of town.

Mrs. Cyril Davis, Mrs. McGaughey Sr., and grandson Raymond, travelled to Edmonton by bus on the 17th. Mrs. Davis returned at the week end, but Mrs. McGaughey remained in the city until Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Brass and son Robert, of Vermilion, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Davis.

Visitors to the Arthur Tovell home recently were Mrs. Tovell's cousin, Mrs. Piercy and twin daughters, Linda and Lgora of Edmonton. On their return to the city, they were accompanied by the Misses Marie and Dorothy Tovell, who are spending a holiday there.

Mr and Mrs. Arthur Tovell and family were visitors to Edmonton and Westlock two weeks ago. At Westlock they visited with the Russell Branham family.

Mrs. Albert Tovell is away at Delia, Alberta, where she was called due to the serious illness of her uncle brother.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Good returned last Friday evening from an enjoyable camping trip to Vancouver. They visited relatives of Mrs. Good.

There were 22 in attendance at church service last Sunday. There are so many away on holidays that this accounts for our low attendance. Mr. Jackson announced that a vacation school would be held in this community from Aug. 11 to 15 inclusive at the Chatsworth school. All children are invited to attend, regardless of denomination.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Seymour and family have returned from a motor trip to Vancouver, where they visited Harvey's father and sister.

The rain last Sunday caught a number of folks unawares—some quite a distance from home. Among these was Eric Ludwig who accompanied a party on a fishing trip to Long Lake, and was out on the lake when the storm broke.

Mrs. Leo Klashinsky is very busy these days, as she is boarding the crew which is erecting the new power line throughout this district.

The July meeting of the F.U.A. was held at J. E. Thompson's on Monday, 14th, when the delegates report of the district convention was received. Sorry, but we have no more particulars.

The July meeting of the Chatsworth Country club was held at the home of Mrs. H. Good on the 17th with 9 members and one visitor present. As this was the annual meeting, the officers for the ensuing year were elected. Those being: President, Mrs. Patterson; Vice-President, Mrs. E. Thompson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Leo Klashinsky. The retiring president's report showed a good number of projects undertaken, namely: the old woolless shipped for blankets, and donations made to Cancer, Red Cross, Arthritis funds, etc., as well as gifts and cards for the sick, and flowers for several in the community who passed on. The financial report showed a balance of $41. The richest draw was won by Mrs. Ear, a pretty coffee cup, donated by Mrs. Klashinsky. The social contest was tied for by Mrs. Patterson,. Mrs. J. K. Thompson, Edna Patterson and Patty Thompson; Mrs. Patterson withdrew, and Mrs. J. K. Thompson emerged the winner on the draw. At the close of the meeting, a very tasty lunch was served by the hostess and those on the lunch committee. The next meeting is to be held at Mrs. E. Thompson's on Aug. 21st. Mrs. Paterson, social: Mrs. J. K. Thompson, Mrs. Arthur Tovell, Mrs. Jim Painter and Mrs. Albert Tovell on the lunch committee.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of the councillor for this division, Mr. Chas. Stewart, necessitating an enforced holiday. I can be called such, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Leslie Tovell and little son Adin of Randon, Ireland, were visitors to Vermilion on Saturday, visiting friends. Mrs. Good is the former Ina Clark, and at present is a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ida Clark of Bloomington district.

Also holidaying at the Clark home are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clark and little daughter Carol Elizabeth of Edmonton.

Letters to the Editor

This paper do... not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

R.R. 3, Vermilion,
July 18th, 1952.

The Editor,
Vermilion Standard,
Vermilion.

Dear Sir:

I was interested in reading Mr. Norman Stanley's letter, his points are well taken and it will be interesting to see how he gets along in his experiment. However, Mr. Stanley will have a practical way of protecting this injustice on Aug. 5th. It would appear that it is signed time that we in Alberta had a change of government. In the Editor of the Edmonton Journal who has given a consistent support of the Manning Government says that "to allow the Alberta municipalities to get into such perilous condition that they now need to be set on their feet and to do nothing, although perfectly able to do so, would be bad governments, but to deliberately delay assistance in order to make an election bribe out of it, is reprehensible."

And what does this so-called bribe amount to? Loaning money to municipalities and school districts. Financial aid to qualified persons to pay their way through university, and last but not least, loans to Farmer Co-op Electrification Associations to enable them to bring power to the rural districts.

It is the people of this province who furnish the revenue for the government along with the oil royalties. In the final analysis it is the consumer who bears the cut that pays for all the cost of production of the oil. So after furnishing our government with the funds they will loan it back to us at so much per cent.

After pushing the people into the large municipalities and large school divisions against their will they will loan us our money to get along. This is not what we want. We want to get out of debt, not pay ther in.

The government makes the claim also that the Public debt of Alberta has been reduced, conveniently forgetting the municipal debt, which is also a public debt. In the seven years from 1944 to 1951 the municipal debt has actually increased by 74 million dollars.

The question is, why should we, a province with 80 millions of a reserve, and the prospect of continuation of ample funds, be chasing one another around for funds for the Red Cross, Cancer Research, Crippled Children's fund and other worthy objects — objects that should be the first thought of a humanitarian government. Buy seals for T.B., buy seals for the Crippled Children, and a goven's ment sitting back with 80 millions in reserve.

Yours truly,
H. W.

Minerva and the Lilliputians

By ELAINE FRANCIS

MINERVA MILLER sat in her dowdy rented room, reviewing the past three months since poor papa (and his annuity) had passed away. She needed a job, but, so far, her sixty years and fragile air had brought defeat. Why, I can't even be a cleaning woman, she thought ruefully. Yet, there was only a dollar and twenty cents to last until her tiny monthly cheque arrived.

"But loneliness was worse than hunger, she decided, staring out at the bleak sky. Until now, she had had page to care for, and no matter how irascible he might be, thundering complaints were preferable to this absolute silence. It was thirty-five years since page, having lost most of the Miller money in bad investments, had taken to bed with a self-diagnosed bad heart, and proclaimed himself an invalid completely.

Only once had Minerva been bitterly angered by this paternal tyranny. That was when he called Joe Curens worthless and made her break their engagement. Joe had been successful in business and in siring a large family. That made Minerva envious. Always she had loved children. Crinkly babies, bold little boys, young misses. If it were summer, she thought, I could watch the toddlers in the park and forget my worries. Months of sitting in this dreary room. But it had been kind of the mortgage company to find a place for her when they took the house for delinquent payments. And it's no good brooding, she thought, jumping up.

It was blustery outdoors and by the time she had pushed across the bridge, she was cold. Gratefully she stepped into the stuffy Library, going to the reading table with its racks of newspapers. Each day it was a pleasant surprise that she could read three papers in their entirety. Papa had a habit of cutting out items of Korea, and as he was the paper first, Minerva gleaned only matches of the day's news.

She opened a paper to the want-ad section. Please, she prayed, let there be something for me to do. But a discussion between two young matrons nearby drew her attention.

"You with a maid! Do you realize we had to break a dinner date Saturday because our sitter decided to go to a dance at the Y.M. instead?" one was saying.

"High school girls aren't practical. I've told you a thousand times. Week-days they're in school and week-ends they want to have fun."

"But all the older women are served up with iron-tight contracts. At seventy-five cents an hour, instead of twenty-five."

"Ladies," Miss Arben, the librarian, fluttered, "Quiet, please."

Minerva sat dumbfounded. Had they meant what she thought? There was one way to find out. Purring down her shyness, she walked over to the desk. "What is a sitter?" she asked timidly.

Miss Arben smiffed. "That's all they talk about these days. It's someone who stays with children when the parents are out."

"Don't you have to have special training in baby care?" Minerva gasped.

"I should say not," Miss Arben replied. "All they want is someone in the house while they run around to parties."

It seemed too good to be true Imagine me being allowed to take care of children and getting twenty-five cents an hour," Minerva cried.

"Don't be crazy. Charge seventy-five. You heard . . ."

"Oh, I couldn't," Minerva protested. "I . . ."

"You'll charge at least fifty," Miss Arben interrupted. She patted Minerva's hand gently. "You have such a kind face. I'll be glad to recommend you. Mothers are always asking me if I know a good girl, and I can line you up steady. All the children you want."

Minerva knew she was going to cry. It was awful making a fool of herself in front of Miss Arben who was suddenly so friendly, but there was no controlling the tears. How like the money it would mean to buy sufficient food was the fact that she, Minerva Miller, would be feeding and washing chubby children, even holding them on her lap, though she had no longed to. Being a baby sitter would be wonderful, she thought, and smiled through her tears.

B.C. Fruit Crop Greater This Year

OTTAWA—All B.C. fruit crops will be considerably greater this year than in 1951, Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

The B.C. apple crop is expected to exceed last year's by about 1,700,000 bushels, but will be smaller than in 1949 or 1950. Ontario and Quebec expected smaller crops than in 1951, but an increase is expected in Nova Scotia.

McIntosh apples will be in light yield in Ontario but are expected to yield well in B.C.

Large total crops of soft tree fruits are expected in Canada, with B.C. showing increased production while Ontario remains about the same as 1951.

The B.C. strawberry crop will total about 9,310,000 quarts as compared to 7,130,000 quarts last year, while raspberries will yield 8,817,000 quarts as against 8,080,000 in 1951.

New Brunswick will have a greater strawberry crop than last year, but raspberries there suffered winter injury with the result the crop will be much smaller than 1951.

The Ontario strawberry crop has been reduced by dry weather and it is expected the raspberry crop will show a decrease. The Quebec strawberry harvest is almost complete in the Montreal area and is under way in lower Quebec.

THE TILLERS

Let's Paddle Our Own Canoe

Our pioneer newspapers, equipped with oars, sculled for dear life through a hail and a lot of determination, paddled their canoes into this country.

Those who came afterward to forward wagons had their troubles in the way of trans portation as supplies. They didn't look to the government for transport. Sometimes they even hauled posts too. But they kept right on breaking new acres and roots of the wilderness for a place to call their own. And there weren't a lot of talk about what the government was or wasn't going to do.

Then out of a canoe is discovered. But when a whole nation goes overboard, little by little expecting too many services from the government, it can be a catastrophe.

A good government, like a good parent furnishes adequate facilities for its citizens. It does not attempt to provide everything from the cradle to the grave. But it does encourage the opportunity for people to run their own lives and businesses, within the rights of all the members of the larger family.

Individual interests can be left of by centers too near or about. It can also die a slow death from neither, from just about by a government becoming more and more of a welfare state.

Paddling our own canoe keeps us on proper width, and never been wrecked.

You're always ready for harvest time with a Massey-Harris Combine

Conditions at harvest time for taking off the crop may be good or bad according to the action of the weather. But when you are mechanized with up-to-date combine equipment you're ready to go when the crop is right in good weather and you can make the most of any favorable conditions during the difficult seasons. Combine harvesting is the easy, low-cost modern way to harvest under normal conditions and in many tough years the combine method has saved the day for farmers.

A modern combine, too, simplifies the harvest labor problem—many farmers handle their crop with little or no extra help at harvest time.

For years Massey-Harris combines have been noted for their outstanding ability—your Massey-Harris local dealer will be glad to give you full details about the latest models.

Ancient News Story Recalls Stirring Success Saga Of Businessman Col. W. C. Craig

(From North Battleford News)

When Jack Marshall of North Battleford stooped over on one of Edmonton's golf courses recently and picked up an ancient copy of the Edmonton Bulletin dated Nov. 3, 1916, he stared straight into this picture of Col. W. C. (Chum) Craig — then the commanding officer of the 194th Highlanders and now the proprietor of this city's largest department store.

Craig Story

Every person in this district has long referred to W. C. Craig as the 'Colonel', but few realize today just why his military rank has stuck with him from the days of World War I. Anyone who spoken to Colonel Craig knows he's mighty proud of the highland traditions that his forefathers brought to the Eastern Townships of Quebec well before the turn of the century. But few realize that when he was appointed commanding officer of 194th Highlanders from Edmonton in 1916, that he was the youngest Colonel in Western Canada at the time, and in all probability, the youngest in the Dominion.

Not only was Col. Craig a young officer but he was one of the few Scotch officers of the army who was bilingual since he was raised in the same village, Compton, Que., as Canada's Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

But let's get back to the ancient newspaper page that Jacky Marshall picked up in Edmonton only recently. It told the story of the 194th Highlanders, who at the time were leaving native Edmonton for overseas service. It took 30 six weeks for Col. Craig and his officers to recruit the battalion from the Scotchmen of Northern Alberta.

"In looking over the records of the officers and non-commissioned officers one is impressed, first by the fact that 17 of the officers have risen from the ranks and second by the number of lawyers and engineers on the roster of this battalion."

The story then went on to tell of the individual history of each of the battalion's officers. Here is what it said about Col. Craig:

"The commanding officer of the 194th Edmonton Highland Overseas Battalion is Lieutenant Colonel William Cuthbert Craig. He was born in Leeds, Que., of Scotch-English parentage. This has proven to be a young man's war and Col. Craig qualifies in this respect, and it is said he is the youngest Colonel in Western Canada. In the days before the war Colonel Craig was a member of Major Pane's squadron of the 19th Alberta Dragoons and when that gallant officer took command of 'C' squadron of the Third C.M.R. he went to the front with him and saw service in the present war. Colonel Craig was stationed at Dickensonfield and returned to Canada in December 1915 and commenced recruiting the Highlanders in February, 1915. He is lionized upon as a very energetic and highly efficient officer."

After the War

After the war was over Col. Craig returned to Vermilion where he and his brother John owned a department store. The Craig family had been merchants from as long back as they can remember, and both brothers have made a notable success in this type of business.

In 1923 Col. Craig opened a new branch of the company at Turtleford. Nine years later he moved to this city and in the height of the depression opened a large modern department store which is still the largest and second to the most modern in the city of North Battleford. Critics at the time said the Craig's were crazy for investing in such a project when economic conditions were so jittery. But their faith in the future of North Battleford has been more than justified.

But why, you say, is he still known as 'Colonel' when quite often military designations slip away as time marches on. Well probably it's because he's always seemed like a benevolent commanding officer to his employees. He's taken a real interest in their affairs, and helps along wherever he can. Then too, he likes to see the senior members of his staff come up from the ranks, the same way as he did himself.

Politics

If you asked Col. Craig what political party he has supported through the years he'd probably stop and think before he answered the question. His mind would flash back through the years to the story of the christening of his little brother. At that time there was an election campaign roaring between Sir John A. MacDonald and a fellow called Wilfrid Laurier.

When it came time for father Craig to announce the name of his young son, he blurted forth "John Alexander Macdonald Craig".

Once the Craigs make up their minds on a subject such as poll ties they never change it.

Today, his nephew L. M. (Don) Craig, is managing director of the North Battleford store. Col. Craig remains vice-president of Craig Bros. Ltd., who own four department stores, one in Alberta and three in Saskatchewan.

Canada Feels The Steel Pinch

How much Canadian industry depends upon steel imports from the U.S. is explained in a special report by The Financial Post.

Hardest hit, the auto industry has already ordered production cutbacks, some lines discontinued, revision of holiday schedules to an earlier date, and, in some cases, outright shutdowns.

But black as the picture seemed, the outlook was worst. Most big steel users contacted in a fairly wide survey by The Financial Post said steel supply pipelines were drying up fast.

Stockpiles were keeping major projects moving, but paralysis of big construction was imminent and manufacturing steel - users from coast to coast were feeling a pinch that threatened strangulation in from two to four months, barring early settlement of the U.S. strike.

Settlement of the strike, however, won't immediately ease the tight supply picture. It will take at least a month to fill supply pipelines again after work is resumed, it's estimated.

Woodvale News

Small children make wonderful copy for writers and we wish we were more experienced in recording some of their antics. But whoever noticed the following little happenings, all in connection with the wedding of Mable Lysons and John Crosbies, could ever forget them! Little 'Allan Lysons' enraptured face when small Judy Clark, both about 1½ years old, streaked his' hair and face fondly on the evening of the shower: Little Betty Ann getting so tired at the reception and seeking refuge where she had found it so often, on the bride's lap, and going peacefully to sleep: Chariot Wolters getting bored on the same occasion and retiring to the bedroom, crawling under the blankets with the little kitten, perfectly contented both; and the youngest Sweeney child, not knowing his mother in her matron of honor finery, but once having discovered his own mama under the pretty blue veil (not black as somehow got into the wedding report) proudly pointing her out to everyone with a beaming smile.

We wish every member of the Standard staff a happy holiday.

The Tolland picnic despite a rather chilly, windy day was well attended and the clergy contested ball games with Auburndale coming out on the winning end, were enjoyed, just as the children's sports and the general all-round visiting that goes on when always a pleasure each year to admire the new babies the little toddlers, that were born in the area the year before and all the small fry as observed and grown in just one short year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Warring with little daughter Patricia are holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Portsmith are expected back this week from their eight months trip to Ontario and will stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fortune in Hindville.

Dorothy Isley met with a painful accident when fat sizzling in the oven, got overheated and exploded. Her foot received burns, but at that it was a miracle Dorothy was not burnt more severely as she was standing near the stove and hot burning grease flew all over the kitchen, blistering paint and walls everywhere and setting fire to some towels and papers. Dorothy and the boys beat the flames out, but felt pretty shaken by the whole experience. Mr. and Mrs. Isley and little Mary were in Vermilion at the time.

Everybody Getting Stung

Hornets and wasps are getting more and more of a nuisance every year and numerous are the folks who are going around with burning, itching stings, swollen arms, legs and faces and even skin irritations and eruptions.

To Keep Nylon White

Keeping nylon white is not as difficult as bleaching it so white-ness after it has once turned color. Powdered bleach is the only kind of bleach you should use on nylon or wool liquid bleach is much too strong. Because of the mildness of powdered bleach the garment won't be white after one washing in bleach. This bleach, used in every washing too, it won't fade your colored clothes will keep nylons bright. White nylon should be washed separately from all colored clothes as it will keep its dyes very easily. In a laundry book, put out by a detergent company blueing nylon is recommended haven't tried it but you might like to.

3. Serials for Dresses

Suitable materials for little girls dresses are these:

1 Choose close woven goods for long wear. Avoid loosely woven fabrics. Avoid harsh materials those that have to be starched. Smooth finished goods are not easily dirt as readily as rough ones.

2 Look for printed designs with tiny figures. Medium designs show dirt. Dainty designs are best.

3 See that trim is of good quality and color fast no dress is better than its trim

4 Choose gay but not loud colors. Pinks, yellows, orchids, aquas, greens, blues, well-toned backgrounds or allover patterns do not show dirt or wrinkles as readily as do materials with white grounds and spaced patterns.

If you're buying the dress or making it make sure the dress has

1 Narrow French seams or other smooth flat seams in thin soft goods like lawn and voile. Pinked seams in heavier cottons such as percales.

2 Close even stitching with strong thread.

3 Soft, flexible finishes around neck and armholes. Nothing stiff, scrapy or scratchy to rub a child's skin and cause discomfort.

4 Closely worked buttonholes that won't tear out easily. That will hold up even with a child's tough handling.

Birth Rate Rising

In 1940 Canada's birth rate was 22 per thousand of population. In 1950 the last time to speak of, 28 per 100. The average Canadian family has 3 children.

These facts showed that the natural increase of population in Canada ranks among the highest in the world.

Only Spain and Portugal are likely to keep pace with this record. Japan, India and Russia the increase in population are below that of Canada

The increase in Canadian population is attributed to prosperous conditions of the general economy, better health and welfare services

Farm Management

MODERN FARMING is a complicated business and one which requires not only a knowledge of growing crops, but also of the intricate problems of farm management. The successful farmer today must understand complicated farm machinery, have a grasp of marketing and other economic conditions which affect agriculture and be able to deal with labour problems. During the last ten years scarcity of farm labour has been a cause of concern in most parts of Canada. Due at first to the shortage of manpower during the war and later to the demands for labour created by Canadian industrial expansion, the lack of farm help has made it necessary for the farmer to put steadily increasing wages up to machine his farm [illegible] applying a certain knowledge [illegible]

More Machines Are Now Used

Many farmers have taken the latter course and mechanization has increased considerably in Canada in the last decade. This has necessitated large capital outlays and also decisions as to the amount of machinery required for the individual farm. Farmers today must view all production costs and decide which crops or what [illegible] brought the greatest returns for the investment and labour. Besides weighing costs, farmers today have also learned on farm [illegible] applying a certain knowledge [illegible]

Farm Problems Are Discussed

Agriculture is [illegible] most important primary industry. It employs about 25 per cent of the gainfully occupied people and agricultural products are [illegible] among the chief exports from Canada each year. Recently farm economists from the four western provinces met at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, to discuss economic problems affecting the farmer and to exchange views on a wide variety of subjects related to the business side of farm operation. It is seen that this has become increasingly important in recent years and that the successful farmer is now concerned not only with his land and livestock but with economic problems which require skill and foresight.

Ask Hay Fever Sufferers To Take Note Books With Them On Their Vacations

OTTAWA—The federal government travel bureau asked hay fever sufferers to pack note books with them on their vacations in Canada this year. The bureau wants the victims of pesky ragweed pollen to jot down every area where they get an attack of sniffles and mail the information to the department of agriculture.

The information is sought by the from the middle of August to mid-September bureau in a continuation of its efforts to pinpoint vacation areas in Canada where tan fever sufferers can enjoy relief.

The bureau has already issued a pamphlet giving general areas which are relatively free from ragweed. However, the bureau says the information on ragweed pollen distribution is by no means complete.

There are gaps in our knowledge of ragweed and ragweed pollen distribution, the bureau said.

Anyone with observations to offer which may help to classify further is asked to communicate with the Division of Botany and Plant Pathology, Department of Agriculture, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa.

Fifty-eight per cent of Canada's hay fever victims in the ragweed season wash right over the area in search of relief, according to information which the federal government has collected from persons who believe they have hay fever sufferers.

The bureau's pamphlet on ragweed and hay fever said there are 1,000,000 Canadian hay fever victims in the United States and their 10,000,000 hay fever victims in Canada.

The Rocky Mountain area of Western Canada is one of the safest vacation spots for hay fever victims in this country. Ragweeds are rare plants in British Columbia, and the pollens adds little to the airborne total.

Ragweed pollen is virtually non-existent at Banff and Lake Louise in Alberta. Nearly all sections of the province, with the possible exception of the southeast, are free of the noxious weed. The ragweed plant is rarely found in Saskatchewan except in the extreme south areas, but is more common throughout Manitoba. However, the two big tourist attractions in Manitoba, Riding Mountain National Park, and the northern fishing resorts are relatively free of the weed.

The pollen free straight Ontario runs north of a line from Parry Sound to Pembroke. The holiday resorts in the Muskoka Lakes district and Algonquin Park are free of ragweed pollen.

The town around Lac St. Jean in Quebec province is another favorite vacation spot for hay fever sufferers, the government points out. Ragweed pollen is rare in the area, and the nearest source of ragweed pollen is at the Quebec-Ontario border.

Ranchers Plan To Build Big Stockyard

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C.—An announcement was made recently of plans to build one of the largest stockyards west of Chicago near here.

W. M. Mott, Liberal member of parliament for New Westminster, made the announcement on his return from Ottawa.

He said the project has been started by a group of Cariboo ranchers who are seeking land in the Surrey district across the Fraser river from here.

Construction will start as soon as the ranchers acquire the land from the department of Indian affairs.

Mr. Mott did not give details of cost or of the acreage sought for the new stockyard but he said it will be the largest west of Chicago.

Oil Output Up At Lloydminster

REGINA. Crude oil production in the Lloydminster oil field climbed to 190,661 barrels during May as against 174,874 barrels over the previous month, Dr. L. C. Bate, petroleum and natural gas supervisor, reports.

May production was the highest recorded since March, 1951, and the climax came in the first few months of 1952 when 800,000 barrels represents an increase of 163,509 barrels over the corresponding period last year. There were 375 wells capable of production in the field during May compared to 360 in April and 371 in May, 1951.

Do You Know That...

The tough muscular action water fowl use to keep the shavers of their feathers together so tightly that water is unable to penetrate them? It is not the oil on the feathers that makes them waterproof.

TIME WELL SPENT — Fortunately repairing fences on the average farm is not the problem it is for this veteran British Columbia ranger who supervises some 500 miles of fencing. But even on the smallest farm a check on fences is time well spent. Straying livestock—often with a bent mind—can waste a lot of time being rounded up much more than mending a wire or replacing a fence post.—National Film Board Photo.

Doctor Outlines Eight Rules To Combat Poliomyelitis

TORONTO Dr. Crawford Anglin of Toronto says the relative seriousness of poliomyelitis has been overemphasized

Writing in Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada, Dr. Crawford says that severe paralysis results from the disease only when warning signs are disregarded. Fatigue, he notes, apparently increases the severity of the disease

Since no specific method of polio prevention is available he outlined eight common-sense rules to follow in combatting the disease.

1. Minor illness or fever during the polio season should be treated by bed rest and isolation

2. Excessive physical strain and unnecessary travel should be avoided

3. Water which might be contaminated by sewage should be avoided

4. Flies should be suppressed and food should be protected from fly contamination. All fresh fruit should be washed

5. All except urgent nose or throat operations and dental extractions should be postponed

6. If a case develops in a summer camp now children should not be admitted and those in the camp should

Coyote Becoming Like Bear Awaiting Treats From Motorists

(By The Canadian Press)

Black bears, a grizzly bear on occasion, moose, red deer and elk are names to lose taken for granted by visitors in Banff, Jasper and other Rocky Mountain centres. After all Canada is their native land and the creatures of the wilderness, theoretically at least, have a right to wander at will.

But even Banff folk have been more than a trifle surprised recently to see a coyote squatting patiently by a roadside near town, and at the same old stand, awaiting motorists who produce chocolate bars, cookies, and other delicacies. This self-elected member of the clan of meadowlark beans declines to let brain monopolize the business. He has won a lot of friends by his gentleness.

Suburban Toronto is currently perturbed by a mild sensation by raccoons. One of the ring-tailed fellows visited the writer's garden and goldfish pool the other day. Deserted by their mother, four baby raccoons were found atop a cold stove in a ground hall. Residents of some parts of suburban Rosedale and Hogg's Hollow, report raccoons are numerous. Garbage raid is other suburbs have been raided by the animals.

Happiest of all the memories of this Toronto observer of wildlife was a magnificent golden eagle, flying low over a valley just beyond the city limits. Even in the Canadian Rockies where such a sight is not uncommon, the close-up view has always eluded observers. Garbage raid test. But the Toronto visitor, flying west, was flying so low that the very hues of the sunset reflected on the eagle's plumage, could be seen plainly by without binoculars.

There is a Canadian roe-buck that grows no near to tree size that it may reach a height of 12 feet at its tip and at shoulder height it may be close to 15 feet wide. A conservative estimate would be that it bears 500 creamy-yellow roses of exquisite fragrance.

It is a hybrid-rugosa rose named Agnes. It is a creation of the Ottawa Experimental Farm, and because of its extreme hardiness and pest-resistant qualities should be more widely known and more widely planted.

Nor should this planting be confined to gardens, for it is admirably adapted for naturalizing at the fringe of farm woodlots or for roadside plantings. It has been so successfully used to adorn sections of the beautiful river road, bordering the Gaspe Peninsula, from Metis Beach to Cap-Chat.

Just how far its range could be extended across Canada has not been learned. Inquiries to the Experimental Farm service brought prompt and courteous attention.

Any Canadian naturalist is interested in making the roadside scene in Canada more attractive. Hybrid-rugosas, Agnes, with its glorious, if brief period of bloom and fragrance, is one of the better ways of achieving that end.

During every 24 hours all the blood in the average person goes through his lungs 2,000 times.

SCOUT TRAINING PAYS OFF

When 4-foot waves upset a pleasure boat containing four fishermen on Lake Blanche, P.Q., recently, Boy Scout David Perman, 16, of Montreal, had the presence of mind to cut the anchor rope, then swam to shore towing the upturned craft and his three companions on it.

ALLANDALE

The weather keeps cool with the odd hot day and some showers.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murdoch and daughter Janis from Mawer, Sask. were visitors in the district around the first of the month. James Allandale and his family and at the Omness home July 1st. The next week Jimmy and Della Walsh and their children were guests of the latter's car upset a week's holiday first to Lac La Biche then a stay at the Calgary Stampede. They went on to Banff and to Jasper. They stopped at Falls on Lake Wabamun and visited with Grandma Pelcent. It was a lovely afternoon for our W.A on July 10th which was held west of R. Stromes on a breeze field near Campbell Lake. Our pot luck lunch proved very successful Next meeting will be at the Thrasher home August 14th and we'll be expecting the Claresholm W.A to be with us.

July 19th Mr and Mrs James Walsh and family, Adele Beaven and Wayne returned home from Wilson and their trip. Others to them by car to Lac La Biche and from there by car by N.A.R. to Waterways McMurray

Mr and Mrs Theodore Tiplett and small family leaving early Sunday to Yellowknife on a holiday to the Threadgolds home. Before entering the north they will visit Mrs sister Lucy and family at Valley Mines and Trout Lake.

We sincerely hope the Stromes staff and families have a good holiday and rest. No work for a couple of weeks

Mr. Spencer has been a patient in the Vermilion hospital. We hope to see he is home and enjoying better health.

Last Sunday noon (20th) it started to rain and rained off and on until Monday evening. Some most we have had at one time or it certainly will help the crops and hay places in the crops that were drowned out before.

The men folk are busy haying. A are repairing it with some new posts and cutting brush that has been bothering the line. Johnny Nelson (the Omness and others) interested helped out also. We're hoping to have no fire to have the phone.

Closing Thought: The best time for you to hold your tongue is the time you feel like you must say something or lose.

Rilla Mable Anderson Married in South Burnaby Ceremony

A very quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. H. Flanagan at the Edmonds Baptist church, South Burnaby, B.C., on July 5th at 7:00 o'clock in the evening when Rilla Mable Anderson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson of Vermilion, Alberta, was united in marriage to Albert James Morris, youngest son of Mrs. G. Morris of 2480 Rumble Street, Vancouver.

The bride wore a grey gabardine suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was of orchids and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace with earrings to match.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Armstrong, was dressed in a teal blue suit with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink and yellow roses. The groom was attended by his brother-in-law Mr. Ernie Hughes.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at 3480 Linden Ave, South Burnaby, home of the bride's parents. A buffet lunch was served to 24 guests during which a lovely three-layer wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom.

Amid showers of confetti the happy couple left by car for Seattle and Portland on a short honeymoon.

Wildmere Winks

We are sorry to have been so long in extending deepest sympathy to Mrs. Gillies and family on the loss of a loving husband and father. Mr. Gillies was always a cheerful, friendly man and will be missed by all who knew him. May his loved ones find comfort in knowing he is now at rest from all earthly suffering.

The writer had a card from Mrs. George Martin who is visiting in Wales. She said she is having a good time and will sail for home in August.

We also had a nice little note from Mr. and Mrs. A. Rendell along with birthday greetings to the writer. They have found a comfortable little home near the outskirts of Nanaimo with regular bus service. If any of their many friends here would like to drop a line to them their address after the 1st of August will be 1131 Waddington Road, Nanaimo, B.C.

Mrs. M. Rund of Triangle attended the Calgary Stampede and while there visited Mrs. C. Morand and family. Mrs. Morand formerly lived in Triangle also when her family were all small.

A nice crowd attended the Tolland picnic on July 19th, while the day started out threatening it turned out very nice. Good ball games were enjoyed with Lindbergh-dale coming out on top and Trimble second. The children had lots of races and the race 'Pillow Fight' proved very amusing when a couple of tots aged girls attempted to be called them a tie. Booths were well stocked with cats, ice cream, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Howard, daughter Lawrene and Frank Clark spent a couple of days at the Edmonton Exhibition last week. While there they visited Lloyd's parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Howard and brother Victor and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson and family and Mr. and Mrs. R. Martin and Doreen returned from Lake Isabel where they spent Sunday afternoon. They really enjoyed the trip but said weather at the resort was very hot. An old friends from this part of Alberta were so glad to see them. Among those they called on were Mr. and Mrs. G. Gibson, Mr and Mrs. Ed Schroeder, the Hermon Eyben family, sr. and Mrs. Tom Eyben, Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pare, Mr and Mrs. Cairns, Mrs. McLean. They also found time to go to Nanaimo to see the Rendells, went to see Mrs. Smith's house on Cedar street in Vancouver. Mrs. Smith herself is holidaying in Scotland. All in all, they had a wonderful time but are pleased to be home again.

Noel and Roy Garnett of Basswood were Edmonton visitors last week.

J. Wallington left on Sunday afternoon for a holiday west of Edmonton. The family are hoping to receive fine news in a day or two. Nice to be a councillor eh, folks!

Laurence Graham spent Sunday at Wallington farm and left for home amid the heavy rain.

The league ball game with Tolland at Tolland was rained out in the third inning on Sunday. At the time Basswood was ahead

Tolland's on Sunday was well attended but a monkey did serve the threatening weather The ice cream certainly could not last. Next Sunday church will be at 30 again folks.

We wish the Editor and staff a nice restful holiday while sometimes we do not rest on a holiday it gives one a different outlook on life when we return to work

Frank Robinson and Grandma

To the Cemetery fund Mr. and Mrs. J. Arnold.

NEWS from ISLAY

As Rev. Mr. Vogel is having holidays there will be no service in the United church until Aug. 17th.

Mr. Purser Sr. is not so well, having had a spell for the second time. Gordon was up to the city to see him and as he returned reports his father some better. Mrs. Betty Purser and Alf Purser are in the city now.

Ford and McCaughan's store is having its face lifted. A coat of paint is transmitted but it is probable that coughs and sneezes, flies unwashed hands all play their part in spreading the disease through a community.

Points to Observe

What are the points to observe during an outbreak of poliomyelitis? Keep out of crowds and crowded places and shows all avoid physical fatigue and exhaustion. Remember that it leaves your child open to an attack if he plays to the point of fatigue. Avoid swimming and anything else which may cause chilling of the body or fatigue. Wash hands before meals and after the toilet. Keep your home free from flies and above all do not let flies get near your food. Keep your garbage covered and make sure that it is not an attraction for flies. Wash all fresh fruit and vegetables before allowing the family to eat them.

At the present time there is no miracle-working antibiotic or anti-serum which will cure this disease but observance of the above suggestions will help you through this outbreak and remember polio does not by any means par ralyze every case — a case permanently crippled is a rarity when compared with the huge numbers of people in the world who get polio and make a complete recovery.

Death of Mrs. William Barr Saddens District

People of the town and district were saddened by the death of Mrs. William Barr when passed away on July 31st at the University hospital in Edmonton. Mrs. Barr's fatal sickness commenced shortly after she had been ill during the early spring from influenza. While at Vermilion during the intervening months she had seemed to be recovering she passed away. Mrs. Barr was 52 year of age and had spent most of her life in Vermilion and on the farm just west of town where the family had developed a lovely modern home.

Left to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother are the sorrowing husband, four daughters and two sons, Mrs. Don Smith, Edmonton: Mrs. Nelson Crowell, Edmonton: Misses Betty and Helen at home: Jim and Jack, both at home. There are two grandchildren. One brother and four sisters, William, Doria, Victoria, Helen and Lois, reside in Eastern Canada.

Dewberry Home Scene Of Lawn Bridal

McILVEUX—BOWMAN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowman was the scene of a several pretty lovely lawn bridal recently when their daughter Miss Bowman became the bride of Mr. Frank McIlvieux, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Y. McIlvieux of Dewberry.

The Rev. C. H. Cathcart of Clandonald performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of nylon marquisette with lace insertions, pink, fitted bodice and a mandarin collar. Her fingertip illusion veil was caught to a bun-net styled headdress, and she carried an arm bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her jewelry consisted of a three-strand pearl necklace.

Miss Jane Bowman attended her sister, wearing a gown of yellow nylon brocade with halo bonnet to match and carried a colonial bouquet of white mums and mauve carnations. Mr. Donald McIlvieux of Edmonton was best man.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Joe Braitwood and Miss Beverly Prill sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Following the reception for about 90 guests, the bride's table was decorated with a four-tiered wedding cake with two miniature brides.

The bride's mother received in a floor length blue frock with yellow carnations en corsage. The groom's mother wore a two-piece grey en-semble with matching corsage.

Mr. Cathcart proposed the toast.

Later many friends enjoyed a wedding dance at the Dewberry hall.

Mr. and Mrs. McIlvieux will be at home on the groom's farm near Clandonald

Poliomyelitis Serious In Province; Takes Toll In This District

The first case of poliomyelitis in Vermilion and district was diagnosed at the end of July and since then there have been 17 cases and 5 deaths. As is usual with this disease it has made its appearances in the late summer and is now fairly widespread over the Province of Alberta. In this area the germ has seen it quite a powerful type and the number of cases requiring hospital treatment has been such to necessitate the opening of part of the school of agriculture as a temporary isolation ward.

The disease is caused by a tiny germ which is so small that it may not be seen with an ordinary microscope: there are at present two different types of this germ and each one produces an outbreak of a different severity.

The germ can enter the human body by the throat and air-passages, for example, when an infected person sneezes in front of many persons. It can enter the body through the intestines, for example, along with food. The germ can sometimes be found in sewage and it is known that flies can carry it in their bodies. One of the most serious aspects about is that you are less liable to be paralyzed by polio if you avoid muscular exertion and injury. Medical science has not yet determined the exact way in which polio is transmitted but it is probable that coughs and sneezes, flies unwashed hands all play their part in spreading the disease through a community.

Points to Observe

What are the points to observe during an outbreak of poliomyelitis? Keep out of crowds and crowded places and shows all avoid physical fatigue and exhaustion. Remember that it leaves your child open to an attack if he plays to the point of fatigue. Avoid swimming and anything else which may cause chilling of the body or fatigue. Wash hands before meals and after the toilet. Keep your home free from flies and above all do not let flies get near your food. Keep your garbage covered and make sure that it is not an attraction for flies. Wash all fresh fruit and vegetables before allowing the family to eat them.

At the present time there is no miracle-working antibiotic or anti-serum which will cure this disease but observance of the above suggestions will help you through this outbreak and remember polio does not by any means par alyze every case — a case permanently crippled is a rarity when compared with the huge numbers of people in the world who get polio and make a complete recovery.

Meets Vital Need And Is Great Incentive

1952 Fair Proves Outstanding Success

Vermilion's 1952 fair proved to be most successful despite heavy rain showers which failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the people. crowds over to attend an exhibition at Vermilion. Both Friday and Saturday evening the grandstand was marred when torrential rains descended, but in each case the public gave the utmost co-operation and the grandstand attractions were presented twice on Friday evening and once to a packed house on Saturday evening. The directors of the fair board in their appreciation of the manner in which patrons of the fair sailed patiently for the rain to stop and then proceeded to enjoy the many attractions offered.

The Midway Main

The management feels that an apology is due to the hundreds who waited in the grandstand for entrance prior to the first show on Friday evening. It was not intended that a wait be imposed on the people, but through an error tickets failed to be taken upon the gates at the prescribed time. With ever-increasing numbers attending Vermilion Fair plans are already underway to overcome the tiresome wait and when next years exhibition is held the fair patrons will find a very efficient situation in respect to this aspect of the fair.

Excellent Grandstand

Not a single adverse criticism has been heard in connection with the grandstand attractions and many have been the words of praise for this year's attractions were the best so far. Tom Inspector who were good enough to provide accommodation for the actors and actresses found them to be a fine people, well worth entertaining in their home and the cordial welcome given to these clever artists was and much to do with the ball down excellent performances presented to the public. Many strangers within our gates have expressed considerable appreciation of the fine welcome given them by those with whom they stayed

Horses, Cattle, Draw Favourable Comment

The 1952 livestock show met with general approval and the many different horses and cattle drew much favorable comment, while those taking in the stage found numerous line classes in front of the judges The livestock parade, which had to be deferred from Friday evening to Saturday afternoon was a fine one and drew applause from the crowds watching it pass in review. For the first time in exhibition history a horse formed a part of the parade, when Peter Wylie showed some fine specimens drawn in a box wagon

Prominent among the exhibitors of horses were Alex A Mitchell, of Lloydminster. Bobbie Burns of Edmonton whose string drew tears repeated the outstanding show of a year ago Bryden Bros of Islay ville, veteran showmen who al ways turn out a nice string: Joseph Stewart of Vermilion, a newcomer who will bear watching in future, and others. The light horse classes were well filled in each, and put on some splendid displays. Prominent local horse lovers were Mrs. Jessie Strome, the Misses Mahan, Mrs. Barbara Nelson, Miss Sue Carmichael, James Miller, A. A. Tucker, Mike Parkush, W. C. Bell, James Mooney, C. A. M. Bell, Jas. Monaghan and Miss Mildred Searle, while the Alton, Halstead, Lee, Stewart and Harold Cripe entries took no backwater from the Edmonton entries of Tony Zeigler, Johnson Bros. Mrs. Nora Hicks, Mrs. Heather Gove and Mrs. H. Cain. In the city owned horses placed high among the winners, but all things considered it is felt that another year local horses will compete quite successfully with any outside competition. Interest in the horse classes was most keen as indicated by the large numbers of spectators during the showing of all classes.

Beef cattle exhibits were somewhat lighter than usual, owing to the foot and mouth disease scare but exhibitors well known all over Canada were present and showed some fine stock. The herds of Mike Ishiuk, W. Lyle Robinson, Kennedy Bros. of Islay, Zeigler & Sun of Vegreville, Clarence Barr and Wynyard & Son of Royal Park kept the judges busy for the better part of two days. Dairy herds staged a fine show with the entries being largely from Thos. Selph & Son, Vegreville the Cole Bros., Wilfred Lemieki and Leslie R. Collison and others. Swine were shown by Peter Wylie, Lloyd Angus and Alex Sander MacMillan, Clandonald. R. C. Cox, Vermilion. Ernest Mill, Mannville. Roderick and Alex Mac-Millan, Clandonald: R. Tymchuk, Vegreville. Stanley Syvensky of Myrnam and Jos. Stewart of Vermilion.

Fine Exhibits Ladies' Work and School Work

The exhibit of ladies' work was a fine one and the exhibit hall was thronged with interested visitors at all times. The newly organized School Fair drew more than 1200 entries and the success of the first year augurs well for the extension of this important and valued adjunct to the annual exhibition. The judges were necessary to handle the work in reasonable time and the page-long tabloid part does every reason to be proud of their initial effort Teachers who gave time and attention to the children earned the appreciation of the fair board and the public

Grains Splendid Wins

The fine shield donated by the Board for the highest number of points in school work was won by the pupils of Gadsoa school under the able direction of Mrs. Osbaldeston

Commence New High School

CONTRACT IS LET TO CARROW & CALVERT

Contract for a junior high school in Vermilion has been awarded to Carrow & Calvert, general contractors, by Vermilion School Division board. Work on the new structure will be started as soon as the site location just west of the present Vermilion Collegiate Barring unforseen exigencies it is expected that four rooms will be ready for occupancy following the Christmas vacation.

The new building will be of frame and stucco construction with overall measurements of 104 feet by 80 feet. The four rooms will be rushed to completion on the main floor, while the basement will provide room for four more rooms to be completed at a later date. The present plan calls for the completion of the structure with the exception of the classrooms in the basement. The contract for the work to be done now is $94,000.

On the completion of the classrooms in the new school, grade 7 will be moved in from the present Public school and grade 8 from the high school, thus relieving the congestion in both buildings. Grade 7 will be moved in later to complete the junior high school set up. Six rooms are required for this.

Crops Good, But Warm Dry Weather Needed

Showery weather persists with the result that warm dry weather is now vitally needed to ripen and mature the crops. Standing grain presents a lovely sight in this area with no damage apparent, despite the poor start due to the early dry weather. It is expected that from present indications wheat will average 22 bushels, oats 45 and barley 30 bushels to the acre. Harvest will again be late with swathing of some barley due to start about Aug. 20th. Swathing and binding of wheat will not commence for another two weeks and should be general by the end of the month.

On Nova Scotia Special

"Also among the party is Dr A. H. Goodwin, a retired dentist, of Vermilion, Alberta, who has made the trip east to Halifax on the three last specials. He was born at Baie Verte, N.B., and practised in North Sydney, Tatamagouche and other centres in Nova Scotia before leaving for the West where he was the first dentist to practise in the city of Edmonton." —Sydney, N.S. Daily Post-Recorder.

DUCK SEASON SEPT. 10 - NOV. 15

Duck hunters in Alberta will be allowed a daily bag limit of 6 ducks during the 1952 season, with a possession limit of 18 ducks, according to an announcement made by Resources Minister Robert Winters. Five geese, 10 rails and coots in the aggregate), and 8 Wilson's snipes may also be taken each day in this province.

Open season for the Edmonton District will be as follows. Ducks (except Wood Ducks), Geese (except Ross's Geese), Rails and Coots, Sept. 10th to Nov. 15, inclusive. Wilson's Snipe: Edmonton District Sept. 10 to Oct. 31.

For the boundaries of the various districts see the Migratory Bird regulations.

A former regulation, prohibiting goose shooting within 100 yards of the North and South Saskatchewan, Red Deer, Bow, Oldman, Smoky and Little Smoky Rivers, has been cancelled.

Restrictions on shooting methods, weapons, etc., are the same as in 1951. Details will be published in the Migratory Bird Regulations and on posters before the beginning of the open season.

Game Revised for Crop Protection

Resources Minister Robert Winters further announced that a new type of permit will be issued to farmers whose crops are liable to damage by ducks. The permit, provided for in the new Migratory Bird Regulations, will authorize farmers to use firearms or other equipment to scare waterfowl from their fields, but will not authorize killing the birds. During the remainder of this year, however, permits to kill birds causing serious damage will still be issued on application.

It has been proved that if water fowl are scared away from fields at their first appearance they will tend to leave these fields alone, but if they are allowed to settle and eat grain in a field for a day or two it is almost impossible to scare them away even by killing many of the flock. For this reason many thousands of leaflets describing simple devices and methods are being distributed in the Prairie Provinces and demonstrations are being given on farm and expert mental farms, in order to instruct farmers in the best methods of crop protection. It is hoped that the widespread use of scaring methods will reduce to a minimum the crop damage by waterfowl which has in recent years been a serious problem in Western Canada.

New Regulation Jan. 1, 1953

Commencing Jan. 1, 1953, no permit to kill waterfowl damaging crops will be issued unless the farmer applying for such permit has first obtained a permit to use scaring methods and can show that these scaring methods were ineffective. The system has operated successfully in the mid-western United States for many years, resulting in a great reduction in waterfowl killing, as well as greatly improved crop protection.

Successful Calf Show

The show and sale of calves of the Mannville and Derwent Calf clubs proved a success and the top price of 60 cents per pound for a 1200-lb. steer was paid by the T. Eaton Co. to Edward Skrobolos of Mannville. Prices generally ranged considerably higher than market and the fine array of calves drew wide interest.

Boys' and Girls' Camp

One of the most outstanding Boys' and Girls' camps ever to be held by any exhibition board in Canada was conducted at the school of agriculture under the direction of Mr. N. N. Suitable prizes were awarded to the boys and girls standing highest in the week's work.

Our Toad Flax Problem

In the south-east corner of Vermilion River M.D. there is a very serious weed control problem — infestations of toad flax are increasing, making repeated summerfallow necessary. The pernicious weed is pushing its way into such inaccessible places as rock piles, fence lines and bluffs. It is for this reason that last year the Agricultural Service Board requested Municipal and Provincial authorities to set up a special area and provide financial assistance to help the farmers combat this perennial pest.

This may seem like the troubles of a distant area and of no concern to farmers in other parts of the M.D. — nothing could be further from the truth! 310 patches of toad flax were reported last year outside of the special area—an increase of 36% over the 1950 figures. It may well be that many more patches, not reported, should be added to these figures. There are two areas, in addition to the land immediately surrounding the special area, in which patches are most numerous: north and south of Vermilion in townships 50 and 51 in Range 6 and south of Kitscoty township 50 in ranges 3 and 4. In fact the situation in these districts is identical with that which existed in the Mannaughlin area a decade ago.

The wise man learns by mistakes —not only his own but those of his neighbors too. Therefore it behooves anyone who has toad flax, no matter how small a patch, to take immediate steps to eradicate it. Sodium chlorate is available at various points at $11.50 for a 112-lb. keg. Even is the patch does not require the whole keg surely you and others work days and evenings will want to be rid of it as well which, if it is allowed to spread, may cost the individual hundreds of dollars. Do not wait for a weed inspector to get part your toad flax patch before taking action.

You field supervisors are ready and anxious to give you every possible assistance. If you have a toad flax problem call the Municipal office or

ROADMASTER CONVERTIBLE

A General Motors Value

Call out the Reserves with a touch of your toe!

Most cars lead a double life.

A good part of the time they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions.

It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these.

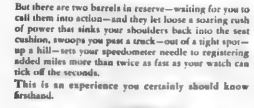
But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thriftily feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill—sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.



B-5111 BUICK CUSTOM

You should also know how Buick's Power Steering* provides a helping hand in slow-motion manoeuvres—lets you keep the "feel" of the car in straightaway driving.

And—just for good measure—this 1952 ROADMASTER also has the biggest brakes on any postwar Buick—the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders—a warning light that glows when the parking brake is set—and so top it all the smartest interior fabrics that Buick has ever offered.

When are you coming in to look this distinguished performer over? We urge you to make it soon.

*Optional at extra cost on ROADMASTER only

Every Town Has A Niagara

There's a very simple way to make tourists stop in your town, even without a Niagara Falls or a set of quantifiers in your back yard and ashes. The Financial Post Give them some convenient place where they can get a drink of good cold water and put a sign over it so they can see it from the highway.

On hot days after miles of narrow bridges, bumpy curves back seat drivers and that lumpy feeling inside there comes a time when all the soft drinks we crave or "license-d hotel" signs on earth won't get literally away from the wheel. But the lure of a good cold drink of water in some shady spot would do the trick.

The horses used to have water troughs. Yet few towns provide the same for man. If they did, it might be that in time even local citizens would find the water good for them, too.

The St. Mary's River irrigation project, now nearing completion in Alberta, embraces 220 miles of main canals and 2,200 miles of smaller canals via which 400,000 acres of land will be irrigated.

Canadian's personal income in 1951 was 18% higher than in 1950.

A citizen without loyalty to his hometown is not an asset to his community.

Wildmere Winks

We hope the Standard staff had a nice holiday and are feeling fit and well for another long siege at publishing our good paper. It has been missed during these last two weeks. We all know all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to all those who have been bereaved since our last writing of the Winks. Some loved ones have been taken very suddenly making the sorrow much harder to bear. Lives have been taken that had everything before them, but it was not to be. God calling these home.

We are very pleased to see the rain let up for awhile. Haying has been delayed owing to hay fields being flooded. However will soon be underway and it will be one grand rush again.

So far, no frost has come to our district, although it did get quite cool for a couple of nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Graham of Echo Bay, Ont., aunt and uncle of the writer, are visiting with the Wallington family. This fine couple made the journey by Greyhound bus, leaving their home Wednesday evening and arrived in Vermilion Saturday morning. Four years ago they made the same trip west, that time also going on up to Dawson Creek, B.C. While they have lived all their lives in Ontario where they raised a big family, they like the west and its friendly people.

Miss Marie Isley of Wetaskiwin, has been visiting relatives around Wildmere and Vermilion. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osterberg visited at her home and Marie came back with them.

Visitors to the writer's home during the past week were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Howard and Frank Clark on Thursday evening; Mr. Norman May and son Boyd; Miss Doreen Stone on Sunday afternoon; Laurence Gleason. Then on Monday evening Noel Garnett drove Mr. and Mrs. Silkstone who have been visiting at his home, over for a short visit. It was nice seeing all those folks and all we can say is, in make again.

Lloyd Howard now has his buildings moved a mile east onto another of his farms closer to the main road. He had his phone reinstalled last Friday. They are now the writer's closest neighbors.

Fred Haines and John Wilson are getting along quite nicely with their new homes. J. Bathe is also building a new barn. Cliff Crothers is having a garage built. Things are really looking prosperous in our corner.

Church was not so well attended on Sunday. Polio has put a damper on so many things but it's much better to be careful than be sorry afterwards.

Peggy Graham was successful in passing all her grade 12 exams and is now planning some time to train for a nurse. Best of luck Peggy is wished you by all your many friends.

REPORT to the PEOPLE

BY ROBERT FAIR, M.P.
BATTLE RIVER

The people of the Province of Alberta have spoken once again and President Manning and his Leagues find themselves, by an overwhelming majority, charged with the responsibility of carrying on the business of the most progressive province in the land for another four or five years. The trust, in vote form, paid to Premier Manning and his associates on the 5th is a well deserved one and all the people of the province are assured that their interests will be well taken care of. This assurance was given by the Premier on the night of the election. It is now the duty of all good citizens in the interests of the province as a whole, to co-operate with the peoples elected representatives in getting such policies beneficial to the greatest numbers so our people are put into effect, thereby giving all of us, directly or indirectly, some of the benefits that result from the fast development of our province.

Prospects for Record Crop

At the time of writing, prospects for a record crop are very good and it is hoped that no serious break in the weather will occur until harvesting is successfully completed. Weather conditions during the harvesting seasons of 1950 and 1951, with the resulting hardships caused by low grade tough and damp grain have placed farmers in financial difficulties. This situation is rather serious at the present time as there is no assurance that we will certainly no assured price for our grain after the present International Wheat Agreement expires on July 31, 1953. Representatives of the exporting and importing countries met in London last April for the purpose of working out a new agreement which would become effective at the expiration of the present agreement. Because of the fact that Canada and the U.S. felt that they had suffered heavy losses under the last agreement, they insisted on a higher price being written into the new agreement, but the importing countries have so far refused to pay more than they did under the present contract. They argue that both Canada and the U.S. have a very large carryover of wheat and that both countries have prospects of a heavy crop this year, so why pay more? Under the old agreement there was a ceiling price placed on wheat without any consideration being given to a possible increase in the cost of production. So-call Creditors protested against this and asked to have the price of wheat tied to the price of goods in the importing countries. This method would give us an opportunity to bring back the same quantity of goods in return for our wheat whereas we have been losing very considerably during the past three or four years without any compensating factor in our agreement. We have urged that this pri fail be avoided in the new agreement if one is made. As the delegates from the different nations could not agree on price and other terms at the meeting in April, they set up a continuing committee and expect final meetings can be held about Jan. 12, 1953. Before that time the elections in the U.S. will have taken place and the supply situation in the various countries will also be better known than they are at the present time.

It would seem that the farmer is still up against the old problem of accepting lower prices for his products when he produces too much in this country. In the United States the Government sees to it that the farmer is guaranteed a certain percentage of parity on a number of products. This year he is guaranteed 90% of parity on his wheat and this amounts to a guarantee of 2.21 per bushel—an initial which would become effective at the expiration of the present agreement. Because of the fact that Canada and the U.S. felt that they had suffered heavy losses under the last agreement, they insisted on a higher price being written into the new agreement, but the importing countries have so far refused to pay more than they did under the present contract. It would seem that the farmer is still up against the old problem of accepting lower prices for his products when he produces too much in this country. In the United States the Government sees to it that the farmer is guaranteed a certain percentage of parity on a number of products. This year he is guaranteed 90% of parity on his wheat and this amounts to a guarantee of 2.21 per bushel—an initial which would become effective at the expiration of the present agreement. Because of the fact that Canada and the U.S. felt that they had suffered heavy losses under the last agreement, they insisted on a higher price being written into the new agreement, but the importing countries have so far refused to pay more than they did under the present contract. They argue that both Canada and the U.S. have a very large carryover of wheat and that both countries have prospects of a heavy crop this year, so why pay more? Under the old agreement there was a ceiling price placed on wheat without any consideration being given to a possible increase in the cost of production. So-call Creditors protested against this and asked to have the price of wheat tied to the price of goods in the importing countries. This method would give us an opportunity to bring back the same quantity of goods in return for our wheat whereas we have been losing very considerably during the past three or four years without any compensating factor in our agreement. We have urged that this pri fail be avoided in the new agreement if one is made. As the delegates from the different nations could not agree on price and other terms at the meeting in April, they set up a continuing committee and expect final meetings can be held about Jan. 12, 1953. Before that time the elections in the U.S. will have taken place and the supply situation in the various countries will also be better known than they are at the present time.

Couple Are Leaving To Live At Derwent

WASKATENAU.—Many friends gathered in the community hall recently to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Mudryk prior to their departure for Derwent where Mr. Mudryk will be grain buyer.

Mr. Mudryk came to Waskatenau in 1946 and has been in charge of the Beaver Lumber Co. lumber yard. In 1950 he married Miss Betty Hrynuk of Redwater. The young couple will be greatly missed in the sports circle.

R. Kopenko expressed the regret of the community on losing Mr. and Mrs. Mudryk.

Dewberry News

It's cloudy in the west and looks like rain but the old sun won't be kept close. Yes Steve, for the benefit of you people who live a long way from Dewberry this is really a wet year. Farmers are having a hard time keeping summerfallow black. As you know over the country you can see what looks like a 25% barley acreage country handed out. Some grain on light sandy soil in the Riverton district is now ready for the reaper.

That big new building in Sol Lemp's yard will house his combine and trucks. Mr. Lemp is also providing for a lot of extra bin room this fall.

Prairie Sky

For those who like to see the sky, there is a place only a little way out from Dinsmore, Saskatchewan — or only a little way as prairie distances run. This place has the original hide of matted grass on it still around a long-ago crumpled track that encloses a rocky hillock. It is a Druid circle rather than Druid and a fairy ring in a land too vast and terrible and magnificent for fairies. It is a good place from which to see the sky. At night a radio can often be heard thumping in a lighted farmhouse, cars and trucks drum along behind their white fans and occasionally winking overhead are planes with the undulating sound of internal combustion motors or the far, high whistle of jets, but from the unplowed bit of prairie there are of such interest only. The sky is the principal thing.

There is a great deal of night sky, usually with decorations of stars and planets. The milky way has always individual parts to it than, say, the milky way over a city. And sometimes there is a moon far larger than ordinary moons. By day also this set-apart, ancient spot is a good place to see the sky, enormous with spaced, rounded-top clouds. It may even be, as prairie people will tell you, that anyone who has looked long on the sky from this place or others on the wide lift of the plains is likely to be the more resolute and profound in his character.

Aluminum Centre Growing Rapidly

VANCOUVER, B.C.—A new city in British Columbia is growing almost quickly enough to are.

It's the community of Kitimat, now a townsite and the centre of the still-building aluminum project of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

The project itself is estimated to cost $500,000,000, while the company says a total of more than $12,000,000 will be spent in the next three years on development of the townsite.

That is outside of capital which outside firms will spend on hotels, banks, department stores and other buildings. In addition, the federal government plans a building to house the post office, customs office and other federal agencies.

Most of the $12,000,000 will be spent in 1954—when the town will have a population of up to 7,000. Predictions are on eventual population of 50,000 in Kitimat.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

Vacation With Love

By W. H. DAVIES

JOAN paused to brush away the tears and resumed packing. There had been right when they said she might get hurt. But they'd also been right in saying she was foolish and extravagant. Until now it had been a glorious adventure. It had been worth every minute of the two years she had spent working and saving and planning. But now she was leaving. Not because her vacation was over but because her dream world had collapsed about her when Mark Bingham shot out of her life.

When first she arrived at the exclusive resort it had been a little difficult to adjust herself. But her salary and prize and poise won out.

It was at the pool that Mark had climbed out of the water and kissed her heart. She lifted the casual way they had done it, and had been sitting on the edge. He had loosed his head to clear the hair from his eyes. A cold spray had fallen across her shoulders. She had jumped and uttered a little cry.

"I'm sorry," he said. "It isn't really cold."

Joan smiled. "I haven't been in yet."

"I know," he said.

As Joan wondered what he meant she saw his tall, lithe body move toward her. She covered her eyes with her hands and waited for the cold water to hold her. But something happened and when she looked he was laughing.

"I couldn't do it," he said. "I couldn't bear the thought of seeing all that beautiful hair turn into stringy. Good thing you weren't wearing your cap."

"That was very considerate," she said, smiling.

They were constantly together after that . . . riding, swimming, trailing. Mark was different somehow. There was something in the quiet manner that made her feel she had known him for years. Yet he was quiet and reserved when they were together in public. He never talked about himself and she didn't ask questions. Joan was glad he didn't ask questions.

Nothing unusual had happened between them until the night before he left. They had been out together and when it was over he had accompanied her to her door. Then he had taken her in his arms for the first time and kissed her. When he left he had pressed her hand.

"Good-night, Joan," he said, and left her.

Staring at the ceiling in the darkness, Joan had felt uneasy. She had remembered their date for lunch and went to sleep with a smile.

It was almost one that afternoon and Mark hadn't telephoned. She drummed and went down. The head waiter showed her to the table that she and Mark had prompted. There was a note for her.

"My dear Joan:

Maybe I'm a coward but this seemed the easiest way for both of us. Forgive me for leaving without seeing you again. I didn't want to fail in love with you but I did. I thought I wouldn't work out. Please try to understand.

Love Mark."

Alone in her room, Joan yielded to tears.

Next day, everything she did seemed hollow without Mark.

On the train that evening she found herself re-reading his note. She guessed that he must have known about her from the begining. He was probably just being kind. That would be like Mark.

Back at the city station, she waited in line as the string of cabs moved forward, picking up the passengers. The night air was damp and foggy. Now the doorman was hitting her bags into a cab and holding the door open. He rattled her address to the driver.

The cab whisked her home. As it pulled up in front of an apartment house a little apartment house the driver turned his head toward her. "Right?" he asked.

Joan stepped out. As the driver leaned around to help her she pressed a bill into his hand.

"Keep the change," she said as she picked up the bags.

"Joan!"

She stopped.

"Joan! It's me . . . Mark."

Joan dropped her bags and ran into his arms.

"Mark . . . oh, Mark," she sobbed. "Why didn't you tell me?" he was saying. "I thought you were one of those wealthy girls I was spending my vacation there because I thought it would be fun."

Her tears were running down her face but she was half laughing as she clung to him.

Breeding Grounds Of Whooping Cranes Discovered North Of P.A.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—Two United States Field and Wild Life service workers reported discovery of the summer breeding ground of the almost-extinct whooping crane, a mystery that has baffled ornithologists for more than half a century.

The two workers flew into this northern Saskatchewan city after an air tour of Canada's far north.

They reported two adult cranes in the marshes north of Great Slave Lake, one on June 11, one the next day. They brought their Grumman amphibian down to around 100 feet to make sure, and saw the birds and took both color and black and white photographs.

The two scientists are Robert Henry Smith of Medford, Ore., and Everett L. Bolton of Aberdeen, S.D.

Significance of the whooping crane breeding ground discovery, Mr. Smith said can be gauged by the fact that only a few specimens of this feathered waterfowl remain on the North American continent. About 30 spend their winters on the state's coast, 2,000 miles from where the birds nested.

The Audubon Society may back such a project, with instructions to their field expeditions to find out what enemies have reduced the flocks of whooping cranes throughout the years—human predators by either guns, eggs, or their nestlings, or that attack the adult birds.

"No, I'm not opaque, sir," replied the other "It's O'Brien that Ot am."

The railway porter looked searchingly at the three girls waiting on the platform. "Aren't you the crooning trio who sang on the radio tonight?"

"That's right," one of them told him. "We were making our debut on the air."

"And where are you bound for now?"

"We're just off to the North of Scotland."

The porter sniffed. "Hm," he remarked, "I suppose that's as good a place to hide as any."

CALGARY — The Alberta Appeal Court has upheld a judgment of the Supreme Court of Alberta awarding $33 000 damages to Muriel Johnson of Calgary as the result of an accident in 1950.

The case is considered important by lawyers as it re-states an old principle of law that even if there is negligence on the part of the pedestrian if the cause of the accident is the driver's negligence then he is liable despite the contributory negligence.

Peak Record Wheat Crop Anticipated

By Harold Morrison,
Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The farmer may help spell out the depth of Canada's wealth this year in a record-breaking wheat crop that some experts anticipate may run as high as 600,000 000 bushels.

It may take another week or two before government statisticians complete a farm-to-farm survey of wheat-crop production. But the initial and still unofficial forecast makes for some exciting prospects, not only for the farmer but the business man as well.

Although Canada is steadily advancing through a production evolution—changing her character from agrarian to mostly industrial — a great deal of her prosperity still is wrapped up in the prosperity of the west-ern farmer.

With the world still hankering for more wheat, the outlook for wheat sales this year and next is bright and the prospects are that if the record crop emerges, it may bring more than $1,900,000,000 to Canada's pockets.

Some farmers, and business men, too, have lost out in the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease which temporarily eliminated the big United States market for Canadian meat and livestock. The loss is expected to run possibly, to $100,000,000

The record wheat crop may wipe out some of that loss. Canada's biggest crop was in 1927 when farmers produced 566,000,000 bushels. Last year they almost repeated the performance with 562,000,000. This year they appear to be out to make a killing.

The pessimism caused by reports of widespread outbreaks of rust 1953 has given way. Reports now indicated that the damage from this infection likely will be negligible. The weather man has been kind. An early crop is in prospect and with it Canada may take another step on the road to continuing economic prosperity.

One-sixth of the world's known mineral resources have been found within the borders of Kansas.

The judge of sewing and handicrafts was telling me that the handkerchief could have been improved by one or two things. First of all, the crocheting was not well greased for a competition. If you read Mr. Buckingham's column you should know how to iron a doily.

When you choose the colors you will use, do use only a few colors. If any, rather than having a piece of embroidery with 8 or 9 shades of colors. And a white lace edge is better taste than colored lace.

When you do cross-stitch for goodness sake have all the top threads going in the same direction—same goes for petit-point and gros-point.

Radio Talk

My last radio talk is on Aug. 20 over CKUA at 12:45 p.m. and will be about jams. I hope you'll be listening.

Jams and Jelly Time

Jam and jelly time is here so a few hints might help you. I hope none of you despair your family of jam or jelly because you think it's difficult to make.

Remember that overcooking your fruit to extract the juice can destroy the pectin (the substance which, with acid and sugar causes jelly to go. The ideal boiling time is 15 to 20 minutes. If you're making grape jelly do allow the juice to sit, even overnight, then pour off the juice leaving the sediment of tartaric acid crystals in the bottom. This will help prevent sugar crystals in the jelly.

Letting juices stand in air though allows the pectin to disintegrate, so the juice won't gel.

What Happens and Why

Jelly does not set, thick, sticky mixture — Too much sugar in the jelly. Not enough acid in fruit. Long, slow cooking.

Thin mixture or weak jelly — Not cooked long enough.

Jelly weeps — Too much acid in the juice. Jelled too fast.

Sugar crystals in jelly — Too much sugar in jelly. Not enough acid in fruit. Cooked too long.

Crystals in grape jelly — Grapes too ripe. Juices did not stand overnight in cold place. Sediment stirred up while juice was poured off.

Red jellies turn brown — Stored in too much light. Temperatures of storeroom too warm

Did you know that you can make jelly by mixing the lukewarm juice with sugar and stirring until the sugar dissolves. Then pour the mixture into jelly jars. It takes about 3 days to set to a soft, nicely flavored jelly. Use from 1½ to 1¾ cups of sugar for each cup of juice in this method.

Vermilion Bridal Unites Islay Couple

An attractive ceremony took place in Holy Name Roman Catholic church recently when Miss Jean Edith Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harrington of Wainham was united in marriage with Mr. Norman Ronald Mercier, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Mercier of Islay.

Red and white peonies graced the church altar for the occasion. The church pews were marked with blue and white bows.

Rev. Father Landrigan performed the double-ring nuptials.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina-length frock of Chantilly lace and net over satin. The buttons extended down the back of the fitted bodice to the waistline and the sleeves tapered to lily-point.

A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil, and she wore as her jewelry a pearl and rhinestone necklace with earrings to match. She carried a white prayer book garlanded with roses.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Elaine, Miss Ruth and Miss Lynn Harrington, who were similarly styled ballerina-length dresses of cutted taffeta in shades of blue, green and pink, respectively. White chapel veils and white gloves completed their ensembles, and they carried bouquets of yellow roses and sweet peas.

Mr. Andrew Mercier was his brother's best man.

Wedding music was played by Miss Eileen Chittick. During the signing of the register Mrs. O. Hreght, aunt of the bride, sang 'Paris Angelicus' and 'Ave Maria.'

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Harrington chose a green miracord two-piece frock with a matching hat and gloves. Pinned at her shoulder was a corsage of white chrysanthemums and red roses.

The mother of the groom was dressed in a black gown with accessories to match. Yellow carnations formed her corsage.

Later 30 guests attended a reception at the Brunswick hotel where a three-tiered cake, flanked by vases of peonies, centred the bride's table.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Father Landrigan.

For a honeymoon to Edmonton and northern Alberta, the bride donned a gray suit with red and white accessories. Her corsage was of red and white carnations.

The newly-wed couple will make their home at Islay.

A World Problem

FOR SOME TIME HOUSING has been a major problem in nearly all parts of Canada. Since the war many thousands of homes have been built, but in spite of the increased activity in building, the demand for homes has not yet been fully met, and there is still need for many new houses, especially those designed to meet the needs of families with moderate incomes. It is interesting to learn that Canada is not alone in having a housing problem at this time. A recent report by the United Nations on world social conditions, says "there is no country without a housing problem" and tells of the situation in various parts of the world today. In Europe the situation is dire, in part to the fact that 3,667,000 dwelling units were destroyed during the war. If the building industry were to double its prewar output of 800,000 units a year, it is estimated it would take twenty-two years to meet the need for housing there.

* * * * *

Is Need For Many Homes

Serious as the problem is in Europe and on this continent, we are reminded that in some parts of the world the housing problem is infinitely greater than anything which has been experienced here. In India the report on social conditions states that out of ten homes are owned from tenements. The situation in Africa is also very bad and of conditions there the report says "the number of people who, for the common good of the world need to be re-housed is just about equal to the total number of people . . . Continuing, the report cites conditions in the United States, where average housing conditions are far superior to those in South-East Asia and Africa but where is still need to build 800,000 housing units annually for the next ten years to meet the requirements of the people. One solution to the problem which is suggested in the report is for long-term planning in housing.

* * * * *

Point To Need For Planning

Such planning would enable the building trades to forecast the needs and to prepare to fulfil them. In our own housing shortage in Canada lack of necessary materials and of skilled workmen have been factors in delaying the building program. Long-range planning here would have been an advantage as it would also in other countries. The world housing problem ranges from building more homes in a country like this, to introducing plans for proper housing in countries where none exists. The United Nations report has shown, among other things, that housing is a world problem at this time and that there are other countries more seriously affected than our own.

Canada To Double Output Of Uranium Next Spring

Basic Atomic Installation Will Come From Beaverlodge Property in Northern Saskatchewan

OTTAWA.—Canada has set next April as the target date for the opening of new facilities that will at least double her output of uranium. The United States is expected to get a substantial part of the new production. This is the information indicated in a report issued recently in Washington.

The new production of the basic atomic ingredient will come from the Beaverlodge property in far northern Saskatchewan. It may well surpass the initial Eldorado Mine at Port Radium in the Northwest Territories.

Both are controlled by the government's Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd.

The U.S. report reiterated the statement that an American atomic reactor or atom-splitting, energy-releasing furnace moves forth more atomic rays—density of neutron flux, the scientists call it—than any other reactor in the world.

This means the U.S. says it has surpassed Canada's Chalk River reactor which has always claimed it can produce more atom-splitting neutrons faster than any other reactor.

Officials here say they understand Chalk River's record has been equalled or surpassed but they're still not sure whether the U.S. reactor can do some of the things Chalk River can do, such as produce cobalt—60 radioisotope in fair quantity.

"I grew up all hope of ever finding a remedy that would give me a little relief. I tried everything," writes Mr. H. S. of Vancouver, B. C. "I was ashamed to leave a proof into the street because of the condition of my head. I was afraid to go anywhere because of the embarrassment it caused me. My arms are raw from scratching. I feared I would lose my mind and my skin looked I was covered with scales.

World's Greatest!

Started Canning In Kitchen Now Has Profitable Business

SUMMERLAND, B.C.—Mrs. David Lingstone Milne, 65, who started canning for charity on a little machine fastened to her kitchen table 18 years ago, now is owner of a profitable business in this Okanagan Valley centre.

During depression years she canned peaches, pears, apricots, prunes, carrots, tomatoes and corn for relief agencies and for needy residents of Summerland hospital.

Soon she was supplying canned peaches, pears, apricots, prunes, carrots, tomatoes and corn to stores in this area and to points as far away as Prince Rupert and Fort Nelson in the north.

Today her canning is done in a modern plant, built her a factory in their spare time. In the first year of its operation, she paid off $1,600 owing on her home and bought a refrigerator, an electric washer and a typewriter.

"The best year the boys quit the packing house and went to work for their mother," so did Mr. Milne, a science teacher.

Word-of-mouth advertising swelled orders. Soon customers began arriving at the little building with boxes to be filled with Mrs. Milne's preserves and orders came from stores, too. The plant was extended and modernized and at the end of the 1951 packing season Mrs. Milne said she felt she could call herself a success.

"It's a sort of miracle," she said. "I started with $600 seven years ago.

Push In The Face Probably Saved Woman's Life

WINNIPEG. — The onlookers thought he pushed her in the face just to be mean. But when they talked to her later they found out that he had probably saved her life.

It happened this way. The young lady was crossing a street as a car was passing. The man beside the driver put his hand out the window and pushed her away — an act of rudeness, the onlookers thought.

But when they went over in sympathise, she said, "I wasn't watching where I was going. If he hadn't pushed me I'd have walked right into the side of the car."

One of the onlookers said the car carried Ontario license plates. When he phoned the Free Press he said:

"When you see a bit of quick thinking like that from a visitor to the west we would certainly like them to know it was appreciated."

Convinced There Is A Christmas In July

Turk Broda, famous goaltender of the Toronto Maple Leafs, wrote the following in a Toronto paper about Foster Hewitt's visit to Viking, Alta., that recently opened a hockey rink capable of seating 3,000 people:

"Foster Hewitt is convinced now that there is such a thing as Christmas in July. On July 9 he was guest of honor at the opening of a hockey rink in Viking, Alberta, thoughtfully situated in the middle of nowhere. Viking, a town of 712 population, 120 miles northeast of Edmonton, has come up with a $300,000 arena, an ice surface that is as large as Maple Leaf Gardens and a hockey enthusiasm, right in the middle of summer, that almost floored Foster.

"The Viking Arena will seat 3,000 people. On Opening Night, in some magical manner, 3,000 people were jammed into it. That night they didn't raffle off just one or two cars—they gave away ten! The new rink, appropriately enough, will be known as the Corona."

The uniforms consist of forest-green tunics and trousers, with field officers having forage caps and shirt badges. Rushmat caps and parkas will be issued for winter wear.

Egg Business Is Big Business In Canada

—$100,000,000 Industry

(By H. L. Jones)

OTTAWA.—More than 20,000,000 Canadian hens are laying to the tune of some 400,000,000 dozen eggs a year. That adds up to around $100,000,000 annual take for the egg side of the poultry industry.

The federal Bureau of Statistics has just come out with figures to show the hens weren't laying as well in June as they were in the previous month, but still better than they did in June, 1951. Average production per hen in June this year was 13.5 eggs compared with 17.4 eggs in May and 15.1 eggs in June last year.

The bureau didn't give the reason but the drop probably was due to increasing summer heat. Hens don't lay so well when it's hot. That probably explains too, why hens in the more moderate climates of British Columbia and the Maritime provinces have better production averages on the whole than in more extreme central Canada and the Prairies.

When temperatures go up and egg production goes down. It hits the egg consumer in the pocket book. For instance, egg prices took a sharp drop around May, mainly because of a market glut, and sold at around 50 cents a dozen or less for grade A large in Eastern Canada.

With the onset of summer heat and consequent declining production, prices have climbed. Grade A large in most eastern centres now are retailing at about 75 cents a dozen.

Canadian hens on farms and in the little backyard hen runs produced an estimated 29,300,000 dozen in June this year, almost 7,000,000 less than the estimated May output of 36,300,000 dozen. The June, 1951, production figure was 36,400,000 dozen.

This brought total estimated egg production in Canada to 214,300,000 dozen for the first six months of this year, more than 26,000,000 dozen above the output of 178,000,000 dozen in the first half of last year.

During June producers sold for market 23,200,000 dozen, valued at $8,700,000, compared with 28,500,000 dozen valued at $8,400,000 in May.

Ontario is Canada's largest egg producer. In June Ontario had 7,610,000 hens which laid an estimated 10,564,000 dozen eggs during the month, compared with 8,372,000 hens and 8,675,000 dozen eggs in June, 1951. Next biggest egg producer is Quebec which had 3,961,000 hens in June, laying a total of 5,331,000 dozen eggs.

But Nova Scotia got the best June production out of its 885,000 hens which laid 1,523,000 dozen eggs, an average of 1,718 eggs per 100 hens.

British Columbia's 1,472,000 hens and 8,675,000 dozen eggs in June, 1951. Next biggest egg producer is Quebec which had 3,961,000 hens in June, laying a total of 5,331,000 dozen eggs.

Chatsworth Chatter

Crops are maturing quite rapidly and harvesting will soon be underway. More heat is needed as moisture conditions appear to be ample to carry the crop through to harvesting. Pastures are still fresh and green. Heavier stands of grain are in sight.

Due to the polio quarantine the Sunday school and the Vacation school which was to have been held at Chatsworth school from Aug. 11 to 15 has been cancelled. Deepest sympathy is extended to those who have lost loved ones through the disease.

Mrs. Margaret Kiziak and children and Mrs. Kiziak's mother Mrs. A. Wilmot, now living at Trail, B.C., were visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Good during the fair week end.

Visitors to Vermilion and district during Fair week were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cameron of New Westminster, B.C. They had been down east on a trip and brought back a nice-looking new Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dolliver of Edmonton spent Fair week end in and around Vermilion.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Tovell and Mr. James Tovell returned on July 22nd from an enjoyable visit in the east where they participated in the 10th anniversary of the Tovell family's arrival in Canda.

Mrs. Lois Ross and little daughter Geraldine of New Westminster are visitors to the home of Mrs. Ross's parents Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Panter and family have returned from a motor trip to the West Coast and Hazelton, and Dawson Creek.

June and George Honey, accompanied by George's cousin little Judy Honey, of Edmonton, arrived at the home of June's mother on Sunday Aug. 3rd to spend holidays here.

Visitors to the Thompson home this week are Mr. and Mrs. George Honey sr. from Edmonton.

Jim Panter and Joe Parka-ly, Sr., were the officers presiding at the poll at Chatsworth last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross-ell McGregor and little son Michael were visitors to the home of the writer last Wednesday. They were accompanied by Ross' mother Mrs. David Anderson of Edmonton.

We are advised by the councillor Mr. Chas. Stewart that the grade north of E. Thompson's is to be repaired, and are really hoping that it will be in the very near future Motorists have certainly had plenty of grief there this summer.

Wheat Pool Meets At Paradise Valley

A convention of the committee members and their wives of the Wheat Pool sub division F2, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parke Dodson on July 31. Mr. Dobson with a few words of welcome called the convention to order at 2.30. Special speakers were J. Dabinette of Calgary, who is Superintendent of Field Services. He spoke on the duties of there local committees of three members for each elevator point. This is the first year for these committees in this sub-division but they have been operating in Peace River for some time. Mr. Harold, Director for District F2 spoke at some length on the International Wheat Agreemen., the operations of the Canadian Wheat Board and matters pertaining to the Association.

The inability of the members to market last year's crop through lack of space seems to be the most aggravating question. Faced with the prospect of a 20% discount in price, many of them do not look very kindly upon the present situation. Increased storage space at all points seems to be the impalitive issue insofar as the members are concerned and Mr. Harold dealt with this subject very thoroughly.

Some clarification was asked by Mr. Dabinette with respect to the clause which dealt with the subject of work for the desired improvement at local points. Mr. Dobson pointed out that as an example of the intent of this clause, through the efforts of the local committee at McLaughlin the loading to one elevator had been greatly improved and while that previously been very difficult to regulate by the truckers when the road was wet. The committee had approached the M.D. council and the railway with the result that the road is now in good condition with no cost to the association.

Both Mr. Crawford, travelling superintendent, and Mr. George Braithwaite fieldman, took part in the discussions and were most helpful.

The meeting adjourned at 7:00 p.m. when a lawn supper was provided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dobson by Mrs. Dobson and wives of several of the committee members.

ANONYMOUS FROM ALOFT

Many notes, and cries which would like to grow bigger are missing a bet when they conceal their identity from passing planes, remarks The Financial Post. They don't need to give the overhead passengers all the details on what days the local service clubs meet or whether there is the prettiest town in Canada. But they might at least have the name of the place laid out on some hillside where it can be seen and identified a mile or so up. Lacking a suitable hillside, the centre of the local race track or football field would make an excellent aerial billboard.

Overhead, who knows, some representative of a company may be looking for a place to build a new plant. The name he sees below may be the first link in the establishment of a new business that will mean growth, and employment and more prosperity.

No New Cases Of Polio Since August 14th

3 PATIENTS STILL IN ISOLATION HOSPITAL — MAINTAIN ALL PRECAUTIONS

Giving hope that the peak of the polio epidemic is over in this area, no new cases have been notified to the Health Unit for a week, bringing the total standing at 3, as reported in last week's Standard. As the present time there are just three patients in the isolation hospital. Two are scheduled to leave this week end.

The previous case reported in last week's Standard, and again on page three of this issue in the advertisement inserted by the Dept. of Health herald "Know About Polio" should be carefully scrutinized. Do not take any chances, follow the rules to the letter.

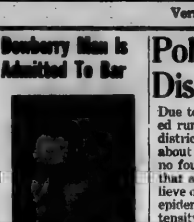
Dewberry Man Is Admitted To Bar



James Anderson, youngest son of the late W. H. Anderson of Dewberry and Mrs. Anderson who now resides at 9749-106 St., Edmonton, was called to the Bar in a ceremony at Edmonton recently.

The young lawyer was born at Islay on Dec. 24, 1924 and educated in Dewberry schools. He worked as a surveyor on the Alaska highway before joining the R.C.A.F. He is still a member of Reserve Edmonton Squadron No. 418 holding the rank of Flying Officer.

When a plane of that squadron was lost a short time ago James was one of the pilots who spent a considerable time looking for it. A brother, John Anderson, is a well known farmer of the Dewberry district.

Mr. Anderson is now in private law practice in Edmonton.

Early Ripening Experiment On Dewberry Farm

Interesting experiments are being carried out this week on the Lac Green farm at Dewberry by a scientist from the University of Illinois whereby the maturing or ripening period of grain is shortened by means of a chemical spray. A chemical spray is used on the crops in which the moisture content of the grain is less than 40 per cent, and the grain is ready to straight combine in less than a week.

Spraying of grain on the Lac Green farm was done early this week and it appeared that combining would be possible by Wednesday or Thursday. Results of the experiment are being awaited with great interest.

Polio Waning . . . Discount Rumors

Due to a feeling of panic, numerous unfounded rumors have been passed throughout the district intimating that Vermilion was or was about to be quarantined. Such rumors have no foundation in fact and it is hardly credible that sound thinking persons would either believe or help to spread them. Happily, the polio epidemic is showing marked decrease in intensity and it is hoped that this favorable condition may continue.

The Town of Vermilion, with the ready cooperation of the Municipal Districts of Vermilion River and Minburn, promptly organized isolation facilities at the School of Agriculture, facilities having been made available by the Department of Agriculture, and everything possible has been done to fight the disease.

Citizens of the Town and District are urged to assist in the total elimination of polio by observing strictly all rules laid down by the medical authorities and by preventing the spread of unfounded rumors.

S. C. HECKBERT,
Mayor, Town of Vermilion.

Chairman, Minburn-Vermilion Health Unit.

FO. Manyluk Flies To Canal Camp At Abbotsford, B.C.

Stan Manyluk, Officer Commanding the Vermilion Squadron of Air Cadets, was a member of a contingent of officers who made a flying trip to the national air cadet camp at Abbotsford B.C. Stan left Edmonton by air Thursday August 7 in a larger group of officers and officials from all over Western Canada at Calgary, and from there to Abbotsford. Here they were present at special display given by the Cadets who were just completing the period of camping. The visiting officers were given a flight to Vancouver, back to Abbotsford and then to Calgary and Edmonton and Vermilion. Stan reports a very much worthwhile and extremely interesting trip.

Vermilion Air Cadets planned to attend the Abbotsford camp but were prevented from doing so by the violence of the polio outbreak in this area.

Air Cadet Pilots Fly Planes Here

The two Vermilion air cadets, Ken Caron and Henry Simonson who won scholarships this summer which entitled them to a pilot training course at the Edmonton Flying school, displayed their prowess at the Vermilion airport on Sunday when they flew two planes from Edmonton and landed at the airport. The two boys were accompanied by two other members of the Edmonton Flying club.

Ken Caron indulged his mother to take a flight with him and Mrs. Caron viewed the beautiful Vermilion country-side from high up in the air.

The two boys have completed their course and are now qualified pilot licensees.

Reason for Congestion

Last year the farmers of the prairie provinces produced just over a billion bushels of grain, of which 331 million bushels were wheat. The wheat carryover from the previous year was 184 million bushels. There were also substantial carryovers in other grains.

The Wheat Board through aggressive selling has been able to export over 500 million bushels of all grains, as well as supply the domestic market. This selling record has never before been equalled in this country.

But even with this sales record, the worst carryover will be substantial, probably around 250 million bushels. It is this surplus, together with surpluses of other grains which is the cause of congestion in country and terminal elevators. As a consequence the initial delivery quotas of the new harvest are very low.

The low quotas are not due to lack of sales, but to the series of large crops harvested in the west, and the quantities of low grade wheat on hand.

If the new crop is high grade, there should be a large and steady export movement, restricted only by transportation limitations. As the grain leaves the country, quotas will be raised wherever possible.

OUR TOAD FLAX PROBLEM

Judging by the number of enquiries received at the District Agriculturist's office and at the municipal office it would appear that many residents of the district do not know what Toad flax looks like. In view of the increasing infestation in the country this is not a desirable situation.

Toad flax, or Linaria Vulgaris, as the botanists call it, is a perennial weed. The flower, which resembles that of a snapdragon, is a vivid yellow with an orange lip. Hence the name butter and eggs, by which the weed is sometimes known. The stems of the plant are erect and slender and bear numerous narrow leaves, usually alternately.

The vigorous root system spreads rapidly and sends up numerous shoots which in time form a solid patch choking out all other growth. It is claimed that even Couch grass will lose in struggle to compete with Toad flax.

Because of the habits of the root it is dangerous to work through patches when cultivating a field as pieces of the root system are spread all over the field, resulting in numerous other patches.

A small patch of Toad flax should be treated with Sodium Chlorate as soon as it is noticed. Four pounds per 100 sq. feet (e.g. a patch 10 feet by 10 feet) is the recommended application and should extend 6 feet around the edges of the patch. The chemical may be applied either dry or as a spray (1 lb. of Sodium Chlorate dissolved in 1 gallon of water). The dry method is recommended as once Sodium Chlorate has been wet and dries again the residue is highly inflammable. A tobacco can with holes punched in the bottom makes a good spreader for small patches when the chemical is used in the dry form. It will be found that such a can will contain about 3 pounds of dry Sodium Chlorate.

Death of Isabel Edna Ferguson

Isabel Edna Ferguson, aged 16 years, passed away at the isolation hospital, Vermilion, on Thursday morning August 14th. She was the daughter of Mrs. E. Ferguson and the late Mr. Ferguson.

She leaves to mourn her loss her mother, four sisters, Elsie, Jean, Winnie, Diana, and one brother Billie.

Funeral services were held at the graveside at the Vermilion cemetery on Friday evening Aug. 15 where interment took place.

Moyer's were in charge of arrangements.

Dewberry News

A large extension is being built to the Dewberry Co-op store. The new part which will join the old building to the south will be the full length and 33 feet to the south. Construction is in the hands of Jen Jensen.

Dave Finlay has the basement ready for his house. He has purchased the Eldevsin house near Dick Hinds and will have it moved to his farm near town.

A new house in town will be that of Mrs. Gordon Wilson who has purchased the Stockwell residence at Clanderaid and is having it moved to a location just north of the Leo Maitlas home.

Carl Bondi, employee of the National Grain is leaving the district to operate a 'cat' south of Calgary. Mr. and Mrs. Bondi, noted for their cheery dispositions, will be much missed here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Potter enjoyed a motor trip to the eastern states recently.

Mrs. Vernon Keast has lost her great turkey gobbler and 21 young turks, we presume, to the coyotes. After the turkeys hatched old grandaddy gobbler would always mother them and at one time kept 37 young ones under him at night.

Yours truly also said goodbye to a pedigreed turkey hen to Mr. Coyote on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Landen spent their holiday on a trip to Winnipeg, south into Dakota and other states and back home by way of Sweet Grass.

Mrs. Dave Munro enjoyed a trip to Ontario this summer to visit her son Max.

Just in case you saw Bill Young going up and down black summerfallow with a running mower, don't blame the boss—he was just working down a frisky horse to the sound of a mower.

Bill Brock of Riverton combined 30 acres of rew barley on Aug. 12. Swathers are now sweeping into gear in the district.

The regular monthly meeting of Dewberry F.I.A. was held at the home of W. Porter last Thursday. Discussion took place on the international wheat agreement and will be discussed further at the next meeting which will be held the second Thursday in September at the Anderson home.

The funniest thing seen this week was a huge bubble of bubble gum expanding in the face of young Jimmy Ryan and making a complete mask of his face.

Ideal Weather

Ideal weather for this time of year has prevailed all week and the ripening of grain has made rapid progress. The warmest day of the week was Monday with a temperature of 89 while the cool night was on the 20th when 34 was registered, the following night the low was 45. Only 2 light showers fell amounting to .07 of an inch, these were on Thursday and Saturday last week. Total rainfall for August is 1.09 inches.

COMPLETES 47 YEARS OF RAILROADING

On Thursday, July 24th Engineer Joseph Perrier of Vermilion made his last run from that town to North Battleford, and has now gone on retirement. In the above picture from left to right are Engineer Joe Perrier his son Raymond Perrier, Mrs. Joseph Perrier and Mrs. J. E. Ross.

Engineer Joseph C. Perrier, Pioneer Railroader, Retires

Locomotive Engineer Joseph C. Perrier, 47 years a railroader, 38 of which were spent in the service of the Canadian National Railways, made his last run into North Battleford from Vermilion on Thursday morning July 24th. Mr. Perrier lives in Vermilion. He had been engineer on No.'s 3 and 6 between the two points.

That evening Engineer Perrier was presented with a club bag at a gathering in the roundhouse, by fellow engineers and employees. Mrs. Perrier, who was here for the occasion, was presented with a bouquet of carnations. The presentations were made by Engineer Thorne.

Mr. Perrier was born on a farm near Aylmer, P.Q., in 1892. He came west to join his brother at Duluth, Minn., at the age of 18. For a period he worked for the Oliver Milling Co. at Eveleth, Minn.

A few years later he travelled to the west coast and joined the Northern Pacific Railway at Seattle. Returning to Canada he joined the Grand Trunk Pacific in 1912 at Wainwright as fireman. Recognizing that year he hired again with the Canadian National on Sept 4, 1913, and had been with the system ever since.

He was promoted to engineer at Transcona in 1918 running out of there and Swan Lookout until January, 1949, when he transferred to the Edmonton division.

One of his sons Ray, who was also here for his father's last trip, is also an engineer, on the Edmonton division. His other son, Frank, is studying, for his doctorate degree in electrical engineering at the University of Toronto. One daughter, Joselle, is a graduate nurse of St. Boniface hospital, Man. and is married to Dick Pearce, Medicine Hat, railroad fireman. His other daughter, Claire, is married to Cec Tobin, railroad fireman on the Churchill division. They reside in Winnipeg.

Now finished with his railroading career, which as fireman and engineer, took him almost all over the west, Mr. Perrier intends remaining at Vermilion with Mrs. Perrier. He has been a most popular figure in engineering and railroad circles generally, and his brother employees were most reluctant to see him depart, although it is too early yet to say what the final design will be, Mr. Gordon stated the evening was enjoyed by all present.

KNOW ABOUT POLIO!

Maintain Standards of Sanitation

A Wash Dishes thoroughly

B Wash Fruits and Vegetables

C Cover Garbage and Waste material

D Control Sewage Outdoor Toilets should be dusted daily with Chloride of Lime or Ashes

- Polio is a communicable disease — avoid crowds, restrict children to small neighborhood groups.
- A tired child is more susceptible to the disease and if the disease develops, a greater degree of paralysis is likely to follow.
- Swimming is dangerous because it causes fatigue and is chilling.
- Watch your personal hygiene — be sure to wash your hands before eating and after using the toilet
- Where the disease is prevalent, avoid the removal of tonsils, adenoids and teeth.
- Mild cases are best cared for at home — a trip to hospital causes fatigue and may be dangerous.

Over 80 per cent of Cases Recover Completely

In mild cases, best results are obtained in bed at home
